SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Dr. John H. Lambert
Hereford N. Elliott
John C. Leggat
John F. White
Peter P. McMenimon
James W. McKenna

The municipal primaries have come and gone and today is being devoted to determining just how it happened.

The selection made by the voters of Lowell from the long list of aspirants to the municipal council and to the school committee is highly gratifying to all who desire good government and clean men in the administration of public affairs. In practically every instance, the men chosen are men of proven ability and character, demonstrating that there has been a change for the better in the attitude of the electorate. For once the public has not permitted itself to be led astray by acrobatic vote-baiters and the list of successful candidates shows no freaks or individuals of questionable sanity. It looks as though Lowell demands a businesslike administration and has picked out men of initiative and ability.

Putnam Vindication

The somewhat surprising vote for Mr. Putnam was the direct result of popular resentment at the high handed method by which he was removed from the office of superintendent of streets after a hearing at which there was no evidence to justify such action or to prove him guilty of the very flimsy charges trumped up against him. Mr. Putnam appealed to the people who after all constitute the court of last resort and he has received a magnificent vindication which is also a crushing rebuke to the three men who for purely political or personal reasons voted him out of office. Only one of the men who participated in that political outrage was up for nomination yesterday and the fact that he is relegated to political oblivion proves that the people are at last beginning to show a proper appreciation of their power and their responsibility for the men selected for public office.

It is certainly a matter for general congratulation that no man was selected who dealt in gross personalities or sought to hide his personal unfitness by attacks upon better men. Taken all in all, the selections for the municipal council and for the school committee will be commended by the best elements in the community—even by the honorable man among those defeated. Lowell was more blessed than usual in having a greater percentage of desirable candidates to offset the palpably undesirable ones, and the defeated include some men with good qualifications for public office.

U. S. WARSHIP ORDERED FROM TURKISH WATERS

Turkish Officials Request for Departure of Tennessee Quickly Granted—Cruiser Now at Chios

CHIOS, Aegean Sea, Nov. 18.—The American armored cruiser Tennessee arrived in this port today. It is stated that yesterday, while the captain of the Tennessee was in the ship's launch which was flying the American flag on his way to pay the customary visits on the Turkish officials at Smyrna, three solid shots were fired on the boat by the forts.

The American ambassador, Henry Morgenthau without investigating the incident, it is said, immediately ordered the Tennessee from Turkish waters at the request of the Turkish officials.

Chios, at which port the cruiser Tennessee has arrived is the capital of the island of the same name located about four miles off the coast of Asia Minor and near the gulf of Smyrna. The island formerly belonged to Turkey but as a result of the Balkan war was turned over to Greece. A great portion of the population of 60,000 are Greeks.

Despatches from Athens yesterday reported that the Tennessee had arrived at the port of Vurla within the gulf of Smyrna and that her appearance had put a stop to the ill treatment of British, Russian and French residents. The authorities of Smyrna, the despatch added, fearing a bombardment, had left for the interior.

Captain Benton Clark Decker, is in command of the Tennessee which left New York on Aug. 6 with nearly $6000 in gold on board for the relief of American tourists stranded in Europe. The warship first went to England and then to France and finally entered the Mediterranean, where she visited several ports in pursuance of her relief work.

POLICE COURT CASES

ONLY THREE OFFENDERS BROUGHT BEFORE JUDGE ENRIGHT TODAY

Only a trio of petty offenders were brought before Judge Enright in police court today. A man of about 60 years of age pleaded guilty to drunkenness on his 42nd arraignment in the local court but he asked for another chance to turn over a new leaf and His Honor imposed a suspended sentence of three months in jail.

Henry F. Fahey was complained of by his boarding mistress, Mary Gookin, for committing a disturbance about 12 o'clock last night. Fahey admitted that he was intoxicated and made considerable noise but claimed that he had been listening to the election returns and was on sort of a celebration. He promised the court that he would keep away from the boarding-house hereafter and a two months' sentence to the Lowell jail was suspended for six months.

Omer H. Boisvert pleaded guilty to non-support of his wife but the case was continued until tomorrow for trial.

ARE YOU REGISTERED?

Today is the Last Chance to Become Registered Before the Coming City Election

Ladies and Gentlemen: This is your last opportunity to become registered voters before the coming city election.

The registrars will be in session at city hall today from noon until 10 p. m. If your name is not on the voting list avail yourself of this final opportunity. This applies to the suffragettes as well as to their brethren.

CALLS VILLA GREATER ENEMY THAN HUERTA

Gen. Alvarado Says Villa Has Forced Unnecessary Civil War on Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 18.—General Alvaro Obregon, who yesterday assumed supreme command of the capital and of the federal district, last night received a telegram from General Pablo Gonzales in which the latter declared that General Villa by advancing his troops southward had repeatedly broken the truce agreement entered into on Nov. 12, between General Gonzales and Provisional President Gutierrez. General Gonzales concluded his message: "For my part, I believe I have complied with my duties as a soldier and a citizen. I have tried to avoid the shedding of blood which the enemy appears thirsty for, and the war which we are obliged to prosecute with all vigor forthwith is justified by the unworthy conduct of our opponents."

A large body of troops belonging to General Obregon's division arrived here last night from Irapuata, 23 miles southwest of Guanajuato.

General Alvarado, post commander, has issued a statement in which he declares that General Villa is a greater enemy to the cause of Mexican democracy than was General Huerta and has forced an unnecessary civil war on Mexico.

It is reported here that General Carranza will move his capital to Vera Cruz immediately upon the evacuation of that city by the Americans.

CARRANZA DENIES REPORT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—General Carranza has repudiated the telegram sent for him by General Pablo Gonzales to General Gutierrez in which the first chief was represented as saying he would retire. This was announced in an official despatch from American Consul Silliman.

WHAT IS A SUN DIAL WITHOUT THE SUN?

It has all the figures on it, but it cannot come to time. What would this store be with its substantial, spacious, safe buildings if they did not contain more than other stores in its stocks of merchandise, just as the buildings are more than any other building of its kind in Lowell. Somebody under these roofs fails in duty if our patrons do not get what they expect here. We have most everything but bombast and conceit, and hope never to have either.

A BLIND CONGRESSMAN

THOMAS D. SCHALL, ELECTED FROM TENTH DISTRICT OF MINNESOTA

THOMAS D. SCHALL

"This country is to have a blind congressman, just as it has a blind senator in Thomas P. Gore. He is Thomas D. Schall, recently elected to represent the tenth district of Minnesota. The nation will likely hear a lot of him, for he is considered an orator of more than ordinary ability, and he is at the same time a lawyer of high reputation in his home state. From nine until twenty-seven he earned his living at all sorts of manual labor. Then for three years he practised law. At thirty his eyesight left him, and for the last seven years he has been in total darkness. Still, he has kept up his law practice, and has now been honored with election to congress. Of himself Mr. Schall says: 'To the blind man work is his pleasure. Then, he doesn't make as good a politician, but he ought to make a better representative of the people in congress.' Mr. Schall's wife guides him. She will go to Washington with him and aid him, as does the wife of Senator Gore.

HEIR TO THE THRONE

PRINCE OF WALES AT FRONT; AGED TWENTY, THIN AND STOOPS

PRINCE of WALES

Edward, Prince of Wales, heir apparent to the British throne, who was twenty years old on June 23 last, is now at the front attached to Field Marshal French's staff. He is of medium height, thin and rather inclined to stoop. When he was born the last question was raised as to his education. The King was for sending him to some famous public school, but Queen Mary wished to keep him with her as long as possible. So there was a compromise. He stayed at home four years longer and then was sent to the Royal Naval college at Osborne. There he worked in the regular steps and made two cruises on the model ship Renown. He entered Oxford at eighteen, and during his second year there he made two tours, one through France, with a stay of two months in Paris, and one through the Rhine valley. Travel and contact caused him to develop rapidly in height. At Oxford last June the prince joined the military training corps and in the Easter maneuvers helped the university win over Cambridge. Since the war began he has patrolled with the recruits of various regiments in which he holds honorary commissions, and with the naval battalions, for he is a real naval lieutenant, having served in that capacity on board the Collingwood.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

Montreal, Nov. 15, 1914.

Dear Sun:

I have been in Canada about ten days and leave for home tomorrow, but it occurs to me to send in advance a short letter to The Sun. It is a rather cheerless day here which nevertheless I trust I have passed profitably. A fair portion of it I have devoted to church-going,—this morning attending mass in Notre Dame while this evening I took in the services at St. Mark's. Both these churches are magnificent specimens of church architecture and in both I found the services impressive. This evening all is quiet in my room on St. Catherine street, my friends having gone to see their lady friends. Thus I am likely to write uninterruptedly for several hours. I hope so at any rate. I came to Montreal direct from Lowell and have made it my base as it were, as I made trips to Toronto, Niagara, Quebec and St. Anne de Beaupre—trips that were but too much. I regret to say, of the "flying" variety.

To write of Montreal, so familiar to so many of our Lowell population, much that would prove new is something I hardly expect to do. But it is new to me, and probably is little known to many who perchance may read this. The same can doubtless be said of other places I shall mention.

When nearly four hundred years ago Jacques Cartier sailed up the St. Lawrence river he found an Indian village on the island now occupied in part by the city of Montreal; and could the shade of Jacques revisit the scenes of his earthly adventures and discoveries he would doubtless feel rather surprised and out of place. Here English and American enterprise and French thrift have accomplished wonders, Montreal being worthy in every respect to rank with the great civilized cities of the world. The St. Lawrence being navigable for the greater portion of the year, Montreal is a seaport of much importance. I am told that when the ice king freezes up the river and holds all Canada within his grip the city of Montreal pays homage to his majesty by holding carnivals—icy ones—and that all hands go in for making the winter a time for gayety and pleasure. Already the tinge of winter is in the air, and the big overcoat I wisely brought with me is in constant requisition. I wear it everywhere except when taking my meals and on going to bed. While I have been told that I should visit Canada in the summer or early autumn, to see her at her prettiest, I have found this, my first visit, enjoyable enough. I have seen about all that visitors are expected to see, of Montreal, where visit is brief: Its fine broad boulevards, its public buildings, its bridges, its business blocks, its shipping, its exceptionally fine trolley system, its police force, its fire department in action, its many elegant private residences, its magnificent churches, its slums, its fair women and brave men.

I've been on Mt. Royal, I've seen several gentlemen who were pointed out to me as city officials, and who weren't any handsomer than Col. Carmichael, Jim Donnelly or Geo. Brown. I've seen the Windsor hotel. I've been into it. I've seen the Victoria hospital. I visited McGill university where Drs. Brunelle, McCann, McGannon and, I think, Halpin, got their medical training. Possibly there may be other Lowell physicians from this school. McGill's is a world-famous medical college and enjoys the distinction of being one of the two American medical schools which are recognized by European medical savants—Johns Hopkins being the other.

Perhaps it was just a temporary condition, but there doesn't seem to be much doing in the theatrical line. Aside from the movies there is little else to attract show goers. I am told that liquor saloons close at 10 o'clock every night, but Saturdays, when they close at seven, a condition, I fear that Lowell might seriously object to.

After going to a movie one night, I accompanied my friends to an up-to-date bowling alley and, choosing my old friends, the ducks, knocked down 360 of them in three consecutive strings—131, 124 and 105. Pretty good work, eh? Pretty nifty for an old-timer who hasn't done much of anything at the game for the last two years, what? I dare say that my bowling friends at home find it hard to believe this story, for my biggest achievement in bowling on Lowell alleys never went past a total of 325, and I never claimed an average of more than 94 for a season's work. In explanation I can only say that things came my way. I guess if I had shut my eyes while delivering the ball I should have got 'em just the same that night. I carefully refrained from bowling but those three strings. After this I shall expect to be asked to put my John Hancock to contracts calling for my appearance with the leading teams of the City league. This was the only instance during my trip when I was conscious of casting lustre upon the American name. I realized the admiring looks of the habitues of the alleys and received the congratulations of my fellow bowlers with equanimity, accepting both in the name of my beloved country. Ches Martel, Barney Coleman, Bert Cole, Joe Lebrun or Jimmy Wynne never tasted anything finer.

I had planned to see Niagara Falls, so I left Montreal Saturday night, Nov. 7, at 11 o'clock. Reached Toronto Sunday morning about 9 o'clock and had to stop over a train in consequence of an accident to our locomotive. Spent three hours in this place and received a lesson in the operation of blue laws which evidently are in force here. What the late Channing Whittaker once attempted to make Lowell as to Sunday observance, Toronto is. It is said you cannot even purchase a postage stamp and while smoking a cigar, which wasn't bought in Toronto, I momentarily expected to be told to quit smoking. But I wasn't. I walked about the city a little, and formed the opinion that it might be a good place to live in if it were less straightlaced in certain things.

Our train coming in, the waiting passengers got aboard and in a few hours we alighted at Niagara. I spent the remainder of the day at the falls, which I contemplated for the first time in my young life. All that I had read or imagined about them did not begin to tell me what my actual vision witnessed. I curb an impulse to write of the impressions which were mine. It is quite enough to say that one feels in the presence of such a manifestation of power and grandeur, impotence to fitly express himself. I have read many glowing accounts of Niagara, but they all fall short.

I put on oil skins and did as all visitors do—for 50 cents—went under the falls. You need them, certainly, for the spray is busy keeping you moist. I couldn't help thinking what would happen to us if a section of the ledge above were to drop, for some years ago a big chunk did drop and effectually shortened the pilgrim's promenade down there. I noticed that on the American side there were hotels and other indications of life and enterprise; but on the Canadian side there did not appear to be much doing.

City of Buffalo

I wanted to see Buffalo so toward evening took the electrics down to the famous town situated at the end of Lake Erie. I spent the night and until noon next day there. I cannot say that Buffalo struck me as a particularly beautiful city, but that it is a great place of business is very evident. It has a fine harbor and is an important railroad center. Lumber, flour, meat-packing and numberless other business enterprises make Buffalo and keep her on the map. Here the Erie canal begins and joining the waters of the Hudson make a waterway to the sea.

Buffalo profits, with other places about Niagara, from the utilization of the power of the falls. But the traveler on a flying trip is handicapped in gathering detailed information at first hand. I should liked to have remained at Buffalo longer for I got interested in much that I saw. Time was limited, however, so I returned to Niagara Falls where I spent the afternoon getting many different views from as many different angles. I may never see the falls again but I carried away pictures of them and a memory I shall always keep new and vivid.

I took the night train and was soon speeding away for Montreal which we reached on time and without mishap and which I already felt I was no stranger to. Tuesday and Wednesday I devoted to forming comprehensive ideas of Montreal and visited a large portion of the island finding much to interest and a few things that amused.

Old Quebec

Perhaps even more than my desire to see Niagara Falls was my wish to visit old Quebec whose history has always interested me. To me no page of the history of North America is so full of fascination and romance than that which recounts the story of the settlement, struggles and growth of the province of Quebec, on which the achievements of Cartier, Champlain and Frontenac and their followers appear to inspire future Parkmans and afford themes to future poets, painters and romancers. So feeling like this I took the boat leaving Montreal in the evening and early next morning stepped ashore in Quebec, first visited by Jacques Cartier in 1535 and founded by Samuel Champlain in 1608. My night trip down the river had not been without interest and pleasure. Although rather cold I remained outside for hours scanning the outlines of the bluffs on either side of the river, noting the lights of the many towns we passed and marking the unusual brilliancy of the stars. Altogether, I think I fully experienced that peculiar charm which every stranger in a strange land comes under, as I went down the St. Lawrence that night.

To go to Quebec from Montreal is something like exchanging the new for the old. Although Quebec is far from dead, still it is far behind Montreal in population and commercial importance. Perhaps for that reason and its historical associations Quebec is more favored by the visitor from over the border. At any rate I found the brief time at my disposal fully taken in roaming about its streets and places of special interest, and in observing customs that of course were odd to me. At no time was I conscious of being viewed as a suspicious character which possibly might have been suggested by the fact that pilgrims hereabouts are scarce in mid-November, and that England, the mother country, was at war. I boldly went into the citadel where a thousand soldiers were hanging out but no one took any notice of me. They do say that the Canadians can spot a Yankee as instinctively as a Hebrew brother can spot a bargain. I didn't have to inform them I was no German emissary nosing about for information with a stick of dynamite up my sleeve waiting for a chance to blow down the citadel.

I spent some time in the lower city where the people who work for a living live, but feeling that I must not slight the classy hill folks visited among them also. To tell the truth the latter didn't attract me. The hills did. From the citadel one gets a magnificent view of the river and surrounding country. From the Isle of Orleans the river for miles is more like a great bay than a river and as a matter of fact the tide water runs up beyond Quebec.

St. Lawrence a Noble River

Throughout its entire course the St. Lawrence is a noble river; but here it is strikingly impressive. No wonder Cartier thought he had found the passage to Cathay when he first entered its waters. But his hopes were dashed when he discovered miles from its mouth, the water became fresh. The Isle of Orleans below the city Cartier called the Isle of Bacchus because of the profusion of grapes he saw there. Many of the big hills you see resemble the Unrangonnes and the Joe English up Manchester way. You get the impression that ages and ages ago glaciers and floods had an important part in forming this wonderful structure of river, mountains and plain you see below and all around you.

But as in duty bound I reluctantly turned from the contemplature of the work of nature to continue the inspection of the less inspiring works inaugurated by man. So I looked over the Chateau Frontenac which occupies a commanding situation and is a most magnificent structure. I looked into the Laval university and saw enough that made me feel regretful to leave it. I walked to the Plains of Abraham and fearless of the mud inspected the ground where one of the world's important battles was fought. This battle cost France her possessions in this corner of the world which she had held for about 225 years. Looking over the place where Wolfe's soldiers crawled up, one cannot help but wonder what Montcalm and his officers were thinking about to have permitted it.

There was evidence about that the authorities intend to improve conditions at the battle ground, and certainly they could stand it all right. A monument to Wolfe stands on the plain. I paid a nickle several times just to ride in the little green trolleys of Quebec, and the way they can whisk you up the hills would delight a citizen of Christian hill. I took dinner in a neat eating house, the Marathon, on St. John's street, enjoying a good feed of roast chicken.

St. Anne De Beaupre

Talking with a Quebec citizen, he said I should visit Quebec in the summer. "There is nothing to see here now." I didn't argue the point, but asked: "What about the Falls of Montmorency and St. Anne de Beaupre?" "You going down?" he said. "Yes, I'm going. And after dinner I went. It was about an hour's ride from Quebec to St Anne de Beaupre by trolley. As the pilgrimage season to the town closes on Oct 1, I found the hotels closed and but few persons visible in the little village. But four persons alighted from the car with me and they going at once into the church. It seemed as though I had the whole place to myself. I first visited the old church with the miraculous fountain in front, then went to the grotto, the shrine, and into the new church white of modest exterior is most beautiful and and costly of interior. It is without question the most beautiful church I ever saw. I make little claims of being particularly religious, but sitting there in this little church out in the country I was conscious of a calmness of mind, a feeling of peace, that banished material things and brought me under the sweet influences of this sacred edifice.

It is most fitting that the celebrated cyclorama of Jerusalem, the day of the crucifixion should be in permanent exposition at St. Anne de Beaupre. It is recognized as a masterpiece of panoramic painting. I spent nearly two hours looking at this most realistic and artistic production. This cyclorama is due to Phillippoteaux of "Siege of Paris" and "Battle of Gettysburg" fame. The picture is 45 ft. high and 360 ft. in circumference. This work alone is sufficient to establish the reputation of Phillippoteaux and his artist associates.

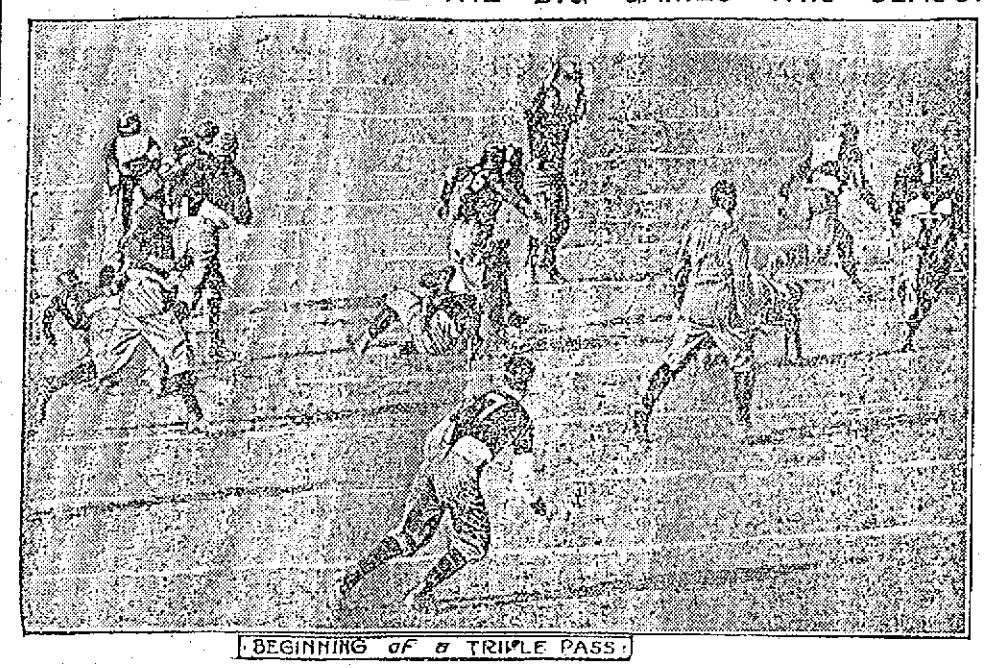

If you go next year to St. Anne de Beaupre you will surely become familiar with this great attraction and the impressive story it depicts. I bade farewell to the village and took the car going Quebec-ward. I "stopped off" at the Falls and went on to the hill beside them. The Falls of Montmorency are 274 feet in height and a mist arises from them as delicate as the veil of a bride, and that's as good a comparison as any. I got back to Quebec about dusk and again sought the Marathon, where I did justice to a supper of parts. I saw Quebec after dark all lighted up in pretty good shape. I mingled with the people on the street and spent a little money for a few steins of ginger tea. My train for Montreal went at 11 and at 11 I said goodbye to the city of Sam Champlain and Frontenac.

At Home Again

Got back to this town the next morning and promptly went to bed, where the boys found me when they returned at night. Having had my "trips" I was now prepared to do a little real visiting with my good friends; and, believe me, up to late last night my friends have led me a hot pace. I think I must have seen Montreal inside-out and outside-in, but I dare say I didn't get all of it, at that. I recall a singular feature about this visit of mine to Canada, which is that all my "side trips" to and from Montreal have been made at night. My little trip to St. Anne de Beaupre was the only one I made by daylight. So I have not seen much of Canada after all. When I come again there will be different arrangements in this respect. My hosts returned a few minutes ago and I can see the finish of this letter if I don't finish soon. I haven't time before the postman collects to make corrections. So please excuse it on general principles.

THE OPEN STYLE OF FOOTBALL HAS BEEN SHOWN IN NEARLY ALL THE BIG GAMES THIS SEASON

BEGINNING OF A TRIPLE PASS.

The changes in football that have been going on for some time have been much in evidence in the big college games this season. There has been less of the mass play, less line bucking and more of the spread formation, forward passes and triple passes. The result is a more enjoyable game from the standpoint of the spectators, for the ball is in sight most of the time, though its movements are often so rapid and it is tossed back and forth with such unexpected quickness that only the close observer can keep track of it. This picture, made during the battle between Yale and Princeton, gives an idea of the manner of game that football is becoming.

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

EVADING WRINKLES

"But auntie has no wrinkles even at sixty," said puzzled Marjorie today, seeking to get from Marie more secrets to her aunt's youthful appearance.

"That is because she is always watchful," answered Marie. "She began to ward off these signs of age years ago. Wrinkles should be taken in hand early.

"Thirty is none too young to begin a treatment to ward off wrinkles. By forty, the little lines may have established themselves beyond repair unless the complexion has been taken in hand earlier. Wrinkles and all facial blemishes show up much more plainly if the skin is not perfectly clean and healthy fair, so a dingy, yellowish face should be guarded against assiduously.

"In cold weather, especially, the face is apt to become grimy because the skin is not naturally cleansed by perspiration from within, and because harsh winter winds and dust come in contact with the face whenever one goes out of doors.

"Therefore in winter extra care should be taken to keep the face exquisitely clean and delicately soft. Soap should not be used on the complexion, except perhaps once a week when a thorough scrubbing and steaming are given.

"Cold cream should be well rubbed in every night before retiring and the face bathed afterward in hot water and then cold water. This cold cream treatment will not remove wrinkles, but it will keep the face in such condition that they will not form as easily and can more easily be eradicated.

"If the face is bathed every morning in a cupful of fresh milk into which a teaspoonful of table salt has been tossed, the muscles will tighten and sagging lines will disappear.

"Massage should be given with the tips of the fingers and the effort should be to move the muscles under the skin—not merely the loose skin on top. Work crosswise on the forehead from center to temples. Always massage lines in other parts of the face at right angles to the direction of the line and outward and upward with light, firm strokes, and not too long strokes.

"With the elbows lifted, turn the hands palm upward, thumbs pointing toward the front, and draw the fingers beneath the jaw, from center outward. This counteracts the tendency toward double chin and sagging cheeks."

WORMS ARE ENEMIES OF CHILDREN

Worms are one of the most dreaded diseases of children. There is nothing better than Dr. True's Elixir to expel worms of all kinds and to keep the stomach in good order.

First manufactured by my father in 1851. Our mothers and grandmothers used this remedy and found it to be ideal for its purpose.

Some of the signs of worms are: Deranged Trade Mark stomach, furred tongue, belching, variable appetite, increased thirst, acid or heavy breath, nausea, enlarged abdomen, variable bowel action, pale face of leaden tint, bluish rings around eyes, itching of nostrils, languor, irritability, disturbed sleep, grinding of teeth, irregularity of pulse.

If your child is not one of the robust kind, start in to use Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, today, 35c, 50c and $1.00. Advice free. Write me.

THE WHOLE NORTH SEA IN MILITARY AREA

Premier Asquith Says Government Arrived at Decision Because of Mine Laying—German Subjects on Neutral Vessels Will be Held

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Premier Asquith stated in the house of commons today that the British government had decided to declare the whole of the North sea to be in the military area. All subjects of the enemy found on neutral vessels, the prime minister also said, would be liable to detention as prisoners of war. Mr. Asquith also announced that oil and copper would be declared contraband of war.

Referring to mines, the premier said that the Germans had resorted to indiscriminate mine-laying in the North sea outside of territorial limits and along trade routes without regard to peaceful shipping and without warning. The purpose clearly was the furtherance of no definite plan of legitimate operation, but to endanger British trade. These mines unquestionably had been laid by fishing vessels disguised as neutral, the premier said. These mines were not so constructed as to become harmless when loosened from their moorings, neither were they kept under observation. No steps had been taken to warn peaceful shipping of this danger. Consequently the terms of The Hague convention of 1907 have been violated.

After a number of neutral fishing and merchant vessels together with many lives had been destroyed by these German mines, Mr. Asquith declared, the government had been forced to adopt counter measures to cope with this German policy of mine-laying combined with submarine activities.

Discussing the reservists of the enemy, Premier Asquith said:

"Because of the action which Germany took in Belgium and France in arresting and removing as prisoners of war, all men of military age, the government found it necessary to give instructions that all subjects of the enemy liable to military service who are found on board neutral vessels shall be made prisoners of war. This instruction applies to neutral vessels under whatever flags. In no case, so far of which I am aware, were reservists of the enemy found on ships of the United States."

WITH RED CROSS WORKERS

Busy Gathering of Fifty Women at Headquarters Yesterday—Lecture by Miss Loring

The headquarters of the local branch of the Red Cross society in the Runels building presented a very busy scene yesterday when about fifty willing workers gathered to make bandages and to sew for the wounded soldiers of the European war. The work was very much in earnest and the results accomplished were what might be looked of in an industrial plant devoted to the manufacture of clothing. Monday about 110 yards of material were cut and today it was expected that 150 yards would be handled. During the past few days 500 hospital bandles, containing bandages and everything needed for scientific care of wounds were made up and when the working force gets going fully it is expected that 500 bundles per day will be turned out. Among those who worked busily this morning were the ladies who have been active in the movement since its commencement, under the general direction of the chairman, Miss Ruth Burke.

A most interesting feature of the Red Cross activity this morning was an address by Miss Katharine Loring, sister of the Massachusetts emergency committee chairman, Miss Louisa Loring, and one of three delegated to advance the publicity campaign. Miss Loring also spoke today at Rogers hall school, and she is scheduled to make several speeches explanatory of Red Cross work in the near future throughout New England. While she spoke this morning the sewing machines were silent, but the workers kept on with their other sewing, realizing during her graphic address the meaning of every stitch.

Miss Loring explained that the Red Cross society is the most efficient medium of aid for the wounded soldiers because the headquarters are at Washington. The president of the United States is president of the American society and all of the cabinet officers are represented in its directing board. Being at the capital, the Red Cross officers are enabled to keep in touch with the ambassadors and other officials of the warring countries, and know their needs.

She explained the organization of the Red Cross in detail and gave a brief sketch of its history. In this state, she said, it is advisable that the society be organized in chapters and she expressed the hope that a Middlesex county chapter would soon start on a permanent basis. She explained that the world must depend on the Red Cross for adequate care of wounded soldiers as the work is far too stupendous to be handled by the respective governments.

Speaking of the present war specifically, Miss Loring said that the various battle lines, if put together, would stretch from the Great Lakes to Mexico, with a width of from two to five hundred miles. She spoke of the modern ammunition, such as shrapnel and of the terrible havoc being wrought—the greatest in the history of the world. Contrary to the general expectation, she said, there is more hand to hand fighting than there has been for 100 years, and bayonet wounds are almost always fatal. Throughout the war zone, she said, the war hospitals are in need of everything, and the needless deaths run into the thousands, many having died for the lack of scientific care. The present mortality is estimated at 25 per cent., though this figure she considers exaggerated. For the past 100 years the mortality was from 2 to 5 per cent.

The public may feel sure, said the speaker, that every stitch taken will relieve pain and that every cent expended will do good. Two cents will sometimes save a soldier's life—one cent going for iodine and one cent for absorbent cotton. She explained that Red Cross is neutral, but said that contributors wish their contributions to benefit one country more than another the request will be acceded to. In conclusion the speaker was [illegible] 66 Mile pertinent questions which she answered promptly.

FOR PEACE IN EUROPE

United States Awaiting Time When Belligerents Indicate Willingness to Mediate

WASHINGTON, Nov 17.—Efforts by the United States to bring peace to Europe still are awaiting a time when one or more of the big belligerents indicates a willingness to accept mediation. This became known authoritatively today from persons who have lately discussed the European situation with President Wilson. The president's position is that the United States having already in a formal as well as informal way shown its readiness to act as an intermediary should now await the initiative of the belligerents. He feels that the American government by pressing for peace might get in a position where its ultimate influence to that end would be impaired.

The president told callers today he had not had the slightest hint, formal or otherwise from any of the European belligerents that a peace offer would be favorably received.

There has been much discussion among neutral countries, such as Holland and Spain, of the desirability of concerted action. While the United States would not hesitate to join in such a movement if any of the belligerent countries shows a desire to accept the mediation of several neutral countries instead of one the American government will for the present refrain from taking the initiative toward joint action with other neutral nations.

With the varying tide of the conflict the president is very anxious that the attitude of the United States in making a move for peace should not be resented. He is unwilling that the American government should be the means of placing before any of the nations of its own accord an offer of peace which it might feel bound, because of a national interest to reject, but which might place it before the world of public opinion as an obstacle to peace.

American ambassadors and ministers abroad are familiar with the attitude of the Washington government on this point and are on the alert for any move which could be constructed as a desire on the part of any of the belligerents to accept mediation.

A. F. OF L. CONVENTION

URGES UNAFFILIATED NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL UNIONS TO JOIN THE FEDERATION

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—The American Federation of Labor in convention today adopted a resolution "inviting and urging unaffiliated national and international unions, such as the railroad brotherhoods, to join the federation."

The convention yesterday blocked an attempt to form rival unions unless the independent organizations affiliated with the federation. The federation also went on record for a more general application of the eight hour day in all trades before beginning agitation for a six hour workday.

A description of the conditions of the workers in the textile strike in Atlanta given by Mrs. Sarah A. Conboy of the United Textile union brought on a long discussion of the question of financing strikes by the federation.

Delegate Hayes of Cleveland moved that an appropriation be made from the federation's funds. This brought President Gompers to his feet in a passionate speech in which he said he was willing to go deep down in his own pockets to help the strikers but the federation has no fund for such a purpose.

References were made to appeals for the financing of other strikes and the result of the discussion was that Hayes' motion was modified and the subject was referred to the executive council.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS

Protection lodge, 43, American Benefit society, held a meeting at their hall in Odd Fellows building on Monday evening, which was attended by visitors from Boston, Haverhill and Lawrence. Many new members were initiated and a pleasant evening enjoyed. Refreshments were served after the meeting. The members have all decided to attend the class initiation to be held in Red Men's hall, Essex street, Lawrence, on next Tuesday evening, where a good social time is promised.

AUTOIST NOT GUILTY

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 17.—Harold G. Adams of Providence was today found not guilty of manslaughter in causing the death of Patrick McCusker, a city employe, Nov. 8.

Adams' automobile skidded against a rotary street sweeper, throwing McCusker, its driver, into the gear.

CABINET MEETING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Foreign affairs and domestic conditions were the chief topics at today's cabinet meeting. Latest news from Mexico, Secretary Bryan said, gave promise of early peace there. Secretary Redfield said official reports showed a large increase in exports and that business generally throughout the country was steadily improving. Secretary McAdoo reported on the opening of the new federal reserve system.

After the cabinet meeting, Secretary Daniels refused to discuss reports of a disagreement with the navy general board regarding its recommendation from an increase of 18,000 enlisted men.

200 WOMEN STRIKE

Sugar Bag Workers Who Quit Work and Hurled Stones Through Windows, Dispersed

YONKERS, N. Y., Nov. 17—Two hundred women engaged in making sugar bags went on strike yesterday at the Federal sugar refinery here, hurled stones and bottles through windows and were dispersed only when a stream of hot water was turned their way through a hose. Cold water thrown on them through the hose had failed to rout them.

The women had been paid a dollar a day. They went on strike because they were notified this morning that in future they would be paid at the rate of one cent a bag. They said this would reduce their pay one-fourth.

JUDGMENT AFFIRMED

In Case of J. N. Anhut, Convicted of Attempting to Bribe Matteawan Official to Release Harry Thaw

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 17.—The judgment convicting J. N. Anhut of attempting to bribe Dr. John Russell, former superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Matteawan, to bring about the release of Harry K. Thaw, was affirmed by the court of appeals today.

KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

Anna Conroy, 11, Killed and Her Sister and Playmate Seriously Injured in Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 17.—Anna Conroy, 11, was killed and her sister Bridget and a playmate, Henry Jarvis, were seriously injured by being run down by an automobile driven by Elmer F. Butler.

The children were playing on Magazine street and in an endeavor to avoid them Butler swerved his machine sharply to the right, crashing Anna against a hydrant.

Butler was arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

JARED FLAGG SENTENCED

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Jared Flagg was sentenced this afternoon to serve 15 months in the federal prison at Atlanta for using the mails to defraud stock investors.

Before sentence was imposed Federal Judge Rudkin gave Flagg an opportunity to make a statement. Flagg asserted he was innocent and produced more than 800 contracts with his clients, saying these would establish his innocence. Judge Rudkin replied that it was too late now to present such evidence denied a motion for a new trial and imposed sentence.

Daniel M. Morgan, former treasurer of the United States, and six other associates of Flagg in his scheme to beat the "market" are yet to be tried on indictments charging them also with misuse of the mails.

A MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. George Colburn, 40 Keene street, in honor of Miss Georgia Anna Ward, soon to be married and she was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. Although taken by surprise she responded most fittingly. Very pleasing vocal solos were rendered by Mr. Frank Marshall. Refreshments were served and games were enjoyed and the party broke up at a late hour wishing the young lady all future happiness. The accompanist of the evening was Miss Catherine Gilchrist.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION TO ASSIST IN PREVENTING SPREAD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—To assist in prevention of the spread of the prevalent foot and mouth disease the interstate commerce commission announced today it would contribute whatever it can toward affording relief at the present juncture.

Applications had been made for relief from the assessment of demurrage charges upon embargoed shipments of livestock, hay and straw, held by orders of the department of agriculture. The commission's announcement says:

Carriers are required strictly to observe their published tariff rates and regulations and may not deviate therefrom. This commission may, however, upon application made to permit charges in tariffs upon less than the ordinary 30 days' notice.

Should the carriers or any of them petition this commission to make effective upon one day's notice tariff which will suspend the assessment and collection of demurrage occasioned by the order of the department of agriculture, this commission will be glad to give prompt and favorable consideration to such applications.

The state of Washington probably will be placed under quarantine today because of the discovery of cases of the foot and mouth disease near Spokane.

FRENCH OFFICIAL WAR REPORT

PARIS, Nov. 17.—There was given out in Paris this afternoon the following official communication:

"From Nieuport to Dixmude and in the region of Ypres the cannonading has been resumed with greater violence than in the preceding days. On the canal to the south of Dixmude the action of our artillery checked the work that the Germans were endeavoring to carry out to keep down the inundations. The enemy was compelled to evacuate a portion of his trenches which had been filled by the waters.

"Two attacks on German infantry, one to the south of Bixschoote and the other to the south of Ypres resulted in failure. On our side we have made progress between Bixschoote and the canal.

"Between Armentieres and La Bassee, there has been an artillery duel conducted with great spirit.

"On the Aisne certain German detachments which endeavored to cross the river in the vicinity of Valley were either driven back or destroyed.

"On our position on the right bank of the Aisne up stream from Valley there has been violent cannonading.

"In the Argonne there have not been any infantry engagements. We blew up with mines a certain number of German trenches. On the heights of the Meuse to the south of Verdun we have made advances at several points.

"In the region of St. Michiel we have taken possession of the first houses of the village of Chauvoncourt. These houses served as barracks for the St. Mihiel garrison. This village of Chauvoncourt is the only point of support still held by the Germans on the left bank of the River Meuse in this locality.

"On the rest of the front there has been nothing of importance to report."

FORMER MAYORS NAMED

White and Kane Nominees in Lawrence—Results of Primaries in Other Cities

LAWRENCE, Nov. 18.—William P. White, twice mayor of Lawrence, who resigned during his last term of office, again won a place in yesterday's primary and will be the candidate against ex-Mayor John P. Kane to fill out the balance of the term of the late Mayor Scanlon.

White was the candidate against the latter a year ago and lost by a narrow margin. The opposition to White was so divided that he led the other six candidates having a margin of 508 over ex-Mayor Kane.

William P. White was in the public eye a few years ago when he was convicted of conspiring to bribe and served more than a year in jail in connection with appointments to the fire department.

SALEM NOMINATIONS

Kelly and Danforth Named in List for Director of Public Works and Director of Finance

SALEM, Nov. 17.—Primaries were held in the 12 precincts of this city yesterday, for the choice of two nominees for the office of municipal director of public works, and a similar number for the position of director of finance.

The terms of Charles H. Danforth director of finance and of Patrick J. Kelley, director of public works, expire by limitation this year. Both desire re-election for three-year terms and both were renominated. A total of 4336 votes was cast out of a total registered vote of 7729.

NAMED FOR THIRD TERM

Mayor George M. Wright Renominated by Worcester Republicans—Ticket for City Election

WORCESTER, Nov. 18.—Mayor Geo. M. Wright was unanimously renominate for a third term by the republicans of Worcester last night in their caucuses and Pehr J. Holmes was unanimously nominated for his running mate as alderman-at-large.

The principal contests were for school committee in ward 1, where Mrs. Emily F. Foster, wife of Rev. Dr. Allyn King Foster of the First Baptist church, defeated Henry O. Anderson, 449 to 217, and for school committee in ward 8, where Charles B. Johnson, the dean of the school board, was renominated over Morris S. Wright, who ran on stickers, by a vote of 192 to 153.

Contests for common council nominations were won in ward 2 by Michael J. O'Hara over Lester F. Clark, 267 to 159; in ward 7 by John C. Ware and Frederick S. Clark over William A. Kenney, by votes of 208 and 147 to 138; and in ward 9 by Charles D. Rugg and Albert H. Moss over Louis M. Friedman, by votes of 206 and 204 to 42.

STACY BEATS DENISON

President of Springfield Board of Aldermen Nominated for Mayor by Republicans

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 18.—Frank E. Stacy, president of the board of aldermen, defeated Mayor John A. Denison for the republican nomination for mayor at the caucuses here last night.

The vote was Stacy 3346; Denison, 2579. Both candidates worked hard to get out a large vote and the total number voting was 5925.

The aldermanic and councilmanic contests were warmly contested in some instances. Alderman George S. Cook of ward 1 winning over his opponent, Louis G. Erickson, and in ward 7 Albert B. Franklin Jr. defeating Thomas F. Godfrey.

LYNN POLLS 13,000 VOTES

Great Interest Shown in Primary Election, Newhall and Cogswell Being Nominated for Mayor.

LYNN, Nov. 18.—Mayor George H. Newhall and ex-Rep. John H. Cogswell were nominated for mayor at the primary election here yesterday. They were the two highest candidates among the eight aspirants. Under the commission form of government, two candidates are named as the regular candidates at the municipal election, which this year comes Dec. 8.

Great interest was taken in the result, more than 13,000 votes being cast. The several candidates for the nominations for mayor, commissioners of finance and of streets and school committee had many persons at the polling places working in their interest.

Mayor Newhall received 5154 votes, carrying every ward except ward 6. Cogswell received 2727, and the third man, ex-Mayor Connery, received 2351. Ex-Rep. Salter got 1158, A. J. Hoitt 686, Dr. C. D. S. Lovell 466, John R. Wallace 171 and Wm. A. Marks 92.

For commissioner of finance Frank R. Turnbull was renominated with 5061, with Roy F. Bergengren second, 3211. Robert W. Thomson received 1853 and George N. Nichols 2370 votes.

George H. McPhetres was renominated for commissioner of streets with 5026. The second man was Henry H. Moore with 1838. Howard W. Newhall received 1590.

S. Walter McDonough, Rev. C. Thurston Chase, Rev. Wm. F. Dussault and James H. Hooper were nominated for the school committee. These four will contest for the two vacant places at the regular election.

NOMINATION IN HAVERHILL

Bartlett Sweeps Every Ward for Nomination for Mayor—L. K. Morse to Be His Opponent

HAVERHILL, Nov. 18.—Alderman Albert L. Bartlett, who is now serving his second term in the municipal council, was the high man to qualify for mayor in the primary election yesterday. He carried every ward in the city over his four opponents, polling 2173 in a total vote of 5468.

Ex-Rep. Leslie K. Morse was the other candidate to qualify for mayor, he being second highest man in every ward.

The other candidates were William E. How, ex-Senator Samuel W. George and Dr. Thomas W. Flood.

MURDER VICTIM

Body of Thos. E. Preece Will be Buried at Taunton

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Nov. 18.—The body of Thomas E. Preece, who was killed and robbed at Sumner on Nov. 7 will be buried at Taunton, Mass., by his sister, Mrs. John Brintcomb by whom it will be received today.

Sheriff William O. Frothingham has returned from Milo to which town he traced the route followed by Preece in his carriage drive from Presque Isle to Sumner. He found many persons who saw or talked with Preece, but was able to locate only one, a Canton man who saw the Spanish war veteran who on Nov. 4 joined Preece at Milo, where the former had been employed two days under the name of Peter J. Harrington. The description given by the man who saw both men as they drove through Canton is said to correspond with that of Harrington and of the man who left Preece's team and dog at the hotel here the night Preece was murdered.

SAFE DYNAMITED

In North Dighton Post Office and About $900 Stolen

NORTH DIGHTON, Nov. 17.—The postoffice safe was dynamited and about $900 in cash and stamps stolen by robbers who escaped unseen early today. Darius White, night watchman at the Dighton Furnace company near the store of Charles H. Walker, where the postoffice is located, heard a muffled explosion about 9 o'clock and notified the police by telephone. When a squad of officers arrived they found the front of the safe blown off and the contents gone. The state police and the local authorities say that they have not the slightest clue.

NEED CHARITY AT HOME

SAYS NEW YORK MAYOR, IN REPLYING TO APPEAL TO HELP BELGIAN SUFFERERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—In a letter to the committee of mercy, replying to an appeal to help raise contributions for the relief of the Belgians, Mayor Mitchel yesterday called attention to the need of home philanthropy before answering the call of a European nation impoverished by the war.

"Contributions made to the Belgians must be made in addition to the contributions necessary for the relief of poverty here at home," the mayor wrote. "I feel it my duty to emphasize this and to urge the citizens of New York to make special sacrifices during this winter to minimize distress among the destitute here in America.

"Let us give to the Belgians generously but let us not fall first to meet with equal generosity the needs of those for whom we have first responsibility and on whose welfare will very largely depend America's readiness to meet her obligations now and at the close of the war."

NEW BRITISH WAR LOAN

STEADY DEMAND BUT NO PARTICULAR RUSH ON—LONDON BANK TO GET THE PROSPECTUS

LONDON, Nov. 18.—There has been a steady demand but no particular rush on the central bank to get the prospectus of the new British war loan of $1,750,000,000. Contrary to the usual practice of closing the issue as soon as the amount was covered, the list in the present case will remain open until Tuesday and prospectuses can be obtained at all banks and in any postoffice of the United Kingdom.

The stock exchange views the loan as a good investment and some members express the belief that another loan will be issued some time in April.

Rev. W. E. Pittenger gave an interesting talk on "Education and Morals" at the regular meeting of the Educational club held yesterday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. The usual opening exercises were held and reports of the officers were read.

Applicants must not be under 25 or over 35 years of age.

CANDIDATES NOMINATED
Continued

the winning slate was picked by comparatively few political forecasters.

For commissioner—Newell F. Putnam, 2998; William W. Duncan, 2808; James F. Miskella, 2494; and Andrew E. Barrett, 2198.

For school board—Dr. John H. Lambert, 7281; Herford N. Elliott, 5846; John C. Leggat, 5503; John H. White, 5106; Peter P. McMenimon, 4528; Jas. W. McKenna, 4316.

In the contest for commissioner James E. Donnelly fell only nine votes behind Andrew E. Barrett and in probability will call for a recount. While the ballot was a simple one to count, and would give the impression that there is little likelihood of error, the figures in precinct two of ward one are such as to cause many to wonder if a mistake has not been made in the count. In this precinct Mr. Miskella received 157, the second highest vote, Mr. Duncan getting 153, while Mr. Donnelly received only 87 and Mr. Barrett only 50. In state politics the precinct is strongly republican.

The school board contest resulted as was expected, with the six strongest candidates winning it out. An analysis of the school board vote would show that despite the fact that a slate containing the names of Dr. Lambert and Messrs. Elliott and Leggat had been made, "bullets" to the extent of thousands were cast for Dr. Lambert. This was quite noticeable in ward seven, the home ward of both Dr. Lambert and Mr. Leggat. It is known that Mr. Leggat received a large number of so-called "democratic votes" in this ward, while Dr. Lambert did not, and yet Dr. Lambert received a total of 1069 against 904 for Mr. Leggat and Mr. Elliott received only 765.

On the school board contest there were 3551 blanks against 816 for commissioner. Dr. Lambert ran 1435 votes ahead of Mr. Elliott and 1718 ahead of Mr. Leggat, a total of 3153, which pretty well discloses the number of "bullets" cast for the doctor.

As was generally expected toward the close of the campaign Commissioner Brown fell outside the breastworks though he landed farther away than most people expected. Up to the last he had great confidence in himself and is said to have wagered on the result. Those who openly opposed Commissioner Donnelly expressed the opinion that "he had had enough," though his vote showed that a large proportion of the voters were content to have him there again. Many were surprised at the vote received by Frank Ricard, for it was figured that he was a very probable winner and would get 90 per cent. of the French vote. The forecasters, however, got the wrong percentage on Mr. Ricard's French vote, for while the greatest strength shown by him was in wards six and seven, his vote there does not indicate that he received anything like 90 per cent. of the French vote. Mr. Ricard's slump may or may not have been due to an advertisement that appeared in the French papers coupling his name with another candidate and signed by Omer J. Allard, a registrar of voters. Mr. Allard denies any knowledge of the advertisement and states that his signature was placed on it without his knowledge or consent. The matter has caused somewhat of a sensation in French American circles and it is said that the attention of the district attorney will be called to it. One of the candidates whose defeat caused much surprise was Abel R. Campbell. Mr. Clapp received just enough votes in wards three and eight to keep Mr. Campbell out of the running. Joseph Mullin's small vote was another big surprise. Mr. Mullin's name appeared on a variety of slates and some couldn't believe that he would down.

SUN FEATURES THURSDAY

Spellbinder Will Discuss Political Questions; Sleepy Time Tales, Rabbit's Foot and Other Features

District Attorney Corcoran appears in The Spellbinder column for the first time with a few pointed remarks addressed to another editor who didn't see fit to print them. A few remarks about the caucuses and their results. Other political matters of local interest.

"Your Boys and Girls" in tomorrow's Sun will contain some very helpful information regarding the proper care and bringing up of children. It tells how to amuse the convalescent child who requires more entertainment than the healthy child. How to celebrate baby's birthday, and other questions are answered for mothers in a pleasing way in this article.

The problem of properly caring for the hair is one which is a source of considerable worry to some women. An exceptionally good article dealing with the care of the hair will be found in tomorrow's Sun in "What the French Maid Said." Marie tells various methods of treating the hair including shampoos and how to promote the healthy growth of the hair.

How the little gnomes helped Mrs. Chipmunk when Mr. Chipmunk hurt his foot so that he could not go after nuts is a sleepytime tale that will delight the children. This will be printed in The Sun tomorrow especially for the little ones.

"The Beauty Smile" is the topic of "The Rabbit's Foot" in The Sun tomorrow. It tells why one should cultivate a cheerful, happy disposition and the value of a smile in one's personality.

TO STRENGTHEN ANKLES

Weak ankles are very annoying when they have a habit of constantly turning. This may be due to wearing low shoes, and at least, half the year milady should wear high street shoes, to rest the unsupported ankles of the other six months.

A very good method of strengthening the ankles is to try simple dancing steps in one's own room. Try standing with the ankles turned in, and then turned out. At first you will find it difficult to keep your balance, but after they have become strong it will be an easy task.

Rubbing the ankles every night with alcohol is very good, and prevents one from catching cold easily.

Never go about the house in negligee and slippers without stockings. Drafts and cold floors are treacherous in the winter months. Skating and dancing are both good exercise for weak ankles.

The constant wearing of low heeled sport shoes often causes the ankles to become thick and clumsy looking.

MAN MURDERED

Body Stuffed Into Barrel and Carried to Lonely Street in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The man who was murdered last night and stuffed into a barrel, carried to a lonely street under the Queensborough bridge and left there, to be found before the warmth had left the body, was identified today as Luigi Macaluso, aged 22, a tailor who lived in that section of Manhattan's East Side best known to the police as the home of gangsters and gunmen.

Macaluso had served a sentence for carrying a revolver and detectives seeking to unravel the mystery of his death thought it due to a feud between rival gangs.

Michael Macaluso, a macaroni baker, the slain man's father, made the identification. He did not appear surprised and was unable or unwilling to give the police any information on which to start their quest for the murderer.

THE MERIT SYSTEM

It must have been quite a revelation to the committee of the Lowell board of trade, as it is to the general public, to find that our claims for lower fire insurance rates in this city are not considered overwhelming by the Boston gentlemen who make the rates. It has been generally understood here that in the matter of fire prevention and regulation, Lowell was ahead of most New England cities. Incidentally, it is a discouraging reflection that if we are considered wanting in our fire regulations, by experts, we would be considered still more deficient in practically every branch of municipal activity.

In the main, the claims of the experts at the rooms of the New England insurance exchange were based on common sense, and their demands are reasonable. If the fire insurance rates of this city are to be lower, it will have to comply with the requisites of the fire experts to a still greater extent. If the proposed assessment is in keeping with that in vogue in all other cities of this part of the country, there is no cause for complaint. It is indeed somewhat of a surprise that Lowell is not considered a profitable field, by insurance companies, though the evidence produced bore out that claim to some extent. Evidently a city need not necessarily have great conflagrations such as those of Salem and Manchester to suffer grievously from fire losses.

The most important assurance received by the local committee at the Boston conference was that the merit system will be introduced here, though careless property owners will not welcome the innovation. Mercantile rates are to be revised and a base rate will be determined, to be high or low in proportion to the improvements made by the city. In individual cases, lower insurance rates will follow property improvement, while at the same time owners of undesirable property with grave fire dangers will be compelled to pay a higher figure than at present. Scientifically applied, this merit system would be a good thing for the city, as it would force careless property owners to take necessary precautions.

To secure lower rates it would seem necessary that the state and municipal regulations be enforced rigidly and that our fire department be kept in an efficient condition. The claims of the fire experts do not bear out the wisdom of our official economy cry in this most important particular. The city is not rated in the first class—class A—with Worcester, Springfield and Brookline, but is included in the second class, and this in spite of the great strides made during the last municipal administration in supplementing the water pressure and adding modern equipment to the fire department.

The incidental criticism of our water pressure, fire equipment, alarm system, and other aspects of municipal fire prevention and fire fighting will give food for thought to our municipal authorities. It demonstrates forcibly the need for constant activity and also the need for initiative in dealing with a department that means so much to the future of the city. If the local committee did not succeed in getting a strong confirmation of their hopes, they got some information that ought to prove of value in the future.

GREAT REFORM STARTS

There may be some difference of opinion about a few of the laws passed under the leadership of President Wilson, but there is no difference of opinion about the great currency reform which was formally inaugurated a day or two ago. Coming at a time when business needs all the encouragement possible, the new influence will do a great deal to restore the balance of prosperity and to steer this country towards the goal of unprecedented success. For the first time in the history of the nation we have a banking system that will meet all the fluctuating needs of the future and free business from artificial restrictions and from the fear of panics. Better still it has permanently removed the finances of the country from the evils of speculation and safeguarded the rights of the small business without interfering with the lawful privileges of any interest or group in the country.

The indirect benefits of the new currency system have been drawn frequently by political and business leaders irrespective of party, and they are rosy indeed. The direct benefits will make themselves felt without delay. One of the first important moves will be the release of about $450,000,000 of reserves, more than enough to relieve the monetary shortage of some harassed districts. One of the intents of the new legislation is the aiding of every legitimate industry—credit being arranged for without formality and on easy terms. Thus, the government banking system stands ready to aid a deserving industry or business that may be temporarily obstructed by the old world war or by any other agency; in this the starting of the great reform is timely.

With the birth of the federal reserve system comes news of other improvements that tend to raise the courage of the entire country. It is said that war contracts to the amount of $500,000,000 have already been placed with our manufacturers, though little attention is called to such contracts for obvious reasons. If the war continues long, the tide of prosperity cannot but turn in our direction. This is the opinion of Agent Mitchell of the Massachusetts mills who returned from the scene of war a few days ago and it is the opinion of most trade forecasters at the present time.

The influence of the new currency system on domestic manufacture will be for good; in enabling our manufacturers to reach the foreign markets. It will be especially efficacious. Already some of the leading banks of the country have opened branches in South America and the actual work of assuring credit in that part of the world and elsewhere will be under way directly. With a fair show of co-operation between manufacturers, business leaders and the government, our export trade should from now on increase by leaps and bounds.

TO DISCUSS ANNEXATION

The suggestion that a mass meeting [illegible] residents of the Dracut district [illegible] the river,—the annexation of [illegible] been advocated by The Sun [illegible] in the near future to discuss the proposal from all angles, is an excellent one, and it ought to be adopted without delay. Those who reside in the territory are best qualified to compare their present limitations with the expected advantages of annexation, and there cannot be intelligent action without full discussion. The needs of the district in fire protection, in water, in streets and other necessaries are very apparent, and the advantages of annexation in these things are also apparent. If any of the residents have a feeling that being included in Lowell would impose any new hardships, they should air them, now that the movement is being agitated so widely. A mass meeting such as that which is proposed would supply the means for intelligent expression of views pro and con.

If, after the meeting, which might advantageously be attended by one of our assessors, opinion in that section of Dracut favored annexation with Lowell a bill authorizing Lowell citizens to vote on the matter might be introduced in the legislature. The minority could still carry any protest they might wish to make—though little opposition is anticipated—before the general court, and the supporters of the project could offer counter-arguments. In all probability a general expression from the Lowell voters would favor the scheme as Lowell needs room to grow, and more especially in the Dracut direction. For some time the city has been growing residentially away from its business centre. Both Dracut and Lowell would profit from the annexation movement now being agitated.

TRACK WALKING ACCIDENTS

Once again we are reminded of the terrible dangers of track walking by two local accidents, following each other in rapid succession, both of which were fatal. In one case it is surmised that a young man on his way to work took a short cut across or along the railroad tracks with fatal results, and in the other instance a man sought to get a ride on a freight train, meeting a similar fate. In the face of such warnings, any talk to track walkers sounds flat and unnecessary, but we have had accidents and deaths from this source for years without reducing their number. Many men who work for the Boston and Maine railroad in this city refrain from using the tracks as a short cut to work, and yet hundreds do not hesitate to risk their lives in this manner daily. It is too bad that people cannot in all cases be saved from their own carelessness. Probably the toll of track walkers will still go on, giving the papers tragic stories and saddening many homes yearly.

LOCAL RED CROSS

The activity of the local Red Cross branch as displayed in their headquarters in the Runels building, has a seriousness and earnestness that reflects credit on the workers and the committee in charge. It is evident that those engaged in the good work do not regard it as a fad but as a very serious and necessary charity. Though the actual work is but beginning, the results are very commendable and it is evident that the earlier financial success will be followed up by success in supplying clothes and hospital supplies to the afflicted in the old world battle lines. The American Red Cross society is neutral and it responds to the calls of suffering humanity wherever the fires of war are raging. The local branch deserves the support of the public in good measure—whether shown by a financial contribution or by any other form of practical interest.

The weather seems to be playing an important part in the war news at present. For the past few days rain and snow have fallen in the eastern and western scenes of conflict respectively, with advantage to the troops used to cold climes. Water in the trenches has made the fighting more terrible than at any time since the war began and undoubtedly it has added to the fatalities, directly and indirectly. Pneumonia is already claiming victims by the hundreds.

The letter of Secretary Redfield predicting prosperity sounds the most optimistic note heard yet, and backs it up with facts and figures. It is remarkable how republican business predictions have brightened, too, since the last elections.

The cold in the air should be a warning to the street department to fill up the worst gaps before the ice and snow come. If the defects are neglected, some of our streets may look like streets in sections of Antwerp when spring comes round again.

Furnace heat is good but good vitality is better.

TREES ALONG THE ROAD

Throughout the state the Massachusetts highway commission is planting trees along the highways, preserving the trees that are already there and trimming trees that are merely obstructions to the view of those who travel the roads and that therefore often contribute to the making of accidents. Where it has been customary to have guard rails for the protection of vehicles, the commission is now planting trees of various kinds—elms, maples, locusts and willows. The thought is that not only will the appearance of the road be improved, but a real economy will be accomplished. Guard rails need replacing frequently, but the trees become an even better protection as they grow in strength. No trimming of trees along the highway can be done by telegraph and telephone companies without a permit from the commission, and in granting these permits the commission is careful to guard against the possibility of marring the beauty of the road. The Massachusetts commission is this year spending $5000 in planting trees and $10,000 in the preservation of trees, a feature of the latter being the prevention of insect invasion.

POKING FUN AT US

The New York Sun comments pointedly on the ludicrousness of the law passed regarding the red flag in this state. It says: "To the humorous and imaginative Massachusetts enemy of society who on Saturday solemnly insisted on the enforcement against Harvard's crimson banner of the prohibition of red flags we offer our sincere thanks and congratulations. He showed up the absurdity of this particular enactment neatly and completely; may he have further opportunity to expose the meddlesome and oppressive statutes that too busy legislatures all over the country delight in putting in the books. Apparently the authors of this monument to wisdom and intelligence regard the revolutionary symbol as the cause and fountain head of the revolution, a view it is not surprising to find they were able to impress upon the lawmakers. 'Suppress the red flag,' we can hear them tell the solons, 'and there can be no more riots'; and so the thing was done. Thus in dozens of cases futility has found its expression in penal enactments, until the law libraries are fat with ridiculous statutes aimed at utterly inconsequential and trivial practices. Only occasionally is it possible to display these enactments in their ludicrous phase so that public attention may be centered on them. Whenever such an opportunity presents itself, may our Old Bay State revolutionists be on hand to manage the exhibition."

THE AMERICAN ADJECTIVE

"The half moon in the summer sky!
How beautiful it is!" quoth I.
"Ah, yes," my hearer made reply;
"SOME moon!"

"How witching is that melody!
It breathes somehow of wind and sea!"
"Uh huh," my hearer said to me:
"SOME tune!"

"With what a grand, majestic sweep
Yon mountain rises from the deep!"
"Oh, yes," he murmured, half asleep:
"SOME hill!"

I said: "You see this suit I wear?
They charged me sixty! Pretty fair?"
He answered with a wide-eyed stare:
"SOME bill!"

I saw him at a dinner dance;
He paused to breathe; I caught his glance.
He shouted out: "Say, take a chance:
"SOME whirl!"

I grasped his hand: "I hear you're wed!
You've won a prize in that girl, Ned.
Good luck, old boy!" He smiled and said:
"SOME girl!"

I served him chicken. "Ain't it fine?"
I asked him as I sampled mine.
He answered, pouring out his wine:
"SOME bird!"

"Old Top," quoth I, "from morn till night
Your words exasperate me quite!
SOME this—SOME that—" He shrugged.

MANY SISTERS TO MANY BROTHERS

When we fought campaigns (in the long Christmas rains)
With soldiers spread in troops on the floor,
I shot as straight as you, my losses were as few,
My victories as many, or more.

And in naval battle, when, amid the rattle
Of cannon, fleet met fleet in the bath,
My cruisers were as trim, my battleships as grim
My submarines cut as swift a path.

Or, when it rained too long, and the strength of the strong
Surged up and broke a way with blows,
I was as fit and keen, my fists hit as clean,
Your black eye matched my bleeding nose.

Was there a scrap or play in which you, the boy
Could better me? You could not climb higher,
Ride straighter, run as quick (and to smoke made you sick).
. . . But I sit here, and you're under fire.

Oh, it's you that have the luck out there in blood and muck:
You were born beneath a kindly star;
All we dreamed, I and you, you can really go and do,
And I can't, the way things are.

In a trench you are sitting, while I am knitting
A hopeless sock that never gets done—
Well, here's luck my dear;—and you've got it, no fear;
But for me . . . a war is poor fun.

ROMANCE CLUB HELD MEETING

The regular meeting of the Romance club was held last evening at the home of Miss Mary Queenan, in Harrison street and considerable business of importance was transacted. After the regular business session, an excellent musical program was carried out, including vocal solos by Miss Margaret O'Donoghue and Miss Ethel Erickson, piano and violin selections by Miss Ida Brooks, Miss Anna Curran and Miss Lillian Dow. Refreshments were served at a late hour, and the meeting adjourned to meet at the home of Miss Clementine Giffen in Lakeview avenue next week.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

GIRLS! GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

For 25 Cents You Can Make Your Hair Lustrous, Fluffy, and Abundant.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

TOWN MEETING IS CALLED

By Residents of Tewksbury to Pass on Suit Pending Against the Bay State St. Ry. Co.

A special town meeting will be held in Tewksbury Monday evening to see if the town will authorize or direct the selectmen and town counsel to settle or compromise the action of inhabitants of Tewksbury vs. the Bay State Street Railway Co. now pending in the superior court of Middlesex county, or take any action relative to said suit.

The warrant has been posted and contains two other articles, namely to choose a moderator to preside at the said meeting, and the other to see what action the town will take in regard to appropriating money for the police department for the remainder of the year.

The most important article, however, is that which has reference to the law suit against the Bay State Street Railway Co. for the company has written to Melvin Rogers, town counsel, in an endeavor to settle the suit out of court, the company offering the sum of $5000, and inasmuch as the town counsel has no authority to settle matters concerning his clients, he has called for a special town meeting, where the voters will take upon themselves either to accept or reject the offer of the railroad company.

The suit, the ad damnum of which is $20,000, was brought about to recover two bonds of $5000 each and interest thereon since the issuing of the said bonds. One of the bonds is dated Nov. 1, 1903, and the other, Dec. 31, 1904, and the case is to be called at the jury-waived session of the superior court at Lowell Wednesday.

The bonds were for extension of car tracks in certain locations granted by the selectmen and for the operation of cars on said lines.

Two distinct improvements are involved and one was to be completed in 1903 and the other in 1904. The company gave a bond of $5000 in each case and the Tewksbury authorities claim it failed in both cases.

Hearing to be Held in Washington on Proposed Improvement of Merrimack River

A meeting of the waterways committee of the chamber of commerce was held at Lawrence yesterday for the purpose of considering and discussing the report of Col. Craighill on the proposed improvement of the Merrimack river. With the committee were Mayor Paul Hannigan, Secretary John H. Murphy of the Lowell board of trade and Daniel N. Casey, secretary of the board of trade of Haverhill.

The adverse report of Col Craighill was duly considered and a report of an interview held with the department at Boston, by Secretary Sherman, was presented, after which the following resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote.

RESOLVED: That it is the sense of this meeting that a "hearing" before the board of engineers at Washington be asked for, at which representatives from the city governments, and the chambers of commerce of Lawrence, Lowell and Haverhill, as well as the congressmen representing these districts may present arguments and statistics which go to show the wisdom of a favorable report to the war department on the improvement of the Merrimack river from Lowell to the sea.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the details attending the hearing be placed in charge of Messrs. Casey, Murphy and Sherman, with a view of securing the hearing at an early date.

Hearing in December

Subsequently, a meeting was held by Messrs. Casey, Murphy and Sherman and a decision reached that the arrangements be proceeded with providing for the delegation to go to Washington, Dec. 8th, to attend the hearing before the rivers and harbors committee Dec. 10th.

They further favored extending an invitation to Governor Walsh to go with the committee at its proposed hearing before the board of engineers, which is expected to be accorded on some date early in the next week.

It is expected that at the dinner to be given tomorrow evening, at Young's hotel, in Boston, in the interest of the inland waterways of New England, that Mr. A. B. Sutherland will present an unanswerable argument which will show the necessity of the improvement of the Merrimack and the determination on the part of its advocates not to rest until the co-operation of the government in the work of the improvement has been assured.

At the meeting tomorrow evening, Congressman Treadway, of the rivers and harbors committee, will show the advantages of the present methods of the committee in reporting on improvements by the general government of this nature, and he will be followed by Mr. Sutherland with his argument on the value of the local improvement.

Colonel Craighill is expected to follow Mr. Sutherland, speaking along similar lines.

WORST FREIGHT WRECK

IN THE HISTORY OF THE MAINE CENTRAL RAILROAD OCCURRED TODAY—31 CARS DITCHED

BRUNSWICK, Me., Nov. 17.—The worst freight wreck in the history of the Maine Central railroad, according to its officials, occurred today at Harwards station, between Richmond and Bowdoinham, when 31 cars out of 50 in the westbound train number 334 were piled up. None of the train crew was injured, but three tramps, who were noticed when the train passed through Richmond, had not been accounted for.

DEPUTY BADLY CUT

Bert Allen of Shirley, Me., In Critical Condition and Antonio Derose Is Held in Jail

SHIRLEY, Me., Nov. 17.—Deputy Sheriff Bert Allen of this town is at his home here in a serious condition as the result of stab wounds alleged to have been inflicted by Antonio Derose, who is now in the Somerset county jail at Skowhegan.

Allen, who is a foreman for the Great Northern Paper company, was at the company's headquarters, near Saboomook, Friday evening when Derose happened along and asked for a job. While Deputy Allen and another foreman, Ernest Fault, were conducting him to another camp he assaulted them with a dirk knife, it is alleged. Both men were badly cut, but they managed to subdue the assailant. Allen took him to Solon, where he was turned over to a Somerset county officer and taken to Skowhegan jail.

SHOT IN SELF DEFENSE

LAWRENCE, Nov. 17.—In the district court today Moosac Kochdoorian, 25, charged with the murder of Lawrence P. Landin, and Zadoor Ajamian, charged with being an accessory to murder before the fact, pleaded not guilty. Both were held without bail for a hearing next Tuesday. Landin's body was found yesterday in a closet in Kochdoorian's room. The defendants claim Landin entered their room through a window and that he was shot in self-defense.

AMERICA MAY GET WOOLS

Negotiations Point to the Lifting of Embargo on Australian Product Under Certain Conditions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Charles Barclay of the British embassy and Counselor Lansing of the state department conferred yesterday on the British embargo on exportation of wool from Australia. The question has been under discussion in London directly between Ambassador Page and the British foreign office, but the negotiations have been partially transferred to Washington.

Indications are that an arrangement may be made whereby Australian wools, in excess of the British home requirements will be allowed to be exported to the United States for manufacturing under a pledge that the wool will not be re-exported to Germany or Austria.

RESIDENTS OF KENWOOD

Will Discuss Annexation—They Want to Hear From Lowell Assessors as to Change

The topic of discussion in that section of Dracut along the Merrimack river these days is "Annexation," and most of the residents of that locality seemed to be deeply interested in this project, which many claim would benefit both Lowell and that part of the town.

The Dracut residents, especially along Merrimack avenue, or what is commonly called the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard, want water service and fire protection, and they feel they cannot get these things from the town. Furthermore, the inhabitants of the district all work in the city and have the city habits, and they feel that the distance between Merrimack square and Belle Grove is so short that the section along the river road should become a part of Lowell.

Sewerage

On a visit to Dracut yesterday afternoon a Sun reporter interviewed several prominent residents of Kenwood in relation to sewerage and all seemed to believe that sewer connections would not be required for years in the event of the district being annexed to the city, for most of the houses have individual sewerage to the river. If people living on the back road desired sewer connections they could be accommodated easily by connecting with individual pipes along the water front. However, many are of the opinion that the city officials would not be troubled for the expenditure of money for sewerage for years to come.

Fire Protection

At the last town meeting the sum of $500 was appropriated for fire protection from the city of Lowell, and recently the selectmen have authorized James J. McManmon to confer with Commissioner James H. Carmichael, head of the Lowell fire department, to ascertain if the city department could protect the buildings of Dracut providing fair compensation was allowed for the services rendered. Although the Dracut and Lowell men are willing to meet and talk things over, they have not yet come together.

The chief of the fire department in conversation with the writer some time ago stated that he failed to see how Lowell would be of any service to Dracut in case of a large fire, unless the conflagration occurred on the river edge, where steamers could be of some use. In other parts of the town, with the exception of the Navy Yard and the Centre village, water is not available in case of fire and the Lowell men and apparatus would be of no use.

At Collinsville the American Woolen Co. has a water service which could be of some use in case of fire, providing said fire occurred during working hours, but in the rear of Elsmere, Kenwood, Brookside and Belle Grove the only supply of water available is from the wells, and especially at this time of the year the fire fighters would be handicapped, for most of the wells are dry. It is a fact, vouched for by Supt. Thomas of the Lowell water department, that a main could easily be extended along the river road to supply the entire district for domestic purposes and in case of fire.

Annexation Movement

The only hitch now pending before a general movement is started for annexation in Kenwood and vicinity, is what method the Lowell assessors would use in assessing property in the event of the district becoming a part of Lowell, and it was suggested yesterday that a mass meeting of the residents of the district be called, and for this purpose Mr. McManmon has offered gratis the use of his workshop at his green house. It is probable that arrangements will be made for a mass meeting at an early date and also that one of the Lowell assessors will be invited to explain the method of assessing property.

The district to be annexed as proposed by many would include all the territory from the river road to the city crusher in Broadway, Dracut. The line of the district would extend along Merrimack avenue as far as the Methuen line; the old Methuen road as far as Arlington street and from Arlington street to Broadway at the city crusher, this to include the districts of Elsmere, Kenwood, Brookside and Belle Grove, the entire district to take in an area of about 300 acres with about 400 buildings.

At the proposed mass meeting all residents would be given an opportunity to express their views on the matter and if the sentiment is favorable to annexation one of the legislators would be asked to introduce a bill authorizing the city of Lowell to annex that portion of Dracut. It is not believed that any opposition will be found in other sections of the town for many are of the opinion that the other parts of the town would willingly let go of the Kenwood district.

Voters Disfranchised

One hears a lot of talk pro and con relative to annexation favored by The Sun, but more in favor, and one of the chief arguments is, that with the town of Dracut most of the voters of Kenwood and that district are disfranchised. There is no polling booth in the locality and the men have to pay double car fares and lose considerable time by going to Dracut Centre to cast their ballot, and accordingly many abstain from voting. By annexing the district to Lowell it is felt a voting place would be established there and all would be given an opportunity to vote on election day. If one of the assessors of Lowell can see his way clear to attend the meeting at Kenwood it will be held in a couple of weeks.

SOUTH LOWELL COMPLAINT

The residents of South Lowell are complaining of sewage emptying into a brook in that locality and are taking steps to have the matter remedied.

VERDICT FOR $1200

CITY LOSES IN SUIT, FOR DROWNING ACCIDENT IN CONGRESS AVE.

A verdict of $1200 for the plaintiff was returned in the local session of superior court this noon in the case of Harry Andrew, administrator, vs. City of Lowell. The jury awarded the plaintiff $800 for the death of the child and $400 for conscious suffering.

The Lowell Waste Co. was held not liable for damages.

New Case on Trial

The case of Martin vs. Remick, an action of tort, the ad damnum of which is $1500 went to trial at this afternoon's civil session of the superior court, Justice McLaughlin presiding. The plaintiff, Valentine O. Martin, who is the owner of a farm at Bedford, brought suit against Harry S. Remick, a neighbor, to recover for alleged damages caused to her farm by water flowing through a ditch dug by the defendant. Frank Goldman appears for the plaintiff and A. F. Converse for the defendant.

ELGIN LODGE, N. E. O. P.

Elgin lodge, N. E. O. P., will hold the second of its series of whist parties in Veritas hall, Thursday evening. Plans have been made to entertain Deputy Grand Warden Estelle I. Evans on Dec. 3, and early in the new year the organization will celebrate its 24th anniversary.

Two charter members of the lodge passed away early in the year. Carrie E. Buxton died Feb. 28, and the beneficiary was paid $3,000. Ursula T. Wyman died on March 28, the beneficiary in this case receiving $1000.

DUMP FIRE

A fire in the Manufacture street dump broke out this forenoon and Hose 9 was summoned to extinguish the flames.

ENGINEER KEARNEY BACK FROM ATLANTA

3000 Delegates at the American Road Congress—Colonel Sohier Turns Table on Southern Road Builders—City Hall News

City Engineer Stephen Kearney has returned from Atlanta, Ga., where he attended the Fourth American road congress. There were about 3000 delegates present and Mr. Kearney says that the Atlanta folks are very hospitable. It was a case of open house and the delegates were right royally entertained.

Mr. Kearney in telling the story of his Atlanta trip said that one of the features of the congress was a little trick played by Col. W. D. Sohier of the Massachusetts state highway commission. The toastmaster had called on Mr. Paige, federal director of public roads, giving that gentleman a very flattering introduction.

A sharp, clear-eyed man advanced as the cheering subsided. In three minutes men were craning their necks to get a look at him; in five minutes they were wondering what ailed the man and in ten minutes the southern delegates were throwing fits. The way that the speaker lambasted the southern road builders was a caution. He said little credit was due them for any good roads they might boast of as they had profited by the expense and experience of the north. He told them that they copied everything from the road builders up this way and that every good street in the south was copied after some street in the north. The southern delegates were fit for riot when the speaker subsided. They had never heard Mr. Paige talk like that before, because he is a southerner and they couldn't understand why he should talk that way. At other meetings and on similar occasions he had always spoken in highest terms of southern roads. They couldn't get "hep" so they decided to investigate. They asked a few questions and lost a whole lot of weight when they learned that Mr. Paige was not present, that he had been called away and that Col. W. D. Sohier of the Massachusetts highway commission had substituted for him. Nobody had asked Col. Sohier to do that little thing, but he said afterward that he had never been given a chance to voice his sentiments relative to southern roads and southern road builders. He knew that Mr. Paige was not present and the colonel allowed that it was his turn to move. Mr. Kearney said that the southern papers made a lot of it and referred to it as one of the best jokes ever perpetrated in Atlanta. Very few of the delegates knew the colonel and those who knew that it wasn't Mr. Paige who was speaking seemed content to remain silent.

The Atlanta Auditorium

The meetings, Mr. Kearney said, were held in the Atlanta auditorium and there were about 125 exhibits, covering about 50,000 square feet. The exhibits included all the latest and improved road machinery, rollers, road materials, etc. The United States government had an exhibit that included every kind of a road, completed and in course of construction. Mr. Kearney said the government's exhibit was a remarkable one.

Map Showing Indian Trails

Another very interesting feature of the exhibit was a map of South Carolina showing the old Indian trails, forts, boundaries, etc. The map was made by a noted engineer in 1775. Mr. Kearney, discussing this particular exhibit, said it was one of the most carefully gotten up and most comprehensive maps he had ever seen. He said it was by far the most interesting map he ever looked at and the delegates were all talking about it.

Roads in the South

Mr. Kearney said that the southern cities are getting away from granite block paving and are using a great deal of wood block, asphalt and brick. He said that a concrete road was being laid there by the county and that all of the work was being done by convicts. Mr. Kearney said that while Atlanta has a great many good buildings, and prosperous looking business houses, yet the snap, he said, that one experiences in northern cities is missing. Atlanta, Mr. Kearney says, is a very progressive city and is not the least bit backward about spending money for needed improvements. The city has just installed a new incinerator for the destruction of garbage at an expense of $125,000. The city has also adopted what is known as the Imhoff disposal tanks for sewage, another big expense.

The delegates from this section of the country included Col. Sohier of the Massachusetts state highway commission; Commodore Clark of Springfield, Engineer Sullivan of Boston, Paul Hannigan of Lawrence, Mr. Kearney and others. Every city in Connecticut sent a delegate, while a delegation of eight men represented the state of Rhode Island. The congress next year will be held in Rochester, N. Y. Last year it was held in Detroit.

Motion Picture Film

Mayor Dennis J. Murphy yesterday morning received a motion picture film from the United States Machinery company showing a group of Massachusetts mayors at the mayors' outing in Beverly, May 27, and also the frolic of the chamber of commerce. Arrangements have been made for a display of the film at Keith's theatre in this city.

Big Time in Chelsea

The mayor and other members of the municipal council will go to Chelsea today to attend a banquet by the Massachusetts Police Baseball league. The banquet will be complimentary to the Newton police baseball team, world's police champions, 1914, and will be held in Grand Army hall, Chelsea. Officer John J. Donovan of this city is president of the Massachusetts Police Baseball league and will make the address of welcome. Edward F. Flanagan, another Lowell officer, is secretary of the league and will act today in the capacity of toastmaster. Officer Arthur W. Drewett of this city is on the reception and banquet committee.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS

WASHINGTON, Nov 17.—Plans for increasing the wealth of cash and expanding the operations of the twelve regional banks were before the federal reserve board today as telegrams continued to arrive telling of the successful opening of the institutions.

The board officials had asked for reports of the re-discount business done by each bank and observation of the first week's operation of the system may result in augmenting the bank's cash by more than $150,000,000.

The plan under consideration is the transfer to the regional banks of much of the loose cash in the treasury and most of the government funds deposited in national banks.

MATRIMONIAL

Henry L. Allard and Miss Yvonne Chagnon were married at Notre Dame de Lurdes church by Rev. Leon Lamothe, O. M. I. The witnesses were Simon Allard and Arthur Allard. The couple after a honeymoon trip will make their home at 370 Chelmsford street.

ST. ONGE—GIGNAC

The marriage of Jean Baptiste St. Onge and Miss Marie Gignac took place at St. Joseph's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Dr. J. H. Racette, O. M. I. The witnesses were Edmond St. Onge and Abraham Toupin. The couple will make their home at 109 Cheever street.

FIERCE ATTACK

LONDON, Nov. 17—Col. E. D. Swinton, the official observer at the British headquarters in his latest report describes the fierce attack of the Prussian Guards on the British lines in the neighborhood of Ypres.

Col. Swinton's report, issued through the official press bureau, follows:

"The diminution in the force of the German rush to the west has not lasted long. The section of the front to the north of our forces was the first to meet the recrudescence of violence in the shape of an attack in the neighborhood of Dixmude and Bixschoote.

"Our turn came next. After eight days of comparative relaxation we were under constant pressure from Tuesday, Nov. 3, to Tuesday, the 10th. The next day saw a repetition of the great attempt of the Germans to break through our lines to the French coast.

"What was realized might happen did happen. In spite of the immense losses suffered by the enemy during the five day attack against Ypres which lasted from Oct. 29 to Nov. 9, the cessation of their more violent efforts on the latter day did not signalize the abandonment of the whole project but merely the temporary relinquishment of the main offensive until fresh troops had been massed to carry on what was proving to be a costly and difficult operation. Meanwhile the interval was employed in endeavoring to wear out the allies by repeated local attacks of varying force and to shatter them by a prolonged and concentrated bombardment. By the 11th, therefore, it seems that they had attained both objects, for on that day they recommenced the desperate battle for the possession of Ypres and its neighborhood.

Though the struggle has not yet come to an end this much can be said:

"The Germans have gained some ground but they have not captured Ypres.

"In repulsing the enemy so far, we have suffered heavy casualties, but battles of this fierce and prolonged nature cannot but be costly to both sides."

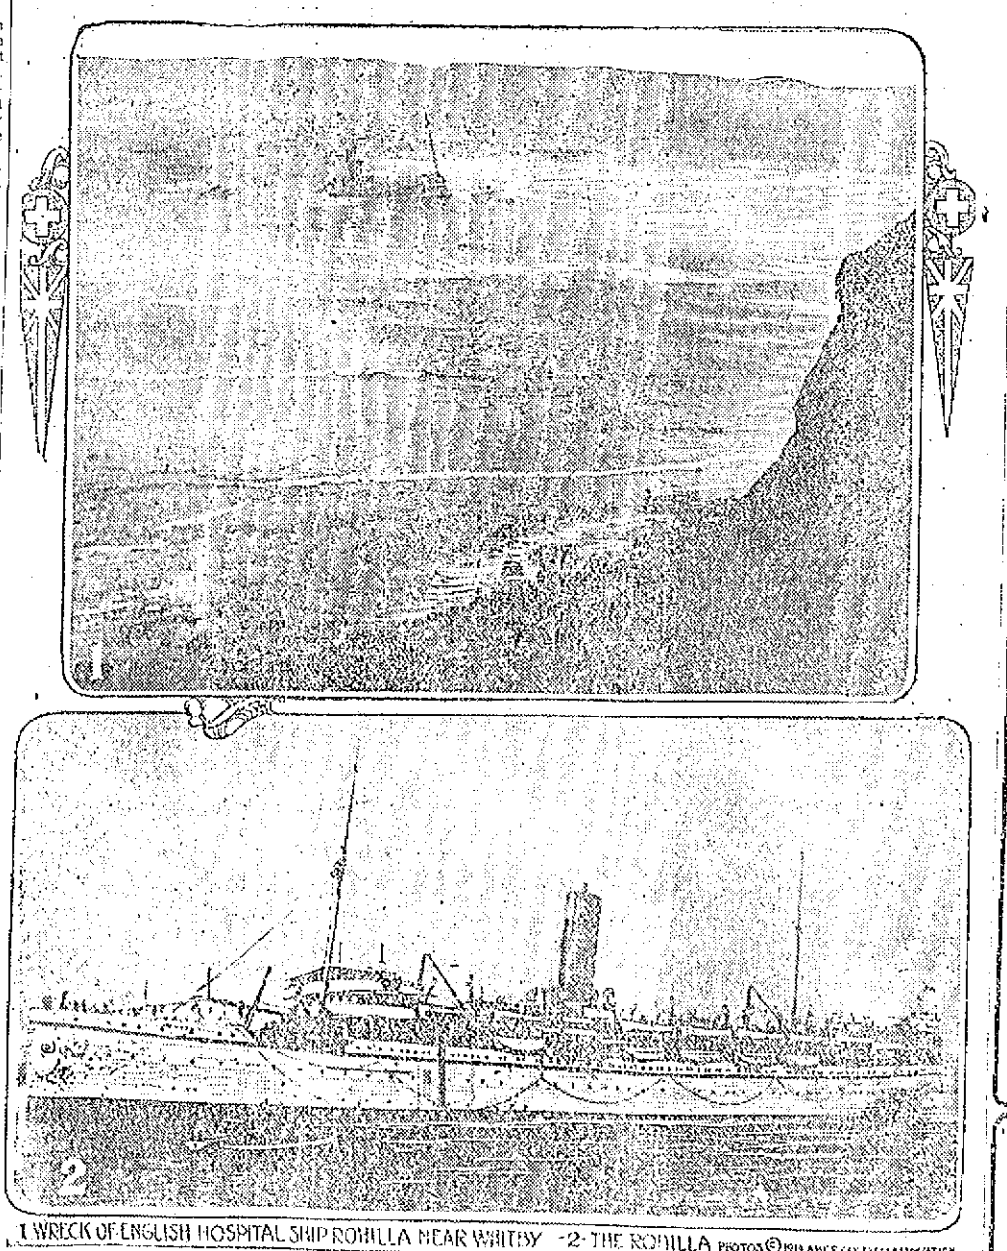

"Thursday, Nov. 12, was marked by a partial lull in the fighting all along our line. To the north a German force which had crossed the Yser and entrenched on the left bank was annihilated by a night attack with the bayonet executed by the French. South of this the enemy was forced back for three-quarters of a mile. Immediately on our left the French were strongly attacked and driven back a short distance, our extreme left having to conform to this movement. Our allies soon recovered the ground they had lost, however, and this enabled us to advance also. To the southeast of Ypres, the enemy's snipers were very active.

"The fact that on this day the advance against our line in front of Ypres was not pushed home after such an effort as that of Wednesday tends to show that for the moment the attacking troops had had enough.

"That the Germans are cunning fighters and well up in all the tricks of the trades has frequently been pointed out. For instance, they often succeed in ascertaining what regiment or brigade is opposed to them and because of their knowledge of English they are able to employ the information to some purpose. On a recent occasion, having by some means discovered the name of the commander of the company holding the trench they were attacking, they called him by name, asking if Captain —— was there. Fortunately the pronunciation of the spokesman was detected and the curtosity was rewarded by discovering that both the officer and his men were very much 'there.'"

ENGLISH HOSPITAL SHIP ROHILLA WRECKED ON ERRAND OF MERCY TO WOUNDED IN BELGIUM

1 WRECK OF ENGLISH HOSPITAL SHIP ROHILLA NEAR WHITBY 2-THE ROHILLA PHOTOS © 1914 AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

In the rush and press of war, with the accounts of sinking battleships, devastated cities and annihilated armies, the fate that overtook the unfortunate English hospital ship Rohilla was soon forgotten. These pictures revive the sad story of the wreck. One of them shows the Rohilla broken in two on the rocks off Whitby, England, and the other shows the Red Cross ship, as she appeared when she sailed for Belgium to bring back wounded British soldiers. The ship was blown out of her course in a fierce gale and was on the rocks before she knew it. Many lives were lost, although most of the women nurses were saved.

Luxury's Limit

The Car With a Thousand Charms

Forget for the moment that the Limousine described sells this year for $2,550. We are facing new price standards in upper-class cars. The time is past when luxury levers need suffer over-tax.

The Famous Chassis

This is the new-model HUDSON Six-40—the latest production of Howard E. Coffin, America's foremost designer.

Mr. Coffin, with the 47 other engineers, has devoted four years to this model. It is their final conception of the ideal Six.

It excels in lightness, in economy, in beauty and equipment. In many ways it is the finest example of the new-day quality car.

And the size is just right for ease of handling, combined with ample room.

The Artistic Side

This Limousine body is built for us by famous New England coach builders. Every detail shows the artist's touch.

It is upholstered and trimmed in finest imported fabrics. Sample books at your local HUDSON showroom will offer you four options.

The hardware is hard-rubber-covered. That is, door handles, window lifts, etc. The rear doors lock.

There are all the dainty appointments—toilet cases, smoking cases, electric light in the dome, electric telephone to driver.

All the glass is easbless. Window and door lights may be dropped. The easbless glass back of the driver is adjusted for ventilating. Set it at any height.

The windows and doors have roll curtains. Roll-up storm curtains protect the front seats.

The extra seats are collapsible, and one may set them to face either front or rear.

All This for $2,550

Here is a car which is widely considered the prince of modern Sixes. In every part and detail it denotes our level best.

It comes with a Limousine body built by masters of the art. It is luxurious to the last degree.

Now, for the first time—because of HUDSON efficiency—this highest class of closed car is offered for $2,550.

Go judge for yourself—at your Hudson showroom—if any car at any price offers more that you desire.

Hudson dealers are everywhere.

GARDNER BROOKS IN TITLE BOUT

Lowell Bantam Will Meet Young Labore at Manchester

Contest to Settle Claim of New England Bantam Weight Champ

Both are Aggressive Boxers and Exciting Bout is Expected

YOUNG LABORE

Gardner Brooks of this city, the bantam weight champion of New England, will defend his title tonight at Manchester, N. H., when he meets Young Labore, who is an aspirant for the title. Labore has met and defeated most of the 115 poundern of New England. His most notable bouts were with Kid Thomas of Lawrence, whom he has fought seven times. Labore copped two decisions, while Thomas had to be content with one as the remainder resulted in draws. He also defeated Joe Morgan, the Manchester featherweight, Frankie Dubois, Tommy Flanagan, Kid Larrahee, Young Walsh, the ex-115-lb. champion of Lowell, and Tony Lorenzo, whom he stopped in two rounds a few weeks ago. This string of victories stamps him as one of the best battlers of his weight in the country.

Young Labore is a slashing, tear-in sort of a boxer, and wins most of his decisions by aggressive work. He is tireless while working in the ring and keeps his opponent on the go throughout. In meeting Brooks, however, he stacks up against one of the cleverest youngsters ever developed in this part of the country, who has had only one decision given against him. Brooks' best battles have also been with Kid Thomas, with whom he fought twice, winning the decision in the first bout and stopping him in nine rounds in the second contest.

The local phantom has also bested Barney Synder, the ex-105-pound National champion, on two different occasions. He also defeated Young Saudow and Jabez White, the Albany, N. Y., bantam, who was considered a championship possibility before he run up against Brooks. White had defeated Young Solzberg, Frankie Burns of Jersey City, and had knocked out Philly McGovern and was looked upon in that section as unbeatable, but after "our boy" got through with him he appeared to be an ordinary preliminary boy as he did not land a solid punch on Gardner during the whole 10 rounds and the critics in Albany said that within a few years Brooks would be champion of the world.

Sheppard to Meet McFarland

Charlie Sheppard of this city is in the pink of condition for his bout at Lawrence tomorrow night with Tommy McFarland of Boston and the local boy is confident of being returned the winner. He has been training daily, under the direction of Frank Murphy and the latter avers that the former New Yorker is boxing better now than ever before. Murphy asserts that after this bout Sheppard will be ready to meet any boxer in this vicinity as his weight. He added, however, that he would put Sheppard against Phinney Boyle of this city at catch weights.

Lowell fans are particularly anxious to see Sheppard and Boyle at it and as the former appears willing to sign articles, it now appears to be up to Phinney and some club to come across with the final arrangements.

EVERY DAY ETIQUETTE

"Mother dear," sighed Ruth, who was about to give a large birthday party, "should I wait until my guests arrive, tomorrow, to thank them, for the gifts I have received, or should I write at once."

"You should send each giver a personal note of thanks," her mother replied.

"I am going to give a luncheon to some of my old college chums," remarked Hazel, "and I don't know whether I should arrange an entertainment or not."

"It should be hardly necessary, as the guests will probably arrive shortly before the luncheon time, and will remain only half hour, or hour at the most after it," replied her aunt.

"Horace is going to bring his sister to call on me," Genevieve said, "and I wonder if I should shake hands with her, or merely nod."

"Of course you should shake hands. A woman in her own house always extends her hand when anyone is presented to her, thereby conveying a sign of cordial welcome to the acquaintance," replied her older sister.

"What ever shall I do? I have just received a card announcing the birth of a little girl to an old school friend. Should I write to her," asked Mrs. Brown, not versed in social ways.

"If she lives near here, you could call and inquire after the health of mother and child, and leave your card. If the mother lives at a distance, you should post your card to her and above your name write: 'Hearty Congratulations,'" replied Mrs. Williams, a suburban clubwoman.

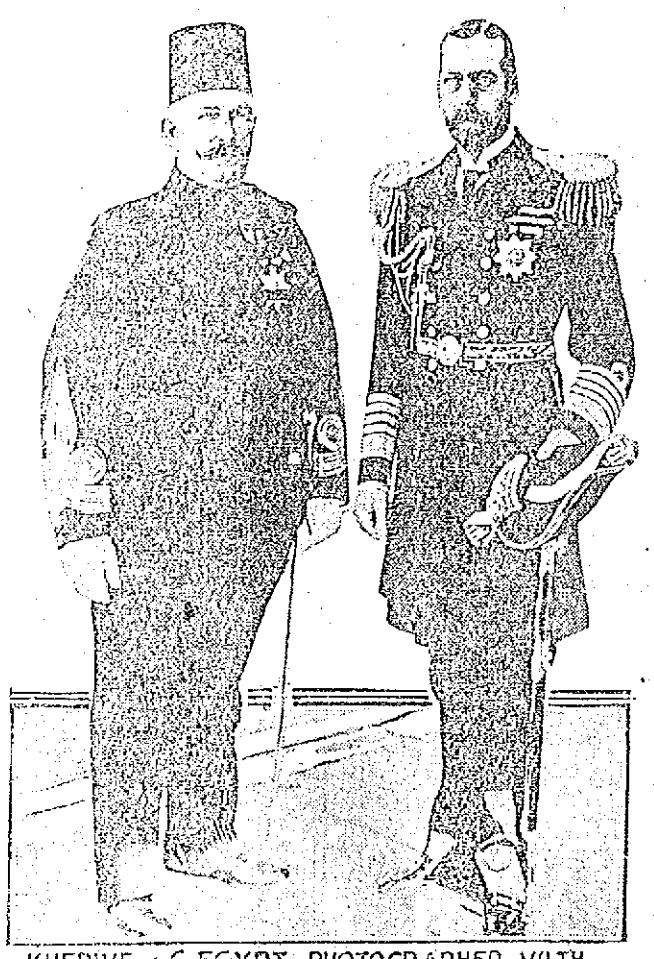

"I do not know much about city ways, so will you please tell me what to do with my wraps when I visit the restaurants," asked perplexed Aunt Sarah, who was contemplating a trip to the city.

"You may leave them in the check room, or if it is a very small wrap you may prefer to keep it around your shoulders while at the table," replied her sister Angela, who had been a more frequent visitor to the city than Sarah.

"When stopping in a large hotel, should I wear my hat down to dinner or not?" asked the prospective bride.

"You may enter the dining room in your hat and gown, or in an evening gown without your hat, or you can wear a pretty suit and hat with a lace blouse, if you intend to go out after the meals," replied her mother.

KHEDIVE OF EGYPT LEADS TURKS UPON HIS OWN PEOPLE

KHEDIVE of EGYPT PHOTOGRAPHED WITH KING GEORGE of ENGLAND PHOTO © 1914 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Abbas Hilmi, khedive of Egypt, who is reported as leading the Turkish troops against his own country, is forty years old and came under Teutonic influence early in life. When his father, Tewfik Pasha, died in 1892 and he succeeded as seventh viceroy and third khedive of Egypt, he had been for five years a student at the Theresianum academy in Vienna. He had always been inclined to give trouble to the British, though a show of firmness on their part almost invariably resulted in an apologetic backdown by him. From the British point of view, Lord Cromer knew how to handle him perfectly, but when Cromer was succeeded by the late Sir Eldon Gorst as British agent in Egypt, trouble began, and it is said that the attitude of the khedive as well as the increasing gravity of the Egyptian Nationalist propaganda resulted in the appointment of Earl Kitchener to the post that Cromer and Gorst had filled. Lord Kitchener, according to all accounts, was very little inclined to brook any interference on the part of the khedive, under his rule—which was what it amounted to—proved quite as amenable as under that of Lord Cromer. Telegrams from Constantinople a month ago asserted that Great Britain had forbidden the khedive, who was then in the Turkish capital, to return to Egypt. No explanation of this order was forthcoming, but it was suspected that he had been found to be intriguing against the British.

MANUFACTURERS LEAGUE

TREMONT AND SUFFOLK QUINTET HOLDS FIRST PLACE—LEAGUE NOTES

The fourth week of the Manufacturers league proved the fastest yet. The Tremont & Suffolk aggregation continues to mow down its opponents in first class style and if a stop is not put to the men before long they will be beyond reach. The Bunting team is in the runner up position and with Lane hitting them in old time form will be a source of trouble to the leaders from now on. The Massachusetts team rolled two games last week and secured four of the six points, climbing into third place. Williams' total of 327 was the highest three-string total of the week and he won the cigars donated by R. G. Sullivan. Lane was second with 325 and McNeil third with 323. High scores were numerous, the Merrimack quintet putting up 511 for a team single while the Buntings totaled 1410 in their game with the Hamilton. The Massachusetts aggregation rolled 1404 against the B. & M. team, while the T. & S. boys showed 1402 in their game with the Plush company. F. O'Brien displaced McDermott in the high average with Buckley second and Chandler third.

A special prize of $1 worth of cigars will be given to the bowler getting the highest three-string total this week.

Games this week:

Wednesday: Merrimacks vs. J. P. S. postponed.

Thursday: U. S. Cartridge vs. U. S. Buntings.

Friday: Fields Lumbert vs. Tremont & Suffolk.

League Notes

Whalen's comeback is a good omen to the T. & S. quintet.

Mitchell, of the Plush mill team has a good "knuckle ball."

Joe Stowell, the port sider of the Hamilton team, is about due.

Chandler, of the car shops, got up speed last week and came tearing through with a single of 129.

Ganley, of the Massachusetts team, scattered a 126 for a single while his team mate, Williams, piled up 327. Mulligan's high was 228.

Gleason, of the Cartridge company was on the bench last week. O. U. Bill Buckley of the Buntings is a member of the City league.

Campbell, of the Merrimacks, rolled a string of 97, the lowest yet.

Marquis of the Fields Lumbert is a consistent roller.

The All Stars are still waiting for a game with a City league team.

NEW YORK MAN BURIED IN WHEAT IS RESCUED AFTER ONE AND ONE-HALF HOUR'S WORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Falling sixty feet into the bin of a grain elevator at the foot of West Sixtieth street, yesterday afternoon, William McManus, 52, of 109 West Sixty-second street a grain inspector's assistant, narrowly escaped death under heaps of grain.

He was rescued after an hour and a half's work by men directed by George Windram, a grain inspector, of 439 Fifteenth street, Brooklyn.

McManus and Windram had climbed to the top of the towering elevator on their tour of inspection and had started to descend the steep ladder inside the bin. McManus had gone down a few rungs, when he screamed and fell from the ladder. Windram saw his assistant strike the soft mass below and hurried down, to find McManus buried.

Digging with his hands he managed to free McManus' head from the grain. Finding the young man unconscious he hurried to the top of the shaft to call assistance.

Several workmen with shovels dug McManus out, strapped him to a plank and hoisted him to the roof with a block and tackle. Then it was found impossible to get the plank with its unconscious form through the opening at the top and part of the roof had to be hacked away.

Dr. Colgan of the Polyclinic hospital had to climb up to the roof to administer to McManus, who was found to be seriously hurt internally. With difficulty he was lowered to the ground and taken to the hospital.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

BY VIRGINIA VALE

FOR THE LITTLE READERS OF THE SUN

MRS. HEN'S INCUBATOR CHICKS

Once upon a time Mrs. Hen laid an egg, then another and another, until she had a nest full of big white eggs. She hopped up into the nest and sat on the eggs to keep them warm for she had decided that she wanted some little fluffy chickens all of her own.

The next morning she got down and went to her breakfast and when she got back to the nest she was just in time to see a man carrying off her precious eggs. She walked along behind him and saw him put the eggs in something that looked like a wooden box with glass in front.

They lay in rows in plain sight and Mrs. Hen sat down to watch them. There she sat all of that day, and for many days after that watching to see that her eggs were not taken away from her again. She did not dare to stay very long when she went to get her breakfast and so grew very thin and one day she heard a man say: "What is the matter with this old hen? She hangs around this incubator all the time."

Mrs. Hen had never heard of an incubator but she knew that they were talking about the wooden box that held her eggs, and she watched closer than ever. One morning as she sat watching she heard a little noise that sounded very much like a faint "peep, peep," and she looked up at the window and, sure enough, there was a little chicken looking at her and saying: "peep, peep."

As she looked another and another hopped out of its shell and soon twelve chickens were looking out at her from the window. She flew at the glass and tried to get to them and perhaps she would have if just then a man had not come and stopped her.

Mrs. Hen heard the man say: "I declare, I believe the old hen knew her own chickens, I think I will give them to her and let her care for them." So Mrs. Hen got her chicks and she took so much care of them that they grew to be the largest chickens on the farm, and she was very proud of her incubator children.

TO DEPORT STRIKE LEADERS

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 18.—Word has been received at the headquarters of the United Mine Workers in this city that if the federal troops are withdrawn before George Carlson becomes governor January 1, and before a settlement is made in the coal strike, that every strike leader who has been active in the coal miners struggle will be deported. This information comes from apparently reliable sources and bears out the original program of the C. F. & I. announced some time after the primaries.

A FUTURE CLEAR AND BRIGHT, SAYS PRESIDENT

"We are All in the Same Boat", He Writes, "And Shall Advance Together"—Praises McAdoo

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—"A future clear and bright, with promise of the best things," was the way President Wilson summed up his view of the business prospect last night in a letter to Sec. McAdoo of the treasury department, congratulating him upon the opening of the new federal reserve bank system.

"Fundamental wrongs once righted as they may now easily and quickly be," wrote the president, "all differences will clear away. We are all in the same boat, though apparently we had forgotten it. We now know the port for which we are bound.

"We have, and shall have more and more as our new understandings ripen, a common discipline of patriotic purpose. We shall advance, and advance together, with a new spirit, a new enthusiasm, a new cordiality of spirited cooperation. It is an inspiring prospect."

Mr. Wilson referred to the new tariff law, the new currency law, the new trade commission law and the labor provisions of the new antitrust law as the means through which "the soil has everywhere been laid bare out of which monopoly is slowly to be eradicated."

He added that "undoubtedly the means by which credit has been set free is at the heart of all these things; is the keypiece of the whole structure."

Referring to the "opportuneness" of the new currency law the president said: "The war which has involved the whole of the heart of Europe has made it necessary that the United States should mobilize its resources in the most effective way possible."

He spoke of the difficulty of marketing the cotton crop of the country, and added that no doubt, in the light of the new day, with its new understandings, the problems of the railroads also will be met and dealt with in a spirit of candor and justice.

BERLIN CLAIMS GERMAN ADVANCE

Official War Bulletin From Berlin Says Operations on the Eastern Front are Progressing Favorably—Details of Capture of Warsaw

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—An official war bulletin given out in Berlin today sets forth that the operations on the eastern front are progressing favorably. The Germans apparently are using their victory at Wloclawek to the greatest advantage. The Russian armies defeated near Lipno are today probably in the vicinity of Plock, and the forces defeated near Wloclawek are now near Kutno and Leschytzo.

For the continuation of operations, the bulletin goes on to say, it will be of the greatest importance for the German troops from the region of Soldau to make further progress against the right wing of the main Russian army. If the Russians intend to retire behind the Vistula such a retreat, considering the bad condition of the roads, would be most difficult, consequently the Russians probably will prefer to make a definite stand when the German and Austrian forces attack.

The papers of Berlin declare again today that the fall of Belgrade, Servia is imminent.

GERMAN CASUALTY LISTS, JUST ISSUED, RECORD DEATH OF TWO GENERALS

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—German casualty lists just issued record the deaths of two generals and the wounding of another. Gen. Alfred Von Vrioyen was killed on Nov. 12 and Gen. Von Lopel was in command of the reserve infantry division. General Stenger, commander of the 53rd German infantry brigade, is listed as having been severely wounded.

The Tageblatt's Poland correspondent relates the details of the capture of Governor Von Korf of Warsaw on Monday morning. It appears from this account that the governor with his adjutant approached Kutno in an automobile, not knowing that the city had already been taken by the Germans after bloody street fighting. Suddenly the governor found himself before the vanguard of German cavalry. He tried to escape but was overtaken by the Metz dragoons and surrendered without resistance. He was brought to Gnesen, province of Posen, Monday night, and confined in the best hotel there.

The American Red Cross division at Gleiwitz in Prussian Silesia near the Russian border expects shortly to be moved to a more northerly spot.

The capital of the Krupp company is to be increased from 70,000,000 to 250,000,000 marks, according to the proposals of the directors which were submitted to a general meeting of the company at Essen on Nov. 12. The increase is justified, it was said, by the demands of war and by earlier enlargements of the works, purchases of coal fields, etc., which locked up considerable capital.

M'ADOO GETS COTTON FUND OF $135,000,000

Secretary of the Treasury Raps New England Banks—Refers to "Selfish Interests"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—In announcing the success of the cotton loan fund of $135,000,000 and the completion of subscriptions for the entire $100,000,000 of Class A certificates, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo's statement, issued last night, contains an intimation that New England and Boston did not respond with the celerity or enthusiasm which characterized some of the other cities in non-cotton states.

"The success of this plan has at no time been in doubt," said Secretary McAdoo in his statement, "but its completion has been delayed by the selfish opposition of certain textile manufacturers and local interests who have tried to defeat it."

The secretary further emphasizes the lack of interest in the plan shown by Boston financiers by calling attention to the "only" banks, five in number, in Boston which subscribed to the fund.

Secretary McAdoo was not available last night, and it could not be ascertained, therefore, whether he wished to add anything to the general statement issued by him. From sources close to the federal reserve board, however, it was intimated that the secretary had in mind certain New England gentlemen when he referred to the "selfish opposition" of certain textile interests which attempted the defeat of the project.

Moreover it was stated that Boston financial institutions failed to meet the allotment made by the treasury department as to what was considered at Washington a fair share of their subscriptions to the fund, and the last $3,000,000 which they were expected to take were subscribed yesterday by New York bankers.

Earlier in the day Mr. McAdoo issued a denial that the fund was about to fail and stated that it still lacked only a few million dollars to insure success. Following this, Mr. McAdoo, Paul M. Warburg and W. P. G. Harding, members of the federal reserve board in active charge of the pool plan, took active steps to gather in the remaining millions.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York, of which firm Mr. Warburg was a partner before he came to the board, agreed to subscribe $2,000,000. At a luncheon given by John Skelton Williams, Bernard M. Baruch of New York said that he might invest in the fund up to $1,500,000. His offer was taken to the extent of $1,000,000 and the fund completed.

A few hours after Mr. Baruch's offer word was received from several banks that they were willing to subscribe to an amount of about $2,500,000, but their assistance was not needed. As it stands, the fund is oversubscribed about $300,000.

The list of cities and the amounts subscribed to the fund as given out by Secretary McAdoo follows:

New York city	$ 50,000,000
Baltimore	2,500,000
Boston	2,085,000
Chicago	13,000,000
Detroit	1,082,000
Cincinnati	2,000,000
Cleveland	2,000,000
Kansas City	2,000,000
Louisville	1,000,000
Minneapolis	1,000,000
Philadelphia	4,640,000
Pittsburgh	2,000,000
Richmond	1,125,000
St. Louis	11,500,000
San Francisco	350,000
Washington	1,000,000
Total	$ 97,282,000
Kuhn, Loeb & Co.	2,000,000
B. M. Baruch, New York	1,000,000
Total	$100,282,000

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

The mill gate speeches of some of the candidates failed to produce many votes.

Mr. James McKeon of the Silesia Worsted Co. is confined to his home with a severe attack of la grippe.

The party conducted by the girls employed in the clothroom of the Appleton Co. was a decided success.

Miss Irene Parthenais, a promising young clerk at the A. G. Pollard Co., is confined to her home with illness.

Richard Carlin, employed at the American Hide & Leather Co., tickled the ivories in grand style at the ladies' night held last evening.

Members of the Boot & Shoe Workers union are requested to be on hand at the open meeting to be held in Harrington hall tomorrow night.

The Painters union will meet tomorrow night in the union headquarters; business of much importance will come up for transaction.

James Beecher and Frank Carroll, two prominent young men of this city are planning for a trip to Detroit, Mich.

Fred Muldoon, formerly employed at the Lowell Bleachery, is now connected with the Merrimack Manufacturing company.

The Carpenters' union, local 1610 will hold its regular weekly meeting tonight in the union headquarters in the Runels building.

Miss Ethel Duggan of the Middlesex mills will entertain a gathering of girl friends from Cambridge at her home on Sunday afternoon and evening.

James Huston of the A. G. Pollard Co. thinks well of the territory in the vicinity of Westford street, also of the habitants.

Christopher Conaton of the Bay State mills is awaiting with expectation the coming character party and dance to be held in Collinsville next week.

Mr. Otto Anderson, overseer of duck weaving at the Boott mills has severed his connection with that concern. It is said that he will accept employment in the south.

William C. Hall, overseer of finishing at the Merrimack Woolen company, has resigned his position, and will be succeeded by Arthur Torrey of Clinton, Mass.

James Mullin of the Hartford-Bigelow Carpet company, will endeavor to promote a basketball team composed of employes of the plant this coming winter. Jim is an old timer, but still has plenty of speed left in him.

William Soucier of the gents' furnishing department at the J. L. Chalifoux store, will captain the bowling team representing that department in the bowling tournament to be held on Friday evening.

Mr. William Battre has accepted the position of assistant superintendent and designer at the Merrimack Woolen company. He was formerly employed as a designer at the Linn Woolen company, Hartland, Me.

Martin Roach of the Saco-Lowell shops, well known around these parts as a fisherman, will keep up his practice of fishing throughout the winter months. Marty says, that Crystal lake in the winter is better fishing grounds than in the summer time.

Hugh Finnerty of the trunk department at the A. G. Pollard store, delighted his many friends at the party held Friday afternoon with his rendition of "Jerry," one of the latest song hits. For an encore he responded with "Good-night, Love," in pleasing voice.

Edward Harris, Henry Stewart, William Frazer, Patrick McGarrell, James King, Patrick Mahoney, Walter Ryan, Royal Thurber, Philip Maguire, George Bowden and others, employes at the Saco-Lowell shop, are said to have plans already formulated for starting a federal bowling league at the plant.

In Canada, with a large percentage of her wool hosiery mills working to supply the wants of the armies now in the field in Europe, the question of supplying her local trade is going to be more acute. It is highly conceivable that America may have Canada as another customer on wool hosiery.

The old timers will have a chance to display their wares at the Dracut Grange hall Friday evening when the "Gilders," a club of young men prominent in the social life of this city, will hold forth in their second annual dancing party. Straight glide dancing will be featured, and exponents of the hesitation, maxixe and one-step, which have had their run, will have an opportunity of attending this long-looked-for treat. Ask anybody on the street corner where they are going Friday evening and you'll get the answer, Dracut Grange.

Mr. M. Armitage, in charge of the No. 1 weaving department at the Clinton plant of the Hartford-Bigelow Carpet company, has resigned his position with that company. He is succeeded by Mr. James H. Strang who was second hand at the mill. Mr. A. E. Wilman, assistant superintendent of weaving at the plant has also resigned his position. Mr. John E. Davidson, superintendent of the Thompsonville plant of the company has been transferred to the Clinton plant as superintendent of the same department.

Legality of Cotton Loan

The question of whether the $135,000,000 cotton loan fund to be managed by the federal reserve board is a violation of the Sherman and other anti-trust laws is still an open one, despite the fact that United States Attorney General Gregory is on record with an opinion that the fund is legal and constitutional. He is controverted by such eminent authorities as John C. Johnson, the Philadelphia corporation lawyer, and that illustrious man of law, Albert E. Pillsbury, formerly attorney-general of Massachusetts.

Saco-Lowell Shops to Get Order

Plans and specifications for the new spinning mill of the Naumkeag Steam Cotton Co., Salem, Mass., have been completed by Lockwood, Greene & Co., of Boston. The spinning mill will be 722 by 132 feet and four stories high, reinforced concrete construction being used. A cotton storehouse of similar construction, with a capacity of 25,000 bales of cotton is a part of the contract. The equipment of the plant will consist of 100,000 spindles, 3000 looms and other machinery. It is understood that the electric drive will be used throughout the mill. The Saco-Lowell shops will furnish the spinning frames and the Draper Co., has been awarded the contract for looms and warpers.

Carpenters Union Held Meeting

The Carpenters union held a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting last evening in the union rooms in the Runels building and quite a grist of business was transacted. President Benjamin Golden occupied the chair and called to order promptly at 8 o'clock. Four new members were admitted. Several applications were also received and laid on the table for one week. Several members spoke on the good of the union and their remarks proved of much interest. Business Agent Michael A. Lee submitted a progressive report which showed the attitude of the contractors to be very fair towards union labor, and the majority of those steadily employed. This time of the year is unusually slack in the building trades, and the number of union carpenters at work shows the value of holding membership in a strong organization. The secretary's report showed that the union is progressing and that the treasury is in an

THE ROYAL THEATRE

One of the most stupendous and up-to-date war dramas ever conceived for a film will be shown at the Royal today and tomorrow, "The War of Wars," is the title of this brand-new feature which was only recently released. It is a six-reel production of pitched battles, but among the smoke and fire, a charming love story is cleverly woven. Stuart Holmes, a renowned American actor is seen in the leading part as "Babe," a German officer, whose willful ways win the heart of a beautiful French girl. Hugo de Grandpre is the last of the race and lives with his two sisters on the border of France, near the German lines. It is one of the first chateaux to fall into the hands of the Germans, and "Babe" is one of the many officers who admire the beauty of Yvonne, the fairer of the two sisters. She escapes to an inn kept by her brother-in-law, who attempts to make love to her. "Babe," who admires her greatly, spares her from dishonor and the innkeeper is killed by the German officer, who is later court-martialed and sentenced to die. The other sister, thinking her brother-in-law had been killed in trying to defend her sister swears vengeance, and stabs "Babe." Then a scene of wonderful screen adventures is flashed before the interested spectator, who finds himself gasping from scene to scene, for its great realism, and wonderful acting. Five other photo-plays complete the program.

THE OWL THEATRE

The picture-fan who is not acquainted with John Barrymore, should not lose the last opportunity to see him in pictures. His last two performances as Fitzhew in "The Man From Mexico," will take place today at the Owl. Coming Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Edward Abeles in "Ready Money." Five other daily Mutual photo-plays besides the daily big feature. Some show, is it not?

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Only once in a season does one get the chance to see such a delightfully plain and yet at the same time interesting parade of facts as are found in Paul Armstrong's really clever drama, "The Escape," being presented by the stock company at the Merrimack Square Theatre this week. The audiences thus far have pronounced it 100 per cent meritorious. Seats for performances are selling rapidly and those who contemplate a visit to this popular playhouse this week had best secure their tickets today.

The coming week one of those almost extinct but nevertheless welcome, old-fashioned country dramas "Uncle Dave Holcomb," will be the offering, and seats for both performances to be given on Thanksgiving day will go on sale at the box office tomorrow.

OLD AND NEW WAY

The Hyomei Remedy for Catarrh, Colds and Croup a Most Valuable Discovery

The discovery of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) has made a wonderful change in the treatment of catarrh, head colds, and similar ailments affecting the nose and throat—you simply breathe a medicated air.

Until a few years ago the remedies generally used for these diseases were nauseating drugs, which, when poured into the stomach, usually upset the digestion.

Hyomei is a combination of antiseptic oils that mix with the air you breathe so that the health-giving medication must go directly to the sore, raw, inflamed lining of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes. It almost immediately stops the disagreeable nasal discharges, quickly relieves difficult breathing—heals and strengthens the delicate tissues.

You breathe Hyomei using a small inhaler that comes with each complete outfit. It is not expensive, and can be had from any drug store.

The strongest evidence of its curative value for catarrh, head colds, asthma, etc., is that Booth's Hyomei Co. of Buffalo authorize every druggist to sells every package under a guarantee to return your money if you are not satisfied. Do not delay treatment another day for Hyomei is not only harmless, but pleasant to use, and nothing to pay if not cured.

Easy Way to Keep Baby's Skin Healthy

How to Heal Skin Eruptions and Prevent Their Return.

Very few babies grow to childhood without having some sort of skin trouble. It may be only chafing, scalding or tooth rash. On the other hand, it may be the worst kind of itching eczema or ringworm.

When I find a little one suffering like that, I always advise the mother to do this: Bathe the sick skin with warm water and Resinol Soap, pat dry with a soft towel, and put on very gently a thin coating of Resinol Ointment. She can dust a little good talcum power over the ointment if she likes. This almost never fails to give INSTANT relief and a few such treatments generally heal the trouble.

Bathing daily with Resinol Soap is the best way I know to keep baby's skin free from such irritations and eruptions. It is very pure, soothing and healing. All druggists sell Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. For free samples, write to Dept. 36-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Dr. John H. Lambert
Hereford N. Elliott
John C. Leggat
John F. White
Peter P. McMenimon
James W. McKenna

The municipal primaries have come and gone and today is being devoted to determining just how it happened.

The selection made by the voters of Lowell from the long list of aspirants to the municipal council and to the school committee is highly gratifying to all who desire good government and clean men in the administration of public affairs. In practically every instance, the men chosen are men of proven ability and character, demonstrating that there has been a change for the better in the attitude of the electorate. For once the public has not permitted itself to be led astray by acrobatic vote-baiters and the list of successful candidates shows no freaks or individuals of questionable sanity. It looks as though Lowell demands a businesslike administration and has picked out men of initiative and ability.

Putnam's Vindication

The somewhat surprising vote for Mr. Putnam was the direct result of popular resentment at the high handed method by which he was removed from the office of superintendent of streets after a hearing at which there was no evidence to justify such action or to prove him guilty of the very flimsy charges trumped up against him. Mr. Putnam appealed to the people who after all constitute the court of last resort and he has received a magnificent vindication which is also a crushing rebuke to the three men who for purely political or personal reasons voted him out of office. Only one of the men who participated in that political outrage was up for nomination yesterday and the fact that he is relegated to political oblivion proves that the people are at last beginning to show a proper appreciation of their power and their responsibility for the men selected for public office.

It is certainly a matter for general congratulation that no man was selected who dealt in gross personalities or sought to hide his personal unfitness by attacks upon better men. Taken all in all, the selections for the municipal council and for the school committee will be commended by the best friends of good government, even by the honorable men among those defeated. Lowell was more blessed than usual in having a greater percentage of desirable candidates to offset the palpably undesirable ones, and the defeated include some men with good qualifications for public office.

Fierce Battle With Bayonets Near French Border—Germans Claim Success Over Russians

The American flag has been fired upon by Turkey. A report to the navy department at Washington from Captain Decker of the cruiser Tennessee gave official confirmation to earlier despatches from Athens and the Greek island of Chios in the Aegean sea to the effect that Turkish gunners at Smyrna had opened fire when the Tennessee was approaching that port.

On the battlefields of Europe there were few changes of strategic importance. The great campaign in the west apparently has settled down to a series of detached battles, related only indirectly to the main issue. At some points along the 300 mile line there is furious hand to hand fighting and elsewhere comparative inactivity prevails.

Today's French official statement was optimistic in tone, stating that German attacks, wherever made, had been repulsed and that the allies had gained ground at a few points. Along the Belgian coast the fighting has been left chiefly to the artillery. Near Dixschoote a few miles north of the French border, there was a fierce encounter with bayonets during which the zouaves won possession of a forest which had been contested bitterly for several days.

The fighting in Alsace which has been virtually a separate campaign and concerning which little has been heard has been said by the French to have told heavily upon the German forces. The

SUPERIOR COURT CASES

The November sitting of the jury-waived session of superior court was resumed today with Judge Quinn presiding and several more divorce cases were disposed of.

Decrees nisi were granted to the following during the forenoon session.

Louise Mary Bergeon vs. Frederick Henry Bergeon of Malden, desertion. Libellant was given the custody of two minor children.

Margaret A. Wallbaum vs. Frederick J. Wallbaum of Everett, desertion.

Agnes F. Wheaton vs. Howard E. Wheaton of Cambridge, desertion.

Robert McCartney vs. Florence McCartney of Lowell, desertion. Libellee was given custody of minor child.

Billerica Land Case

In the civil session of superior court, Judge McLaughlin presiding, the case in which Valentine O. Martin seeks to recover for alleged damage done to his land on the Bedford road, Billerica, by Harry S. Remick, owner of a farm on the opposite side of the same road, was resumed. Several claims that the defendant flooded a portion of his, the plaintiff's land, so that he was unable to raise crops. The defence offered a general denial.

FEARS FOR SAFETY OF AMERICAN CONSULATE

Expressed by Capt. Decker of U. S. Warship in Report by the Navy Department

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The United States cruiser Tennessee, or her launch was fired on yesterday by the Turkish forts at Smyrna. Captain Benton Decker of the cruiser reporting the incident today to the navy department gave no details of the firing but added that fears had been felt for the safety of the American consulate.

While awaiting further reports from Captain Decker and others from Ambassador Morgenthau and Consul General Horton, officials here have two theories.

One is that the cruiser may have been sending a guard ashore to protect the consulate and Americans and other foreigners. They draw this from Captain Decker's statement that fears had been felt for the safety of the consulate.

The other is that Captain Decker had called on Consul General Horton, who after returning the call was being taken back to shore by the cruiser's launch which may have been returning after hours of entry prescribed by port officials, which are very strict.

Before regarding the firing upon the American ship as a hostile act, officials here are inclined to await further reports and hold to the belief that it might have been a misunderstanding or the act of some local official which will quickly be corrected at Constantinople.

A BLIND CONGRESSMAN

THOMAS D. SCHALL

This country is to have a blind congressman, just as it has a blind senator in Thomas P. Gore. He is Thomas D. Schall, recently elected to represent the tenth district of Minnesota. The nation will likely hear a lot of him for he is considered an orator of more than ordinary ability, and he is at the same time a lawyer of high reputation in his home state. From nine until twenty-seven he earned his living at all sorts of manual labor. Then for three years he practised law. At thirty his eyesight left him, and for the last seven years he has been in total darkness. Still, he has kept up his law practice, and has now been honored with election to congress. Of himself Mr. Schall says: "To the blind man work is his pleasure. True, he doesn't make as good a politician, but he ought to make a better representative of the people in congress." Mr. Schall's wife guides him. She will go to Washington with him and aid him, as does the wife of Senator Gore.

HEIR TO THE THRONE

PRINCE OF WALES AT FRONT; AGED TWENTY, THIN AND STOOPS

PRINCE OF WALES

Edward, Prince of Wales, heir apparent to the British throne, who was twenty years old on June 23 last, is now at the front attached to Field Marshal French's staff. He is of medium height, thin and rather inclined to stoop. When he was ten the first question was raised as to his education. The king was for sending him to some famous public school, but Queen Mary wished to keep him with her as long as possible. So there was a compromise. He stayed at home four years longer and then was sent to the Royal Naval college at Osborne. There he worked in the machine shops and made two cruises on the cadet ship Renown. He entered Oxford at eighteen, and during his second year there he made two tours, one through France, with a stay of two months in Paris, and one through the Rhine valley. Travel and exercise caused him to develop rapidly in height. At Oxford last June the prince joined the military training corps, and in the sham maneuvers helped his university win over Cambridge. Since the war began he has paraded with the recruits of various regiments in which he holds honorary commissions, and with the naval battalions, for he is a real naval lieutenant, having served in that capacity on board the Collingwood.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

Montreal, Nov. 15, 1914.

Dear Sun:

I have been in Canada about ten days and leave for home tomorrow, but it occurs to me to send in advance a short letter to The Sun. It is a rather cheerless day here which nevertheless I trust I have passed profitably. A fair portion of it I have devoted to church-going,—this morning attending mass in Notre Dame while this evening I took in the services at St. Mark's. Both these churches are magnificent specimens of church architecture and in both I found the services impressive. This evening all is quiet in my room on St. Catherine street, my friends having gone to see their lady friends. Thus I am likely to write uninterruptedly for several hours. I hope so at any rate. I came to Montreal direct from Lowell and have made it my base as it were, as I made trips to Toronto, Niagara, Quebec and St. Anne de Beaupre—trips that were but too much, I regret to say, of the "flying" variety.

To write of Montreal, so familiar to so many of our Lowell population, much that would prove new is something I hardly expect to do. But it is new to me, and probably is little known to many who perchance may read this. The same can doubtless be said of other places I shall mention.

When nearly four hundred years ago Jacques Cartier sailed up the St. Lawrence river he found an Indian village on the island now occupied in part by the city of Montreal; and could the shade of Jacques revisit the scenes of his earthly adventures and discoveries he would doubtless feel rather surprised and out of place. Here English and American enterprise and French thrift have accomplished wonders, Montreal being worthy in every respect to rank with the great civilized cities of the world. The St. Lawrence being navigable for the greater portion of the year, Montreal is a seaport of much importance. I am told that when the ice king freezes up the river and holds all Canada within his grip the city of Montreal pays homage to his majesty by holding carnivals—joy ones—and that all hands go in for making the winter a time for gayety and pleasure. Already the tinge of winter is in the air, and the big overcoat I wisely brought with me is in constant requisition. I wear it everywhere except when taking my meals and on going to bed. While I have been told that I should visit Canada in the summer or early autumn, to see her at her prettiest, I have found this, my first visit, enjoyable enough. I have seen about all that visitors are expected to see, of Montreal, where visit is brief: Its fine broad boulevards, its public buildings, its bridges, its business blocks, its shipping, its exceptionally fine trolley system, its police force, its fire department in action, its many elegant private residences, its magnificent churches, its slums, its fair women and brave men.

I've been on Mt. Royal, I've seen several gentlemen who were pointed out to me as city officials, and who weren't any handsomer than Col. Carmichael, Jim Donnelly or Geo. Brown. I've seen the Windsor hotel. I've been into it. I've seen the Victoria hospital. I visited McGill university where Drs. Brunelle, McCann, McGannon and, I think, Halpin, got their medical training. Possibly there may be other Lowell physicians from this school. McGill's is a world-famous medical college and enjoys the distinction of being one of the two American medical schools which are recognized by European medical savants—Johns Hopkins being the other.

Perhaps it was just a temporary condition, but there doesn't seem to be much doing in the theatrical line. Aside from the movies there is little else to attract show goers. I am told that liquor saloons close at 10 o'clock every night, but Saturdays, when they close at seven, a condition, I fear that Lowell might seriously object to.

After going to a movie one night, I accompanied my friends to an up-to-date bowling alley and, choosing my old friends, the ducks, knocked down 349 of them in three consecutive strings—131, 124 and 105. Pretty good work, eh? Pretty nifty for an old-timer who hasn't done much of anything at the game for the last two years, what? I dare say that my bowling friends at home find it hard to believe this story, for my biggest achievement in bowling on Lowell alleys never went past a total of 325, and I never claimed an average of more than 94 for a season's work. In explanation I can only say that things came my way. I guess if I had shut my eyes while delivering the ball I should have got 'em just the same that night. I carefully refrained from bowling but those three strings. After this I shall expect to be asked to put my John Hancock to contracts calling for my appearance with the leading teams of the City league. This was the only instance during my trip when I was conscious of casting lustre upon the American name. I realized the admiring looks of the habitues of the alleys and received the congratulations of my fellow bowlers with equanimity, accepting both in the name of my beloved country. Ches Martel, Barney Coleman, Bert Cole, Joe Lebrun or Jimmy Wynne never tasted anything finer.

I had planned to see Niagara Falls, so I left Montreal Saturday night, Nov. 7, at 11 o'clock. Reached Toronto Sunday morning about 9 o'clock and had to stop over a train in consequence of an accident to our locomotive. Spent three hours in this place and received a lesson in the operation of blue laws which evidently are in force here. What the late Channing Whittaker once attempted to make Lowell as to Sunday observance, Toronto is. It is said you cannot even purchase a postage stamp and while smoking a cigar, which wasn't bought in Toronto, I momentarily expected to be told to quit smoking. But I wasn't. I walked about the city a little, and formed the opinion that it might be a good place to live in if it were less straight-laced in certain things.

Our train coming in, the waiting passengers got aboard and in a few hours we alighted at Niagara. I spent the remainder of the day at the falls, which I contemplated for the first time in my young life. All that I had read or imagined about them did not begin to tell me what my actual vision witnessed. I curb an impulse to write of the impressions which were mine. It is quite enough to say that one feels in the presence of such a manifestation of power and grandeur, impotence to fitly express himself. I have read many glowing accounts of Niagara, but they all fall short.

I put on oil skins and did as all visitors do—for 50 cents—went under the falls. You need them, certainly, for the spray is busy keeping you moist. I couldn't help thinking what would happen to us if a section of the ledge above were to drop, for some years ago a big chunk did drop and effectually shortened the pilgrim's promenade down there. I noticed that on the American side there were hotels and other indications of life and enterprise; but on the Canadian side there did not appear to be much doing.

City of Buffalo

I wanted to see Buffalo so toward evening took the electrics down to the famous town situated at the end of Lake Erie. I spent the night and until noon next day there. I cannot say that Buffalo struck me as a particularly beautiful city, but that it is a great place of business is very evident. It has a fine harbor and is an important railroad center. Lumber, flour, meat-packing and numberless other business enterprises make Buffalo and keep her on the map. Here the Erie canal begins and joining the waters of the Hudson make a waterway to the sea.

Buffalo profits, with other places about Niagara, from the utilization of the power of the falls. But the traveler on a flying trip is handicapped in gathering detailed information at first hand. I should liked to have remained at Buffalo longer for I got interested in much that I saw. Time was limited, however, so I returned to Niagara Falls where I spent the afternoon getting many different views from as many different angles I may never see the falls again but I carried away pictures of them and a memory I shall always keep new and vivid.

I took the night train and was soon speeding away for Montreal which we reached on time and without mishap and which I already felt I was no stranger to. Tuesday and Wednesday I devoted to forming comprehensive ideas of Montreal and visited a large portion of the island finding much to interest and a few things that amused.

Old Quebec

Perhaps even more than my desire to see Niagara Falls was my wish to visit old Quebec whose history has always interested me. To me no page of the history of North America is so full of fascination and romance than that which recounts the story of the settlement, struggles and growth of the province of Quebec, on which the achievements of Cartier, Champlain and Frontenac and their followers appear to inspire future Parkmans and afford themes to future poets, painters and romancers. So feeling like this I took the boat leaving Montreal in the evening and early next morning stepped ashore in Quebec, first visited by Jacques Cartier in 1535 and founded by Samuel Champlain in 1608. My night trip down the river had not been without interest and pleasure. Although rather cold I remained outside for hours scanning the outlines of the bluffs on either side of the river, noting the lights of the many towns we passed and marking the unusual brilliancy of the stars. Altogether, I think I fully experienced that peculiar charm which every stranger in a strange land comes under, as I went down the St. Lawrence that night.

To go to Quebec from Montreal is something like exchanging the new for the old. Although Quebec is far from dead, still it is far behind Montreal in population and commercial importance. Perhaps for that reason and its historical associations Quebec is more favored by the visitor from over the border. At any rate I found the brief time at my disposal fully taken in roaming about its streets and places of special interest, and in observing customs that of course were odd to me. At no time was I conscious of being viewed as a suspicious character which possibly might have been suggested by the fact that pilgrims hereabouts are scarce in mid-November, and that England, the mother country, was at war. I boldly went into the citadel, where a thousand soldiers were hanging out but no one took any notice of me. They do say that the Canadians can spot a Yankee as instinctively as a Hebrew brother can spot a bargain. I didn't have to inform them I was no German emissary nosing about for information with a stick of dynamite up my sleeve waiting for a chance to blow down the citadel.

I spent some time in the lower city where the people who work for a living live, but feeling that I must not slight the classy hill folks visited among them also. To tell the truth the latter didn't attract me. The hills did. From the citadel one gets a magnificent view of the river and surrounding country. From the Isle of Orleans the river for miles is more like a great bay than a river and as a matter of fact the tide water runs up beyond Quebec.

St. Lawrence a Noble River

Throughout its entire course the St. Lawrence is a noble river; but here it is strikingly impressive. No wonder Cartier thought he had found the passage to Cathay when he first entered its waters. But his hopes were dashed when he discovered miles from its mouth, the water became fresh. The Isle of Orleans below the city Cartier called the Isle of Bacchus because of the profusion of grapes he saw there. Many of the big hills you see resemble the Uncanoonucs and the Joe English up Manchester way. You get the impression that ages and ages ago glaciers and floods had an important part in forming this wonderful structure of river, mountains and plain you see below and all around you.

But as in duty bound I reluctantly turned from the contemplature of the work of nature to continue the inspection of the less inspiring works inaugurated by man. So I looked over the Chateau Frontenac which occupies a commanding situation and is a most magnificent structure. I looked into the Laval university and saw enough that made me feel regretful to leave it. I walked to the Plains of Abraham and fearless of the mud inspected the ground where one of the world's important battles was fought. This battle cost France her possessions in this corner of the world which she had held for about 225 years. Looking over the place where Wolfe's soldiers crawled up, one cannot help but wonder what Montcalm and his officers were thinking about to have permitted it.

There was evidence about that the authorities intend to improve conditions at the battle ground, and certainly they could stand it all right. A monument to Wolfe stands on the plain. I paid a nickle several times just to ride in the little green trolleys of Quebec, and the way they can whisk you up the hills would delight a citizen of Christian hill. I took dinner in a neat eating house, the Marathon, on St. John's street, enjoying a good feed of roast chicken.

St. Anne De Beaupre

Talking with a Quebec citizen, he said I should visit Quebec in the summer. "There is nothing to see here now." I didn't argue the point, but asked: "What about the Falls of Montmorency and St. Anne de Beaupre?" "You going down?" he said. "Yes, I'm going. And after dinner I went. It was about an hour's ride from Quebec to St Anne de Beaupre by trolley. As the pilgrimage season to the town closes on Oct 1, I found the hotels closed and but few persons visible in the little village. But four persons alighted from the car with me and they going at once into the church. It seemed as though I had the whole place to myself. I first visited the old church with the miraculous fountain in front, then went to the grotto, the shrine, and into the new church while of modest exterior is most beautiful and and costly of interior. It is without question the most beautiful church I ever saw. I make little claims of being particularly religious, but sitting there in this little church out in the country I was conscious of a calmness of mind, a feeling of peace, that banished material things and brought me under the sweet influences of this sacred edifice.

It is most fitting that the celebrated cyclorama of Jerusalem, the day of the crucifixion should be in permanent exposition at St. Anne de Beaupre. It is recognized as a masterpiece of panoramic painting. I spent nearly two hours looking at this most realistic and artistic production. This cyclorama is due to Phillippoteaux of "Siege of Paris" and "Battle of Gettysburg" fame. The picture is 45 ft. high and 360 ft. in circumference. This work alone is sufficient to establish the reputation of Phillippoteaux and his artist associates.

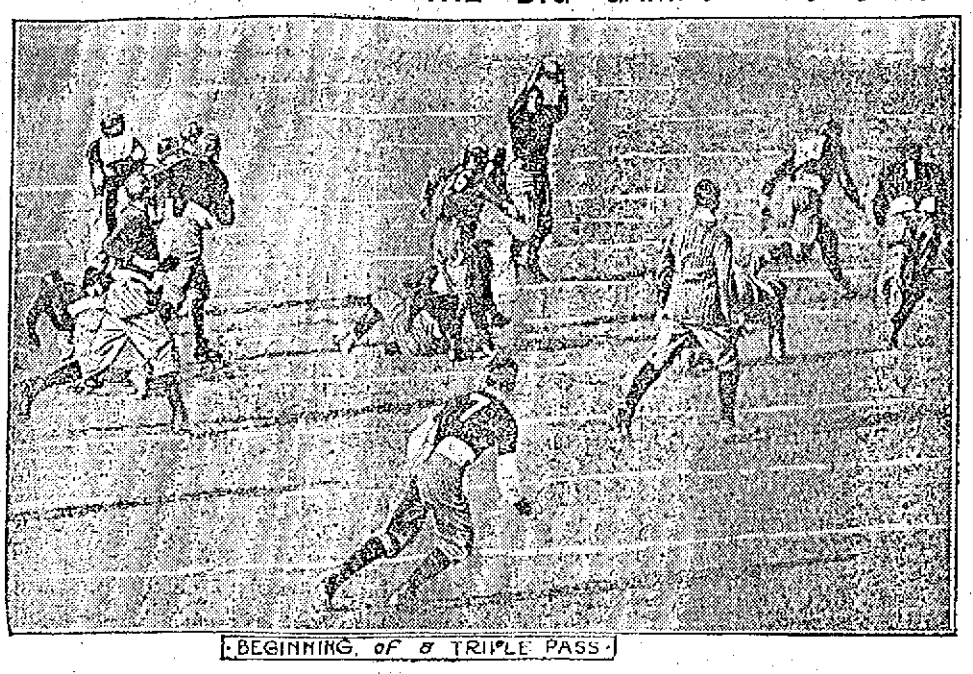

If you go next year to St. Anne de Beaupre you will surely become familiar with this great attraction and the impressive story it depicts. I bade farewell to the village and took the car going Quebec-ward. I "stopped off" at the Falls and went on to the hill beside them. The Falls of Montmorency are 274 feet in height and a mist arises from them as delicate as the veil of a bride, and that's as good a comparison as any. I got back to Quebec about dusk and again sought the Marathon, where I did justice to a supper of parts. I saw Quebec after dark all lighted up in pretty good shape. I mingled with the people on the street and spent a little money for a few steins of ginger tea. My train for Montreal went at 11 and at 11 I said goodbye to the city of Sam Champlain and Frontenac.

At Home Again

Got back to this town the next morning and promptly went to bed, where the boys found me when they returned at night. Having had my "trips" I was now prepared to do a little real visiting with my good friends; and, believe me, up to late last night my friends have led me a hot pace. I think I must have seen Montreal inside-out and outside-in, but I dare say I didn't get all of it, at that. I recall a singular feature about this visit of mine to Canada, which is that all my "side trips" to and from Montreal have been made at night. My little trip to St. Anne de Beaupre was the only one I made by daylight. So I have not seen much of Canada after all. When I come again there will be different arrangements in this respect. My hosts returned a few minutes ago and I can see the finish of this letter if I don't finish soon. I haven't time before the postman collects to make corrections. So please excuse it on general principles.

THE MAN IN THE MOON.

BEGINNING OF A TRIPLE PASS

The changes in football that have been going on for some time have been much in evidence in the big college games this season. There has been less of the mass play, less line bucking and more of the spread formation, forward passes and triple passes. The result is a more enjoyable game from the standpoint of the spectators, for the ball is in sight most of the time, though its movements are often so rapid and it is tossed back and forth with such unexpected quickness that only the close observer can keep track of it. This picture, made during the battle between Yale and Princeton, gives an idea of the manner of game that football is becoming.

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

EVADING WRINKLES

"But auntie has no wrinkles even at sixty," said puzzled Marjorie today, seeking to get from Marie more secrets to her aunt's youthful appearance.

"That is because she is always watchful," answered Marie. "She began to ward off these signs of age years ago. Wrinkles should be taken in hand early.

"Thirty is none too young to begin a treatment to ward off wrinkles. By forty, the little lines may have established themselves beyond repair unless the complexion has been taken in hand earlier. Wrinkles and all facial blemishes show up much more plainly if the skin is not perfectly clean and healthy fair, so a dingy, yellowish face should be guarded against assiduously.

"In cold weather, especially, the face is apt to become grimy because the skin is not naturally cleansed by perspiration from within, and because harsh winter winds and dust come in contact with the face whenever one goes out of doors.

"Therefore in winter extra care should be taken to keep the face exquisitely clean and delicately soft. Soap should not be used on the complexion, except perhaps once a week when a thorough scrubbing and steaming are given.

"Cold cream should be well rubbed in every night before retiring and the face bathed afterward in hot water and then cold water. This cold cream treatment will not remove wrinkles, but it will keep the face in such condition that they will not form as easily and can more easily be eradicated.

"If the face is bathed every morning in a cupful of fresh milk into which a teaspoonful of table salt has been tossed, the muscles will tighten and sagging lines will disappear.

"Massage should be given with the tips of the fingers and the effort should be to move the muscles under the skin—not merely the loose skin on top. Work crosswise on the forehead from center to temples. Always massage lines in other parts of the face at right angles to the direction of the line and outward and upward with light, firm strokes, and not too long strokes.

"With the elbows lifted, turn the hands palm upward, thumbs pointing toward the front, and draw the fingers beneath the jaw, from center outward. This counteracts the tendency toward double chin and sagging

WORMS ARE ENEMIES OF CHILDREN

Worms are one of the most dreaded diseases of children. There is nothing better than Dr. True's Elixir to expel worms of all kinds and to keep the stomach in good order.

First manufactured by my father in 1851. Our mothers and grandmothers used this remedy and found it to be ideal for its purpose.

Some of the signs of worms are: Deranged stomach, furred tongue, belching, variable appetite, increased thirst, acid or heavy breath, nausea, enlarged abdomen, variable bowel action, pale face of leaden tint, bluish rings around eyes, itching of nostrils, languor, irritability, disturbed sleep, grinding of teeth, irregularity of pulse.

THE WHOLE NORTH SEA IN MILITARY AREA

Premier Asquith Says Government Arrived at Decision Because of Mine Laying—German Subjects on Neutral Vessels Will be Held

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Premier Asquith stated in the house of commons today that the British government had decided to declare the whole of the North sea to be in the military area. All subjects of the enemy found on neutral vessels, the prime minister also said, would be liable to detention as prisoners of war. Mr. Asquith also announced that oil and copper would be declared contraband of war.

Referring to mines, the premier said that the Germans had resorted to indiscriminate mine-laying in the North sea outside of territorial limits and along trade routes without regard to peaceful shipping and without warning. The purpose clearly was the furtherance of no definite plan of legitimate operation, but to endanger British trade. These mines unquestionably had been laid by fishing vessels disguised as neutral, the premier said. These mines were not so constructed as to become harmless when loosened from their moorings, neither were they kept under observation. No steps had been taken to warn peaceful shipping of this danger. Consequently the terms of The Hague convention of 1907 have been violated.

After a number of neutral fishing and merchant vessels together with many lives had been destroyed by these German mines, Mr. Asquith declared, the government had been forced to adopt counter measures to cope with this German policy of mine-laying combined with submarine activities.

Discussing the reservists of the enemy, Premier Asquith said:

"Because of the action which Germany took in Belgium and France in arresting and removing as prisoners of war, all men of military age, the government found it necessary to give instructions that all subjects of the enemy liable to military service who are found on board neutral vessels shall be made prisoners of war. This instruction applies to neutral vessels under whatever flags. In no case, so far of which I am aware, were reservists of the enemy found on ships of the United States."

WITH RED CROSS WORKERS

Busy Gathering of Fifty Women at Headquarters Yesterday—Lecture by Miss Loring

The headquarters of the local branch of the Red Cross society in the Runels building presented a very busy scene yesterday when about fifty willing workers gathered to make bandages and to sew for the wounded soldiers of the European war. The work was very much in earnest and the results accomplished were what might be looked or in an industrial plant devoted to the manufacture of clothing. Monday about 11d yards of material were cut and today it was expected that 150 yards would be handled. During the past few days 590 hospital bundles, containing bandages and everything needed for scientific care of wounds were made up and when the working force gets going fully it is expected that 500 bundles per day will be turned out. Among those who worked busily this morning were the ladies who have been active in the movement since its commencement, under the general direction of the chairman, Miss Ruth Burke.

A most interesting feature of the Red Cross activity this morning was an address by Miss Katharine Loring, sister of the Massachusetts emergency committee chairman, Miss Louisa Loring, and one of those delegated to advance the publicity campaign. Miss Loring also spoke today at Rogers hall school, and she is scheduled to make several speeches explanatory of Red Cross work in the near future throughout New England. While she spoke this morning the sewing machines were silent, but the workers kept on with their other sewing, realizing during her graphic address the meaning of every stitch.

Miss Loring explained that the Red Cross society is the most efficient medium of aid for the wounded soldiers because the headquarters are at Washington. The president of the United States is president of the American society and all of the cabinet officers are represented in its directing board. Being at the capital, the Red Cross officers are enabled to keep in touch with the ambassadors and other officials of the warring countries, and know their needs.

She explained the organization of the Red Cross in detail and gave a brief sketch of its history. In this state, she said, it is advisable that the society be organized in chapters and she expressed the hope that a Middlesex county chapter would soon start on a permanent basis. She explained that the world must depend on the Red Cross for adequate care of wounded soldiers as the work is far too stupendous to be handled by the respective governments.

Speaking of the present war specifically, Miss Loring said that the various battle lines, if put together, would stretch from the Great Lakes to Mexico, with a width of from two to five hundred miles. She spoke of the modern ammunition, such as shrapnel and of the terrible havoc being wrought—the greatest in the history of the world. Contrary to the general expectation, she said, there is more hand to hand fighting than there has been for 100 years, and bayonet wounds are almost always fatal. Throughout the war zone, she said, the war hospitals are in need of everything, and the needless deaths run into the thousands, many having died for the lack of scientific care. The present mortality is estimated at 25 per cent., though this figure she considers exaggerated. For the past 100 years the mortality was from 2 to 5 per cent.

The public may feel sure, said the speaker, that every stitch taken will relieve pain and that every cent expended will do good. Two cents will sometimes save a soldier's life—one cent going for iodine and one cent for absorbent cotton. She explained that the Red Cross is neutral, but said that if contributors wish their contribution to benefit one country more than another, the request will be acceded to. In conclusion the speaker was asked many pertinent questions which she answered promptly.

Among those who worked at the headquarters this morning was a woman who has a brother and three nephews at the front. One of the nephews—Thos. Logan—was wounded at the battle of Mons and is now in the hospital. Many other workers have some personal interest in the great cause and their hearts go into the stitches. Miss Burke said that the local Red Cross invites all who would like to help to come to headquarters daily where they will be welcomed in the name of a universal charity. She also requests contributions, small or large. The work will not be allowed to interfere with local charities in the smallest particular. A little card given out this morning had the heading: "What the Red Cross can do for a wounded soldier with your money," and the following was appended:

One cent will buy iodine to disinfect; 1 cent will pay for cotton to stop the hole; 5 cents will buy the bandages; 8 cents will pay for the temporary splint; 10 cents will provide chloroform for an operation; 25 cents may save a limb or a life.

KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

Anna Conroy, 11, Killed and Her Sister and Playmate Seriously Injured in Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 17.—Anna Conroy, 11, was killed and her sister Bridget and a playmate, Henry Jarvis, were seriously injured by being run down by an automobile driven by Elmer F. Butler.

The children were playing on Magazine street and in an endeavor to avoid them Butler swerved his machine sharply to the right, crushing Anna against a hydrant.

Butler was arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

JARED FLAGG SENTENCED

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Jared Flagg was sentenced this afternoon to serve 18 months in the federal prison at Atlanta for using the mails to defraud stock investors.

Before sentence was imposed Federal Judge Rudkin gave Flagg an opportunity to make a statement. Flagg asserted he was innocent and produced more than 800 contracts with his clients, saying these would establish his innocence. Judge Rudkin replied that it was too late now to present such evidence denied a motion for a new trial and imposed sentence.

Daniel M. Morgan, former treasurer of the United States, and six other associates of Flagg in his scheme to beat the "market" are yet to be tried on indictments charging them also with misuse of the mails.

A MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. George Colburn, 40 Keene street, in honor of Miss Georgia Anna Ward, soon to be married and she was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. Although taken by surprise she responded most fittingly. Very pleasing vocal solos were rendered by Mr. Frank Marshall. Refreshments were served and games were enjoyed and the party broke up at a late hour wishing the young lady all future happiness. The accompanist of the evening was Miss Catherine Gilchrist.

FOR PEACE IN EUROPE

United States Awaiting Time When Belligerents Indicate Willingness to Mediate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Efforts by the United States to bring peace to Europe still are awaiting a time when one or more of the big belligerents indicates a willingness to accept mediation. This became known authoritatively today from persons who have lately discussed the European situation with President Wilson. The president's position is that the United States having already in a formal as well as informal way shown its readiness to act as an intermediary should now await the initiative of the belligerents. He feels that the American government by pressing for peace might get in a position where its ultimate influence to that end would be impaired.

The president told callers today he had not had the slightest hint, formal or otherwise from any of the European belligerents that a peace offer would be favorably received.

There has been much discussion among neutral countries, such as Holland and Spain, of the desirability of concerted action. While the United States would not hesitate to join in such a movement if any of the belligerent countries shows a desire to accept the mediation of several neutral countries instead of one the American government will for the present refrain from taking the initiative toward joint action with other neutral nations.

With the varying tide of the conflict the president is very anxious that the attitude of the United States in making a move for peace should not be resented. He is unwilling that the American government should be the means of placing before any of the nations of its own accord an offer of peace which it might feel bound, because of a national interest to reject, but which might place it before the world of public opinion as an obstacle to peace.

American ambassadors and ministers abroad are familiar with the attitude of the Washington government on this point and are on the alert for any move which could be constructed as a desire on the part of any of the belligerents to accept mediation.

A. F. OF L. CONVENTION

URGES UNAFFILIATED NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL UNIONS TO JOIN THE FEDERATION

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—The American Federation of Labor in convention today adopted a resolution "inviting and urging unaffiliated national and international unions, such as the railroad brotherhoods, to join the federation."

The convention yesterday blocked an attempt to form rival unions unless the independent organizations affiliated with the federation. The federation also went on record for a more general application of the eight hour day in all trades before beginning agitation for a six hour workday.

A description of the conditions of the workers in the textile strike in Atlanta given by Mrs. Sarah A. Conboy of the United Textile union brought on a long discussion of the question of financing strikes by the federation.

Delegate Hayes of Cleveland moved that an appropriation be made from the federation's funds. This brought President Gompers to his feet in a passionate speech in which he said he was willing to go deep down in his own pockets to help the strikers but the federation has no fund for such a purpose.

References were made to appeals for the financing of other strikes and the result of the discussion was that Hayes' motion was modified and the subject was referred to the executive council.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS

Protection lodge, 43, American Benefit society, held a meeting at their hall in Odd Fellows building on Monday evening, which was attended by visitors from Boston, Haverhill and Lawrence. Many new members were initiated and a pleasant evening enjoyed. Refreshments were served after the meeting. The members have all decided to attend the class initiation to be held in Red Men's hall, Essex street, Lawrence, on next Tuesday evening, where a good social time is promised.

AUTOIST NOT GUILTY

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 17.—Harold G. Adams of Providence was today found not guilty of manslaughter in causing the death of Patrick McCusker, a city employe, Nov. 3.

Adams' automobile skidded against a rotary street sweeper, throwing McCusker, its driver, into the gear.

CABINET MEETING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Foreign affairs and domestic conditions were the chief topics at today's cabinet meeting. Latest news from Mexico, Secretary Bryan said, gave promise of early peace there. Secretary Redfield said official reports showed a large increase in exports and that business generally throughout the country was steadily improving. Secretary McAdoo reported on the opening of the new federal reserve system.

After the cabinet meeting, Secretary Daniels refused to discuss reports of a disagreement with the navy general board regarding its recommendation from an increase of 18,000 enlisted men.

200 WOMEN STRIKE

Sugar Bag Workers Who Quit Work and Hurled Stones Through Windows, Dispersed

YONKERS, N. Y., Nov. 17—Two hundred women engaged in making sugar bags went on strike yesterday at the Federal sugar refinery here, hurled stones and bottles through windows and were dispersed only when a stream of hot water was turned their way through a hose. Cold water thrown on them through the hose had failed to rout them.

The women had been paid a dollar a day. They went on strike because they were notified this morning that in future they would be paid at the rate of one cent a bag. They said this would reduce their pay one-fourth.

JUDGMENT AFFIRMED

In Case of J. N. Anhut, Convicted of Attempting to Bribe Matteawan Official to Release Harry Thaw

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 17.—The judgment convicting J. N. Anhut of attempting to bribe Dr. John Russell, former superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Matteawan, to bring about the release of Harry K. Thaw, was affirmed by the court of appeals today.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION TO ASSIST IN PREVENTING SPREAD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—To assist in prevention of the spread of the prevalent foot and mouth disease the interstate commerce commission announced today it would contribute whatever it can toward affording relief at the present juncture.

Applications had been made for relief from the assessment of demurrage charges upon embargoed shipments of livestock, hay and straw, held by orders of the department of agriculture. The commission's announcement says:

Carriers are required strictly to observe their published tariff rates and regulations and may not deviate therefrom. This commission may, however, upon application made to permit charges in tariffs upon less than the ordinary 30 days' notice.

Should the carriers or any of them petition this commission to make effective upon one day's notice tariff which will suspend the assessment and collection of demurrage occasioned by the order of the department of agriculture, this commission will be glad to give prompt and favorable consideration to such applications.

The state of Washington probably will be placed under quarantine today because of the discovery of cases of the foot and mouth disease near Spokane.

FRENCH OFFICIAL WAR REPORT

PARIS, Nov. 17.—There was given out in Paris this afternoon the following official communication:

"From Nieuport to Dixmude and in the region of Ypres the cannonading has been resumed with greater violence than in the preceding days. On the canal to the south of Dixmude the action of our artillery checked the work that the Germans were endeavoring to carry out to keep down the inundations. The enemy was compelled to evacuate a portion of his trenches which had been filled by the waters.

"Two attacks on German infantry, one to the south of Bixschoote and the other to the south of Ypres resulted in failure. On our side we have made progress between Bixschoote and the canal.

"Between Armentieres and La Bassee, there has been an artillery duel conducted with great spirit.

"On the Aisne certain German detachments which endeavored to cross the river in the vicinity of Valley were either driven back or destroyed.

"On our position on the right bank of the Aisne up stream from Valley there has been violent cannonading.

"In the Argonne there have not been any infantry engagements. We blew up with mines a certain number of German trenches. On the heights of the Meuse to the south of Verdun we have made advances at several points.

"In the region of St. Michiel we have taken possession of the first houses of the village of Chauvoncourt. These houses served as barracks for the St. Mihiel garrison. This village of Chauvoncourt is the only point of support still held by the Germans on the left bank of the River Meuse in this locality.

"On the rest of the front there has been nothing of importance to report."

FORMER MAYORS NAMED

White and Kane Nominees in Lawrence—Results of Primaries in Other Cities

LAWRENCE, Nov. 18.—William P. White, twice mayor of Lawrence, who resigned during his last term of office, again won a place in yesterday's primary and will be the candidate against ex-Mayor John P. Kane to fill out the balance of the term of the late Mayor Scanlon.

White was the candidate against the latter a year ago and lost by a narrow margin. The opposition to White was so divided that he led the other six candidates having a margin of 508 over ex-Mayor Kane.

William P. White was in the public eye a few years ago when he was convicted of conspiring to bribe and served more than a year in jail in connection with appointments to the fire department.

SALEM NOMINATIONS

Kelly and Danforth Named in List for Director of Public Works and Director of Finance

SALEM, Nov. 17.—Primaries were held in the 12 precincts of this city yesterday, for the choice of two nominees for the office of municipal director of public works, and a similar number for the position of director of finance.

The terms of Charles H. Danforth director of finance and of Patrick J. Kelley, director of public works, expire by limitation this year. Both desire re-election for three-year terms and both were renominated. A total of 4336 votes was cast out of a total registered vote of 7729.

NAMED FOR THIRD TERM

Mayor George M. Wright Renominated by Worcester Republicans—Ticket for City Election

WORCESTER, Nov. 18.—Mayor Geo. M. Wright was unanimously renominate for a third term by the republicans of Worcester last night in their caucuses and Pehr J. Holmes was unanimously nominated for his running mate as alderman-at-large.

The principal contests were for school committee, in ward 1, where Mrs. Emily F. Foster, wife of Rev. Dr. Allyn King Foster of the First Baptist church, defeated Henry O. Anderson, 449 to 217, and for school committee in ward 3, where Charles R. Johnson, the dean of the school board, was renominated over Morris S. Wright, who ran on stickers, by a vote of 192 to 153.

Contests for common council nominations were won in ward 2 by Michael J. O'Hara over Lester F. Clark, 267 to 159; in ward 7 by John C. Ware and Frederick S. Clark over William A. Kenney, by votes of 208 and 147 to 138; and in ward 9 by Charles B. Rugg and Albert H. Moss over Louis M. Friedman, by votes of 206 and 204 to 42.

STACY BEATS DENISON

President of Springfield Board of Aldermen Nominated for Mayor by Republicans

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 18.—Frank E. Stacy, president of the board of aldermen, defeated Mayor John A. Denison for the republican nomination for mayor at the caucuses here last night.

The vote was Stacy 3346; Denison, 2579. Both candidates worked hard to get out a large vote and the total number voting was 5925.

The aldermanic and councilmanic contests were warmly contested in some instances. Alderman George S. Cook of ward 1 winning over his opponent, Louis G. Erickson, and in ward 7 Albert B. Franklin Jr. defeating Thomas F. Godfrey.

LYNN POLLS 13,000 VOTES

Great Interest Shown in Primary Election, Newhall and Cogswell Being Nominated for Mayor

LYNN, Nov. 18.—Mayor George H. Newhall and ex-Rep. John H. Cogswell were nominated for mayor at the primary election here yesterday. They were the two highest candidates among the eight aspirants. Under the commission form of government, two candidates are named as the regular candidates at the municipal election, which this year comes Dec. 8.

Great interest was taken in the result, more than 13,000 votes being cast. The several candidates for the nominations for mayor, commissioners of finance and of streets and school committee had many persons at the polling places working in their interest.

Mayor Newhall received 5154 votes, carrying every ward except ward 6. Cogswell received 2727, and the third man, ex-Mayor Connery, received 2351. Ex-Rep. Salter got 1118, A. J. Holtt 586, Dr. C. D. S. Lovell 466, John R. Wallace 171 and Wm. A. Marks 92.

For commissioner of finance Frank R. Turnbull was renominated with 5061, with Roy F. Bergengren second, 3211. Robert W. Thomson received 1553 and George N. Nichols 2370 votes.

George H. McPhetres was renominated for commissioner of streets with 9026. The second man was Henry H. Meade with 1338. Howard W. Newhall received 1590.

For school committee Rev. C. Thurston Chase, Rev. Wm. F. Dussault and James H. Hooper were nominated for the school committee. These four will contest for the two vacant places at the regular election.

NOMINATION IN HAVERHILL

Bartlett Sweeps Every Ward for Nomination for Mayor—L. K. Morse to Be His Opponent

HAVERHILL, Nov. 18.—Alderman Albert L. Bartlett, who is now serving his second term in the municipal council, was the high man to qualify for mayor in the primary election yesterday. He carried every ward in the city over his four opponents, polling 2173 in a total vote of 5468.

Ex-Rep. Leslie K. Morse was the other candidate to qualify for mayor, he being second highest man in every ward.

The other candidates were William E. How, ex-Senator Samuel W. George and Dr. Thomas W. Flood.

MURDER VICTIM

Body of Thos. E. Preece Will be Buried at Taunton

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Nov. 18.—The body of Thomas E. Preece, who was killed and robbed at Sumner on Nov. 7 will be buried at Taunton, Mass., by his sister, Mrs. John Brintcomb by whom it will be received today.

Sheriff William O. Frothingham has returned from Milo to which town he traced the route followed by Preece in his carriage drive from Presque Isle to Sumner. He found many persons who saw or talked with Preece, but was able to locate only one, a Canton man who saw the Spanish war veteran who on Nov. 4 joined Preece at Milo, where the former had been employed two days under the name of Peter J. Harrington. The description given by the man who saw both men as they drove through Canton is said to correspond with that of Harrington and of the man who left Preece's team and dog at the hotel here the night Preece was murdered.

SAFE DYNAMITED

In North Dighton Post Office and About $900 Stolen

NORTH DIGHTON, Nov. 17.—The postoffice safe was dynamited and about $900 in cash and stamps stolen by robbers who escaped unseen early today. Darius White, night watchman at the Dighton Furnace company near the store of Charles H. Walker, where the postoffice is located, heard a muffled explosion about 9 o'clock and notified the police by telephone. When a squad of officers arrived they found the front of the safe blown off and the contents gone. The state police and the local authorities say that they have not the slightest clue.

NEED CHARITY AT HOME

SAYS NEW YORK MAYOR, IN REPLYING TO APPEAL TO HELP BELGIAN SUFFERERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—In a letter to the committee of mercy, replying to an appeal to help raise contributions for the relief of the Belgians, Mayor Mitchel yesterday called attention to the need of home philanthropy before answering the call of a European nation impoverished by the war.

"Contributions made to the Belgians must be made in addition to the contributions necessary for the relief of poverty here at home," the mayor wrote. "I feel it my duty to emphasize this and to urge the citizens of New York to make special sacrifices during this winter to minimize distress among the destitute here in America.

"Let us give to the Belgians generously but let us not fail first to meet with equal generosity the needs of those for whom we have first responsibility and on whose welfare will very largely depend America's readiness to meet her obligations now and at the close of the war."

NEW BRITISH WAR LOAN

STEADY DEMAND BUT NO PARTICULAR RUSH ON—LONDON BANK TO GET THE PROSPECTUS

LONDON, Nov. 18.—There has been a steady demand but no particular rush on the central bank to get the prospectus of the new British war loan of $1,750,000,000. Contrary to the usual practice of closing the issue as soon as the amount was covered, the list in the present case will remain open until Tuesday and prospectuses can be obtained at all banks and in any postoffice of the United Kingdom.

The stock exchange views the loan as a good investment and some members express the belief that another loan will be issued some time in April.

Rev. W. E. Pittenger gave an interesting talk on "Education and Morals" at the regular meeting of the Educational club held yesterday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. The usual open exercises were held and reports of the officers were read.

Meet us at Patsees, Thur. eve.

CANDIDATES NOMINATED
Continued

the winning slate was picked by comparatively few political forecasters.

For commissioner—Newell F. Putnam, 2958; William W. Duncan, 2808; James E. Miskella, 2424; and Andrew E. Barrett, 2198.

For school board—Dr. John H. Lambert, 7281; Herford N. Elliott, 5816; John C. Leggat, 5563; John H. White, 5166; Peter P. McMenimon, 4628; Jas. W. McKenna, 4316.

In the contest for commissioner James E. Donnelly fell only nine votes behind Andrew E. Barrett and in probability will call for a recount. While the ballot was a simple one to count, and would give the impression that there is little likelihood of error, the figures in precinct two of ward one are such as to cause many to wonder if a mistake has not been made in the count. In this precinct Mr. Miskella received 157, the second highest vote, Mr. Duncan getting 153, while Mr. Donnelly received only 85 and Mr. Barrett only 50. In state politics the precinct is strongly republican.

The school board contest resulted as was expected, with the six strongest candidates winning it out. An analysis of the school board vote would show that despite the fact that a slate containing the names of Dr. Lambert and Messrs. Elliott and Leggat had been made, "bullets" to the extent of thousands were cast for Dr. Lambert. This was quite noticeable in ward seven, the home ward of both Dr. Lambert and Mr. Leggat. It is known that Mr. Leggat received a large number of so-called "democratic votes" in this ward, while Dr. Lambert did not, and yet Dr. Lambert received a total of 1089 against 994 for Mr. Leggat and Mr. Elliott received only 765.

On the school board contest there were 3551 blanks against 816 for commissioner. Dr. Lambert ran 1435 votes ahead of Mr. Elliott and 1718 ahead of Mr. Leggat, a total of 3153, which pretty well discloses the number of "bullets" cast for the doctor.

As was generally expected toward the close of the campaign Commissioner Brown fell outside the breastworks though he landed farther away than most people expected. Up to the last he had great confidence in himself and is said to have wagered on the result. Those who openly opposed Commissioner Donnelly expressed the opinion that "he had had enough," though his vote showed that a large proportion of the voters were content to have him there again. Many were surprised at the vote received by Frank Ricard, for it was figured that he was a very probable winner and would get 90 per cent. of the French vote. The forecasters, however, got the wrong percentage on Mr. Ricard's French vote, for while the greatest strength shown by him was in wards six and seven, his vote there does not indicate that he received anything like 90 per cent. of the French vote. Mr. Ricard's slump may or may not have been due to an advertisement that appeared in the French papers coupling his name with another candidate and signed by Omer J. Allard, a registrar of voters. Mr. Allard denies any knowledge of the advertisement and states that his signature was placed on it without his knowledge or consent. The matter has caused somewhat of a sensation in French American circles and it is said that the attention of the district attorney will be called to it. One of the candidates whose defeat caused much surprise was Abel R. Campbell. Mr. Clapp received just enough votes in wards three and eight to keep Mr. Campbell out of the running. Joseph Mullin's small vote was another big surprise. Mr. Mullin's name appeared on a variety of slates and some couldn't believe that he would down.

SUN FEATURES THURSDAY

Spellbinder Will Discuss Political Questions; Sleepy Time Tales, Rabbit's Foot and Other Features

District Attorney Corcoran appears in The Spellbinder column for the first time with a few pointed remarks addressed to another editor who didn't see fit to print them. A few remarks about the caucuses and their results. Other political matters of local interest.

"Your Boys and Girls" in tomorrow's Sun will contain some very helpful information regarding the proper care and bringing up of children. It tells how to amuse the convalescent child who requires more entertainment than the healthy child. How to celebrate baby's birthday, and other questions are answered for mothers in a pleasing way in this article.

The problem of properly caring for the hair is one which is a source of considerable worry to some women. An exceptionally good article dealing with the care of the hair will be found in tomorrow's Sun in "What the French Maid Said." Marie tells various methods of treating the hair including shampoos and how to promote the healthy growth of the hair.

How the little gnomes helped Mrs. Chipmunk when Mr. Chipmunk hurt his foot so that he could not go after nuts is a sleepytime tale that will delight the children. This will be printed in The Sun tomorrow especially for the little ones.

"The Beauty Smile" is the topic of "The Rabbit's Foot" in The Sun, tomorrow. It tells why one should cultivate a cheerful, happy disposition and the value of a smile in one's personality.

EXCUSE ME

THE RABBIT'S FOOT

BY GWEN SEARS

TO STRENGTHEN ANKLES

Weak ankles are very annoying when they have a habit of constantly turning. This may be due to wearing low shoes, and at least, half the year milady should wear high street shoes, to rest the unsupported ankles of the other six months.

A very good method of strengthening the ankles is to try simple dancing steps in one's own room. Try dancing with the ankles turned in, and then turned out. At first you will find it difficult to keep your balance, but after they have become strong it will be an easy task.

Rubbing the ankles every night with alcohol is very good, and prevents one from catching cold easily.

Never go about the house in negligee and slippers without stockings. Drafts and cold floors are treacherous in the winter months. Skating and dancing are both good exercise for weak ankles.

The constant wearing of low heeled sport shoes often causes the ankles to become thick and clumsy looking.

MAN MURDERED

Body Stuffed Into Barrel and Carried to Lonely Street in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The man who was murdered last night and stuffed into a barrel, carried to a lonely street under the Queensborough bridge and left there, to be found before the warmth had left the body, was identified today as Luigi Macaluso, aged 22, a tailor who lived in that section of Manhattan's East Side best known to the police as the home of gangsters and gunmen.

Macaluso had served a sentence for carrying a revolver and detectives seeking to unravel the mystery of his death thought it due to a feud between rival gangs.

Michael Macaluso, a macaroni baker, the slain man's father, made the identification. He did not appear surprised and was unable or unwilling to give the police any information on which to start their quest for the murderer.

THE MERIT SYSTEM

It must have been quite a revelation to the committee of the Lowell board of trade, as it is to the general public, to find that our claims for lower fire insurance rates in this city are not considered overwhelming by the Boston gentlemen who make the rates. It has been generally understood here that in the matter of fire prevention and regulation, Lowell was ahead of most New England cities. Incidentally, it is a discouraging reflection that if we are considered wanting in our fire regulations, by experts, we would be considered still more deficient in practically every branch of municipal activity.

In the main, the claims of the experts at the rooms of the New England insurance exchange were based on common sense, and their demands are reasonable. If the fire insurance rates of this city are to be lower, it will have to comply with the requisites of the fire experts to a still greater extent. If the proposed assessment is in keeping with that in vogue in all other cities of this part of the country, there is no cause for complaint. It is indeed somewhat of a surprise that Lowell is not considered a profitable field, by insurance companies, though the evidence produced bore out that claim to some extent. Evidently a city need not necessarily have great conflagrations such as those of Salem and Manchester to suffer grievously from fire losses.

The most important assurance received by the local committee at the Boston conference was that the merit system will be introduced here, though careless property owners will not welcome the innovation. Mercantile rates are to be revised and a base rate will be determined, to be high or low in proportion to the improvements made by the city. In individual cases, lower insurance rates will follow property improvement, while at the same time owners of undesirable property with grave fire dangers will be compelled to pay a higher figure than at present. Scientifically applied, this merit system would be a good thing for the city, as it would force careless property owners to take necessary precautions.

To secure lower rates it would seem necessary that the state and municipal regulations be enforced rigidly and that our fire department be kept in an efficient condition. The claims of the fire experts do not bear out the wisdom of our official economy cry in this most important particular. The city is not rated in the first class—class A—with Worcester, Springfield and Brookline, but is included in the second class, and this in spite of the great strides made during the last municipal administration in supplementing the water pressure and adding modern equipment to the fire department.

The incidental criticism of our water pressure, fire equipment, alarm system, and other aspects of municipal fire prevention and fire fighting will give food for thought to our municipal authorities. It demonstrates forcibly the need for constant activity and also the need for initiative in dealing with a department that means so much to the future of the city. If the local committee did not succeed in getting a strong confirmation of their hopes, they got some information that ought to prove of value in the future.

GREAT REFORM STARTS

There may be some difference of opinion about a few of the laws passed under the leadership of President Wilson, but there is no difference of opinion about the great currency reform which was formally inaugurated a day or two ago. Coming at a time when business needs all the encouragement possible, the new influence will do a great deal to restore the balance of prosperity and to steer this country towards the goal of unprecedented success. For the first time in the history of the nation we have a banking system that will meet all the fluctuating needs of the future and free business from artificial restrictions and from the fear of panics. Better still it has permanently removed the finances of the country from the evils of speculation and safeguarded the rights of the small business without interfering with the lawful privileges of any interest or group in the country.

The indirect benefits of the new currency system have been drawn frequently by political and business leaders irrespective of party, and they are rosy indeed. The direct benefits will make themselves felt without delay. One of the first important moves will be the release of about $450,000,000 of reserves, more than enough to relieve the monetary shortage of some harassed districts. One of the intents of the new legislation is the aiding of every legitimate industry—credit being arranged for without formality and on easy terms. Thus, the government banking system stands ready to aid a deserving industry or business that may be temporarily obstructed by the old world war or by any other agency; in this the starting of the great reform is timely.

With the birth of the federal reserve system comes news of other improvements that tend to raise the courage of the entire country. It is said that war contracts to the amount of $300,000,000 have already been placed with our manufacturers, though little attention is called to such contracts for obvious reasons. If the war continues long, the tide of prosperity cannot but turn in our direction. This is the opinion of Agent Mitchell of the Massachusetts mills who returned from the scene of war a few days ago and it is the opinion of most trade forecasters at the present time.

The influence of the new currency system on domestic manufacture will be for good; in enabling our manufacturers to reach the foreign markets, it will be especially efficacious. Already some of the leading banks of the country have opened branches in South America and the actual work of assuring credit in that part of the world and elsewhere will be under way directly. With a fair show of co-operation between manufacturers, business leaders and the government, our export trade should from now on increase by leaps and bounds.

TO DISCUSS ANNEXATION

The suggestion that a mass meeting of the residents of the Dracut district along the river,—the annexation of which has been advocated by The Sun—be called in the near future to discuss the proposal from all angles, is an excellent one, and it ought to be adopted without delay. Those who reside in the territory are best qualified to compare their present limitations with the expected advantages of annexation, and there cannot be intelligent action without full discussion. The needs of the district in fire protection, in water, in streets and other necessaries are very apparent, and the advantages of annexation in these things are also apparent. If any of the residents have a feeling that being included in Lowell would impose any new hardships, they should air them, now that the movement is being agitated so widely. A mass meeting such as that which is proposed would supply the means for intelligent expression of views pro and con.

If, after the meeting, which might advantageously be attended by one of our assessors, opinion in that section of Dracut favored annexation with Lowell a bill authorizing Lowell citizens to vote on the matter might be introduced in the legislature. The minority could still carry any protest they might wish to make—though little opposition is anticipated—before the general court, and the supporters of the project could offer counter-arguments. In all probability a general expression from the Lowell voters would favor the scheme as Lowell needs room to grow, and more especially in the Dracut direction. For some time the city has been growing residentially away from its business centre. Both Dracut and Lowell would profit from the annexation movement now being agitated.

TRACK WALKING ACCIDENTS

Once again we are reminded of the terrible dangers of track walking by two local accidents, following each other in rapid succession, both of which were fatal. In one case it is surmised that a young man on his way to work took a short cut across or along the railroad tracks with fatal results, and in the other instance a man sought to get a ride on a freight train, meeting a similar fate. In the face of such warnings, any talk to track walkers sounds flat and unnecessary, but we have had accidents and deaths from this source for years without reducing their number. Many men who work for the Boston and Maine railroad in this city refrain from using the tracks as a short cut to work, and yet hundreds do not hesitate to risk their lives in this manner daily. It is too bad that people cannot in all cases be saved from their own carelessness. Probably the toll of track walkers will still go on, giving the papers tragic stories and saddening many homes yearly.

LOCAL RED CROSS

The activity of the local Red Cross branch as displayed in their headquarters in the Runels building, has a seriousness and earnestness that reflects credit on the workers and the committee in charge. It is evident that those engaged in the good work do not regard it as a fad but as a very serious and necessary charity. Though the actual work is but beginning, the results are very commendable and it is evident that the earlier financial success will be followed up by success in supplying clothes and hospital supplies to the afflicted in the old world battle lines. The American Red Cross society is neutral and it responds to the calls of suffering humanity wherever the fires of war are raging. The local branch deserves the support of the public in good measure—whether shown by a financial contribution or by any other form of practical interest.

The weather seems to be playing an important part in the war news at present. For the past few days rain and snow have fallen in the eastern and western scenes of conflict respectively, with advantage to the troops used to cold climes. Water in the trenches has made the fighting more terrible than at any time since the war began and undoubtedly it has added to the fatalities, directly and indirectly. Pneumonia is already claiming victims by the hundreds.

The letter of Secretary Redfield predicting prosperity sounds the most optimistic note heard yet, and backs it up with facts and figures. It is remarkable how republican business predictions have brightened, too, since the last elections.

The cold in the air should be a warning to the street department to fill up the worst gaps before the ice and snow come. If the defects are neglected, some of our streets may look like streets in sections of Antwerp when spring comes round again.

Furnace heat is good but good vitality is better.

TREES ALONG THE ROAD

Throughout the state the Massachusetts highway commission is planting trees along the highways, preserving the trees that are already there and trimming trees that are merely obstructions to the view of those who travel the roads and that therefore often contribute to the making of accidents. Where it has been customary to have guard rails for the protection of vehicles, the commission is now planting trees of various kinds—elms, maples, locusts and willows. The thought is that not only will the appearance of the road be improved, but a real economy will be accomplished. Guard rails need replacing frequently, but the trees become an even better protection as they grow in strength. No trimming of trees along the highway can be done by telegraph and telephone companies without a permit from the commission, and in granting these permits the commission is careful to guard against the possibility of marring the beauty of the road. The Massachusetts commission is this year spending $5000 in planting trees and $10,000 in the preservation of trees, a feature of the latter being the prevention of insect invasion.

POKING FUN AT US

The New York Sun comments pointedly on the ludicrousness of the law passed regarding the red flag in this state. It says: "To the humorous and imaginative Massachusetts enemy of society who on Saturday solemnly insisted on the enforcement against Harvard's crimson banner of the prohibition of red flags we offer our sincere thanks and congratulations. He showed up the absurdity of this particular enactment neatly and completely; may he have further opportunity to expose the meddlesome and oppressive statutes that too busy legislatures all over the country delight in putting in the books. Apparently the authors of this monument to wisdom and intelligence regard the revolutionary symbol as the cause and fountain head of the revolution, a view it is not surprising to find they were able to impress upon the lawmakers. 'Suppress the red flag,' we can hear them tell the solons, 'and there can be no more riots'; and so the thing was done. Thus in dozens of cases futility has found its expression in penal enactments, until the law libraries are fat with ridiculous statutes aimed at utterly inconsequential and trivial practices. Only occasionally is it possible to display these enactments in their ludicrous phase so that public attention may be centered on them. Whenever such an opportunity presents itself, may our Old Bay State revolutionists be on hand to manage the exhibition."

THE AMERICAN ADJECTIVE

"The half moon in the summer sky!
How beautiful it is!" quoth I.
"Ah, yes," my hearer made reply:
"SOME moon!"

"How witching is that melody!
It breathes somehow of wind and sea!"
"Uh huh," my hearer said to me:
"SOME tune!"

"With what a grand, majestic sweep
Yon mountain rises from the deep!"
"Oh, yes," he murmured, half asleep:
"SOME hill!"

I said: "You see this suit I wear?
They charged me sixty! Pretty fair?"
He answered with a wide-eyed stare:
"SOME bill!"

I saw him at a dinner dance;
He paused to breathe; I caught his glance.
He shouted out: "Say, take a chance;
SOME whirl!"

I grasped his hand; "I hear you're wed!
You've won a prize in that girl, Ned.
Good luck, old boy!" He smiled and said:
"SOME girl!"

I served him chicken. "Ain't it fine?"
I asked him as I sampled mine.
He answered, pouring out his wine:
"SOME bird!"

"Old Top," quoth I, "from morn till night
Your words exasperate me quite!
SOME this—SOME that—" He shrugged
"All right!
"SOME word!"

MANY SISTERS TO MANY BROTHERS

When we fought campaigns (in the long Christmas rains)
With soldiers spread in troops on the floor,
I shot as straight as you, my losses were as few,
My victories as many, or more.

And in naval battle, when, amid the rattle
Of cannon, fleet met fleet in the bath,
My cruisers were as trim, my battleships as grim
My submarines cut as swift a path.

Or, when it rained too long, and the strength of the strong
Surged up and broke a way with blows,
I was as fit and keen, my fists hit as clean,
Your black eye matched my bleeding nose.

Was there a scrap or play in which you, the boy
Could better me? You could not climb higher,
Ride straighter, run as quick (and to smoke made you sick)
. . . But I sit here, and you're under fire.

Oh, it's you that have the luck out there in blood and muck:
You were born beneath a kindly star;
All we dreamed, I and you, you can really go and do,
And I can't, the way things are.

In a trench you are sitting, while I am knitting
A hopeless sock that never gets done—
Well, here's luck my dear;—and you've got it, no fear;
But for me . . . a war is poor fun.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

FOOTBALL GAME

Indians Will Play the Roslindale A. A. of Boston Fair Grounds Saturday Afternoon

The Indian football eleven went to Lynn Saturday and defeated the Hercules of that city, 21 to 0. The work of Cunningham and the Donnellan brothers excelled. The Indians will play the Roslindale A. A. of Boston next Saturday on the old Fair grounds. The Indian lineup will include the following players: J. Mahan, A. Ross, J. Morse, W. Murphy, G. Rogers, J. Quinn, T. Hession, J. O'Halloran, J. Cunningham, R. Donnellan, E. Donnellan, R. Toy, captain; M. Flynn, W. Laurin and E. Flynn, manager.

GIRLS! GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

For 25 Cents You Can Make Your Hair Lustrous, Fluffy, and Abundant.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it.

WARSAW IS THREATENED

Germans Resume Offensive in Russian Poland—Loss of British Warships Confirmed

LONDON, Nov. 18.—No change in the kaleidoscopic operations in Russian Poland has been more startling that the sudden resumption of the offensive on the part of the Germans, a movement by which the heart of the Russian line has been attacked and Warsaw again is threatened.

As usual conflicting reports arrive from the neighborhood of these operations. Petrograd does not deny that the Germans have resumed the offensive but despatches from the Russian capital declare that such a movement will not cause the slightest diversion from the Russian invasion of East Prussia, which is proceeding slowly but steadily. In the meanwhile Berlin claims a victory near Lipno, imperilling the Russian forces, which according to German reports, must make a stand before crossing the Vistula river, as a retirement behind that stream would be too difficult. Berlin reports that the Russians are near Kutno but Vienna claims a victory for her ally at this place.

From this welter of conflicting reports emerged clearly the fact that a great battle is under way in western Poland on the line between the river Vistula and the river Warta. It is equally clear that the Russian advance has been brought to a halt. In the meantime Russian progress continues through the Carpathians before Cracow and in East Prussia.

Bad weather conditions are still having their effect on the operations of the western arena. The artillery duels continue, but it is hardly likely that either side is attempting to make much use of its infantry.

Paris claims in an official communication that the invaders renewed their attacks to the south and east of Ypres without modifying the situation At the same time the allies, according to this announcement, have made marked progress at every point attacked—on the Yser, in the Vailly region and on the heights of the Meuse. Special despatches announce heavy German losses in fresh fighting at Dixmude and the existence between Nieuport and Ypres of a protective sheet of water which renders any further danger of a German advance in that region negligible. The Germans are reported also as having completely abandoned the left bank of the Yser, the flooding of which endangers their possession of Dixmude.

The giving out by the admiralty of the official reports of the captain of the British cruiser Glasgow on the naval engagement Nov. 1 off the coast of Chile settles beyond question the fate of the cruisers Good Hope and Monmouth but offers no solution to the mystery of the battleship Canopus. According to the Glasgow report, Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock, commander of the British squadron, signalled the Canopus that he was about to engage the enemy. This is the only mention in connection with this naval engagement of the one battleship present on the British side.

The only other reference to the naval activity is a report of the bombardment of Knocke and Zeebrugge on the Belgian coast, by a British fleet. This is an operation which had been expected for some time.

SIX DAY RACE

Riders Are Smashing Records at Madison Square Garden

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Rapid fire sprints that almost overlapped, held cyclists in the six day race at top speed for more than an hour during the night and carried the new record nearly 15 miles in advance of the old. Today 15 of the 18 teams that started still whirled over the big bowl at Madison Square Garden. Although they had lost some of the wide margin over the old record, they were several miles ahead.

At the close of one of these bursts of speed the Wohlrab-Ryan team won back the lap they lost Monday night and again took rank with the leaders. During the early morning George Seres of the team of Seres and Dupuy developed water on the knee and retired from the race. At the same time Frank Cavanagh of Piercey and Cavanagh, retired because of a severe cold. Dupuy and Piercey combined in a new team.

The standing at 8 o'clock this morning was as follows:

Goullet and Grenda; Clark and Root; Cameron and Kaiser; Lawrence and Magin; Egg and Verri; Moran and McNamara; Walthour and Halstead; Fogler and Hill; Lawson and Drobach and Ryan and Wohlrab—all 1154 miles, 8 laps; Bedell and Bedell, Thomas and Hanley and Mitten and Anderson—1154 miles, 7 laps; Piercey and Dupuy, 1154 miles, 3 laps. Kopsky and Hansen, 1164 miles. The record for the fifty-sixth hour was 1150 miles and nine laps, made by Ryan and Thomas in 1912.

THE VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

New Course for Training Mechanics for Teachers—Great Opportunity for Learners

A new course will be added to the varied list taught at the Lowell Vocational school to be known as the training course for teachers in vocational schools, and it will include the following crafts: Machinist, electrician, automobile repairing, carpentry, cabinet-making, sheet metal work and printing.

Registration for this particular course will be held on Friday evening at the office of the Lowell Vocational school in the Mann school building Broadway, at 7.30 o'clock and no applicant need apply if he is under 25 or over 35 years of age. The classes will open next week and will be conducted two evenings a week, Mondays and Fridays. C. W. Allen of the Massachusetts board of education will be in charge and he will be assisted by the superintendent of the local school, Thomas Fisher. The course will include 20 lessons to be given on the following subjects:

General preliminary; state aided vocational education under Massachusetts laws; the department of vocational schools; the department as a unit; the department and the state; subjects and methods, principles and non-shop subjects. Related work, shop work, general principles, progressive shop work, and the project method. Departmental subjects: Shop science, shop English, shop mathematics, shop history, shop drawing, shop hygiene, the department of general subjects. General English, general mathematics, industrial history, citizenship training, general hygiene, cultural work, English and literature, types of school. Teaching devices.

Special registration was held last week and those who have registered are expected to report Friday evening of this week. Classes of this sort have been started at Springfield and Worcester with satisfactory result. A special registration was held in Lawrence a few days ago and seven or eight of those who have given their names have signified their intention of following the course in this city.

Up to the present time it has been found possible to obtain men who had a thorough trade equipment to hold positions of instructors at the vocational schools, but naturally these men have had no opportunity to obtain a definite training which would equip them in the teachers' art, and hence they have met with difficulty when employed as teachers. In order to meet the situation the state board of education, under the authority of the legislature, is putting into operation this year a plan whereby persons who already possess a thorough knowledge of their trade may secure an opportunity for training in the principles and methods of teaching.

The course will consist of an evening course two nights a week for about twenty weeks, and an opportunity for at least a few of the more promising men to be taken into the schools the following year as assistants, so that they may complete their training by practice in a school in actual operation. The course of instruction will deal only with those things which will help the man to teach efficiently what he already thoroughly knows, and no additional training or general education will be included.

No person will be admitted to these courses who does not satisfy the state authorities that he possesses the necessary qualifications as to age and other essentials.

Experience:—The minimum desired trade experience is three years of apprenticeship followed by at least five years' experience in the trade, making a total of eight years. Since many good men have not served a definite apprenticeship, consideration will be given to such early experience in the trade as might be deemed equivalent to apprenticeship experience. Some experience in a position requiring the supervision of the work of others, such as working foreman or assistant foreman in a large plant, or foreman in a small plant. Good physical condition and personal characteristics which argue for success as a teacher in the vocational schools.

Educational qualifications:—In the case of prospective trade teachers, graduation from a grammar school or its equivalent. Any further education, such as evening school work, correspondence school work, private study, etc., will be taken into consideration as an equivalent.

Only a certain number of men from each trade will be admitted to a class. Should more than this number of qualified men from each trade enroll, the selection of the most promising applicants will be made on the basis of the preferential qualifications given below: A wide experience, special skill, and an experience on a great variety of jobs. Candidates may be asked to pass a shop examination in order to determine their relative ability in this respect, and to furnish such special information as may be necessary.

A knowledge of such subjects as drawing, ability to make shop calculations, knowledge of various materials used in the trade, various machines and tools, special processes, etc. The degree to which the candidate possesses special qualifications along this line may also be determined by examination and the furnishing of such additional information as may be asked for. The class for each district will not exceed 15 men.

The courses are operated by the state. There is no tuition fee and no other charge for attendance. Men who have to travel to reach the class will of course be put to the expense of paying their own transportation.

In general the teaching positions for which this course trains pay from $1000 to $1200 at the start. After that, the salary depends very naturally upon the ability of the man and the particular locality in which he works. To a man who enters one of these schools as a teacher, and develops the necessary ability, there is also open the possibility of promotion within the schools to department head, paying from $1500 to $1800, and from department head to director of the school, paying from $2000 to $3000.

Evening Classes

New courses in sewing and cooking have been started at the girls' evening school. Supt. Fisher stated this morning the cooking class is full but more girls can be placed in the sewing department, and accordingly registration for this class will be held on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week at which time registration will close. A new cooking department has been started at the Butler school evenings, classes being held on Monday and Thursday evenings.

There are great opportunities in the dressmaking department of the evening school on Common street. The new course starts off on new garments that will offer new lines of instruction for all who attend.

DEATHS

WAZOISA—Stanislaw, aged 3 months and 7 days, died this morning at the home of the parents, Stanislaw and Soucia Wazoisa, 110 First street.

WINSBY—Miss Sarah A. Winsby, a well known resident of this city, passed away this morning at the Old Ladies' Home, 520 Fletcher street, aged 90 years, 5 months. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Melinda W. Costello and Mrs. Phoebe Trider, both of this city. During the Civil war Miss Winsby served as a nurse for four years.

LETENDRE—Mrs. Christophe (Riel) Letendre, aged 73 years, died late yesterday afternoon at her home, 91 Arch street. She leaves, besides her husband, five sons, Christophe Jr., of Canada; Louis, Felix, David and Nephtalie Letendre, all of Lowell; a daughter, Mrs. Helene Renaud, and two brothers, Auguste of this city and Rocque of St. Francois Xavier, Que. Deceased was a prominent member of the Third Order of St. Francis sodality.

PERKINS—Mrs. Elizabeth Perkins died yesterday afternoon at her home, 156 Pleasant street, aged 51 years, 6 months, 11 days. Mrs. Perkins was born in Nashua, N. H., but had lived in this city for the past 15 years. She leaves two sons, Fred S., of Emporia, Kan., and Herbert G. Perkins of this city; three daughters, Edie M., Mildred A., and Marion W. Perkins of this city; also her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Whidden, of North Chelmsford. Deceased was a member of Betsy Ross Sisterhod, Dames of Malta, Dracut Grange, Women's Relief Corps, G. A. R., and First Baptist church.

CAISSE—In the death of Rev. J. C. Caisse, the esteemed pastor of Sainte Marie's parish, Marlboro, which occurred on Monday, the diocese loses an old and efficient clergyman. Rev. J. B. Labossiere, pastor of St. Louis' parish, was an intimate friend of deceased priest and the news of his death was a hard blow.

On last Sept. 23, when the parishioners of St. Louis' church observed the silver jubilee of their pastor, Rev. J. B. Labossiere, Rev. J. C. Caisse delivered the sermon for the occasion. Only last month the French-American residents of Marlboro celebrated the 25th anniversary of Fr. Caisse's arrival there. He was to celebrate his golden jubilee in the priesthood next year.

WOODWORTH—Died at her home, 19 Hawthorn street, on Monday evening, Mrs. Lucia M. Woodworth, wife of Mr. A. B. Woodworth of this city. She is survived by her husband; a son, Artemus B. Woodworth, Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Arthur A. Stewart; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Henry P. Woodworth, and eight grandchildren, all of this city.

Mrs. Woodworth was born in Lowell, July 5, 1840, and with the exception of a few years when the family home was in Chelmsford, her residence has been in Lowell. She was a member of the First Congregational church, but was prevented by protracted and confirmed invalidism from participating in its work and worship; nevertheless, she maintained a lively interest in its welfare to the last. Her affections were strong and abiding, although it was not in her nature to be demonstrative in the exhibition of them. Her tastes were domestic in character and her activities and energies were centred on her home and family and the families of her children and grandchildren. She was interested in all matters of general concern, and her sympathies were awakened in behalf of the suffering in Europe caused by the war. To do the little she could for its alleviation she had just provided herself with materials for making articles for the comfort of the Belgian soldiers, and had begun to use them with that intent—her last but unfinished work.

Funeral services will be held at the residence, 19 Hawthorn street, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends invited.

FUNERAL NOTICES

FRENCH OFFICIAL REPORT

Bombardment of Rheims Continues—Claim Success in Numerous Artillery Exchanges

PARIS, Nov. 18.—The French official statement given out in Paris this afternoon says that yesterday saw numerous artillery duels and some isolated infantry attacks, all of which were repulsed.

"The day of yesterday, Nov. 17, passed much as did the day before," says the statement. "There were numerous exchanges and some isolated attacks on the part of the enemy's infantry, all of which were repulsed.

"From the North sea to the Lys the front was subjected to a fairly active bombardment, particularly at Nieuport and to the east and to the south of Ypres.

"Near Bixschoote the Zouaves, charging with the bayonet, brilliantly took possession of a forest which had been disputed between the enemy and ourselves for three days.

"To the south of Ypres, an offensive movement on the part of the enemy's infantry was repulsed by our troops. The English army also maintained its front.

"From Arras to the Oise there is nothing new to report.

"In the region of Craonne our artillery on several occasions secured the advantage over the batteries of the enemy.

"The bombardment of Rheims has continued. From Rheims to the Argonne there is nothing new to report. In the region of St. Mihiel in spite of counter attacks by the Germans we have retained in our possession the western part of the village of Chauvoncourt.

"In Alsace, the landwehr battalions sent into the region of Saint Marie-Aux-Mines have had to be taken out for the reason that they lost one-half of their effective strength."

JOE MANDOT THE WINNER

IN FAST BOUT WITH YOUNG SAYLOR AT BOSTON LAST NIGHT—ONE OF THE BEST BOUTS IN HUB

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—In one of the best bouts that has been seen in this city for a long time Joe Mandot of New Orleans was declared the winner over Milburn Saylor of Indianapolis in their 12-round bout at the Atlas A. A. last night. As was expected, there was action from start to finish, and the decision of Referee Patsy Haley of New York satisfied most of the fans.

Mandot's style of milling made a big hit with the fans, but it was the general impression that Saylor is not the boxer he was. He has changed his style completely, and last night the way he boxed reminded one of Bob Fitzsimmons.

That there was a lot of feeling between the pair was very evident from the moment when Bill LeClair rang the gong that started them on their journey. They also showed that their previous meetings caused them to have a lot of respect for each other's ability. While Saylor looked to be the bigger, he was actually lighter, for when they weighed in at 3 o'clock in the afternoon he did not move the beam at 133 pounds, while Mandot made the bar go up.

All through the battle Saylor kept trying to bring over a right that would give him the battle by a "K. O." Mandot had a good defence for the hard swings that Saylor let fly for his jaw, but at that Saylor caught the southern boxer a couple of rights that shook him for an instant.

It was a pretty even battle for ten rounds, but in the last two Mandot showed superiority, using both hands well on Saylor's face and body. He got some bad wallops in the body from Saylor. Mandot fought in a clean manner all through the contest, but Saylor used rough tactics at times; he once hit Mandot a bit low, and apologized for doing so.

Referee Haley did not hesitate about giving the award to Mandot.

In the opening bout Teddy Murphy made Johnny Yanger quit in two rounds. Willie Green and Young Al Ketchel boxed a hard six round bout and Ketchel was given the award. In the semifinal Young Smiley of the U. S. S. Virginia and Joe Morgan of Manchester boxed eight rounds to a draw.

NASHUA HIGH HERE

Nashua high came to Lowell this noon and will line up against the local high school eleven this afternoon at Spaulding park. Both teams confidently expect to win, and a classy battle is expected. Lowell will work hard in an endeavor to shake off the jinx which has been following the team all season, and will put her best men to the front in today's battle. "Roundy" Roane is likely to be out of the game, owing to injuries received in the game with Haverhill high last Friday. However, the rest of the lineup are in good condition, and several players who have been on the hospital list will return to the game.

GALLANT OUTFOUGHT CROSS

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Gilbert Gallant of Boston outfought Leach Cross of this city in a hard 10-round bout last night. Gallant took the aggressive early and scored two knockdowns. Cross found his bearings in the sixth round and administered severe punishment. In the final three rounds Cross had the better of the fighting but the visitor's lead was too great to overcome.

FIRE AT WAYSIDE FARM

OLD LANDMARK AT BILLERICA CENTRE DESTROYED—FAMILY IS DRIVEN FROM BED

The old Wayside farm buildings, located on Boston road, Billerica Centre, were totally destroyed this morning by a fire which started in the kitchen of the dwelling, probably from an over-heated stove which had been lighted in an effort to warm up the room. Several persons were asleep in the house when the fire started and were awakened by the noise of the flames shooting through the partitions of the house. Fortunately one was injured in making a hasty escape.

The old Wayside farm is located only a few hundred yards from the centre of the town. A few years ago it was conducted successfully as a hotel and at that time became one of the best known places in Billerica. About two years ago the land and buildings were purchased by the Imperial Fur and Breeding company, it being the purpose of the company to raise foxes for investment purposes, although this had not been started. The buildings included a large residence of about 14 rooms and two barns, which were connected. E. A. King, a Billerica merchant, occupied the premises.

The fire was first discovered by an occupant of the house who after arousing the members of the King family, notified a nearby resident who rushed to the home of Fire Chief Bartlett, and he sounded an alarm. In the meantime the several occupants of the house had gathered together what clothing was within reach and started to save the furniture. Although the flames spread rapidly, a large part of the furniture and valuables which were stored away in the house were saved.

When the Billerica fire department arrived at the scene of action, a comparatively short time after the alarm was sounded, the house and stables were a mass of flames, the dry wood furnishing fine fuel for the fire. Eighteen hundred feet of hose were put into use but the water pressure was quite low and handicapped the department in fighting the blaze.

From a few minutes after 6 o'clock until 11 o'clock the firemen remained at the Wayside farm fighting the flames and putting out all smouldering pieces of wood which had blown about the property. However, the fire had secured such a headway when the department was summoned that none of the buildings could be saved and all were burned to the ground.

The barns contained a large amount of machinery which had been stored away for future use. Other farming implements were destroyed.

Mr. King stated that he started to light a fire in the kitchen stove about 5.45 o'clock this morning and after seeing that everything was apparently all right went to his store a short distance away, leaving his family asleep in the upper part of the house. Hardly had he reached his store when the rear part of the dwelling was burning and the flames were communicated to the main part of the house and the stables.

The loss of the Imperial Fur and Breeding company will be about $5000, partly covered by insurance while Mr. King was unable to estimate his loss on account of a part of the furniture having been removed to a neighbor's house. The total loss will be about $10,000.

THE COTTON LOAN FUND

PLANS TO CLEAR WAY FOR TRANSFER OF MONEY TO SOUTHERN COTTON PRODUCERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—With the $135,000,000 cotton loan fund fully subscribed, steps were taken today to clear the way for the actual transfer of the money to southern cotton producers. The federal reserve board, acting as the central committee, which has general supervision of the fund carried out the provisions of the understanding with subscribing banks by naming a cotton loan committee which shall actively administer the fund.

The first meeting of the committee will be held in New York probably on Friday and plans laid for carrying out its purpose including the appointment of committees to pass upon applications for loans.

DELEGATION FROM LOWELL

WILL ATTEND MEETING OF MASS. WATERWAYS BOARD IN BOSTON TONIGHT

President Robert F. Marden, secretary John H. Murphy, Capt. W. P. White and George H. Kimball of the board of trade will attend the meeting of the Massachusetts waterway board, which will be held this evening at Young's hotel in Boston. The meeting will be followed by a banquet and among the speakers will be Engineer Craighill, who made the adverse report on the project of deepening the Merrimack river; Chairman A. E. Sutherland of the Merrimack valley waterway commission of Lawrence and other noted speakers.

The members of the board of trade who had planned to go to Washington, D. C., on Dec 5 to attend the congressional hearing on the matter of deepening the Merrimack river have not yet given up the trip, for all are awaiting a report from Congressman John Jacob Rogers who, in company with Congressmen Phelan of Lawrence and Gardner of Haverhill, will confer with the engineer who made the adverse report. As soon as Congressman Rogers is ready to report a meeting will be held in this city and final action on the proposed trip will be taken.

landwehr, composed of older Germans has been used in this district. The French war office announces that the landwehr battalions have been withdrawn as they have lost one-half of their effective strength.

On the two main battlefronts—on the Belgian seacoast to the Swiss border and along the eastern boundary of Germany—renewed efforts were being made today to bring about a decided turn in the progress of the war.

The situation in eastern Prussia presented, apparently, the greatest opportunities for a quick and important change, although Russian and German statements were still in sharp conflict. The German war office announced officially today that the operations against the Russians were proceeding favorably. The Russians, it was said, were compelled to fall back from Wloclawek and Lipno. The latest statement from Petrograd, however, declares that the Germans were retiring along the whole east Prussia front. It was also indicated in advices from Petrograd that an important Russian force had penetrated to the extreme southeastern section of Galicia, where furious fighting is said to be in progress.

The Austrian troops are reported to be fleeing in great disorder. In Belgium, the unwearying Germans have begun another of their fearful onslaughts in a region which is becoming more and more restricted. The allies have succeeded in flooding a further area so that heavy infantry fighting is almost impossible from the seacoast nearly to Ypres. A new bombardment of Belgian coast towns by British warships is said to have inflicted heavy damage on the German possessions and to have destroyed large quantities of ammunition and stores.

The French government, according to unofficial advices from Paris, intends to carry out the plan announced some time ago for its early return to Paris. It is reported today that the legislative and administrative staffs of the chambers of deputies will return to Paris tomorrow, preparatory to removing the seat of government.

A. G. POLLARD ELECTED

ONE OF THE VICE PRESIDENTS AT ANNUAL MEETING OF HOME MARKET CLUB

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Arthur G. Pollard of Lowell was one of the vice presidents elected at the annual meeting of the Home Market club today.

The adoption of a resolution welcoming the cooperation of all believers in a reasonable protective tariff, a review of the November election by President W. B. Dowse and a letter from Joseph Walker, the progressive candidate for governor, urging united action by protectionists were among the features of the meeting.

President Dowse claimed there was a gain in the election of 80 protectionist congressmen. This, he said, was the nation's answer to the democratic tariff bill.

"As the result of the election," he said, "courage and confidence have taken the place of doubt and depression and the outlook for business is brighter today than it has been at any time since President Wilson signed the new tariff bill."

BOOKS ON THE WAR

CITY LIBRARIAN CHASE HAS A LIST GIVING ALL SIDES OF THE CONTROVERSY

Librarians, like all other folks who have to do with books, are watching the effect of the war upon the reading public and Librarian Chase of this city says that the demand for books on the war is very great. One book, "Secrets of the German War Office," by Karl Arm Gaard Graves, has a waiting list of 23. Three copies of the book have been received at the public library and as quickly as a copy is returned the owner of the first name on the waiting list is notified.

The war has created a widespread interest in recent histories of countries, in books of European travels, in international law bearing upon treaties, upon the duties of neutrals, and upon contraband goods. The demand for books of a semi-prophetic nature has been great. The extraordinary events in Europe have led some persons to read, perhaps for the first time, something other than a newspaper or a novel. In this way the percentage of loans of non-fiction books has been increased.

The war has already effected the reading habits of thousands of persons who never enter a library. It has been said, and truly, too, that newspapers have suddenly assumed a place which they have seldom or never occupied. Many people who read them entirely for amusement, or as a matter of routine, now find them necessary factors of daily life.

Librarian Chase is a very close observer and he has watched, with great interest, the effect of the war upon those who read. He says that the war has stimulated interest in historical research and he has noted a great many new faces in the library since the war started.

The most interesting books on the war include Roland G. Usher's book on "Pan-Germanism"; Gen. von Bernhardi's book on "How Germany Makes War"; Prof. Muensterberg's book on "America and the War," and many others, including "Interest of America in International Conditions," by Capt. Alfred T. Mahan, U. S. N., (retired); the books of Baroness von Suttner, and several books fresh from the press. These include "Germany and England," by J. A. Cramb; "Who is Responsible?" Cloudesley Brereton; "The Real Truth About Germany," Douglas Sladen.

In addition to these books are stacks of pamphlets, bearing such titles as "How Briton Strove for Peace," "The Facts About Belgium," and "The Case of Belgium," published for the Belgian delegates who recently paid a visit to this country. Then come the documents respecting the negotiations preceding the war, printed by the Russian government, diplomatic correspondence by the Belgian government, and monthly bulletins from the association for international conciliation. In addition to all of these is the London Times history of the war which comes weekly. This is an intensely interesting publication, splendidly edited and beautifully illustrated.

The paper covered book containing the despatches between the British government and ambassadors, and speeches delivered in imperial house of commons is mighty interesting. Despatches from His Majesty's ambassadors at Berlin and Vienna are included in this publication as well as a despatch from the ambassador at Berlin respecting an official German organization for influencing the press of other countries.

BODY OF LORD ROBERTS

ARRIVES HOME—MILITARY FUNERAL IN ST. PAUL'S PLANNED—GUN CARRIAGE TO BE USED

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The body of Field Marshal Lord Roberts on its arrival at Folkstone last night from Boulogne was received by a large contingent of officers from the Shornelife camp, the mayor of Folkestone and other officials.

The waiting room of the railway station had been converted into a mortuary chamber and the coffin was borne there by noncommissioned army officers. It was ladened with a number of wreaths. In the procession from the boat to the railway station, marched a delegation of British, French and Indian officers. A guard of honor was posted about the coffin last night.

The body will arrive tomorrow at the home, Englemere, in Ascot, and will lie in state until Thursday, when it will be taken the railway station on the gun carriage which his son died trying to save at Colenso in the South African war.

A special train will then bring the casket to London. Troops will escort it to St. Paul's. In deference to the public wish he will be laid to rest in the cathedral. A public funeral of elaborate military character has been planned.

The vault in St. Paul's in which the field marshal will lie is the mausoleum of Great Britain's greatest warriors. The last soldier buried there was Field Lord Wolseley, at whose funeral last March Lord Roberts was a bearer.

FIRE ON WATSON STREET

An alarm from box 221, corner of Kinsman and Whipple streets, about 2 o'clock this afternoon was for a slight fire in a house at 14 Watson street. The blaze started in a wood box and threatened to spread, but the members of hose 7 extinguished it promptly.

REPORT DENIED

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Russian myth, the story which gained widespread circulation some months ago that a Russian force of 50,000 men from Archangel had been landed in Scotland, thence moved to France, was officially buried in the house of commons today by a definite announcement that no Russian troops had ever moved through Great Britain for the western arena of the conflict.

TEST FLOODS IN BOSTON

Hydrant Opened In Experiment With New High Pressure Fire Service Water Mains

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Considerable excitement was furnished at Scollay Sq. shortly before 8 o'clock last night, when hydraulic engineers testing the new high pressure fire service water mains opened a hydrant on Tremont street and in a few moments had the square and adjacent streets flooded.

The test was under the direction of George S. Coleman, engineer of the department of public works, and R. A. Scally, engineer for the contractors who are installing the pipes. The test was scheduled for one hour, but owing to inconvenience to pedestrians it was cut short until later in the night.

These experiments are made in order to drive the air from the pipes so that the tests for leakage and other defects can be conducted with the pressure at times reaching the maximum, which will be about 400 pounds. The water leaving the hydrant last night was from a pressure of only 55 pounds.

STOCK EXCHANGE

Another Barrier to Operations Removed by Committee in Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Another barrier to the operation of the stock exchange was taken away today when the committee having charge of transactions rescinded the order of last August requiring members to confirm by letter all transactions made through the committee.

Members of the exchange were also granted the liberty of changing or cancelling orders at any time.

DUE TO JEALOUSY

Dr. von Mach in Address Before Church Club at Brookline Discusses British Entry Into War

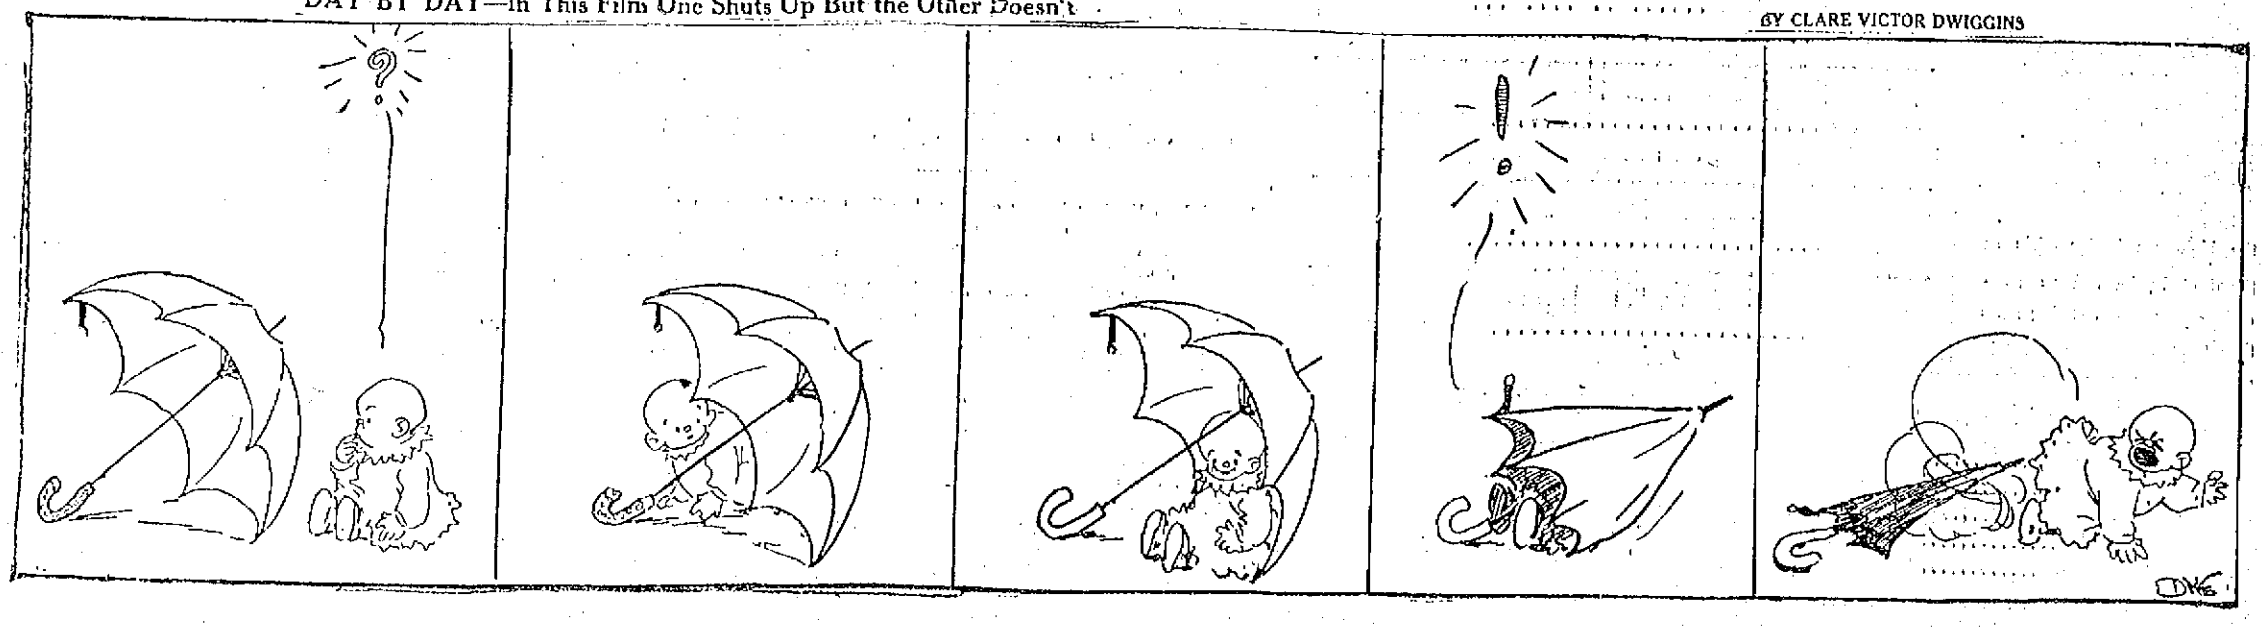

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Speaking before the Tuesday Evening Neighborhood club of All Saints' Episcopal parish, Brookline, last evening, Dr. Edmund von Mach of Harvard college said that Great Britain's entry into the present war was due to jealousy of Germany's expanding commerce, and not because the neutrality of Belgium was violated.

Germany, he declared, was not ruled by a military clique, nor was the kaiser pushed into this war by this clique.

The speaker said he felt convinced that no such toast as has been credited to officers in the German army and navy, concerning Paris, was ever made. The regulations of the German navy were very strict and permitted only one toast, to wit, "To His Majesty the Kaiser."

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Investigation by Grand Jury of Alleged Murder of Mildred Sullivan Begun Today

HOULTON, Me., Nov. 18.—With 22 witnesses to be questioned the investigation which was begun today by the grand jury of the alleged murder of Miss Mildred Sullivan of Houlton was expected to require several days.

Among the witnesses who were to be examined as to the charges against Dr. Lionel E. Dudley of Presque Isle, who is being held on the charge of murder, and Miss Alice Pelletier and Perley Pelletier of the same town, who were bound over as accessories before the fact, was Miss Kate Michaud, the Wallagrass nurse, whose alleged confession brought about the finding of the girl's body in the Presque Isle woods and the three arrests.

Others included Miss Ruth Deveny of Cambridge, Mass., and Detective Sergeant Irwin of the Boston police, who arrived today, and the physicians who are said to have found a quantity of poison in the girl's stomach at the autopsy.

METCALF TRIAL

Reassigned for Monday in the Federal District Court

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 18.—The trial of Edward P. Metcalf, former president of the Atlantic National bank, and Henry E. De Kay, a New York promoter, on one of several indictments found a year ago following the failure of the bank against them and other financiers, was reassigned for Monday in the federal district court today.

John W. De Kay, although he is one of the defendants named in the indictment set for trial at this time, was not in court. He never has been arrested.

His brother, Henry E. De Kay, whose bail was declared forfeited because he failed to respond when his case was called last spring for assignment, appeared personally and asked to have the default against his bail removed. The court said his request would be granted if he should be present Monday.

WILL REOPEN DEC. 7

Stock Exchange in Los Angeles, Cal., Will Resume Unrestricted Business on That Date

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 18.—The Los Angeles Stock Exchange will reopen for unrestricted business on Dec. 7. This was decided at a special meeting of the board of directors yesterday after a review of general conditions and of the effect upon business of the opening of the Federal Reserve banks. The quotations posted at the opening will be the same as they were at the closing of the exchange on July 30.

PROGRESSIVES LOSE STANDING

ST. PAUL, Nov. 18.—The progressive, socialist and independent labor parties failed to get sufficient votes in Minnesota at the recent general election to entitle them to legal standing as political organizations. The progressive gubernatorial candidate polled only 3466 votes, as against 33,415 cast for the party in 1912.

Y. M. C. I. LADIES' NIGHT

ENJOYABLE AFFAIR CONDUCTED AT THE INSTITUTE QUARTERS IN STACKPOLE STREET LAST NIGHT

The first of a series of ladies' nights to be conducted by the Y. M. C. I., during the winter months, was held last evening at the club headquarters in Stackpole street, and proved to be a highly enjoyable affair. General dancing was started at 8 o'clock to the pleasing strains of Carlin's Novelty orchestra and continued until midnight. At intermission which came about 10 o'clock, the ladies were taken around by the members, and the beautiful rooms given a thorough inspection. Billiards, pool and bowling were enjoyed, and some of the young women proved to be remarkably adept in each. It was announced that another night will be given over to the ladies one week from next Tuesday night. The following committee is responsible for the success of last night's affair: Paul R. Clark, chairman; James Cooney, George Clark, John King, William King, Joseph McCartin, Thomas Higgins, Jeremiah Connors, Joseph Stowell, John Welsh, Martin Welsh, Michael Boyle, John McMann, John Tansey, Anthony Doyle, Andrew Doyle, John Clark, Francis Haggerty, James Gilligan, John Cole, Thos. Clark, Jas. McCarron, Gerald F. Beane, John Rogers, Fred Leonard, Edward Leonard, Leo Tansey, Frank Sullivan, Frank Roane, John Shields, Paul O'Neil and Matthew Shaughnessy.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to extend our sincere thanks to our relatives, neighbors and friends, who by tender words of sympathy, beautiful floral offerings and other kindly acts, helped to lighten the burden of sorrow in our recent bereavement, caused by the death of our beloved wife and mother, Abbie Bligh. We are deeply grateful to all and will always remember their kindness.

(Signed)
Mr. Michael Bligh,
Emmeline Bligh,
Abbie Bligh,
Mrs. Theresa Livingston,
Daniel Ryan and Family.

LOWELL ART ASSOCIATION

December 1 will mark the opening of the Lowell Art association season, the event to consist of an illustrated talk at the Whittier house on the domestic life of the modern Egyptians by Mrs. Joseph Linden Smith of Boston.

The affair will be free to all members in good standing and the talk will be followed by a reception to the speaker.

BIG DROP IN TEMPERATURE

THE COLD WEATHER MORE FELT BECAUSE OF SUDDEN CHANGE

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—The cold weather of yesterday, which the local weather bureau officials declare is "seasonable," was more felt than it naturally would be because it came so swiftly, with a drop of about 30 degrees in the morning from Monday morning's temperature.

Local bureau officials declare that Boston has been enjoying unusually warm weather the last two weeks for this time of year, and that a drop in temperature was to be expected.

Their official prediction late last night was "fair Wednesday and Thursday. Not much change in temperature. Moderate westerly winds."

With the exception of the lake region, where a few snow flurries were reported yesterday, practically the entire country is enjoying fair weather, and some parts of it experienced much colder weather yesterday than fell to the lot of Boston.

At 8 o'clock last night Denver reported a temperature of 42, St. Louis 36, Buffalo 24, Chicago 38, St. Paul 16, Bismarck 22, Northfield, Vt., 24, Portland, Me., 30, and Eastport, Me., 32. The coldest place on the continent last night was Cockrane, Ont., where the glass went down to 14 below zero. White River, Ont., reported 12 below zero.

Other readings last night were Kansas City 38, Washington 34, New York 34, Philadelphia 35, New Orleans 48, San Francisco 66. The hottest place was Miami, Fla., where the glass registered 74 above. During the day, however, a maximum of 76 was reported from Phoenix, Ariz.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning there was a drop of 28 degrees from the temperature at the same hour Monday morning and 25 degrees from the noon temperature Monday.

The highest temperature yesterday was at 1 p. m., when 41 was reached. From that hour on there was a steady but gradual drop of the mercury. The weather bureau officials, however, do not expect the temperature to drop much below 30, and during the daylight hours today and tomorrow the temperature will probably fluctuate between 30 and 40.

BLIZZARD RAGING

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 18.—The Adirondacks are being swept by a severe blizzard and considerable property damage has been done. There is nearly a foot of snow in the woods now and it is still falling. Roofs were blown from several buildings at Tupper Lake and other Adirondack stations.

DALTON EXTENDS THANKS

The undersigned desires to extend his sincere thanks to the friends who did him the honor of their votes in yesterday's primaries and to assure them that he is deeply appreciative of their expressed confidence and regard.

LARGE PARTY AT DEPOT

The railroad station in Middlesex street was the scene of a large gathering late yesterday afternoon, when some 50 Greeks of this city left for their fatherland. In the group of those leaving were five women and as many children. The party left on the 5.30 o'clock train for Fall River, whence they will board a steamship for New York, from where they are expected to sail for Greece today. Some of the party are going to Sparta, while others will go directly to Macedonia, where all expect to remain indefinitely. The men and women were escorted to the railroad station by several hundred of their fellow countrymen and women and the departing scene was a most touching one.

POLICE COURT CASES

ONLY THREE OFFENDERS BROUGHT BEFORE JUDGE ENRIGHT TODAY

Only a trio of petty offenders were brought before Judge Enright in police court today. A man of about 60 years of age pleaded guilty to drunkenness on his 42nd arraignment in the local court but he asked for another chance to turn over a new leaf and His Honor imposed a suspended sentence of three months in jail.

Henry F. Fahey was complained of by his boarding mistress, Mary Gookin, for committing a disturbance about 12 o'clock last night. Fahey admitted that he was intoxicated and made considerable noise but claimed that he had been listening to the election returns and was on sort of a celebration. He promised the court that he would keep away from the boarding-house hereafter and a two months' sentence to the Lowell jail was suspended for six months.

Omer H. Boisvert pleaded guilty to non-support of his wife but the case was continued until tomorrow for trial.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

"The Christian," which is breaking all records at the Opera House this week is without exception the greatest dramatic motion photo-play ever shown upon the screen. Produced by the Vitagraph-Liebler company with their all star cast, amid the natural surroundings of the story, this photo-masterpiece will be as popular with theatregoing public twenty years from now as is the stage version. Miss Edith Storey, the adorable, fascinating little star, attains a great personal triumph as "Glory Quayle." Earle Williams, in portraying John Storm,—a type of man who is almost a religious fanatic, accomplishes equally as brilliant work as Miss Storey, while the supporting cast is the best ever seen in one picture.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Teddy Alice, the wonderful skating bear at the B. F. Keith theatre this week is trained as is no other member of the bear family. Her skating is perfection itself, and her wrestling is full of vigor. She is a very remarkable specimen of a trained animal. Everybody will want to see her. An act with the real rustic flavor is "The Belle of Dingville," in which Whitefield and Ireland, assisted by Lew Murdock, appears. The act is one prolonged scream of laughter. Miss Ireland and Mr. Murdock do some exceptional grotesque dancing. All in all it is one of the most likeable of rural comedies. The Six Musical Spillers give ragtime music as it should be played. On saxaphones, morimbaphones, trombones and cornets they play some of the mellowest of melodies. Doc O'Neil, whose laugh prescriptions are everywhere hailed with delight, offers his newest budget. Other acts on the bill are Bernard & Scarth, "A Tonic for Temper," Delmore & Oneida and the Hearst-Selig News Pictorial. 'Phone 25.

THE ROYAL THEATRE

One of the most stupendous and up-to-date war dramas ever conceived for a film will be shown at the Royal today and tomorrow. "The War of Wars," is the title of this brand-new feature which was only recently released. It is a six-reel production of pitched battles, but among the smoke and fire, a charming love story is cleverly woven. Stuart Holmes, a renowned American actor is seen in the leading part as "Babe," a German officer, whose willful ways win the heart of a beautiful French girl. Hugo de Grandpre is the last of the race and lives with his two sisters on the border of France, near the German lines. It is one of the first chateaux to fall into the hands of the Germans, and "Babe" is one of the many officers who admire the beauty of Yvonne, the fairer of the two sisters. She escapes to an inn kept by her brother-in-law, who attempts to make love to her. "Babe," who admires her greatly, spares her from dishonor and the innkeeper is killed by the German officer, who is later court-martialed and sentenced to die. The other sister, thinking her brother-in-law had been killed in trying to defend her sister swears vengeance, and stabs "Babe." Then a scene of wonderful screen adventures is flashed before the interested spectator, who finds himself gasping from scene to scene, for its great realism, and wonderful acting. Five other photo-plays complete the program.

THE OWL THEATRE

The picture-fan who is not acquainted with John Barrymore, should not lose the last opportunity to see him in pictures. His last two performances as Fitzhew in "The Man From Mexico," will take place today at the Owl. Coming Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Edward Abeles in "Ready Money." Five other daily Mutual photo-plays besides the daily big feature. Some show, is it not?

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Only once in a season does one get the chance to see such a delightfully plain and yet at the same time interesting parade of facts as are found in Paul Armstrong's really clever drama, "The Escape," being presented by the stock company at the Merrimack Square Theatre this week. The audiences thus far have pronounced it 100 per cent meritorious. Seats for performances are selling rapidly and those who contemplate a visit to this popular playhouse this week had best secure their tickets today.

The coming week one of those almost extinct but nevertheless welcome, old-fashioned country dramas "Uncle Dave Holcomb," will be the offering, and seats for both performances to be given on Thanksgiving day will go on sale at the box office tomorrow.

MATHEW INSTITUTE MET

SOCIAL EVENTS FOR THE SEASON DISCUSSED—DEBATE ON CITY CHARTER

A largely attended and highly interesting meeting of the Mathew Temperance Institute was held last evening at its headquarters in Central street, with President Walter T. Powers in the chair. Two new members were initiated and three applications for membership were turned over to the investigating committee, who will report on them at the next regular meeting.

The social committee reported that another ladies' night will be held at the rooms on Friday evening. The carnival committee, consisting of P. F. Nestor, Walter T. Powers and Edward Welsh, submitted progressive reports, relative to the coming carnival, and their remarks were greeted with applause.

William H Duffy of St. Mary's C. T. A. U., of Lynn, made his first official visit as deputy from the Boston C. T. A. U. His visit was unexpected, and he was much pleased with the large attendance and spirit of cooperation shown by the members. Mr. Duffy was called upon for a few remarks and proved to be a very able talker.

The literary committee has arranged for another smoke talk to be held on December 1. If possible the series of smoke talks arranged by this committee will be held at the first meeting in each month. A debate was given a thorough trying out at last night's meeting and proved very successful. At the next meeting the subject of the debate will be: Resolved, "That the New Charter Gives Better Municipal Government Than the Old Charter." John Sullivan will lead the negative side, and William H. Carey has been selected to argue in the affirmative. The younger members are taking an active interest in the debates, and in the future they will be heard on the affirmative and negative sides. The subjects selected will be highly interesting and instructive, and much benefit will be derived by the member spending the evening at the institute on the nights these treats are to be held.

HELD SHORT MEETING

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL DID NOT HAVE MUCH BUSINESS ON HAND TODAY

The municipal council held a brief meeting this forenoon and at its conclusion, Mayor Murphy and Commissioners Donnelly and Morse went to Chelsea to attend the fourth annual banquet of the Massachusetts Police Baseball league. The banquet is complimentary to the Newton police baseball team, world's police champions for 1914.

The little business attended to this morning included petitions for garage and gasoline licenses submitted by M. H. Pratt, George Glatas, Mrs. Fred W. Hogg and Walter Jackson. All the petitions were referred to the commissioner of water works and fire department and the chief of the fire department.

The petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for a pole location in Dalton street, near Ennell street, was laid on the table till the next meeting. The meeting lasted five minutes.

ASKS FOR RECEIVER

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—A receiver is sought for the United States Motor company, a New Jersey corporation with authorized capital of $42,500,000 and plants at Hartford, Detroit, Dayton, Providence, Newcastle, Ind., and Tarrytown, N. Y., in a suit filed today in the state supreme court by Emmanuel Metzger of this city, a stockholder.

INDICTMENT QUASHED

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The indictment charging Daniel N. Morgan, former treasurer of the United States, and six others with using the mails to defraud stock investors in connection with the operations of Jared Flagg was quashed today, upon motion of the United States district attorney, who said that the testimony at Flagg's trial showed that Mr. Morgan and his six associates were not guilty.

MANCHESTER MARTYRS

MEMORY OF IRISH PATRIOTS TO BE CELEBRATED NEXT SUNDAY EVENING

On next Sunday evening at Associate hall will be held a grand entertainment to celebrate the memory of Allen-Larkin and O'Brien, those worthy heroes who offered up their lives for Ireland 47 years ago. They were humble men, but from their death there came into existence the movement founded by Charles S. Parnell that was destined to win for Ireland all her just demands.

The lecture will be delivered by Hon. James B. Casey and those who hear him on this occasion will be more than repaid.

All Irish societies are invited to be present that evening, including the A. O. H., the Irish National Invincibles, the Celtic Associates, the Clan-na-Gails, Wolfe Tone guards and Meagher guards. An invitation is also extended to the Knights of Columbus. There is also prepared for your reception a grand musical program, with some of the best talent of the city taking part.

FIREMEN HAD FALSE ALARM

At 3.45 o'clock this morning the members of Hose Co. No. 3, located at the Central fire station in Palmer street, went on a wild goose chase up Moody street. It seems that while electricians were working on the alarm system three blows were sounded and this was mistaken by the members of Hose Co. No. 3, who rushed to the corner of Moody and Worthen streets, where Box 12 is located. District Chief Crowley happened to be in the vicinity and he ordered the men back to their stations after having explained how the blows were struck.

U. S. HUNTING CLUB ENTERTAINED

Mr. J. T. Whittaker of 38 West Sixth street entertained the members of the athletic committee of the U. S. Bunting Co. last night with a banquet and entertainment. The affair proved very delightful and was fully enjoyed by all who attended. At the beginning of the sporting season of the Bunting club, Mr. Whittaker promised that he would entertain if the season was successful and yesterday being his birthday, he picked out last evening as an appropriate time to act as host to his fellow members of the committee.

PRESIDENT GILMORE AND CHARLES WEEGHMAN OF THE FEDERAL LEAGUE SEE PEACE IN SIGHT

Seated, GILMORE

Indications are that peace will soon be declared in the baseball world. Just what form the negotiations will take is uncertain, but it seems probable that Charles Weeghman, principal owner of the Chicago Federal league club, will buy the Cubs from Taft and Murphy and that the Wards, owners of the Brooklyn Federal league team, will buy the New York American league club or one of the clubs in the National league. There will be a consolidation of the St. Louis Federal league club and the Cardinals and a readjustment by which the American association and the remnants of the Federal league will be consolidated. President Gilmore, Weeghman and the other men who have been handling the affairs of the Federal league insist that there will be no peace that does not protect all the men identified with the "outlaw" organization, either as backers or players.

A FUTURE CLEAR AND BRIGHT, SAYS PRESIDENT

"We are All in the Same Boat", He Writes, "And Shall Advance Together"—Praises McAdoo

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—"A future clear and bright, with promise of the best things," was the way President Wilson summed up his view of the business prospect last night in a letter to Sec. McAdoo of the treasury department, congratulating him upon the opening of the new federal reserve bank system.

"Fundamental wrongs once righted as they may now easily and quickly be," wrote the president, "all differences will clear away. We are all in the same boat, though apparently we had forgotten it. We now know the port for which we are bound.

"We have and shall have more and more as our new understandings ripen, a common discipline of patriotic purpose. We shall advance and advance together, with a new spirit, a new enthusiasm, a new cordiality of spirited cooperation. It is an inspiring prospect."

Mr. Wilson referred to the new tariff law, the new currency law, the new trade commission law and the labor provisions of the new antitrust law as the means through which "the soil has everywhere been laid bare out of which monopoly is slowly to be eradicated."

He added that "undoubtedly the means by which credit has been set free is at the heart of all these things; is the keypiece of the whole structure."

Referring to the "opportuneness" of the new currency law the president said: "The war which has involved the whole of the heart of Europe has made it necessary that the United States shoul mobilize its resources in the most effective way possible."

He spoke of the difficulty of marketing the cotton crop of the country, and added that no doubt, in the light of the new day, with its new understandings, the problems of the railroads also will be met and dealt with in a spirit of candor and justice.

BERLIN CLAIMS GERMAN ADVANCE

Official War Bulletin From Berlin Says Operations on the Eastern Front are Progressing Favorably—Details of Capture of Warsaw

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—An official war bulletin given out in Berlin today sets forth that the operations on the eastern front are progressing favorably. The Germans apparently are using their victory at Wlockalawek to the greatest advantage. The Russian armies defeated near Lipno are today probably in the vicinity of Pleck, and the forces defeated near Wlockalawek are now near Kutno and Leschytizo.

For the continuation of operations, the bulletin goes on to say, it will be of the greatest importance for the German troops from the region of Soldau to make further progress against the right wing of the main Russian army. If the Russians intend to retire behind the Vistula such a retreat, considering the bad condition of the roads, would be most difficult, consequently the Russians probably will prefer to make a definite stand when the German and Austrian forces attack.

The papers of Berlin declare again today that the fall of Belgrade, Servia, is imminent.

GERMAN CASUALTY LISTS, JUST ISSUED, RECORD DEATH OF TWO GENERALS

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—German casualty lists just issued record the deaths of two generals and the wounding of another. Gen. Alfred Von Yrleyen was killed on Nov. 12 and Gen. Von Lopel was in command of the reserve infantry division. General Stenger, commander of the 53rd German infantry brigade, is listed as having been severely wounded.

The Tageblatt's Poland correspondent relates the details of the capture of Governor Von Korf of Warsaw on Monday morning. It appears from this account that the governor with his adjutant approached Kutno in an automobile, not knowing that the city had already been taken by the Germans after bloody street fighting. Suddenly the governor found himself before the vanguard of German cavalry. He tried to escape but was overtaken by the Metz dragoons and surrendered without resistance. He was brought to Gnesen, province of Posen, Monday night, and confined in the best hotel there.

The American Red Cross division at Gleiwitz in Prussian Silesia near the Russian border expects shortly to be moved to a more northerly spot.

The capital of the Krupp company is to be increased from 70,000,000 to 250,000,000 marks, according to the proposals of the directors which were submitted to a general meeting of the company at Essen on Nov. 12. The increase is justified, it was said, by the demands of war and by earlier enlargements of the works, purchases of coal fields, etc., which locked up considerable capital.

M'ADOO GETS COTTON FUND OF $135,000,000

Secretary of the Treasury Raps New England Banks—Refers to "Selfish Interests"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—In announcing the success of the cotton loan fund of $135,000,000 and the completion of subscriptions for the entire $100,000,000 of Class A certificates, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo's statement, issued last night, contains an intimation that New England and Boston did not respond with the celerity or enthusiasm which characterized some of the other cities in non-cotton states.

"The success of this plan has at no time been in doubt," said Secretary McAdoo in his statement, "but its completion has been delayed by the selfish opposition of certain textile manufacturers and local interests who have tried to defeat it."

The secretary further emphasizes the lack of interest in the plan shown by Boston financiers by calling attention to the "only" banks, five in number, in Boston which subscribed to the fund.

Secretary McAdoo was not available last night, and it could not be ascertained, therefore, whether he wished to add anything to the general statement issued by him. From sources close to the federal reserve board, however, it was intimated that the secretary had in mind certain New England gentlemen when he referred to the "selfish opposition" of certain textile interests which attempted the defeat of the project.

Moreover it was stated that Boston financial institutions failed to meet the allotment made by the treasury department as to what was considered at Washington a fair share of their subscriptions to the fund, and the last $3,000,000 which they were expected to take were subscribed yesterday by New York bankers.

Earlier in the day Mr. McAdoo issued a denial that the fund was about to fail and stated that it still lacked only a few million dollars to insure success. Following this, Mr. McAdoo, Paul M. Warburg and W. P. G. Harding, members of the federal reserve board in active charge of the pool plan, took active steps to gather in the remaining millions.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York, of which firm Mr. Warburg was a partner before he came to the board, agreed to subscribe $2,000,000. At a luncheon given by John Skelton Williams, Bernard M. Baruch of New York said that he might invest in the fund up to $1,500,000. His offer was taken to the extent of $1,000,000 and the fund completed.

A few hours after Mr. Baruch's offer word was received from several banks that they were willing to subscribe to an amount of about $2,500,000, but their assistance was not needed. As it stands, the fund is oversubscribed about $300,000.

The list of cities and the amounts subscribed to the fund as given out by Secretary McAdoo follows:

New York city	$ 50,000,000
Baltimore	2,500,000
Boston	2,035,000
Chicago	13,000,000
Detroit	1,082,000
Cincinnati	2,000,000
Cleveland	2,000,000

Louisville	1,000,000
Minneapolis	1,000,000
Philadelphia	4,640,000
Pittsburgh	2,000,000
Richmond	1,125,000
St. Louis	11,500,000
San Francisco	260,000
Washington	1,000,000
Total	$ 97,202,000
Kuhn, Loeb & Co.	2,000,000
B. M. Baruch, New York	1,000,000
Total	$100,202,000

Fred Muldoon, formerly employed at the Lowell Bleachery, is now connected with the Merrimack Manufacturing company.

The Carpenters' union, local 1610 will hold its regular weekly meeting tonight in the union headquarters in the Runels building.

Miss Ethel Duggan of the Middlesex mills will entertain a gathering of girl friends from Cambridge at her home on Sunday afternoon and evening.

James Huston of the A. G. Pollard Co. thinks well of the territory in the vicinity of Westford street, also of the inhabitants.

Christopher Conaton of the Bay State mills is awaiting with expectation the coming character party and dance to be held in Collinsville next week.

Mr. Otto Anderson, overseer of duck weaving at the Boott mills has severed his connection with that concern. It is said that he will accept employment in the south.

William C. Hall, overseer of finishing at the Merrimack Woolen company, has resigned his position, and will be succeeded by Arthur Torrey of Clinton, Mass.

James Mullin of the Hartford-Bigelow Carpet company, will endeavor to promote a basketball team composed of employes of the plant this coming winter. Jim is an old timer, but still has plenty of speed left in him.

William Soucier of the gents' furnishing department at the J. L. Coulfoux store, will captain the bowling team representing that department in the bowling tournament to be held on Friday evening.

Mr. William Battye has accepted the position of assistant superintendent and designer at the Merrimack Woolen company. He was formerly employed as a designer at the Linn Woolen company, Hartland, Me.

Martin Roach of the Saco-Lowell shops, well known around these parts as a fisherman, will keep up his practice of fishing throughout the winter months Marty says, that Crystal lake in the winter is better fishing grounds than in the summer time.

Hugh Finnerty of the trunk department at the A. G. Pollard store, delighted his many friends at the party held Friday afternoon with his rendition of "Jerry," one of the latest song hits. For an encore, he responded with "Good-night, Love," in pleasing voice.

Edward Harris, Henry Stewart, William Frazer, Patrick McCarrell, James King, Patrick Mahoney, Walter Ryan, Royal Thurber, Philip Maguire, George Bowden and others, employes at the Saco-Lowell shop, are said to have plans already formulated for starting a federal bowling league at the plant.

In Canada, with a large percentage of her wool hosiery mills working to supply the wants of the armies now in the field in Europe, the question of supplying her local trade is going to be more acute. It is highly conceivable that America may have Canada as another customer on wool hosiery.

The old timers will have a chance to display their wares at the Drucut Grange hall Friday evening when the "Gliders," a club of young men prominent in the social life of this city, will hold forth in their second annual dancing party. Straight glide dancing will be featured, and exponents of the hesitation, maxixe and one-step, which have had their run, will have an opportunity of attending this long-looked-for treat. Ask anybody on the street corner where they are going Friday evening and you'll get the answer, Drucut Grange.

Mr. M. Armitage, in charge of the No. 1 weaving department at the Clinton plant of the Hartford-Bigelow Carpet company, has resigned his position with that company. He is succeeded by Mr. James H. Strang who was second hand at the mill. Mr. A. E. Wilman, assistant superintendent of weaving at the plant has also resigned his position. Mr. John E. Davidson, superintendent of the Thompsonville plant of the company has been transferred to the Clinton plant as superintendent of the same department.

Legality of Cotton Loan

The question of whether the $135,000,000 cotton loan fund to be managed by the federal reserve board is a violation of the Sherman and other anti-trust laws is still an open one, despite the fact that United States Attorney General Gregory is on record with an opinion that the fund is legal and constitutional. He is controverted by such eminent authorities as John C. Johnson, the Philadelphia corporation lawyer, and that illustrious man of law, Albert E. Pillsbury, formerly attorney-general of Massachusetts.

Saco-Lowell Shops to Get Order

Plans and specifications for the new spinning mill of the Nanukeag Steam Cotton Co., Salem, Mass., have been completed by Lockwood, Greene & Co., of Boston. The spinning mill will be 722 by 132 feet and four stories high, reinforced concrete construction being used. A cotton storehouse of similar construction, with a capacity of 25,000 bales of cotton is a part of the contract. The equipment of the plant will consist of 100,000 spindles, 3600 looms and other machinery. It is understood that the electric drive will be used throughout the mill. The Saco-Lowell shops will furnish the spinning frames and the Draper Co., has been awarded the contract for looms and warpers.

Carpenters Union Held Meeting

The Carpenters union held a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting last evening in the union rooms in the Runels building and quite a grist of business was transacted. President Benjamin Golden occupied the chair and called to order promptly at 8 o'clock. Four new members were admitted. Several applications were also received and laid on the table for one week. Several members spoke on the good of the union and their remarks proved of much interest. Business Agent Michael A. Lee submitted a progressive report which showed the attitude of the contractors to be very fair towards union labor, and the majority of those steadily employed. This time of the year is unusually slack in the building trades, and the number of union carpenters at work shows the value of holding membership in a strong organization. The secretary's report showed that the union is progressing and that the treasury is in an

Easy Way to Keep Baby's Skin Healthy

How to Heal Skin Eruptions and Prevent Their Return.

Very few babies grow to childhood without having some sort of skin trouble. It may be only chafing, scalding or tooth rash. On the other hand, it may be the worst kind of itching eczema or ringworm.

When I find a little one suffering like that, I always advise the mother to do this: Bathe the sick skin with warm water and Resinol Soap, pat dry with a soft towel, and put on very gently a thin coating of Resinol Ointment. She can dust a little good talcum power over the ointment if she likes. This almost never fails to give INSTANT relief and a few such treatments generally heal the trouble.

Bathing daily with Resinol Soap is the best way I know to keep baby's skin free from such irritations and eruptions. It is very pure, soothing and healing. All druggists sell Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. For free samples, write to Dept. 36-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

OLD AND NEW WAY

The Hyomei Remedy for Catarrh, Colds and Croup a Most Valuable Discovery

The discovery of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) has made a wonderful change in the treatment of catarrh, head colds, and similar ailments affecting the nose and throat—you simply breathe a medicated air.

Until a few years ago the remedies generally used for these diseases were nauseating drugs, which, when poured into the stomach, usually upset the digestion.

Hyomei is a combination of antiseptic oils that mix with the air you breathe so that the health-giving medication must go directly to the sore, raw, inflamed lining of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes. It almost immediately stops the disagreeable nasal discharges, quickly relieves difficult breathing—heals and strengthens the delicate tissues.

You breathe Hyomei using a small inhaler that comes with each complete outfit. It is not expensive, and can be had from any drug store.

The strongest evidence of its curative value for catarrh, head colds, asthma, etc., is that Booth's Hyomei Co. of Buffalo authorize every druggist to sells every package under a guarantee to return your money if you are not satisfied. Do not delay treatment another day for Hyomei is not only harmless, but pleasant to use, and nothing to pay if not cured.

WILSON TO ATTEND MASS

PRESIDENT WILL ATTEND PAN-AMERICAN SERVICE ON THANKSGIVING DAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—It was announced yesterday by Mgr. Russell, pastor of St. Patrick's church, that President Wilson has agreed to attend the annual Pan-American mass there Thanksgiving morning. The president, however, has declined to be present at the luncheon arranged to follow the church services.

This mass is an annual affair, at which the diplomatic representatives of the South and Central American countries are guests of honor. Since the time of President Roosevelt all presidents while in Washington have attended.

Last year, when it was announced that the president had agreed to attend the mass and luncheon, widespread protests were received from Protestant churches throughout the country. A score of resolutions adopted by ministerial organizations protesting against the president attending, and thus making the church services at least semi-official, were sent directly to the president.

KIRK STREET CHURCH

The Women's association of Kirk St. church held a well attended monthly meeting yesterday. Miss Jean McTaggart had charge, and a pretty little play on a missionary theme was presented. It was entitled "Peach Blossom's Fortune," and was written by Bessie G. Ewing. It is in three scenes, each laid in China, and the Chinese costumes of the little people were very dainty. The characters were as follows:

Excellent Virtue ..... Helen Carley
Precious Gem .... Eleanor MacBrayne
Early Spring,
Ethelyn Leinhas (in first act; Ruth Leinhas in second act)
Miss Mason ..... Charlotte Green
Mrs. Wang ..... Harriet Black
Little Silver ..... Gladys Foster
Literary Brightness ..... Ruth Cooke
Seven Pupils,
Marie Pratt, Eloise Leinhas, Ethelyn Leinhas, Albertine Curtis, Alice Whiteside, Winifred Worship, Betty Lincoln.

Tea was served at the close of the meeting, and the hostesses were Mrs. Julia Fox and Mrs. W. H. Spalding.

LICENSE BOARD MET

At last evening's meeting of the license board, the following minor licenses were granted.

Sunday permits—Annie Hart, 353 Lakeview avenue; Irving Barlow, 15 Chelmsford street. Public amusement for dancing—Middlesex Women's club, by Annie B. Robertson, treasurer, Colonial and Middlesex halls, Pollard building, Palmer street; Frederick N. Wier, Merrimack hall, 212 Merrimack street. Express—Taylor & Scott, by Frederick H. Taylor, 140 Humphrey street.

The common victualler license of William Shires, 746 Gorham street, was cancelled.

BILL FOR SHORT BALLOT

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Treasurer-elect Charles L. Burrill filed a bill yesterday providing for the short ballot on the state ticket or the appointment in 1918 of secretary of state, attorney-general, treasurer and auditor by the governor. By the terms of this bill the people would elect only the governor and lieutenant-governor.

Mayor Curley filed the first bill of the session, providing that the two-weeks vacation allowed to laborers and accepted under the act of 1914 be extended to skilled laborers, mechanics and craftsmen.

THE DEER SEASON

75 Killed in the State During First 24 Hours of Open Season

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—The fish and game commission, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, had received reports of 75 deer killed in the state during the first 24 hours of the open season.

The returns by counties were: Barnstable, 1; Berkshire, 5; Bristol, 4; Essex, 3; Hampden, 10; Hampshire, 11; Middlesex, 3; Plymouth, 5; Worcester, 20; Franklin, 13.

A large number of hunters were successful yesterday, particularly in the western part of the state.

Only one accident was reported during the second day of the open season, Clayton Peters receiving two charges of shot in his back while at work in Wareham. It is believed he was mistaken for a deer. He was seriously wounded.

The hunting fever took possession of 60 boys who attend the Athol high school, and they presented a petition to Principal W. J. MacDougald for a day off so that they could go after deer. The request was turned down.

Probably the largest animal killed yesterday was a buck shot near Wendell by Gregory J. Burns. It weighed 350 pounds.

Miss Mary Manning of Fitchburg killed a small doe near South Royalston.

A 100-pound doe that was partly white was shot in Royalston by Walter Martin of Orange.

NOT GUILTY OF PROFANITY

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Following a trial hours long before Judge Wentworth in the central municipal court yesterday, Herbert O'Brien, an Elevated brakeman, was discharged from a complaint of using profanity to Officer Richard F. Barry at the Dover street station on Oct. 30.

The court room was crowded. Aside from the principals there were four witnesses for the government and 10 for the defendant. The case interested many because of the bitter allegations on both sides.

GARDNER BROOKS IN TITLE BOUT

Lowell Bantam Will Meet Young Labore at Manchester

Contest to Settle Claim of New England Bantam Weight Champ

Both are Aggressive Boxers and Exciting Bout is Expected

YOUNG LABORE

Gardner Brooks of this city, the bantam weight champion of New England, will defend his title tonight at Manchester, N. H., when he meets Young Labore, who is an aspirant for the title. Labore has met and defeated most of the 115 pounders of New England. His most notable bouts were with Kid Thomas of Lawrence, whom he has fought seven times. Labore copped two decisions, while Thomas had to be content with one as the remainder resulted in draws. He also defeated Joe Morgan, the Manchester featherweight, Frankie Dubois, Tommy Flanagan, Kid Larrabee, Young Walsh, the ex-115-lb. champion of Lowell, and Tony Lorenzo, whom he stopped in two rounds a few weeks ago. This string of victories stamps him as one of the best battlers of his weight in the country.

Young Labore is a slashing, tear-in sort of a boxer, and wins most of his decisions by aggressive work. He is tireless while working in the ring and keeps his opponent on the go throughout. In meeting Brooks, however, he stacks up against one of the cleverest youngsters ever developed in this part of the country, who has had only one decision given against him. Brooks' best battles have also been with Kid Thomas, with whom he fought twice, winning the decision in the first bout and stopping him in nine rounds in the second contest.

The local phantom has also bested Barney Synder, the ex-105-pound National champion, on two different occasions. He also defeated Young Sandow and Jabez White, the Albany, N. Y., bantam, who was considered a championship possibility before he ran up against Brooks. White had defeated Young Solzberg, Frankie Burns of Jersey City, and had knocked out Philly McGovern and was looked upon in that section as unbeatable, but after "our boy" got through with him he appeared to be an ordinary preliminary boy as he did not land a solid punch on Gardner during the whole 10 rounds and the critics in Albany said that within a few years Brooks would be champion of the world.

Sheppard to Meet McFarland

Charlie Sheppard of this city is in the pink of condition for his bout at Lawrence tomorrow night with Tommy McFarland of Boston and the local boy is confident of being returned the winner. He has been training daily, under the direction of Frank Murphy and the latter avers that the former New Yorker is boxing better now than ever before. Murphy asserts that after this bout Sheppard will be ready to meet any boxer in this vicinity as his weight. He added, however, that he would put Sheppard against Phinney Boyle of this city at catch weights.

Lowell fans are particularly anxious to see Sheppard and Boyle at it and as the former appears willing to sign articles, it now appears to be up to Phinney and some club to come across with the final arrangements.

MANUFACTURERS LEAGUE

TREMONT AND SUFFOLK QUINTET HOLDS FIRST PLACE—LEAGUE NOTES

The fourth week of the Manufacturers league proved the fastest yet. The Tremont & Suffolk aggregation continues to mow down its opponents in first class style and if a stop is not put to the men before long they will be beyond reach. The Bunting team is in the runner up position and with Lane hitting them in old time form will be a source of trouble to the leaders from now on. The Massachusetts aggregation rolled two games last week and secured four of the six points, climbing into third place. Williams' total of 327 was the highest three-string total of the week and he won the cigars donated by R. G. Sullivan. Lane was second with 325 and McNeil third with 323. High scores were numerous, the Merrimack quintet putting up 511 for a team single while the Buntings totaled 1410 in their game with the Hamilton. The Massachusetts aggregation rolled 1404 against the B. & M. team, while the T. & S. boys showed 1402 in their game with the Plush company. F. O'Brien displaced McDermott in the high average with Buckley second and Chandler third.

A special prize of $1 worth of cigars will be given to the bowler getting the highest three-string total this week.

Games this week:

Wednesday: Merrimacks vs. J. P. S. postponed.

Thursday: U. S. Cartridge vs. U. S. Buntings.

Friday: Fields Lumbert vs. Tremont & Suffolk.

League Notes

Whalen's comeback is a good omen to the T. & S. quintet.

Mitchell, of the Plush mill team has a good "knuckle ball."

Joe Stowell, the port sider of the Hamilton team, is about due.

Chandler, of the car shops, got up speed last week and came tearing through with a single of 129.

Ganley, of the Massachusetts team, scattered a 126 for a single while his team mate, Williams, piled up 327. Mulligan's high was 228.

Gleason, of the Cartridge company was on the bench last week. O. U. Bill Buckley of the Buntings is a member of the City league.

Campbell, of the Merrimacks, rolled a string of 57, the lowest yet.

Marquis of the Fields Lumbert is a consistent roller.

The All Stars are still waiting for a game with a City league team.

NEW YORK MAN BURIED IN WHEAT IS RESCUED AFTER ONE AND ONE-HALF HOURS WORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Falling sixty feet into the bin of a grain elevator at the foot of West Sixtieth street, yesterday afternoon, William McManus, 22, of 103 West Sixty-second street, a grain inspector's assistant, narrowly escaped death under heaps of grain.

He was rescued after an hour and a half's work by men directed by George Windram, a grain inspector, of 439 Fifteenth street, Brooklyn.

McManus and Windram had climbed to the top of the towering elevator on their tour of inspection and had started to descend the steep ladder inside the bin. McManus had gone down a few rungs, when he screamed and fell from the ladder. Windram saw his assistant strike the soft mass below and hurried down, to find McManus buried.

Digging with his hands he managed to free McManus' head from the grain. Finding the young man unconscious he hurried to the top of the shaft to call assistance.

Several workmen with shovels dug McManus out, strapped him to a blank and hoisted him to the roof with a block and tackle. Then it was found impossible to get the plank with its unconscious form through the opening at the top and part of the roof had to be hacked away.

Dr. Colgan of the Polyclinic hospital had to climb up to the roof to administer to McManus, who was found to be seriously hurt internally. With difficulty he was lowered to the ground and taken to the hospital.

EVERY DAY ETIQUETTE

"Mother dear," sighed Ruth, who was about to give a large birthday party, "should I wait until my guests arrive, tomorrow, to thank them, for the gifts I have received, or should I write at once?"

"You should send each giver a personal note of thanks," her mother replied.

"I am going to give a luncheon to some of my old college chums," remarked Hazel, "and I don't know whether I should arrange an entertainment or not."

"It should be hardly necessary, as the guests will probably arrive shortly before the luncheon time, and will remain only half hour, or hour at the most after it," replied her aunt.

"Horace is going to bring his sister to call on me," Genevieve said, "and I wonder if I should shake hands with her, or merely nod."

"Of course you should shake hands. A woman in her own house always extends her hand when anyone is presented to her, thereby conveying a sign of cordial welcome to the acquaintance," replied her older sister.

"What ever shall I do? I have just received a card announcing the birth of a little girl to an old school friend. Should I write to her," asked Mrs. Brown, not versed in social ways.

"If she lives near here, you could call and inquire after the health of mother and child, and leave your card. If the mother lives at a distance, you should post your card to her and above your name write: "Hearty Congratulations," replied Mrs. Williams, a surburban clubwoman.

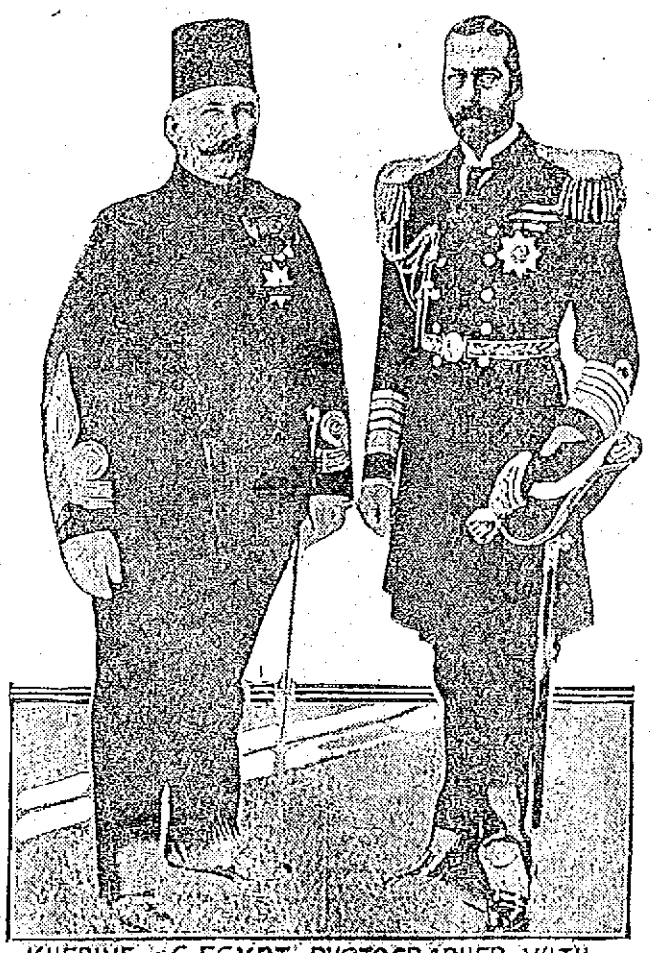

"I do not know much about city ways, so will you please tell me what to do with my wraps when I visit the restaurants," asked perplexed Aunt Sarah, who was contemplating a trip to the city.

"You may leave them in the check room, or if it is a very small wrap you may prefer to keep it around your shoulders while at the table," replied her sister Angela, who had been a more frequent visitor to the city than Sarah.

"When stopping in a large hotel, should I wear my hat down to dinner or not?" asked the prospective bride.

"You may enter the dining room in your hat and gown, or in an evening gown without your hat, or you can wear a pretty suit and hat with a lace blouse, if you intend to go out after the meals," replied her mother.

Abbas Hilmi, khedive of Egypt, who is reported as leading the Turkish troops against his own country, is forty years old and came under Teutonic influence early in life. When his father, Tewfik Pasha, died in 1892 and he succeeded as seventh viceroy and third khedive of Egypt, he had been for five years a student at the Theresianum academy in Vienna. He had always been inclined to give trouble to the British, though a show of firmness on their part almost invariably resulted in an apologetic backdown by him. From the British point of view, Lord Cromar knew how to handle him perfectly, but when Cromer was succeeded by the late Sir Eldon Gorst as British agent in Egypt, trouble began, and it is said that the attitude of the khedive as well as the increasing gravity of the Egyptian Nationalist propaganda resulted in the appointment of Earl Kitchener to the post that Cromer and Gorst had filled. Lord Kitchener, according to all accounts, was very little inclined to brook any interference on the part of the khedive, under his rule—which was what it amounted to—proved quite as amenable as under that of Lord Cromer. Telegrams from Constantinople a month ago asserted that Great Britain had forbidden the khedive, who was then in the Turkish capital, to return to Egypt. No explanation of this order was forthcoming, but it was suspected that he had been found to be intriguing against the British.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

BY VIRGINIA VALE

FOR THE LITTLE READERS OF THE SUN

MRS. HEN'S INCUBATOR CHICKS

Once upon a time Mrs. Hen laid an egg, then another and another, until she had a nest full of big white eggs. She hopped up into the nest and sat on the eggs to keep them warm for she had decided that she wanted some little fluffy chickens all of her own.

The next morning she got down and went to her breakfast and when she got back to the nest she was just in time to see a man carrying off her precious eggs. She walked along behind him and saw him put the eggs in something that looked like a wooden box with glass in front.

They lay in rows in plain sight and Mrs. Hen sat down to watch them. There she sat all of that day, and for many days after that watching to see that her eggs were not taken away from her again. She did not dare to stay very long when she went to get her breakfast and so grew very thin and one day she heard a man say: "What is the matter with this old hen? She hangs around this incubator all the time."

Mrs. Hen had never heard of an incubator but she knew that they were talking about the wooden box that held her eggs, and she watched closer than ever. One morning as she sat watching she heard a little noise that sounded very much like a faint "peep, peep," and she looked up at the window and, sure enough, there was a little chicken looking at her and saying: "peep, peep."

As she looked another and another hopped out of its shell and soon twelve chickens were looking out at her from the window. She flew at the glass and tried to get to them and perhaps she would have if just then a man had not come and stopped her.

Mrs. Hen heard the man say: "I declare, I believe the old hen knew her own chickens, I think I will give them to her and let her care for them." So Mrs. Hen got her chicks and she took so much care of them that they grew to be the largest chickens on the farm, and she was very proud of her incubator children.

TO DEPORT STRIKE LEADERS

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 18.—Word has been received at the headquarters of the United Mine Workers in this city that if the federal troops are withdrawn before George Carlson becomes governor January 1, and before a settlement is made in the coal strike, that every strike leader who has been active in the coal miners struggle will be deported. This information comes from apparently reliable sources and bears out the original program of the C. F. & I. announced soon after the primaries.

Turkish Forts Open Fire on U. S. Cruiser Tennessee at Smyrna

U. S. WARSHIP ORDERED FROM TURKISH WATERS

Turkish Officials Request for Departure of Tennessee Quickly Granted—Cruiser Now at Chios

CHIOS, Aegean Sea, Nov. 18.—The American armored cruiser Tennessee arrived in this port today. It is stated that yesterday while the captain of the Tennessee was in the ship's launch which was flying the American flag on his way to pay the customary visits on the Turkish officials at Smyrna three solid shots were fired on the boat by the forts.

The American ambassador, Henry Morgenthau without investigating the incident, it is said, immediately ordered the Tennessee from Turkish waters at the request of the Turkish officials.

Chios, at which port the cruiser Tennessee has arrived is the capital of the island of the same name located about four miles off the coast of Asia Minor and near the gulf of Smyrna. The island formerly belonged to Turkey but as a result of the Balkan war was turned over to Greece. A great portion of the population of 60,000 are Greeks.

Despatches from Athens yesterday reported that the Tennessee had arrived at the port of Vurla within the gulf of Smyrna and that her appearance had put a stop to the ill treatment of British, Russian and French residents. The authorities of Smyrna, the despatch added, fearing a bombardment, had left for the interior.

Captain Denton Clark Decker, is in command of the Tennessee which left New York on Aug. 5 with nearly $6000 in gold on board for the relief of American tourists stranded in Europe. The warship first went to England and then to France and finally entered the Mediterranean, where she visited several ports in pursuance of her relief work.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

Federal and State Governments Have Spent $750,000 in the Campaign Against Epidemic

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The federal and state governments have spent approximately $750,000 in the campaign against the foot and mouth epidemic. Of this, about $400,000 has been borne by the federal government, almost exhausting the appropriated funds of the department of agriculture. An emergency appropriation of probably $2,500,000 will be asked of congress, when it meets, to complete the work of stamping out the disease.

Experts of the department estimate that about $700,000 has been spent for slaughtering condemned cattle, one-half of which is borne by the federal and the other half by the state governments. The last outbreak of the disease, that of 1908, cost the federal government $300,000. The infected states then were Pennsylvania, New York, Michigan and Maryland.

On reports from field inspectors that outbreaks of the disease occurred in the state of Washington and in the District of Columbia, department officials prepared today to place the affected areas under quarantine.

Later reports from Washington said that the outbreak there was confined to one case in one yard and officials said it might not be necessary to quarantine the state.

GERMANY STRIKES BACK AT RUSSIA AS BEAR PUSHES ONWARD IN EASTERN THEATRE OF WAR

GERMAN SOLDIERS IN EAST PRUSSIA. PHOTO © 1914 AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

MAP SHOWING HOW GERMANY IS STRIKING BACK AT RUSSIA

How Germany is once more striking back at Russia is shown in the above map. A wedge has been driven between the northern and southern armies of the czar, and Warsaw once more appears as an objective of the kaiser's forces. It is again the German strategic railways that are figuring in a rapid movement. Dispatches have indicated that a large portion of the forces that retreated from Warsaw and Ivangorod and other forces that abandoned the East Prussian frontier, were concentrated on the Posen frontier by means of these lines. They have now moved rapidly forward, and Berlin dispatches tell of Russian defeats at Lipno, Wloziawsk and Kutno. An advance of thirty miles from the latter place would cut one of the chief lines of railroad supplying the Russian forces which have crossed the Warthe river in the direction of Kalisz. Meantime the Russian wings are pushing in, while the center is fighting to stop the German wedge. In East Prussia the head of the Mazur lakes has been reached at Angerburg, and attacks are being pressed from the south past Johannisburg and Soldau. To the west of the Warthe the czar's armies are seeking to penetrate the German intrenched line from Kalisz to Czenstochowa, and farther south they are at the outer defenses of Cracow, having forced a large part of the Austrian army to retreat across the Carpathians.

GORHAM ST. P. M. CHURCH

OPENED FIVE DAY BAZAAR—LIST OF TABLES AND ATTENDANTS IN CHARGE—FINE PROGRAM

The opening of the five-day fair and bazaar at the Gorham Street Primitive Methodist church took place last night and the attendance was very large. The fair is being conducted to raise money for meeting the cost of the painting and improvements made on the church property during the past few months, and the balance, for it is expected more money will be realized than is needed, will go toward the extinguishing of the church debt.

The fair is being conducted in the vestry of the church which has been elaborately decorated for the occasion and the various booths and tables did a thriving business throughout the evening. In the social hall of the church tables had been laid and a very appetizing supper was served. A delightful entertainment program was carried out under the direction of Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, D. D., the numbers being as follows:

Quartet, "Song of the Vikings;" "Mary of Argyle," Fred Booth; selections, "A Spring Song" and "Sing a Song of Sixpence;" solo, "Bottom of the Deep Sea;" duet, "Love in May;" quartet, "Bridal Chorus."

The bazaar was under the auspices of the following very efficient executive committee:

Chairman, Rev. N. W. Matthews; secretary, Richard Campbell; treasurer, Samuel C. Rowe; Mrs. N. W. Matthews, Mrs. Joseph Sutcliffe, Mrs. William Ingham, Mrs. Annie Rhodes, Miss Elizabeth Ogley, Mr. Seth Fawthrop, Mr. Samuel Willis, Mr. Herbert Potter, Mr. Sam Asquith, Mr. Jesse Tucke, Mr. David Ingham, Mr. J. Feindel, Mr. Thomas Gardiner.

Those having charge of the various tables and booths were as follows:

Refreshments, ice cream, domestic and fancy goods in charge of the Ladies' Aid, Dorcas and Semper Fidelis classes, Mrs. Jacob Norris, president; Mrs. John Craib, vice president; Mrs. George Chapman, secretary; Mrs. Walter Killerby, assistant secretary; Mrs. N. W. Matthews, secretary treasurer; Mesdames Cochrane, Bramhall, Baron, Medley, Heading, W. Thompson, J. Wood, Fred Leith, Midgley, Greenwood, Scable, W. Ingham S. Potter, Laycock, Higginbottom, E. Brooks, Sutcliffe, Gardiner, Crumbie, Feindel, Sykes, Dixon, Hartley, J. Mountford, Clogston, Haworth, Bradbury, Clegg, A. Leith, Stopherd, Manning, Carlson, Tucker, A. Fielding J. Fielding, Bury, Prescott, Mosdley, F. Ketcham, W. Ketcham, Needham and E. Fielding, and Misses Aveyard, L. Wood, Smith, L. Potter, A. Potter, N Chapman, L. Laycock, Lily Laycock, Dobbs, Rhodes, B. Fielding, Peaker, N. Rowe, L. Davidson.

Handkerchief, ribbon and flower stand: Mrs. Rhodes, Miss Stancombe, and Miss Blades, teachers, assisted by their scholars.

Doll and souvenir table, under the direction of the infant class teachers, Mrs. McGrady and Miss Ella Heading and the classes taught by Mrs. James McQuaide and Miss Lillian Haworth. These are assisted by their $0 scholars.

Candy stall: superintended by Miss Isabel Caddell, Miss Elizabeth Ogley and Thomas Noble, with the young ladies connected with their classes.

Mystery department: Mrs. Ethel Kirke, Sam Asquith and Herbert Ashron's classes and 30 hustling boys identified with them in Sunday school life.

The male department covering groceries, tonics, amusement, coat room, tickets, advertising, entertainments, decorations, etc., is in charge of men interested in pushing this department to success.

The decorations, illumination and entertainment are in charge of Messrs. J. Wilmot, J. Fielding, Fred Leith, A. Tiffany, N. W Matthews, Jr., Bert Neild, Herbert Potter.

CALLS VILLA GREATER ENEMY THAN HUERTA

Gen. Alvarado Says Villa Has Forced Unnecessary Civil War on Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 18.—General Alvaro Obregon, who yesterday assumed supreme command of the capital and of the federal district, last night received a telegram from General Pablo Gonzales in which the latter declared that General Villa by advancing his troops southward had repeatedly broken the truce agreement entered into on Nov. 12, between General Gonzales and Provisional President Gutierrez. General Gonzales concluded his message: "For my part, I believe I have complied with my duties as a soldier and a citizen. I have tried to avoid the shedding of blood which the enemy appears thirsty for, and the war which we are obliged to prosecute with all vigor forthwith is justified by the unworthy conduct of our opponents.

A large body of troops belonging to General Obregon's division arrived here last night from Irapuata, 29 miles southwest of Guanajuato.

General Alvarado, post commander, has issued a statement in which he declares that General Villa is a greater enemy to the cause of Mexican democracy than was General Huerta and has forced an unnecessary civil war on Mexico.

It is reported here that General Carranza will move his capital to Vera Cruz immediately upon the evacuation of that city by the Americans.

CARRANZA DENIES REPORT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—General Carranza has repudiated the telegram sent for him by General Pablo Gonzales to General Gutierrez in which the first chief was represented as saying he would retire. This was announced in an official despatch from American Consul Silliman.

A. F. OF L. CONVENTION

Efforts to Adjust Differences Between Carpenters and Sheet Metal Workers Fail

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—The effort to adjust the jurisdictional differences between the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers' International Alliance has failed so far as the present session of the American Federation of Labor is concerned.

The special committee to which the dispute was referred reported today that after hearing all parties interested the committee was unable to adjust the differences and recommended that the president of the Carpenters' union, president of the Sheet and Metal Workers, president of the Federation and president of the building trades department of the Federation be named as a committee to investigate the work over which the two unions are deadlocked and to continue conferences with the disputants with a view to bringing about a final agreement.

The work over which the two unions are at odds is the erection of metal trimmings for buildings; each claiming it has exclusive right to do such work. The dispute resulted last February in the carpenters withdrawing from the building trades department of the federation but not from the federation itself.

The convention endorsed the following as the attitude of organized labor on child labor:

"We declare that any who profit by the toil of children at all or by the labor of other minors required to toil more than eight hours a day are unfair and unworthy of the patronage of true patriots and those who desire human welfare."

WAR BULLETINS

LONDON, Nov. 18.—An Amsterdam despatch says:

"According to the Telegraaf's Sluis, Netherlands, correspondent, the Germans occupying Dixmude have suffered heavy losses. In fresh fighting which has taken place there they lost 2700 men. The town of Nieuport is badly damaged. Heavy cannonading was heard Tuesday in the direction of Ypres, indicating a renewal of the heavy fighting there. Fugitives say that additional submarines are being constructed at Zeebrugge."

MADRID, Nov. 18.—The newspaper Pueblo Vasco of Bilbao states that another German 42 centimetre mortar has burst, killing a number of the gunners. The Germans, according to the newspaper are carefully concealing the new catastrophe.

BORDEAUX, Nov. 18—An official decree promulgated today extends to the French colonies in Africa the prohibition on the sale and consumption of absinthe and kindred drinks at present being enforced in France.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Paris correspondent of the Times states that the whole legislative and administrative staffs of the French chamber of deputies will return to Paris tomorrow as a prelude to the return of the French government.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Austrian sorties from Cracow yesterday captured Russian fortifications to the north of the Austrian border, according to despatches today from Vienna to the Austro-Hungarian embassy. They also mentioned a Servian defeat which permitted the crossing of the river Culebra.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Paris correspondent of the Times states that the whole legislative and administrative staffs of the French chamber of deputies will return to Paris tomorrow as a prelude to the return of the French government.

BERLIN, Nov. 18 (by wireless via London).—During last week's fighting the Belgian losses alone were 16,000, including 4000 prisoners. The Belgians at present in the field number only 25,000.

MADRID, via Paris, Nov. 18.—The newspaper Pueblo Vasco of Bilbao, states that another German 42 centimeter mortar has burst, killing a number of the gunners.

The Germans, according to the newspaper, are carefully concealing the new catastrophe.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Nov. 18.—The Vossische Zeitung of Berlin says that a part of the Belgian war levy has been distributed among the German soldiers, each receiving about $1. Every soldier, the newspaper adds, is to be supplied with one cigar and two cigarets daily as part of his rations.

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—An official statement issued today by the German general headquarters says: "Fighting in West Flanders continues and the situation on the whole remains unchanged. In the forest or Argonnes our attacks continue successfully. French sorties to the south of Verdun were repulsed."

Captain Decker of Cruiser Tennessee Notifies Navy Department at Washington of Attack on His Vessel by Turks at Smyrna

Third Edition

PARIS SAYS THE ALLIES CONTINUE TO ADVANCE

Fierce Battle With Bayonets Near French Border—Germans Claim Success Over Russians

The American flag has been fired upon by Turkey. A report to the navy department at Washington from Captain Decker of the cruiser Tennessee gave official confirmation to earlier despatches from Athens and the Greek island of Chios in the Aegean sea to the effect that Turkish gunners at Smyrna had opened fire when the Tennessee was approaching that port.

On the battlefields of Europe there were few changes of strategic importance. The great campaign in the west apparently has settled down to a series of detached battles, reinted only indirectly to the main issue. At some points along the 300 mile line there is furious hand to hand fighting and elsewhere comparative inactivity prevails.

Today's French official statement was optimistic in tone, stating that German attacks, wherever made, had been repulsed and that the allies had gained ground at a few points. Along the Belgian coast the fighting has been left chiefly to the artillery. Near Dixschoote a few miles north of the French border, there was a fierce encounter with bayonets during which the zouaves won possession of a forest which had been contested bitterly for several days.

The fighting in Alsace which has been virtually a separate campaign and concerning which little has been heard has been said by the French to have told heavily upon the German forces. The

LOYALTY AND HOME RULE

O'BRIEN SAYS IRISH OBJECTION TO CONSCRIPTION IS POLITICIANS' EXCUSE

LONDON, Nov. 18.—"We have got either to bid goodby to home rule or help England honestly in this way," said William O'Brien, member of the house of commons from Cork, and leader of the Independent nationalists, in writing a reply to constituents who had protested against the suggestion of conscription.

Irishmen, he said, were being cruelly led astray, and their attitude toward the government was "inexplicable." This he continued, was furnishing to certain English politicians their only excuse for deserting the cause of home rule.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Dr. John R. Lambert
Hereford N. Elliott
John C. Leggat
John F. White
Peter P. McMenimon
James W. McKenna

The municipal primaries have come and gone and today is being devoted to determining just how it happened.

The selection made by the voters of Lowell from the long list of aspirants to the municipal council and to the school committee is highly gratifying to all who desire good government and clean men in the administration of public affairs. In practically every instance, the men chosen are men of proven ability and character, demonstrating that there has been a change for the better in the attitude of the electorate. For once the public has not permitted itself to be led astray by acrobatic vote-baiters and the list of successful candidates shows no freaks or individuals of questionable sanity. It looks as though Lowell demands a businesslike administration and has picked out men of initiative and ability.

Putnam's Vindication

The somewhat surprising vote for Mr. Putnam was the direct result of popular resentment at the high handed method by which he was removed from the office of superintendent of streets after a hearing at which there was no evidence to justify such action or to prove him guilty of the very flimsy charges trumped up against him. Mr. Putnam appealed to the people who after all constitute the court of last resort and he has received a magnificent vindication which is also a crushing rebuke to the three men who for purely political or personal reasons voted him out of office. Only one of the men who participated in that political outrage was up for nomination yesterday and the fact that he is relegated to political oblivion proves that the people are at last beginning to show a proper appreciation of their power and their responsibility for the men selected for public office.

It is certainly a matter for general congratulation that no man was selected who dealt in gross personalities or sought to hide his personal unfitness by attacks upon better men. Taken all in all, the selections for the municipal council and for the school committee will be commended by the best friends of good government, even by the honorable men among those defeated. Lowell was more blessed than usual in having a greater percentage of desirable candidates to offset the palpably undesirable ones, and the defeated include some men with good qualifications for public office.

The Results

As the Spellbinder predicted, it was anybody's fight until the finish and

Churchill Announces British Naval Casualties Exclusive of Those at Antwerp and on Good Hope

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Winston Spencer Churchill, the first lord of the admiralty, stated in the house of commons today in reply to a question that the total British naval casualties to date were:

Officers killed, 222; wounded, 37; missing, 5. Sailors killed, 3455; wounded, 423; missing, 1.

The list, the first lord said, did not include the missing officers and men in the royal naval division at Antwerp and on the British cruiser Good Hope sunk by the Germans off the Chilean coast, which totalled 1000 and 575 respectively.

ENDED HIS LIFE

Edward F. Spalding Found Dead in His Apartments

Edward F. Spalding, aged 53 years, of Tyler street, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head this afternoon. Mr. Spalding, who was well known and much respected in this city, suffered a nervous breakdown several months ago. He met with some business reverses and it seemed to prey upon his mind. For a time he seemed to get back to his old time form, but of late he had worried a great deal and to intimates he had expressed the fear that he would become insane. He was a man of sterling character, sincere, sympathetic and honorable in every way.

He had been out during the day and upon entering the house went immediately to his room. He had been there but a few moments when the report of the pistol was heard and he was breathing his last when found. Medical Examiner Meigs was summoned and pronounced death due to suicide. Mr. Spalding is survived by his wife who will have the sympathy of the community in her bereavement.

FINANCIER 80 YEARS OLD

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Major Henry Lee Higginson, veteran of the Civil war, head of one of the most powerful financial houses in the country, founder of the Boston Symphony orchestra, donor of Soldiers Field and the Harvard union to Harvard university, trustee of many educational and charitable organizations and a philanthropist whose good deeds are mostly unknown, was 80 years old today.

And tonight, at the Copley-Plaza hotel, this great citizen of Boston will be paid a tribute of respect and affection such as few men of the city have ever had.

A BLIND CONGRESSMAN

THOMAS D. SCHALL

This country is to have a blind congressman, just as it has a blind senator in Thomas P. Gore. He is Thomas D. Schall, recently elected to represent the tenth district of Minnesota. The nation will likely hear a lot of him, for he is considered an orator of more than ordinary ability, and he is at the same time a lawyer of high reputation in his home state. From nine until twenty-seven he earned his living at all sorts of manual labor. Then for three years he practised law. At thirty his eyesight left him, and for the last seven years he has been in total darkness. Still he has kept up his law practice, and has now been honored with election to congress. Of himself Mr. Schall says: "To the blind man work is his pleasure. True, he doesn't make as good a politician, but he ought to make a better representative of the people in congress." Mr. Schall's wife guides him. She will go to Washington with him and aid him, as does the wife of Senator Gore.

HEIR TO THE THRONE

PRINCE OF WALES AT FRONT; AGED TWENTY, THIN AND STOOPS

PRINCE OF WALES

Edward, Prince of Wales, heir apparent to the British throne, who was twenty years old on June 23 last, is now at the front attached to Field Marshal French's staff. He is of medium height, thin and rather inclined to stoop. When he was ten the first question was raised as to his education. The king was for sending him to some famous public school, but Queen Mary wished to keep him with her as long as possible. So there was a compromise. He stayed at home four years longer and then was sent to the Royal Naval college at Osborne. There he worked in the machine shops and made two cruises on the cadet ship Brown. He entered Oxford at eighteen, and during his second year there he made two tours, one through France, with a stay of two months in Paris and one through the Rhine valley. Travel and exercise caused him to develop rapidly in height. At Oxford last June the prince joined the military training corps, and in the short term it has helped his university win over Cambridge. Since the war began he has paraded with the recruits of various regiments in which he holds honorary commissions, and with the naval battalions, for he is a real naval lieutenant, having served in that capacity on board the Collingwood.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

Montreal, Nov. 15, 1914.

Dear Sun:

I have been in Canada about ten days and leave for home tomorrow, but it occurs to me to send in advance a short letter to The Sun. It is a rather cheerless day here which nevertheless I trust I have passed profitably. A fair portion of it I have devoted to church-going,—this morning attending mass in Notre Dame while this evening I took in the services at St. Mark's. Both these churches are magnificent specimens of church architecture and in both I found the services impressive. This evening all is quiet in my room on St. Catherine street, my friends having gone to see their lady friends. Thus I am likely to write uninterruptedly for several hours. I hope so at any rate. I came to Montreal direct from Lowell and have made it my base as it were, as I made trips to Toronto, Niagara, Quebec and St. Anne de Beaupre—trips that were but too much, I regret to say, of the "flying" variety.

To write of Montreal, so familiar to so many of our Lowell population, much that would prove new is something I hardly expect to do. But it is new to me, and probably is little known to many who perchance may read this. The same can doubtless be said of other places I shall mention.

When nearly four hundred years ago Jacques Cartier sailed up the St. Lawrence river he found an Indian village on the island now occupied in part by the city of Montreal; and could the shade of Jacques revisit the scenes of his earthly adventures and discoveries he would doubtless feel rather surprised and out of place. Here English and American enterprise and French thrift have accomplished wonders, Montreal being worthy in every respect to rank with the great civilized cities of the world. The St. Lawrence being navigable for the greater portion of the year, Montreal is a seaport of much importance. I am told that when the ice king freezes up the river and holds all Canada within his grip the city of Montreal pays homage to his majesty by holding carnivals—icy ones—and that all hands go in for making the winter a time for gayety and pleasure. Already the tinge of winter is in the air, and the big overcoat I wisely brought with me is in constant requisition. I wear it everywhere except when taking my meals and on going to bed. While I have been told that I should visit Canada in the summer or early autumn, to see her at her prettiest, I have found this, my first visit, enjoyable enough. I have seen about all that visitors are expected to see, of Montreal, where visit is brief: Its fine broad boulevards, its public buildings, its bridges, its business blocks, its shipping. Its exceptionally fine trolley system, its police force, its fire department in action, its many elegant private residences, its magnificent churches, its slums, its fair women and brave men.

I've been on Mt. Royal, I've seen several gentlemen who were pointed out to me as city officials, and who weren't any handsomer than Col. Carmichael, Jim Donnelly or Geo. Brown. I've seen the Windsor hotel. I've been into it. I've seen the Victoria hospital. I visited McGill university where Drs. Brunelle, McCann, McGannon and, I think, Halpin, got their medical training. Possibly there may be other Lowell physicians from this school. McGill's is a world-famous medical college and enjoys the distinction of being one of the two American medical schools which are recognized by European medical savants—Johns Hopkins being the other.

Perhaps it was just a temporary condition, but there doesn't seem to be much doing in the theatrical line. Aside from the movies there is little else to attract show goers. I am told that liquor saloons close at 10 o'clock every night, but Saturdays, when they close at seven, a condition, I fear that Lowell might seriously object to.

After going to a movie one night, I accompanied my friends to an up-to-date bowling alley and, choosing my old friends, the ducks, knocked down 360 of them in three consecutive strings—131, 124 and 105. Pretty good work, eh? Pretty nifty for an old-timer who hasn't done much of anything at the game for the last two years, what? I dare say that my bowling friends at home find it hard to believe this story, for my biggest achievement in bowling on Lowell alleys never went past a total of 325, and I never claimed an average of more than 94 for a season's work. In explanation I can only say that things came my way. I guess if I had shut my eyes while delivering the ball I should have got 'em just the same that night. I carefully refrained from bowling but those three strings. After this I shall expect to be asked to put my John Hancock to contracts calling for my appearance with the leading teams of the City league. This was the only instance during my trip when I was conscious of casting lustre upon the American name. I realized the admiring looks of the habitues of the alleys and received the congratulations of my fellow bowlers with equanimity, accepting both in the name of my beloved country. Ches Martel, Barney Coleman, Bert Cole, Joe Lebrun or Jimmy Wynne never tasted anything finer.

I had planned to see Niagara Falls, so I left Montreal Saturday night, Nov. 7, at 11 o'clock. Reached Toronto Sunday morning about 9 o'clock and had to stop over a train in consequence of an accident to our locomotive. Spent three hours in this place and received a lesson in the operation of blue laws which evidently are in force here. What the late Channing Whittaker once attempted to make Lowell as to Sunday observance, Toronto is. It is said you cannot even purchase a postage stamp and while smoking a cigar, which wasn't bought in Toronto, I momentarily expected to be told to quit smoking. But I wasn't. I walked about the city a little, and formed the opinion that it might be a good place to live in if it were less straight-laced in certain things.

Our train coming in, the waiting passengers got aboard and in a few hours we alighted at Niagara. I spent the remainder of the day at the falls, which I contemplated for the first time in my young life. All that I had read or imagined about them did not begin to tell me what my actual vision witnessed. I curb an impulse to write of the impressions which were mine. It is quite enough to say that one feels in the presence of such a manifestation of power and grandeur, impotence to fitly express himself. I have read many glowing accounts of Niagara, but they all fall short.

I put on oil skins and did as all visitors do—for 50 cents—went under the falls. You need them, certainly, for the spray is busy keeping you moist. I couldn't help thinking what would happen to us if a section of the ledge above were to drop, for some years ago a big chunk did drop and effectually shortened the pilgrim's promenade down there. I noticed that on the American side there were hotels and other indications of life and enterprise; but on the Canadian side there did not appear to be much doing.

City of Buffalo

I wanted to see Buffalo so toward evening took the electrics down to the famous town situated at the end of Lake Erie. I spent the night and until noon next day there. I cannot say that Buffalo struck me as a particularly beautiful city, but that it is a great place of business is very evident. It has a fine harbor and is an important railroad center. Lumber, flour, meat-packing and numberless other business enterprises make Buffalo and keep her on the map. Here the Erie canal begins and joining the waters of the Hudson make a waterway to the sea.

Buffalo profits, with other places about Niagara, from the utilization of the power of the falls. But the traveler on a flying trip is handicapped in gathering detailed information at first hand. I should liked to have remained at Buffalo longer for I got interested in much that I saw. Time was limited, however, so I returned to Niagara Falls where I spent the afternoon getting many different views from as many different angles. I may never see the falls again but I carried away pictures of them and a memory I shall always keep new and vivid.

I took the night train and was soon speeding away for Montreal which we reached on time and without mishap and which I already felt I was no stranger to. Tuesday and Wednesday I devoted to forming comprehensive ideas of Montreal and visited a large portion of the island finding much to interest and a few things that amused.

Old Quebec

Perhaps even more than my desire to see Niagara Falls was my wish to visit old Quebec whose history has always interested me. To me no page of the history of North America is so full of fascination and romance than that which recounts the story of the settlement, struggles and growth of the province of Quebec, on which the achievements of Cartier, Champlain and Frontenac and their followers appear to inspire future Parkmans and afford themes to future poets, painters and romancers. So feeling like this I took the boat leaving Montreal in the evening and early next morning stepped ashore in Quebec, first visited by Jacques Cartier in 1535 and founded by Samuel Champlain in 1608. My night trip down the river had not been without interest and pleasure. Although rather cold I remained outside for hours scanning the outlines of the bluffs on either side of the river, noting the lights of the many towns we passed and marking the unusual brilliancy of the stars. Altogether, I think I fully experienced that peculiar charm which every stranger in a strange land comes under, as I went down the St. Lawrence that night.

To go to Quebec from Montreal is something like exchanging the new for the old. Although Quebec is far from dead, still it is far behind Montreal in population and commercial importance. Perhaps for that reason and its historical associations Quebec is more favored by the visitor from over the border. At any rate I found the brief time at my disposal fully taken in roaming about its streets and places of special interest, and in observing customs that of course were odd to me. At no time was I conscious of being viewed as a suspicious character which possibly might have been suggested by the fact that pilgrims hereabouts are scarce in mid-November, and that England, the mother country, was at war. I boldly went into the citadel where a thousand soldiers were hanging out but no one took any notice of me. They do say that the Canadians can spot a Yankee as instinctively as a Hebrew brother can spot a bargain. I didn't have to inform them I was no German emissary nosing about for information with a stick of dynamite up my sleeve waiting for a chance to blow down the citadel.

I spent some time in the lower city where the people who work for a living live, but feeling that I must not slight the classy hill folks visited among them also. To tell the truth the latter didn't attract me. The hills did. From the citadel one gets a magnificent view of the river and surrounding country. From the Isle of Orleans the river for miles is more like a great bay than a river and as a matter of fact the tide water runs up beyond Quebec.

St. Lawrence a Noble River

Throughout its entire course the St. Lawrence is a noble river; but here it is strikingly impressive. No wonder Cartier thought he had found the passage to Cathay when he first entered its waters. But his hopes were dashed when he discovered miles from its mouth, the water became fresh. The Isle of Orleans below the city Cartier called the Isle of Bacchus because of the profusion of grapes he saw there. Many of the big hills you see resemble the Uncandonnics and the Joe English up Manchester way. You get the impression that ages and ages ago glaciers and floods had an important part in forming this wonderful structure of river, mountains and plain you see below and all around you.

But as in duty bound I reluctantly turned from the contemplature of the work of nature to continue the inspection of the less inspiring works inaugurated by man. So I looked over the Chateau Frontenac which occupies a commanding situation and is a most magnificent structure. I looked into the Laval university and saw enough that made me feel regretful to leave it. I walked to the Plains of Abraham and fearless of the mud inspected the ground where one of the world's important battles was fought. This battle cost France her possessions in this corner of the world which she had held for about 225 years. Looking over the place where Wolfe's soldiers crawled up, one cannot help but wonder what Montcalm and his officers were thinking about to have permitted it.

There was evidence about that the authorities intend to improve conditions at the battle ground, and certainly they could stand it all right. A monument to Wolfe stands on the plain. I paid a nickle several times just to ride in the little green trolleys of Quebec, and the way they can whisk you up the hills would delight a citizen of Christian hill. I took dinner in a neat eating house, the Marathon, on St. John's street, enjoying a good feed of roast chicken.

St. Anne De Beaupre

Talking with a Quebec citizen, he said I should visit Quebec in the summer. "There is nothing to see here now." I didn't argue the point, but asked: "What about the Falls of Montmorency and St. Anne de Beaupre?" "You going down?" he said. "Yes, I'm going. And after dinner I went. It was about an hour's ride from Quebec to St Anne de Beaupre by trolley. As the pilgrimage season to the town closes on Oct 1, I found the hotels closed and but few persons visible in the little village. But four persons alighted from the car with me and they going at once into the church. It seemed as though I had the whole place to myself. I first visited the old church with the miraculous fountain in front, then went to the grotto, the shrine, and into the new church while of modest exterior is most beautiful and and costly of interior. It is without question the most beautiful church I ever saw. I make little claims of being particularly religious, but sitting there in this little church out in the country I was conscious of a calmness of mind, a feeling of peace, that banished material things and brought me under the sweet influences of this sacred edifice.

It is most fitting that the celebrated cyclorama of Jerusalem, the day of the crucifixion should be in permanent exposition at St. Anne de Beaupre. It is recognized as a masterpiece of panoramic painting. I spent nearly two hours looking at this most realistic and artistic production. This cyclorama is due to Phillippoteaux of "Siege of Paris" and "Battle of Gettysburg" fame. The picture is 45 ft. high and 360 ft. in circumference. This work alone is sufficient to establish the reputation of Phillippoteaux and his artist associates.

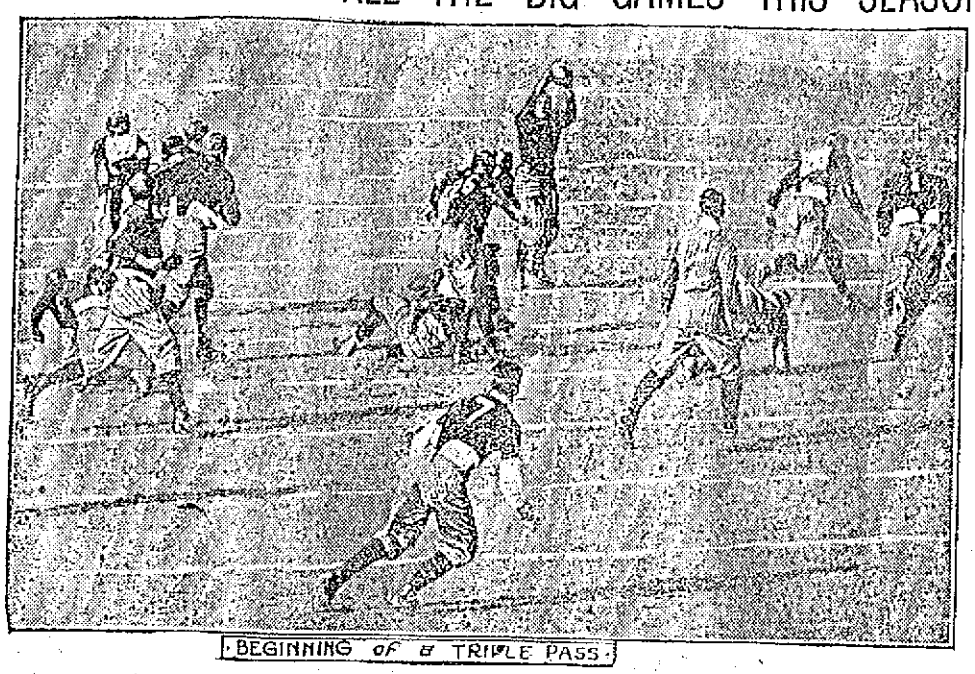

If you go next year to St. Anne de Beaupre you will surely become familiar with this great attraction and the impressive story it depicts. I bade farewell to the village and took the car going Quebec-ward. I "stopped off" at the Falls and went on to the hill beside them. The Falls of Montmorency are 274 feet in height and a mist arises from them as delicate as the veil of a bride, and that's as good a comparison as any. I got back to Quebec about dusk and again sought the Marathon, where I did justice to a supper of parts. I saw Quebec after dark all lighted up in pretty good shape. I mingled with the people on the street and spent a little money for a few steins of ginger tea. My train for Montreal went at 11 and at 11 I said goodbye to the city of Sam Champlain and Frontenac.

At Home Again

Got back to this town the next morning and promptly went to bed, where the boys found me when they returned at night. Having had my "trips" I was now prepared to do a little real visiting with my good friends; and, believe me, up to late last night my friends have led me a hot pace. I think I must have seen Montreal inside-out and outside-in, but I dare say I didn't get all of it, at that. I recall a singular feature about this visit of mine to Canada, which is that all my "side trips" to and from Montreal have been made at night. My little trip to St. Anne de Beaupre was the only one I made by daylight. So I have not seen much of Canada after all. When I come again there will be different arrangements in this respect. My hosts returned a few minutes ago and I can see the finish of this letter if I don't finish soon. I haven't time before the postman collects to make corrections. So please excuse it on general principles.

THE OPEN STYLE OF FOOTBALL HAS BEEN SHOWN IN NEARLY ALL THE BIG GAMES THIS SEASON

BEGINNING OF A TRIPLE PASS

The changes in football that have been going on for some time have been much in evidence in the big college games this season. There has been less of the mass play, less line bucking and more of the spread formation, forward passes and triple passes. The result is a more enjoyable game from the standpoint of the spectators, for the ball is in sight most of the time, though its movements are often so rapid and it is tossed back and forth with such unexpected quickness that only the close observer can keep track of it. This picture, made during the battle between Yale and Princeton, gives an idea of the manner of game that football is becoming.

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

EVADING WRINKLES

"But auntie has no wrinkles even at sixty," said puzzled Marjorie today, seeking to get from Marie more secrets to her aunt's youthful appearance.

"That is because she is always watchful," answered Marie. "She began to ward off these signs of age years ago. Wrinkles should be taken in hand early.

"Thirty is none too young to begin a treatment to ward off wrinkles. By forty, the little lines may have established themselves beyond repair unless the complexion has been taken in hand earlier. Wrinkles and all facial blemishes show up much more plainly if the skin is not perfectly clean and healthy fair, so a dingy, yellowish face should be guarded against assiduously.

"In cold weather, especially, the face is apt to become grimy because the skin is not naturally cleansed by perspiration from within, and because harsh winter winds and dust come in contact with the face whenever one goes out of doors.

"Therefore in winter extra care should be taken to keep the face exquisitely clean and delicately soft. Soap should not be used on the complexion, except perhaps once a week when a thorough scrubbing and steaming are given.

"Cold cream should be well rubbed in every night before retiring and the face bathed afterward in hot water and then cold water. This cold cream treatment will not remove wrinkles, but it will keep the face in such condition that they will not form as easily and can more easily be eradicated.

"If the face is bathed every morning in a cupful of fresh milk into which a teaspoonful of table salt has been tossed, the muscles will tighten and sagging lines will disappear.

"Massage should be given with the tips of the fingers and the effort should be to move the muscles under the skin—not merely the loose skin on top. Work crosswise on the forehead from center to temples. Always massage lines in other parts of the face at right angles to the direction of the line and outward and upward with light, firm strokes, and not too long strokes.

"With the elbows lifted, turn the hands palm upward, thumbs pointing toward the front, and draw the fingers beneath the jaw, from center outward. This counteracts the tendency toward double chin and sagging cheeks."

YOUR STOMACH MAY BE TO BLAME

Don't find fault with the cook for your indigestion. It may not be caused by poor cooking, but by weakness of your stomach. If this is the cause, your stomach should be helped to perform its duty, not relieved of it. More and more people are finding that Dys-pep-lets render just the right service and are pleasant to take. Buy a box at your druggist's for a quarter. Try them for sour stomach, wind in the stomach, heartburn and nausea. Get them today.

WORMS ARE ENEMIES OF CHILDREN

Worms are one of the most dreaded diseases of children. There is nothing better than Dr. True's Elixir to expel worms of all kinds and to keep the stomach in good order.

First manufactured by my father in 1851. Our mothers and grandmothers used this remedy and found it to be ideal for its purpose.

Some of the signs of worms are: Deranged stomach, furred tongue, belching, variable appetite, increased thirst, acid or heavy breath, nausea, enlarged abdomen, variable bowel action, pale face of leaden tint, bluish rings around eyes, itching of nostrils, languor, irritability, disturbed sleep, grinding of teeth, irregularity of pulse.

If your child is not one of the robust kind, start in to use Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, today. 35c, 50c and $1.00. Advice free. Write me.

FEARS FOR SAFETY OF AMERICAN CONSULATE

Expressed by Capt. Decker of U. S. Warship in Report by the Navy Department

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The United States cruiser Tennessee, on her launch was fired on yesterday by the Turkish forts at Smyrna. Captain Benton Decker of the cruiser reporting the incident today to the navy department gave no details of the firing but added that fears had been felt for the safety of the American consulate.

While awaiting further reports from Captain Decker and others from Ambassador Morgenthau and Consul General Horton, officials here have two theories.

One is that the cruiser may have been sending a guard ashore to protect the consulate and Americans and other foreigners. They draw this from Captain Decker's statement that fears had been felt for the safety of the consulate.

The other is that Captain Decker had called on Consul General Horton, who after returning the call was being taken back to shore by the cruiser's launch which may have been returning after hours of entry prescribed by port officials, which are very strict.

Before regarding the firing upon the American ship as a hostile act, officials here are inclined to await further reports and hold to the belief that it might have been a misunderstanding or the act of some local official which will quickly be corrected at Constantinople

BASEBALL WAR

Negotiations for Sale of Cubs Called Off—Feds Will Continue Battle

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—"If Mr. Taft has called off negotiations regarding the purchase of the Cubs' stock, it means war to a finish between the Feds and organized ball," said Charles Weegham, president of the Chicago Feds today. "The Federal league was anxious for peace but if we can't have it we are more ready for war than ever."

Weeghman admitted he had never held an option on the Taft holdings but said he had been promised a chance to bid for them.

EXTENSION OF TIME REFUSED

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18.—All negotiations between Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago Feds, and C. P. Taft, majority owner of the Chicago Cubs for the purchase of the latter's stock were broken off abruptly by the latter today. Weeghman had asked Taft for an extension of time in which to further negotiate for the club and this was refused.

FEDS MAY HIT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 18.—Whether Cleveland will have a Federal league ball club next year was discussed at a 24-hour conference here today by President James A. Gilmore of the Federal league, C. B. Ward and E. W. Robertson of the Brooklyn and Buffalo Federal league clubs, respectively, together with local men interested in the project. At the conclusion of the conference the officials made an inspection of a site for a ball park on which local Federal league enthusiasts have taken an option. The proposed grounds alone would cost $600,000, it is said.

MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

PRES. WILSON EXPECTED TO DISCUSS WAR, MEXICO AND GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—President Wilson today began work on his annual message to congress which he will deliver in person at the opening of the regular session in December. While the message has not taken definite shape, Mr. Wilson is expected to discuss Philippine independence, conservation, the Mexican question, government ownership of merchant ships and the effect of the European war on the United States.

Since the adjournment of congress the president has not conferred with the leaders regarding the program for the next session but will see them within the next two weeks.

A SAILOR-POET

Noble Brown Asks the Police Commissioner's Advice on Suicide

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Noble Brown, poet and sailor, out of a job, was taken into custody in a lodging house at No. 25 Bowery last night following the receipt of the following letter by Commissioner of Police Woods:

Chief of Police:

Kind Sir: I am a stranger in New York City—a sailor out of a berth. I can't get work of any kind. I have no friends here, so have decided to do away with myself.

But I cannot decide what manner to pursue. Would like to do it in an orderly and respectful manner if possible. I suppose being a sailor, the proper way would be to drown myself, but I'm too good a swimmer. If I jump from one of the bridges and land on a boat I would make a mess of the deck and the poor sailors would have to clean up.

If I step in front of a street car I might obstruct traffic for five precious minutes and some business man might lose a deal; or in front of an auto I might frighten some lady. I don't want to frighten the ladies—God bless them! I might assault a big policeman, but he would beat me up and I might recover.

I might cut my throat, but my razor is dull. I have no hone and am not a good barber, either. I might shoot myself, but I have no gun, and if I had I might get nervous, miss the mark and shoot some innocent ragpicker, with which this hostelry where I am stopping is overcrowded.

I might work myself to death, but I can't get the chance. I might drink myself to death, but have neither money nor inclination. I can't take chloroform. That costs money. Gas is also out of the question, as there is none in my room.

I can't die of heart failure, as I gave my heart to a young lady some time ago. I hope she takes good care of it after I am gone.

Guess I must either starve or freeze to death. I see no other alternative. Kindly oblige me.

The commissioner turned the letter over to Capt. Cray, who assigned Detectives Healy and Jessup to find Brown. At the Bowery lodging house the detectives found Brown, bending over a table in a dimly lighted room. He was busy writing a poem. On the table lay a letter book on which was inscribed: "Tales of the Sea."

"Yes; I'm Noble Brown," said the man. "I wrote that letter to the commissioner. Are you bringing a message from him to me as to the method to pursue?"

Brown, who is twenty-nine, then showed the contents of his book. From the first page to the last poems were written, all of them dealing with the sea.

"Everything I wrote in the letter is absolutely true," Brown told the detectives. "I have been here three months, and have made up my mind that I simply won't be a burden on charity. I'm not a fit subject for charity and don't ask it.

"Some persons may not think much of my poems, but I love them," and when told that he was under arrest he placed the book tenderly in a worn-out small hand satchel and said:

"Now I'm ready to go with you."

At headquarters, Brown said he was born in Wisconsin, but that his family now lived in Oregon. He declared that he never would willingly returns to them a failure. Commissioner Woods will have Noble's mental condition examined by Bellevue hospital doctors.

WRIT DENIED LAMAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The application for a writ of habeas corpus made by David Lamar, charged on three indictments with impersonating representatives and senators for the purpose of defrauding J. P. HIGH SCHOOL STRIKE

GIRL INSULTED, THE STUDENTS DECLARE—600 PUPILS QUIT IN EAU CLAIR, WIS.

EAU CLAIR, Wis., Nov. 18.—A high school strike, involving all of the 600 students in the City high school, has been called because of an alleged insult to Florence Blood, aged 15 years, and although the children returned to school Tuesday under a compromise by which the offending principal was not in the building, they declare they will leave the school permanently unless he makes a public apology to the girl.

The trouble started yesterday when Principal F. M. Jack ordered Miss Blood to go home and comb her hair differently. He charged her with leaving the braids down her back as a lure to her schoolboy friends.

He reflected, the students thought, on the girl's morals, and when she went home in tears the students rose and left the building also.

They held a meeting last night at which it was decided to telegraph to the girl's father, John H. Blood, then in Cincinnati, of what they had done and that they had taken up a collection to retain Judge G. L. Blum to officially represent the strikers in their dealings with the school authorities.

The father wired back that he would take the first train home, and complimented the students on their judgment in retaining a lawyer to represent them.

4 DAYS' BATTLE

Russians Endeavoring to Avenge Former Check at Soldau

PARIS, Nov. 18.—A despatch received here from Petrograd to the Havas agency follows:

"A terrific battle of unexampled violence has been proceeding for four days around Soldau. The cannonading has been maintained night and day. The Russians are endeavoring at any cost to avenge their former check at Soldau, and are throwing themselves at the Germans with indescribable fury. They have carried position after position by assault in spite of the infernal fire of the Germans.

"The Germans are offering a most energetic resistance and their fighting is alternately offensive and defensive.

"In spite of the torrential rains which have turned the ground into a quagmire, the Russians are advancing toward the interior of Germanya

"They have captured ten big cannon, none of them damaged."

GERMANS CLAIM FRENCH WERE OBLIGED TO GIVE UP POSSESSIONS

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—In an official report from the German war office appears the following:

"An attack was made against our forces which have moved forward on the western bank of the river Meuse near St. Mihiel and although it was originally successful for the enemy it broke down completely later on.

"Our attack to the southeast of Cirey compelled the French to surrender some of their possessions. The chateau Chatalon was stormed and taken by our troops.

"New battles have developed in Poland in the region north of Lodz, but no decision yet has been reached.

"To the southeast of Soldau (East Prussia) the enemy has been forced to retreat in the direction of Mlawa. Upon the extreme western wing a strong Russian cavalry force which we defeated on Nov. 16 and 17 has been driven back through Tilkallen."

OPPOSED TO FRATERNITIES

EXPULSION FROM SCHOOLS OF PUPILS WHO ACKNOWLEDGE MEMBERSHIP

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Mrs. Ella Flagg Young says that she would recommend expulsion from the public schools of every boy and girl who admitted affiliations with any fraternity, society or social club.

"I have been misunderstood in my attitude on the subject of fraternities and societies," Mrs. Young said. "I don't intend to tolerate them. This refers to social clubs as well, for the one cannot exist without the other. The committee may do what it likes, but I shall recommend that the rules of the board be carried out to the letter."

WOMAN WAS STABBED

STELLA BARBARA OF CAMBRIDGE ..STABBED IN THE CHIN AND ARM —POLICE SEEK YOUTH

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Stella Barbara, 24 years old of 50 Homer avenue, Cambridge, was stabbed with a knife in the chin and in the right arm late last night. She is at the Cambridge hospital, not seriously injured.

The police are looking for Vincenzo Pasqualle, who is 19 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 120 pounds, has a ruddy complexion, wears a dark suit and cap and speaks broken English. They say he and Miss Barbara worked on the same farm in Watertown recently, and when the man was discharged, attributed the loss of his work to the girl's influence.

ON HOME ECONOMICS

NATIONAL GRANGE, PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY RECOMMEND APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMS.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 18.—At today's session of the National grange, Patrons of Husbandry, the report of the committee on home economics which was adopted recommended that all granges a point standing committees on home economics, that grange lecturers give the subject special attention that the grangers work for the appointment of a state health day. The grange also adopted the report of the committee on forestry and conservation recommending that no natural resources now owned by the federal or state government shall be sold but shall be developed by the government or under a system of short term leases and recommending that all forest lands, waterpower, mines and similar natural resources that have passed into private ownership shall be taxed at a fair rate on their full franchise valuation.

WANTS QUIET DEPARTURE

Ambassador Herrick Sails For New York Nov. 28—Many Letters of Thanks Sent Him By British

PARIS, Nov. 18.—Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador, who is to be relieved of his duties late this month by William G. Sharp, has engaged passage for the United States on the steamer Rochambeau, which will sail on November 28.

Mr. Herrick and his wife have received invitations from persons distinguished in public life in France and England to visit them before leaving Europe, but they declined because they consider that this is not the time for social visits.

Queen Mary of England has written Mrs. Herrick a personal letter, expressing appreciation for what she and other American women have done for the British wounded in Paris.

Sir Edward Grey the British foreign minister, has written Mr. Herrick in the same vein and David Lloyd Georges, the chancellor of the exchequer, has sent a letter of thanks to Mr. Herrick "in behalf of the British government" for his services to British subjects.

The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Herrick will, at their desire, be as quiet as possible. There will be no farewell banquets or any other demonstrations because, as the ambassador says, these days in France are extremely tense and sad.

LOSS OF $144,000,000

JACKLING ESTIMATES 8,000,000 POUNDS CUT IN COPPER OUTPUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—The pronouncement in the British parliament by Premier Asquith that copper would be considered contraband of war by the British government, will cause a reduction of 8,000,000 pounds in annual copper production in the United States, and a loss of gross income to copper producers of $14,000,000 each year that the embargo exists.

This calculation was made here by D. C. Jackling, vice-president and general manager of large mining companies operating in Utah, Nevada, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Montana and Alaska.

AERIAL GUARD AT FUNERAL

Double Rainbow Gleams on Dark Clouds at Services for Lord Roberts at Army Headquarters

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Official Press Bureau gives a touching account of the funeral services for Field Marshal Lord Roberts at the headquarters of the British army in France.

"To the wail of 'Flowers o' the Forest' from the pipers, the cortege moved slowly through double ranks of soldiers with arms reversed. General officers acted as bearers. Those following the casket included representatives of the family of Lord Roberts and of King Albert and President Poincaire, the Prince of Wales, Prince Arthur of Connaught and Gen. French. The simple funeral was conducted by Chaplain Anderson of the British forces.

"As the coffin was removed to a motor ambulance for conveyance to Boulogne, French trumpeters across the square blew a fanfare and the guns of Lord Roberts' old regiment reared out a last farewell. A double rainbow gleamed on a mass of dark clouds and an aeroplane circling above, one of the aerial guards, watching and protecting the procession, dipped in salute."

HUNGER MAY CAUSE RIOTS

Burgomaster of Wetteren Tells Belgian Commission That 11,000 Laborers Are in Want

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Belgian relief commission received a request for assistance from the burgomaster of Wetteren, eight miles southeast of Ghent. The request says that 11,000 workmen and numerous other persons are in complete want; that the local committee has exhausted its resources and is unable to meet the terrible situation.

"Public security," the burgomaster says, "depends upon avoiding conflicts caused by hunger and trouble that might arise as a consequence with the German forces of occupation. We should be profoundly grateful to you if you would contribute to the safety of our unhappy commune."

FORMER MAYORS NAMED

White and Kane Nominees in Lawrence—Results of Primaries in Other Cities

LAWRENCE, Nov. 18.—William P. White, twice mayor of Lawrence, who resigned during his last term of office, again won a place in yesterday's primary and will be the candidate against ex-Mayor John P. Kane to fill out the balance of the term of the late Mayor Scanlon.

White was the candidate against the latter a year ago and lost by a narrow margin. The opposition to White was so divided that he led the other six candidates having a margin of 508 over ex-Mayor Kane.

William P. White was in the public eye a few years ago when he was convicted of conspiring to bribe and served more than a year in jail in connection with appointments to the fire department.

SALEM NOMINATIONS

Kelly and Danforth Named in List for Director of Public Works and Director of Finance

SALEM, Nov. 17.—Primaries were held in the 12 precincts of this city yesterday, for the choice of two nominees for the office of municipal director of public works, and a similar number for the position of director of finance.

The terms of Charles H. Danforth director of finance and of Patrick J. Kelley, director of public works, expire by limitation this year. Both desire re-election for three-year terms and both were renominated. A total of 4336 votes was cast out of a total registered vote of 7729.

NAMED FOR THIRD TERM

Mayor George M. Wright Renominated by Worcester Republicans—Ticket for City Election

WORCESTER, Nov. 18.—Mayor Geo. M. Wright was unanimously renominate for a third term by the republicans of Worcester last night in their caucuses and Pehr J. Holmes was unanimously nominated for his running mate as alderman-at-large.

The principal contests were for school committee in ward 1, where Mrs. Emily F. Foster, wife of Rev. Dr. Allyn King Foster of the First Baptist church, defeated Henry O. Anderson, 442 to 217, and for school committee in ward 5, where Charles R. Johnson, the dean of the school board, was renominated over Morris S. Wright, who ran on stickers, by a vote of 192 to 153.

Contests for common council nominations were won in ward 3 by Michael J. O'Hara over Lester F. Clark, 267 to 159; in ward 7 by John C. Ware and Frederick S. Clark over William A. Kenney, by votes of 208 and 147 to 138; and in ward 9 by Charles B. Rugg and Albert H. Moss over Louis M. Friedman, by votes of 206 and 204 to 42.

STACY BEATS DENISON

President of Springfield Board of Aldermen Nominated for Mayor by Republicans

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 18.—Frank E. Stacy, president of the board of aldermen, defeated Mayor John A. Denison for the republican nomination for mayor at the caucuses here last night.

The vote was Stacy 3346; Denison, 2579. Both candidates worked hard to get out a large vote and the total number voting was 5925.

The aldermanic and councilmanic contests were warmly contested in some instances. Alderman George S. Cook of ward 1 winning over his opponent, Louis G. Erickson, and in ward 7 Albert B. Franklin jr. defeating Thomas F. Godfrey.

LYNN POLLS 13,000 VOTES

Great Interest Shown in Primary Election, Newhall and Cogswell Being Nominated for Mayor

LYNN, Nov. 18.—Mayor George H. Newhall and ex-Rep. John H. Cogswell were nominated for mayor at the primary election here yesterday. They were the two highest candidates among the eight aspirants. Under the commission form of government, two candidates are named as the regular candidates at the municipal election, which this year comes Dec. 8.

Great interest was taken in the result, more than 13,000 votes being cast. The several candidates for the nominations for mayor, commissioners of finance and of streets and school committee had many persons at the polling places working in their interest.

Mayor Newhall received 5154 votes, carrying every ward except ward 6. Cogswell received 2727, and the third man, ex-Mayor Connery, received 2381. Ex-Rep. Salter got 1178, A. J. Hoitt 685, Dr. C. D. S. Lovell 466, John R. Wallace 171 and Wm. A. Marks 92.

For commissioner of finance Frank R. Turnbull was renominated with 5061, with Roy F. Bergengren second, 3241. Robert W. Thomson received 1859 and George N. Nichols 2370 votes.

George H. McPhetres was renominated for commissioner of streets with 5026. The second man was Henry H. Moore with 1838. Howard W. Newhall received 1590.

S. Walter McDonough, Rev. C. Thurston Chase, Rev. Wm. F. Dussault and James H. Hooper were nominated for the school committee. These four will contest for the two vacant places at the regular election.

NOMINATION IN HAVERHILL

Bartlett Sweeps Every Ward for Nomination for Mayor—L. K. Morse to Be His Opponent

HAVERHILL, Nov. 18.—Alderman Albert L. Bartlett, who is now serving his second term in the municipal council, was the high man to qualify for mayor in the primary election yesterday. He carried every ward in the city over his four opponents, polling 2173 in a total vote of 5468.

Ex-Rep. Leslie K. Morse was the other candidate to qualify for mayor, he being second highest man in every ward.

The other candidates were William E. How, ex-Senator Samuel W. George and Dr. Thomas W. Flood.

MURDER VICTIM

Body of Thos. E. Preece Will be Buried at Taunton

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Nov. 18.—The body of Thomas E. Preece, who was killed and robbed at Sumner on Nov. 7 will be buried at Taunton, Mass., by his sister, Mrs. John Brintcomb by whom it will be received today.

Sheriff William O. Frothingham has returned from Milo to which town he traced the route followed by Preece in his carriage drive from Presque Isle to Sumner. He found many persons who saw or talked with Preece, but was able to locate only one, a Canton man who saw the Spanish war veteran who on Nov. 4 joined Preece at Milo, where the former had been employed two days under the name of Peter J. Harrington. The description given by the man who saw both men as they drove through Canton is said to correspond with that of Harrington and of the man who left Preece's team and dog at the hotel here the night Preece was murdered.

SAFE DYNAMITED

In North Dighton Post Office and About $900 Stolen

NORTH DIGHTON, Nov. 17.—The postoffice safe was dynamited and about $900 in cash and stamps stolen by robbers who escaped unseen early today. Darius White, night watchman at the Dighton Furnace company near the store of Charles H. Walker, where the postoffice is located, heard a muffled explosion about 9 o'clock and notified the police by telephone. When a squad of officers arrived they found the front of the safe blown off and the contents gone. The state police and the local authorities say that they have not the slightest clue.

NEED CHARITY AT HOME

SAYS NEW YORK MAYOR, IN REPLYING TO APPEAL TO HELP BELGIAN SUFFERERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—In a letter to the committee of mercy, replying to an appeal to help raise contributions for the relief of the Belgians, Mayor Mitchel yesterday called attention to the need of home philanthropy before answering the call of a European nation impoverished by the war.

"Contributions made to the Belgians must be made in addition to the contributions necessary for the relief of poverty here at home," the mayor wrote. "I feel it my duty to emphasize this and to urge the citizens of New York to make special sacrifices during this winter to minimize distress among the destitute here in America.

"Let us give to the Belgians generously but let us not fail first to meet with equal generosity the needs of those for whom we have first responsibility and on whose welfare will very largely depend America's readiness to meet her obligations now and at the close of the war."

NEW BRITISH WAR LOAN

STEADY DEMAND BUT NO PARTICULAR RUSH ON—LONDON BANK TO GET THE PROSPECTUS

LONDON, Nov. 18.—There has been a steady demand but no particular rush on the central bank to get the prospectus of the new British war loan of $1,750,000,000. Contrary to the usual practice of closing the issue as soon as the amount was covered, the list in the present case will remain open until Tuesday and prospectuses can be obtained at all banks and in any postoffice of the United Kingdom.

The stock exchange views the loan as a good investment and some members express the belief that another loan will be issued some time in April.

Rev. W. E. Pittenger gave an interesting talk on "Education and Morals" at the regular meeting of the Educational club held yesterday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. The usual open exercises were held and reports of the officers were read.

Meet us at Patsees, Thur. eve.

CANDIDATES NOMINATED

Continued

the winning slate was picked by comparatively few political forecasters.

The results were as follows:

For commissioner—Newell F. Putnam, 2938; William W. Duncan, 2869; James F. Miskella, 2424; and Andrew E. Barrett, 2198.

For school board—Dr. John H. Lambert, 7281; Herford N. Elliott, 5846; John C. Leggat, 5563; John H. White, 5106; Peter P. McMenimon, 4528; Jas. W. McKenna, 4316.

In the contest for commissioner James E. Donnelly fell only nine votes behind Andrew E. Barrett and in probability will call for a recount. While the ballot was a simple one to count, and would give the impression that there is little likelihood of error, the figures in precinct two of ward one are such as to cause many to wonder if a mistake has not been made in the count. In this precinct Mr. Miskella received 157, the second highest vote, Mr. Duncan getting 153 while Mr. Donnelly received only 85 and Mr. Barrett only 50. In state politics the precinct is strongly republican.

The school board contest resulted as was expected, with the six strongest candidates winning it out. An analysis of the school board vote would show that despite the fact that a slate containing the names of Dr. Lambert and Messrs. Elliott and Leggat had been made, "bullets" to the extent of thousands were cast for Dr. Lambert. This was quite noticeable in ward seven, the home ward of both Dr. Lambert and Mr. Leggat. It is known that Mr. Leggat received a large number of so-called "democratic votes" in this ward, while Dr. Lambert did not, and yet Dr. Lambert received a total of 1039 against 904 for Mr. Leggat and Mr. Elliott received only 765.

On the school board contest there were 3551 blanks against 816 for commissioner. Dr. Lambert ran 1435 votes ahead of Mr. Elliott and 1718 ahead of Mr. Leggat, a total of 3153, which pretty well discloses the number of "bullets" cast for the doctor.

As was generally expected toward the close of the campaign Commissioner Brown fell outside the breastworks though he landed farther away than most people expected. Up to the last he had great confidence in himself and is said to have wagered on the result. Those who openly opposed Commissioner Donnelly expressed the opinion that "he had had enough," though his vote showed that a large proportion of the voters were content to have him there again. Many were surprised at the vote received by Frank Ricard, for it was figured that he was a very probable winner and would get 90 per cent. of the French vote. The forecasters, however, got the wrong percentage on Mr. Ricard's French vote, for, while the greatest strength shown by him was in wards six and seven, his vote there does not indicate that he received anything like 90 per cent. of the French vote. Mr. Ricard's slump may or may not have been due to an advertisement that appeared in the French papers coupling his name with another candidate and signed by Omer J. Allard, a registrar of voters. Mr. Allard denies any knowledge of the advertisement and states that his signature was placed on it without his knowledge or consent. The matter has caused somewhat of a sensation in French American circles and it is said that the attention of the district attorney will be called to it. One of the candidates whose defeat caused much surprise was Abel R. Campbell. Mr. Clapp received just enough votes in wards three and eight to keep Mr. Campbell out of the running. Joseph Mullin's small vote was another big surprise. Mr. Mullin's name appeared on a variety of slates and some couldn't believe that he would down.

SUN FEATURES THURSDAY

Spellbinder Will Discuss Political Questions; Sleepy Time Tales, Rabbit's Foot and Other Features

District Attorney Corcoran appears in The Spellbinder column for the first time with a few pointed remarks addressed to another editor who didn't see fit to print them. A few remarks about the caucuses and their results. Other political matters of local interest.

"Your Boys and Girls" in tomorrow's Sun will contain some very helpful information regarding the proper care and bringing up of children. It tells how to amuse the convalescent child who requires more entertainment than the healthy child. How to celebrate baby's birthday, and other questions are answered for mothers in a pleasing way in this article.

The problem of properly caring for the hair is one which is a source of considerable worry to some women. An exceptionally good article dealing with the care of the hair will be found in tomorrow's Sun in "What the French Maid Said." Marie tells various methods of treating the hair including shampoos and how to promote the healthy growth of the hair.

How the little gnomes helped Mrs. Chipmunk when Mr. Chipmunk hurt his foot so that he could not go after nuts is a sleepytime tale that will delight the children. This will be printed in The Sun tomorrow especially for the little ones.

"The Beauty Smile" is the topic of "The Rabbit's Foot" in The Sun tomorrow. It tells why one should cultivate a cheerful, happy disposition and the value of a smile in one's personality.

TO STRENGTHEN ANKLES

Weak ankles are very annoying when they have a habit of constantly turning. This may be due to wearing low shoes, and at least, half the year milady should wear high street shoes, to rest the unsupported ankles of the other six months.

A very good method of strengthening the ankles is to try simple dancing steps in one's own room. Try standing with the ankles turned in, and then turned out. At first you will find it difficult to keep your balance, but after they have become strong it will be an easy task.

Rubbing the ankles every night with alcohol is very good, and prevents one from catching cold easily.

Never go about the house in negligee and slippers without stockings. Drafts and cold floors are treacherous in the winter months. Skating and dancing are both good exercise for weak ankles.

The constant wearing of low heeled sport shoes often causes the ankles to become thick and clumsy looking.

MAN MURDERED

Body Stuffed Into Barrel and Carried to Lonely Street in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The man who was murdered last night and stuffed into a barrel, carried to a lonely street under the Queensborough bridge and left there, to be found before the warmth had left the body, was identified today as Luigi Macaluso, aged 22, a tailor who lived in that section of Manhattan's East Side best known to the police as the home of gangsters and gunmen.

Macaluso had served a sentence for carrying a revolver and detectives seeking to unravel the mystery of his death thought it due to a feud between rival gangs.

Michael Macaluso, a macaroni baker, the slain man's father, made the identification. He did not appear surprised and was unable or unwilling to give the police any information on which to start their quest for the murderer.

THE MERIT SYSTEM

It must have been quite a revelation to the committee of the Lowell board of trade, as it is to the general public, to find that our claims for lower fire insurance rates in this city are not considered overwhelming by the Boston gentlemen who make the rates. It has been generally understood here that in the matter of fire prevention and regulation, Lowell was ahead of most New England cities. Incidentally, it is a discouraging reflection that if we are considered wanting in our fire regulations, by experts, we would be considered still more deficient in practically every branch of municipal activity.

In the main, the claims of the experts at the rooms of the New England insurance exchange were based on common sense, and their demands are reasonable. If the fire insurance rates of this city are to be lower, it will have to comply with the requisites of the fire experts to a still greater extent. If the proposed assessment is in keeping with that in vogue in all other cities of this part of the country, there is no cause for complaint. It is indeed somewhat of a surprise that Lowell is not considered a profitable field, by insurance companies, though the evidence produced bore out that claim to some extent. Evidently a city need not necessarily have great conflagrations such as those of Salem and Manchester to suffer grievously from fire losses.

The most important assurance received by the local committee at the Boston conference was that the merit system will be introduced here, though careless property owners will not welcome the innovation. Mercantile rates are to be revised and a base rate will be determined, to be high or low in proportion to the improvements made by the city. In individual cases, lower insurance rates will follow property improvement, while at the same time owners of undesirable property with grave fire dangers will be compelled to pay a higher figure than at present. Scientifically applied, this merit system would be a good thing for the city, as it would force careless property owners to take necessary precautions.

To secure lower rates it would seem necessary that the state and municipal regulations be enforced rigidly and that our fire department be kept in an efficient condition. The claims of the fire experts do not bear out the wisdom of our official economy cry in this most important particular. The city is not rated in the first class—class A—with Worcester, Springfield and Brookline, but is included in the second class, and this in spite of the great strides made during the last municipal administration in supplementing the water pressure and adding modern equipment to the fire department.

The incidental criticism of our water pressure, fire equipment, alarm system, and other aspects of municipal fire prevention and fire fighting will give food for thought to our municipal authorities. It demonstrates forcibly the need for constant activity and also the need for initiative in dealing with a department that means so much to the future of the city. If the local committee did not succeed in getting a strong confirmation of their hopes, they got some information that ought to prove of value in the future.

GREAT REFORM STARTS

There may be some difference of opinion about a few of the laws passed under the leadership of President Wilson, but there is no difference of opinion about the great currency reform which was formally inaugurated a day or two ago. Coming at a time when business needs all the encouragement possible, the new influence will do a great deal to restore the balance of prosperity and to steer this country towards the goal of unprecedented success. For the first time in the history of the nation we have a banking system that will meet all the fluctuating needs of the future and free business from artificial restrictions and from the fear of panics. Better still it has permanently removed the finances of the country from the evils of speculation and safeguarded the rights of the small business without interfering with the lawful privileges of any interest or group in the country.

The indirect benefits of the new currency system have been drawn frequently by political and business leaders irrespective of party, and they are rosy indeed. The direct benefits will make themselves felt without delay. One of the first important moves will be the release of about $450,000,000 of reserves, more than enough to relieve the monetary shortage of some harnessed districts. One of the intents of the new legislation is the aiding of every legitimate industry—credit being arranged for without formality and on easy terms. Thus, the government banking system stands ready to aid a deserving industry or business that may be temporarily obstructed by the old world war or by any other agency; in this the starting of the great reform is timely.

With the birth of the federal reserve system comes news of other improvements that tend to raise the courage of the entire country. It is said that war contracts to the amount of $300,000,000 have already been placed with our manufacturers, though little attention is called to such contracts for obvious reasons. If the war continues long, the tide of prosperity cannot but turn in our direction. This is the opinion of Agent Mitchell of the Massachusetts mills who returned from the scene of war a few days ago and it is the opinion of most trade forecasters at the present time.

The influence of the new currency system on domestic manufacture will be for good; in enabling our manufacturers to reach the foreign markets, it will be especially efficacious. Already some of the leading banks of the country have opened branches in South America and the actual work of assuring credit in that part of the world and elsewhere will be under way directly. With a fair show of co-operation between manufacturers, business leaders and the government, our export trade should from now on increase by leaps and bounds.

TO DISCUSS ANNEXATION

The suggestion that a mass meeting of the residents of the Dracut district along the river,—the annexation of which has been advocated by The Sun—be called in the near future to discuss the proposal from all angles, is an excellent one, and it ought to be adopted without delay. Those who reside in the territory are best qualified to compare their present limitations with the expected advantages of annexation, and there cannot be intelligent action without full discussion. The needs of the district in fire protection, in water, in streets and other necessaries are very apparent, and the advantages of annexation in these things are also apparent. If any of the residents have a feeling that being included in Lowell would impose any new hardships, they should air them, now that the movement is being agitated so widely. A mass meeting such as that which is proposed would supply the means for intelligent expression of views pro and con.

If, after the meeting, which might advantageously be attended by one of our assessors, opinion in that section of Dracut favored annexation with Lowell a bill authorizing Lowell citizens to vote on the matter might be introduced in the legislature. The minority could still carry any protest they might wish to make—though little opposition is anticipated—before the general court, and the supporters of the project could offer counter-arguments. In all probability a general expression from the Lowell voters would favor the scheme as Lowell needs room to grow, and more especially in the Dracut direction. For some time the city has been growing residentially away from its business centre. Both Dracut and Lowell would profit from the annexation movement now being agitated.

TRACK WALKING ACCIDENTS

Once again we are reminded of the terrible dangers of track walking by two local accidents, following each other in rapid succession, both of which were fatal. In one case it is surmised that a young man on his way to work took a short cut across or along the railroad tracks with fatal results, and in the other instance a man sought to get a ride on a freight train, meeting a similar fate. In the face of such warnings, any talk to track walkers sounds flat and unnecessary, but we have had accidents and deaths from this source for years without reducing their number. Many men who work for the Boston and Maine railroad in this city refrain from using the tracks as a short cut to work, and yet hundreds do not hesitate to risk their lives in this manner daily. It is too bad that people cannot in all cases be saved from their own carelessness. Probably the toll of track walkers will still go on, giving the papers tragic stories and saddening many homes yearly.

LOCAL RED CROSS

The activity of the local Red Cross branch as displayed in their headquarters in the Runels building, has a seriousness and earnestness that reflects credit on the workers and the committee in charge. It is evident that those engaged in the good work do not regard it as a fad but as a very serious and necessary charity. Though the actual work is but beginning, the results are very commendable and it is evident that the earlier financial success will be followed up by success in supplying clothes and hospital supplies to the afflicted in the old world battle lines. The American Red Cross society is neutral and it responds to the calls of suffering humanity wherever the fires of war are raging. The local branch deserves the support of the public in good measure—whether shown by a financial contribution or by any other form of practical interest.

The weather seems to be playing an important part in the war news at present. For the past few days rain and snow have fallen in the eastern and western scenes of conflict respectively, with advantage to the troops used to cold climes. Water in the trenches has made the fighting more terrible than at any time since the war began and undoubtedly it has added to the fatalities, directly and indirectly. Pneumonia is already claiming victims by the hundreds.

The letter of Secretary Redfield predicting prosperity sounds the most optimistic note heard yet, and backs it up with facts and figures. It is remarkable how republican business predictions have brightened, too, since the last elections.

The cold in the air should be a warning to the street department to fill up the worst gaps before the ice and snow come. If the defects are neglected, some of our streets may look like streets in sections of Antwerp when spring comes round again.

Furnace heat is good but good vitality is better.

Whew! thank goodness that much is over.

TREES ALONG THE ROAD

Throughout the state the Massachusetts highway commission is planting trees along the highways, preserving the trees that are already there and trimming trees that are merely obstructions to the view of those who travel the roads and that therefore often contribute to the making of accidents. Where it has been customary to have guard rails for the protection of vehicles, the commission is now planting trees of various kinds—elms, maples, locusts and willows. The thought is that not only will the appearance of the road be improved, but a real economy will be accomplished. Guard rails need replacing frequently, but the trees become an even better protection as they grow in strength. No trimming of trees along the highway can be done by telegraph and telephone companies without a permit from the commission, and in granting these permits the commission is careful to guard against the possibility of marring the beauty of the road. The Massachusetts commission is this year spending $5000 in planting trees and $10,000 in the preservation of trees, a feature of the latter being the prevention of insect invasion.

POKING FUN AT US

The New York Sun comments pointedly on the ludicrousness of the law passed regarding the red flag in this state. It says: "To the humorous and imaginative Massachusetts enemy of society who on Saturday solemnly insisted on the enforcement against Harvard's crimson banner of the prohibition of red flags we offer our sincere thanks and congratulations. He showed up the absurdity of this particular enactment neatly and completely; may he have further opportunity to expose the meddlesome and oppressive statutes that too busy legislatures all over the country delight in putting in the books. Apparently the authors of this monument to wisdom and intelligence regard the revolutionary symbol as the cause and fountain head of the revolution, a view it is not surprising to find they were able to impress upon the lawmakers. 'Suppress the red flag,' we can hear them tell the solons, 'and there can be no more riots'; and so the thing was done. Thus in dozens of cases futility has found its expression in penal enactments, until the law libraries are fat with ridiculous statutes aimed at utterly inconsequential and trivial practices. Only occasionally is it possible to display these enactments in their ludicrous phase so that public attention may be centered on them. Whenever such an opportunity presents itself, may our Old Bay State revolutionists be on hand to manage the exhibition."

THE AMERICAN ADJECTIVE

"The half moon in the summer sky!
How beautiful it is!" quoth I.
"Ah, yes," my hearer made reply:
"SOME moon!"

"How witching is that melody!
It breathes somehow of wind and sea!"
"Uh huh," my hearer said to me:
"SOME tune!"

"With what a grand, majestic sweep
Yon mountain rises from the deep!"
"Oh, yes," he murmured, half asleep:
"SOME hill!"

I said: "You see this suit I wear?
They charged me sixty! Pretty fair?"
He answered with a wide-eyed stare:
"SOME bill!"

I saw him at a dinner dance;
He paused to breathe; I caught his glance.
He shouted out: "Say, take a chance:
"SOME whirl!"

I grasped his hand; "I hear you're wed!
You've won a prize in that girl, Ned.
Good luck, old boy!" He smiled and said:
"SOME girl!"

I served him chicken. "Ain't it fine?"
I asked him as I sampled mine.
He answered, pouring out his wine:
"SOME bird!"

"Old Top," quoth I, "from morn till night
Your words exasperate me quite!
SOME this—SOME that—" He shrugged
"ALL right!
"SOME word!"

MANY SISTERS TO MANY BROTHERS

When we fought campaigns (in the long Christmas rains)
With soldiers spread in troops on the floor,
I shot as straight as you, my losses were as few,
My victories as many, or more.

And in naval battle, when, amid the rattle
Of cannon, fleet met fleet in the bath,
My cruisers were as trim, my battleships as grim
My submarines cut as swift a path.

Or, when it rained too long, and the strength of the strong
Surged up and broke a way with blows,
I was as fit and keen, my fists hit as clean,
Your black eye matched my bleeding nose.

Was there a scrap or play in which you, tho boy
Could better me? You could not climb higher,
Ride straighter, run as quick (and to smoke made you sick)
. . . . But I sit here, and you're under fire.

Oh, it's you that have the luck out there in blood and muck:
You were born beneath a kindly star;
All we dreamed, I and you, you can really go and do,
And I can't, the way things are.

In a trench you are sitting, while I am knitting
A hopeless sock that never gets done—
Well, here's luck my dear;—and you've got it, no fear;
But for me . . . a war is poor fun.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

FOOTBALL GAME

Indians Will Play the Roslindale A. A. of Boston Fair Grounds Saturday Afternoon

The Indian football eleven went to Lynn Saturday and defeated the Hercules of that city, 21 to 0. The work of Cunningham and the Donnellan brothers excelled. The Indians will play the Roslindale A. A. of Boston next Saturday on the old Fair grounds. The Indian lineup will include the following players: J. Mahan, A. Ross, J. Morse, W. Murphy, G. Rogers, J. Quinn, T. Hessian, J. O'Halloran, J. Cunningham, R. Donnellan, E. Donnellan, R. Toy, captain; M. Flynn, W. Laurin and E. Flynn, manager.

GIRLS! GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

For 25 Cents You Can Make Your Hair Lustrous, Fluffy, and Abundant.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

WARSAW IS THREATENED

Germans Resume Offensive in Russian Poland—Loss of British Warships Confirmed

LONDON, Nov. 18.—No change in the kaleidiscopic operations in Russian Poland has been more startling that the sudden resumption of the offensive on the part of the Germans, a movement by which the heart of the Russian line has been attacked and Warsaw again is threatened.

As usual conflicting reports arrive from the neighborhood of these operations. Petrograd does not deny that the Germans have resumed the offensive but despatches from the Russian capital declare that such a movement will not cause the slightest diversion from the Russian invasion of East Prussia, which is proceeding slowly but steadily. In the meanwhile Berlin claims a victory near Lipno, imperilling the Russian forces, which according to German reports, must make a stand before crossing the Vistula river, as a retirement behind that stream would be too difficult. Berlin reports that the Russians are near Kutno but Vienna claims a victory for her ally at this place.

From this welter of conflicting reports emerged clearly the fact that a great battle is under way in western Poland on the line between the river Vistula and the river Warta. It is equally clear that the Russian advance has been brought to a halt. In the meantime Russian progress continues through the Carpathians before Cracow and in East Prussia.

Bad weather conditions are still having their effect on the operations of the western arena. The artillery duels continue, but it is hardly likely that either side is attempting to make much use of its infantry.

Paris claims in an official communication that the invaders renewed their attacks to the south and east of Ypres without modifying the situation At the same time the allies, according to this announcement, have made marked progress at every point attacked—on the Yser, in the Vailly region and on the heights of the Meuse. Special despatches announce heavy German losses in fresh fighting at Dixmude and the existence between Nieuport and Ypres of a protective sheet of water which renders any further danger of a German advance in that region negligible. The Germans are reported also as having completely abandoned the left bank of the Yser, the flooding of which endangers their possession of Dixmude.

The giving out by the admiralty of the official reports of the captain of the British cruiser Glasgow on the naval engagement Nov. 1 off the coast of Chile settles beyond question the fate of the cruisers Good Hope and Monmouth but offers no solution to the mystery of the battleship Canopus. According to the Glasgow report, Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Craddock, commander of the British squadron, signalled the Canopus that he was about to engage the enemy. This is the only mention in connection with this naval engagement of the one battleship present on the British side.

The only other reference to the naval activity is a report of the bombardment of Knocke and Zeebrugge on the Belgian coast, by a British fleet. This is an operation which had been expected for some time.

SIX DAY RACE

Riders Are Smashing Records at Madison Square Garden

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Rapid fire sprints that almost overlapped, held cyclists in the six day race at top speed for more than an hour during the night and carried the new record nearly 15 miles in advance of the old. Today 15 of the 18 teams that started still whirled over the big bowl at Madison Square Garden. Although they had lost some of the wide margin over the old record, they were several miles ahead.

At the close of one of these bursts of speed the Wohlrab-Ryan team won back the lap they lost Monday night and again took rank with the leaders. During the early morning George Seres of the team of Seres and Dupuy developed water on the knee and retired from the race. At the same time Frank Cavanagh of Piercey and Cavanagh, retired because of a severe cold. Dupuy and Piercey combined in a new team.

The standing at 8 o'clock this morning was as follows:

Goullet and Grenda; Clark and Root; Cameron and Kaiser; Lawrence and Magin; Egg and Verri; Moran and McNamara; Walthour and Halstead; Fogler and Hill; Lawson and Drobach and Ryan and Wohlrab—all 1154 miles, 8 laps; Bedell and Bedell, Thomas and Hanley and Mitten and Anderson—1154 miles, 7 laps; Piercey and Dupuy, 1154 miles, 3 laps. Kopsky and Hansen, 1154 miles. The record for the fifty-sixth hour was 1150 miles and nine laps, made by Ryan and Thomas in 1912.

THE VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

New Course for Training Mechanics for Teachers—Great Opportunity for Learners

A new course will be added to the varied list taught at the Lowell Vocational school to be known as the training course for teachers in vocational schools, and it will include the following crafts: Machinist, electrician, automobile repairing, carpentry, cabinet-making, sheet metal work and printing.

Registration for this particular course will be held on Friday evening at the office of the Lowell Vocational school in the Mann school building Broadway, at 7.30 o'clock and no applicant need apply if he is under 25 or over 35 years of age. The classes will open next week and will be conducted two evenings a week, Mondays and Fridays. C. W. Allen of the Massachusetts board of education will be in charge and he will be assisted by the superintendent of the local school, Thomas Fisher. The course will include 20 lessons to be given on the following subjects:

General preliminary; state aided vocational education under Massachusetts laws; the department of vocational schools; the department as a unit; the department and the state; subjects and methods, principles and non-shop subjects. Related work, shop work, general principles, progressive shop work, and the project method. Departmental subjects: Shop science, shop English, shop mathematics, shop history, shop drawing, shop hygiene, the department of general subjects. General English, general mathematics, industrial history, citizenship training, general hygiene, cultural work, English and literature, types of school. Teaching devices.

Special registration was held last week and those who have registered are expected to report Friday evening of this week. Classes of this sort have been started at Springfield and Worcester with satisfactory result. A special registration was held in Lawrence a few days ago and seven or eight of those who have given their names have signified their intention of following the course in this city.

Up to the present time it has been found possible to obtain men who had a thorough trade equipment to hold positions of instructors at the vocational schools, but naturally these men have had no opportunity to obtain a definite training which would equip them in the teachers' art, and hence they have met with difficulty when employed as teachers. In order to meet the situation the state board of education, under the authority of the legislature, is putting into operation this year a plan whereby persons who already possess a thorough knowledge of their trade may secure an opportunity for training in the principles and methods of teaching.

The course will consist of an evening course two nights a week for about twenty weeks, and an opportunity for at least a few of the more promising men to be taken into the schools the following year as assistants, so that they may complete their training by practice in a school in actual operation. The course of instruction will deal only with those things which will help the man to teach efficiently what he already thoroughly knows, and no additional training or general education will be included.

No person will be admitted to these courses who does not satisfy the state authorities that he possesses the necessary qualifications as to age and other essentials.

Experience:—The minimum desired trade experience is three years of apprenticeship followed by at least five years' experience in the trade, making a total of eight years. Since many good men have not served a definite apprenticeship, consideration will be given to such early experience in the trade as might be deemed equivalent to apprenticeship experience. Some experience in a position requiring the supervision of the work of others, such as working foreman or assistant foreman in a large plant, or foreman in a small plant. Good physical condition and personal characteristics which argue for success as a teacher in the vocational schools.

Educational qualifications:—In the case of prospective trade teachers, graduation from a grammar school or its equivalent. Any further education, such as evening school work, correspondence school work, private study, etc., will be taken into consideration as an equivalent.

Only a certain number of men from each trade will be admitted to a class. Should more than this number of qualified men from each trade enroll, the selection of the most promising applicants will be made on the basis of the preferential qualifications given below: A wide experience, special skill, and an experience on a great variety of jobs. Candidates may be asked to pass a shop examination in order to determine their relative ability in this respect, and to furnish such special information as may be necessary.

A knowledge of such subjects as drawing, ability to make shop calculations, knowledge of various materials used in the trade, various machines and tools, special processes, etc. The degree to which the candidate possesses special qualifications along this line may also be determined by examination and the furnishing of such additional information as may be asked for. The class for each district will not exceed 15 men.

The courses are operated by the state. There is no tuition fee and no other charge for attendance. Men who have to travel to reach the class will of course be put to the expense of paying their own transportation.

In general the teaching positions for which this course trains pay from $1000 to $1200 at the start. After that, the salary depends very naturally upon the ability of the man and the particular locality in which he works. To a man who enters one of these schools as a teacher, and develops the necessary ability, there is also open the possibility of promotion within the schools to department head, paying from $1500 to $1800, and from department head to director of the school, paying from $2000 to $3000.

Evening Classes

New courses in sewing and cooking have been started at the girls' evening school. Supt. Fisher stated this morning the cooking class is full but more girls can be placed in the sewing department, and accordingly registration for this class will be held on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week at which time registration will close. A new cooking department has been started at the Butler school evenings, classes being held on Monday and Thursday evenings.

There are great opportunities in the dressmaking department of the evening school on Common street. The new course starts off on new garments that will offer new lines of instruction for all who attend.

DEATHS

WAZOISA—Stanislaw, aged 3 months and 7 days, died this morning at the home of the parents, Stanislaw and Soucia Wazoisa, 110 First street.

WINSBY—Miss Sarah A. Winsby, a well known resident of this city, passed away this morning at the Old Ladies' Home, 520 Fletcher street, aged 80 years, 5 months. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Melinda W. Costello and Mrs. Phoebe Trider, both of this city. During the Civil war Miss Winsby served as a nurse for four years.

LETENDRE—Mrs. Christophe (Riel) Letendre, aged 73 years, died late yesterday afternoon at her home, 91 Arch street. She leaves, besides her husband, five sons, Christophe Jr., of Canada; Louis, Felix, David and Nephtalie Letendre, all of Lowell; a daughter, Mrs. Helene Renaud, and two brothers, Auguste of this city and Rocque of St. Francois Xavier, Que. Deceased was a prominent member of the Third Order of St. Francis sodality.

PERKINS—Mrs. Elizabeth Perkins died yesterday afternoon at her home, 166 Pleasant street, aged 61 years, 5 months, 11 days. Mrs. Perkins was born in Nashua, N. H., but had lived in this city for the past 19 years. She leaves two sons, Fred S., of Emporia, Kan., and Herbert G. Perkins of this city; three daughters, Ellie M., Mildred A., and Marion W. Perkins of this city; also her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Whidden, of North Chelmsford. Deceased was a member of Betsy Ross Sisterhod, Dames of Malta, Dracut Grange, Women's Relief Corps, G. A. R., and First Baptist church.

CAISSE—In the death of Rev. J. C. Caisse, the esteemed pastor of Saints Marie's parish, Marlboro, which occurred on Monday, the diocese loses an old and efficient clergyman. Rev. J. H. Laboissiere, pastor of St. Louis' parish, was an intimate friend of deceased priest and the news of his death was a hard blow.

On last Sept. 23, when the parishioners of St. Louis' church observed the silver jubilee of their pastor, Rev. J. B. Laboissiere, Rev. J. C. Caisse delivered the sermon for the occasion. Only last month the French-American residents of Marlboro celebrated the 25th anniversary of Fr. Caisse's arrival there. He was to celebrate his golden jubilee in the priesthood next year.

WOODWORTH—Died at her home, 19 Hawthorn street, on Monday evening, Mrs. Lucia M. Woodworth, wife of Mr. A. B. Woodworth of this city. She is survived by her husband; a son, Artemus B. Woodworth, Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Arthur A. Stewart; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Henry P. Woodworth and eight grandchildren, all of this city.

Mrs. Woodworth was born in Lowell, July 5, 1840, and with the exception of a few years when the family home was in Chelmsford, her residence has been in Lowell. She was a member of the First Congregational church, but was prevented by protracted and confirmed invalidism from participating in its work and worship; nevertheless, she maintained a lively interest in its welfare to the last. Her affections were strong and abiding, although it was not in her nature to be demonstrative in the exhibition of them. Her tastes were domestic in character and her activities and energies were centred on her home and family and the families of her children and grandchildren. She was interested in all matters of general concern, and her sympathies were awakened in behalf of the suffering in Europe caused by the war. To do the little she could for its alleviation she had just provided herself with materials for making articles for the comfort of the Belgian soldiers, and had begun to use them with that intent—her last but unfinished work.

Funeral services will be held at the residence, 19 Hawthorn street, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends invited.

FUNERAL NOTICES

WINSLY—The funeral of Miss Sarah A. Winsly will take place Friday afternoon (Nov. 20th) at 2.30 o'clock from the Old Ladies' home. Friends invited. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertakers Simmons & Brown.

PERKINS—Died in this city, Nov. 17, at her home, 156 Pleasant street, Mrs. M. Elizabeth Perkins, aged 61 years, 5 months and 11 days. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home, 156 Pleasant street. Friends are respectfully invited to attend. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker William H. Saunders.

WARD—The funeral of William Ward will take place tomorrow afternoon. Services will be held at 8 Quimby av. at 2 o'clock. Friends invited without further notice. Funeral in charge of Undertaker John A. Weinbeck. Please omit flowers.

FRENCH OFFICIAL REPORT

Bombardment of Rheims Continues—Claim Success in Numerous Artillery Exchanges

PARIS, Nov. 18.—The French official statement given out in Paris this afternoon says that yesterday saw numerous artillery duels and some isolated infantry attacks, all of which were repulsed.

"The day of yesterday, Nov. 17, passed much as did the day before," says the statement. "There were numerous exchanges and some isolated attacks on the part of the enemy's infantry, all of which were repulsed.

"From the North sea to the Lys the front was subjected to a fairly active bombardment, particularly at Nieuport and to the east and to the south of Ypres.

"Near Bixschoote the Zouaves, charging with the bayonet, brilliantly took possession of a forest which had been disputed between the enemy and ourselves for three days.

"To the south of Ypres, an offensive movement on the part of the enemy's infantry was repulsed by our troops. The English army also maintained its front.

"From Arras to the Oise there is nothing new to report.

"In the region of Craonne our artillery on several occasions secured the advantage over the batteries of the enemy.

"The bombardment of Rheims has continued. From Rheims to the Argonne there is nothing new to report. In the region of St. Mihiel in spite of counter attacks by the Germans we have retained in our possession the western part of the village of Chauvoncourt.

"In Alsace, the landwehr battalions sent into the region of Saint Marie-Aux-Mines have had to b taken out for the reason that they lost one-half of their effective strength."

JOE MANDOT THE WINNER

IN FAST BOUT WITH YOUNG SAYLOR AT BOSTON LAST NIGHT—ONE OF THE BEST BOUTS IN HUB

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—In one of the best bouts that has been seen in this city for a long time Joe Mandot of New Orleans was declared the winner over Milburn Saylor of Indianapolis in their 12-round bout at the Atlas A. A. last night. As was expected, there was action from start to finish, and the decision of Referee Patsy Haley of New York satisfied most of the fans.

Mandot's style of milling made a big hit with the fans, but it was the general impression that Saylor is not the boxer he was. He has changed his style completely, and last night the way he boxed reminded one of Bob Fitzsimmons.

That there was a lot of feeling between the pair was very evident from the moment when Bill LeClair rang the gong that started them on their journey. They also showed that their previous meetings caused them to have a lot of respect for each other's ability. While Saylor looked to be the bigger, he was actually lighter, for when they weighed in at 3 o'clock in the afternoon he did not move the beam at 133 pounds, while Mandot made the bar go up.

All through the battle Saylor kept trying to bring over a right that would give him the battle by a "K. O." Mandot had a good defence for the hard swings that Saylor let fly for his jaw, but at that Saylor caught the southern boxer a couple of rights that shook him for an instant.

It was a pretty even battle for ten rounds, but in the last two Mandot showed superiority, using both hands well on Saylor's face and body. He got some bad wallops in the body from Saylor. Mandot fought in a clean manner all through the contest, but Saylor used rough tactics at times; he once hit Mandot a bit low, and apologized for doing so.

Referee Haley did not hesitate about giving the award to Mandot.

In the opening bout Teddy Murphy made Johnny Yauger quit in two rounds. Willie Green and Young Al Ketchel boxed a hard six round bout and Ketchel was given the award. In the semifinal Young Smiley of the U. S. S. Virginia and Joe Morgan of Manchester boxed eight rounds to a draw.

NASHUA HIGH HERE

Nashua high came to Lowell this noon and will line up against the local high school eleven this afternoon at Spaulding park. Both teams confidently expect to win, and a classy battle is expected. Lowell will work hard in an endeavor to shake off the jinx which has been following the team all season, and will put her best men to the front in today's battle. "Roundy" Roano is likely to be out of the game, owing to injuries received in the game with Haverhill high last Friday. However, the rest of the lineup are in good condition, and several players who have been on the hospital list will return to the game.

GALLANT OUTFOUGHT CROSS

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Gilbert Gallant of Boston outfought Leach Cross of this city in a hard 10-round bout last night. Gallant took the aggressive early and scored two knockdowns. Cross found his bearings in the sixth round and administered severe punishment. In the final three rounds Cross had the better of the fighting but the visitor's lead was too great to overcome.

FIRE AT WAYSIDE FARM

OLD LANDMARK AT BILLERICA CENTRE DESTROYED—FAMILY IS DRIVEN FROM BED

The old Wayside farm buildings, located on Boston road, Billerica Centre, were totally destroyed this morning by a fire which started in the kitchen of the dwelling, probably from an over-heated stove which had been lighted in an effort to warm up the room. Several persons were asleep in the house when the fire started and were awakened by the noise of the flames shooting through the partitions of the house. Fortunately one was injured in making a hasty escape.

The old Wayside farm is located only a few hundred yards from the centre of the town. A few years ago it was conducted successfully as a hotel and at that time became one of the best known places in Billerica. About two years ago the land and buildings were purchased by the Imperial Fur and Breeding company, it being the purpose of the company to raise foxes for investment purposes, although this had not been started. The buildings included a large residence of about 14 rooms and two barns, which were connected. E. A. King, a Billerica merchant, occupied the premises.

The fire was first discovered by an occupant of the house who after arousing the members of the King family, notified a nearby resident who rushed to the home of Fire Chief Bartlett, and he sounded an alarm. In the meantime the several occupants of the house had gathered together what clothing was within reach and started to save the furniture. Although the flames spread rapidly, a large part of the furniture and valuables which were stored away in the house were saved.

When the Billerica fire department arrived at the scene of action, a comparatively short time after the alarm was sounded, the house and stables were a mass of flames, the dry wood furnishing fine fuel for the fire. Eighteen hundred feet of hose were put into use but the water pressure was quite low and handicapped the department in fighting the blaze.

From a few minutes after 6 o'clock until 11 o'clock the firemen remained at the Wayside farm fighting the flames and putting out all smouldering pieces of wood which had blown about the property. However, the fire had secured such a headway when the department was summoned that none of the buildings could be saved and all were burned to the ground.

The barns contained a large amount of machinery which had been stored away for future use. Other farming implements were destroyed.

Mr. King stated that he started to light a fire in the kitchen stove about 5.45 o'clock this morning and after seeing that everything was apparently all right went to his store a short distance away, leaving his family asleep in the upper part of the house. Hardly had he reached his store when the rear part of the dwelling was burning and the flames were communicated to the main part of the house and the stables.

The loss of the Imperial Fur and Breeding company will be about $5000, partly covered by insurance while Mr. King was unable to estimate his loss on account of a part of the furniture having been removed to a neighbor's house. The total loss will be about $10,000.

Cosmos, Fri. night, Associate hall.

BOARD OF TRADE DIRECTORS

The weekly meeting of the executive committee of the Lowell Board of trade was held this noon at Page's banquet hall and 12 applications for membership were received as follows: Thomas Stott, Charles L. Stover, Rev. Dr. William A. Bartlett, Clarence M. Weed, G. Russell Dana, Jr., H. E. Symonds, Manuel E. Sousa, Charles P. Hodge, Harry Bass, H. A. Bowen, John L. Collins and Donald M. Cameron. The next meeting will be held at the same place next Wednesday noon.

THE COTTON LOAN FUND

PLANS TO CLEAR WAY FOR TRANSFER OF MONEY TO SOUTHERN COTTON PRODUCERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—With the $135,000,000 cotton loan fund fully subscribed, steps were taken today to clear the way for the actual transfer of the money to southern cotton producers. The federal reserve board, acting as the central committee, which has general supervision of the fund carried out the provisions of the understanding with subscribing banks by naming a cotton loan committee which shall actively administer the fund.

The first meeting of the committee will be held in New York probably on Friday and plans laid for carrying out its purpose including the appointment of committees to pass upon applications for loans.

DELEGATION FROM LOWELL

WILL ATTEND MEETING OF MASS. WATERWAYS BOARD IN BOSTON TONIGHT

President Robert F. Marden, secretary John H. Murphy, Capt. W. P. White and George H. Kimball of the board of trade will attend the meeting of the Massachusetts waterway board, which will be held this evening at Young's hotel in Boston. The meeting will be followed by a banquet and among the speakers will be Engineer Craighill, who made the adverse report on the project of deepening the Merrimack river; Chairman A. B. Sutherland of the Merrimack valley waterway commission of Lawrence and other noted speakers.

The members of the board of trade who had planned to go to Washington, D. C., on Dec. 8 to attend the congressional hearing on the matter of deepening the Merrimack river have not yet given up the trip, for all are awaiting a report from Congressman John Jacob Rogers who, in company with Congressmen Phelan of Lawrence and Gardner of Haverhill, will confer with the engineer who made the adverse report. As soon as Congressman Rogers is ready to report a meeting will be held in this city and final action on the proposed trip will be taken.

O.M.I. CADETS' MEETING

ARRANGEMENTS FOR CELEBRATING THE 10TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ORGANIZATION

There will be a meeting of the O. M. I. Cadets at 7.30 o'clock tonight in the school hall to make arrangements for observing the tenth anniversary of the organization, which occurs on Nov. 20. Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., desires that all the working boys and all the high school boys be present.

HOLD SPECIAL ELECTION

IN SALEM ON DEC. 19—NECESSARY BY PETITION FOR RECALL OF MAYOR HURLEY

SALEM, Nov. 18.—The special election made necessary by the petition for the recall of Mayor John F. Hurley will be held on Dec. 19, it was announced after a special meeting of the mayor and city government today. The preliminaries will take place on Dec. 8 which is also the date of the regular municipal election. The city clerk announced that 1911 certified names on the recall petition had been certified.

ALLIES ADVANCE

landwehr, composed of older Germans has been used in this district. The French war office announces that the landwehr battalions have been withdrawn as they have lost one-half of their effective strength.

On the two main battlefronts—on the Belgian seacoast to the Swiss border and along the eastern boundary of Germany—renewed efforts were being made today to bring about a decided turn in the progress of the war.

The situation in eastern Prussia presented, apparently, the greatest opportunities for a quick and important change, although Russian and German statements were still in sharp conflict. The German war office announced officially today that the operations against the Russians were proceeding favorably. The Russians, it was said, were compelled to fall back from Wloclawek and Lipno. The latest statement from Petrograd, however, declares that the Germans were retiring along the whole east Prussia front. It was also indicated in advices from Petrograd that an important Russian force had penetrated to the extreme southeastern section of Galicia, where furious fighting is said to be in progress.

The Austrian troops are reported to be fleeing in great disorder. In Belgium, the unwearying Germans have begun another of their fearful onslaughts in a region which is becoming more and more restricted. The allies have succeeded in flooding a further area so that heavy infantry fighting is almost impossible from the seacoast nearly to Ypres. A new bombardment of Belgian coast towns by British warships is said to have inflicted heavy damage on the German possessions and to have destroyed large quantities of ammunition and stores.

The French government, according to unofficial advices from Paris, intends to carry out the plan announced some time ago for its early return to Paris. It is reported today that the legislative and administrative staffs of the chambers of deputies will return to Paris tomorrow, preparatory to removing the seat of government.

A. G. POLLARD ELECTED

ONE OF THE VICE PRESIDENTS AT ANNUAL MEETING OF HOME MARKET CLUB

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Arthur G. Pollard of Lowell was one of the vice presidents elected at the annual meeting of the Home Market club today.

The adoption of a resolution welcoming the cooperation of all believers in a reasonable protective tariff, a review of the November election by President W. B. Dowse and a letter from Joseph Walker, the progressive candidate for governor, urging united action by protectionists were among the features of the meeting.

President Dowse claimed there was a gain in the election of 80 protectionist congressmen. This, he said, was the nation's answer to the democratic tariff bill.

"As the result of the election," he said, "courage and confidence have taken the place of doubt and depression and the outlook for business is brighter today than it has been at any time since President Wilson signed the new tariff bill."

BOOKS ON THE WAR

CITY LIBRARIAN CHASE HAS A LIST GIVING ALL SIDES OF THE CONTROVERSY

Librarians, like all other folks who have to do with books, are watching the effect of the war upon the reading public and Librarian Chase of this city says that the demand for books on the war is very great. One book, "Secrets of the German War Office," by Karl Arm Gaard Graves, has a waiting list of 23. Three copies of the book have been received at the public library and as quickly as a copy is returned the owner of the first name on the waiting list is notified.

The war has created a widespread interest in recent histories of countries, in books of European travels, in international law bearing upon treaties, upon the duties of neutrals, and upon contraband goods. The demand for books of a semi-prophetic nature has been great. The extraordinary events in Europe have led some persons to read, perhaps for the first time, something other than a newspaper or a novel. In this way the percentage of loans of non-fiction books has been increased.

The war has already effected the reading habits of thousands of persons who never enter a library. It has been said, and truly, too, that newspapers have suddenly assumed a place which they have seldom or never occupied. Many people who read them entirely for amusement, or as a matter of routine, now find them necessary factors of daily life.

Librarian Chase is a very close observer and he has watched, with great interest, the effect of the war upon those who read. He says that the war has stimulated interest in historical research and he has noted a great many new faces in the library since the war started.

The most interesting books on the war include Roland G. Usher's book on "Pan-Germanism"; Gen. von Bernhardi's book on "How Germany Makes War"; Prof. Muensterberg's book on "America and the War," and many others, including "Interest of America in International Conditions," by Capt. Alfred T. Mahan, U. S. N., (retired); the books of Baroness von Suttner, and several books fresh from the press. These include "Germany and England," by J. A. Cramb; "Who is Responsible?" Cloudesley Brereton; "The Real Truth About Germany," Douglas Sladen.

In addition to these books are stacks of pamphlets bearing such titles as "How Briton Strove for Peace," "The Facts About Belgium," and "The Case of Belgium," published for the Belgian delegates who recently paid a visit to this country. Then come the documents respecting the negotiations preceding the war, printed by the Russian government, diplomatic correspondence by the Belgian government, and monthly bulletins from the association for international conciliation. In addition to all of these is the London Times history of the war which comes weekly. This is an intensely interesting publication, splendidly edited and beautifully illustrated.

The paper covered book containing the despatches between the British government and ambassadors, and speeches delivered in imperial house of commons is mighty interesting. Despatches from His Majesty's ambassadors at Berlin and Vienna are included in this publication as well as a despatch from the ambassador at Berlin respecting an official German organization for influencing the press of other countries.

BODY OF LORD ROBERTS

ARRIVES HOME—MILITARY FUNERAL IN ST. PAUL'S PLANNED—GUN CARRIAGE TO BE USED

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The body of Field Marshal Lord Roberts on its arrival at Folkstone last night from Boulogne was received by a large contingent of officers from the Shorncliffe camp, the mayor of Folkestone and other officials.

The waiting room of the railway station had been converted into a mortuary chamber and the coffin was borne there by noncommissioned army officers. It was ladened with a number of wreaths. In the procession from the boat to the railway station, marched a delegation of British, French and Indian officers. A guard of honor was posted about the coffin last night.

The body will arrive tomorrow at the home, Englemere, in Ascot, and will lie in state until Thursday, when it will be taken the railway station on the gun carriage which his son died trying to save at Colenso in the South African war.

A special train will then bring the casket to London. Troops will escort it to St. Paul's. In deference to the public wish he will be laid to rest in the cathedral. A public funeral of elaborate military character has been planned.

The vault in St. Paul's in which the field-marshal will lie is the mausoleum of Great Britain's greatest warriors. The last soldier buried there was Field Lord Wolseley, at whose funeral last March Lord Roberts was a bearer.

FIRE ON WATSON STREET

An alarm from box 221, corner of Kinsman and Whipple streets, about 2 o'clock this afternoon was for a slight fire in a house at 14 Watson street. The blaze started in a wood box and threatened to spread, but the members of hose 7 extinguished it promptly.

REPORT DENIED

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Russian myth, the story which gained widespread circulation some months ago that a Russian force of 80,000 men from Archangel had been landed in Scotland, thence moved to France, was officially buried in the house of commons today by a definite announcement that no Russian troops had ever moved through Great Britain for the western arena of the conflict.

TEST FLOODS IN BOSTON

Hydrant Opened in Experiment With New High Pressure Fire Service Water Mains

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Considerable excitement was furnished at Scollay Sq. shortly before 8 o'clock last night, when hydraulic engineers testing the new high pressure fire service water mains opened a hydrant on Tremont street and in a few moments had the square and adjacent streets flooded.

The test was under the direction of George S. Coleman, engineer of the department of public works, and R. A. Scally, engineer for the contractors who are installing the pipes. The test was scheduled for one hour, but owing to inconvenience to pedestrians it was cut short until later in the night.

These experiments are made in order to drive the air from the pipes so that the tests for leakage and other defects can be conducted with the pressure at times reaching the maximum, which will be about 400 pounds. The water leaving the hydrant last night was from a pressure of only 55 pounds.

STOCK EXCHANGE

Another Barrier to Operations Removed by Committee in Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Another barrier to the operation of the stock exchange was taken away today when the committee having charge of transactions rescinded the order of last August requiring members to confirm by letter all transactions made through the committee.

Members of the exchange were also granted the liberty of changing or cancelling orders at any time.

DUE TO JEALOUSY

Dr. von Mach in Address Before Church Club at Brookline Discusses British Entry into War

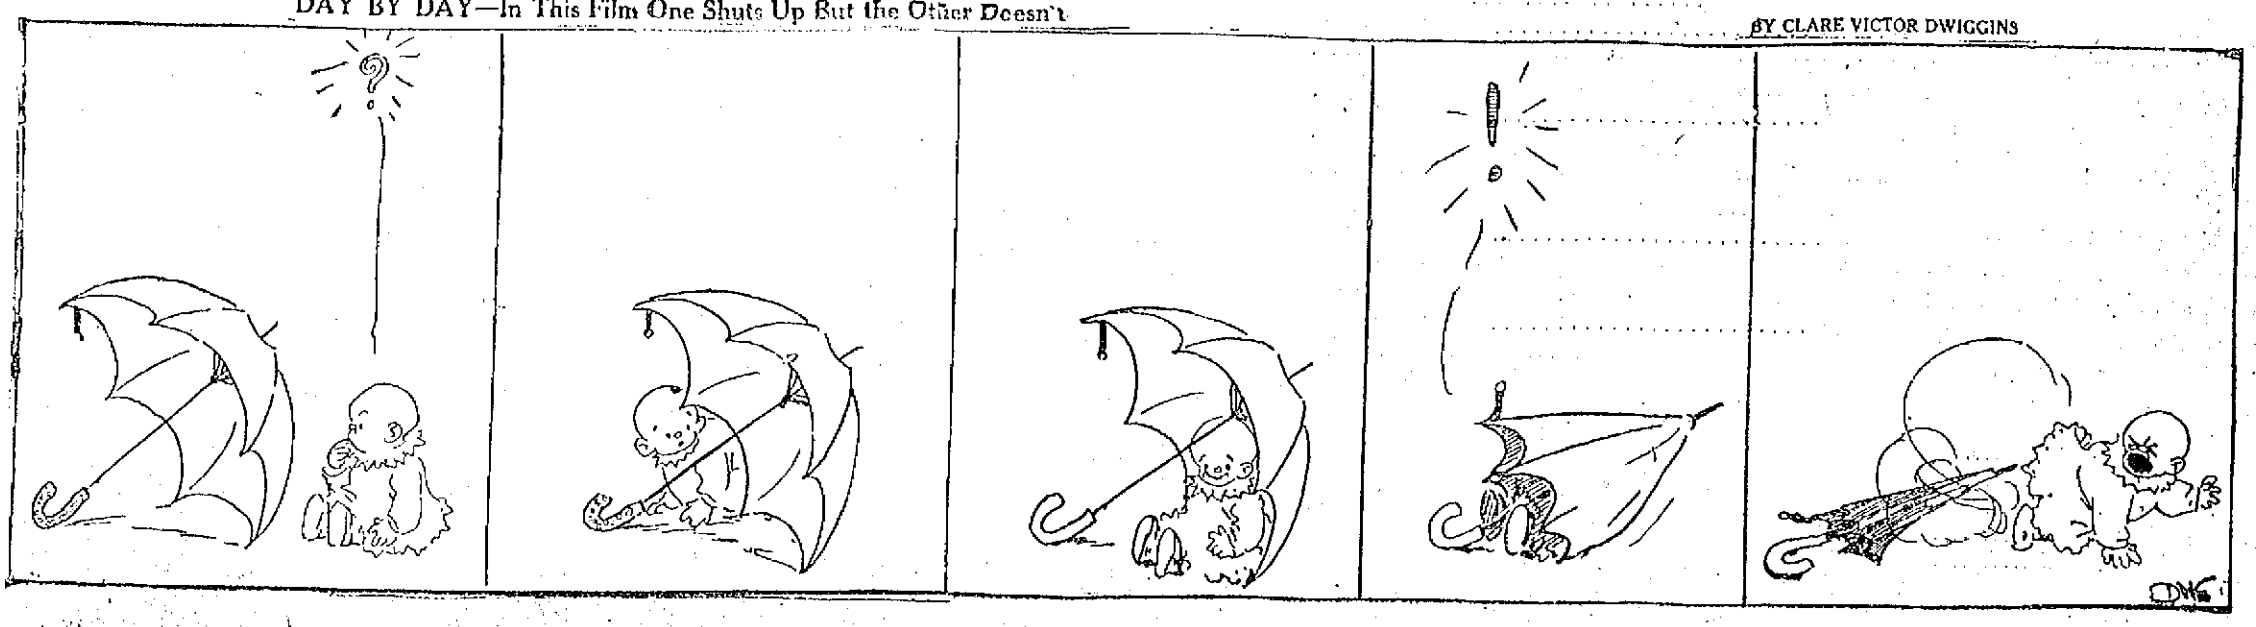

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Speaking before the Tuesday Evening Neighborhood club of All Saints' Episcopal parish, Brookline, last evening, Dr. Edmund von Mach of Harvard college said that Great Britain's entry into the present war was due to jealousy of Germany's expanding commerce, and not because the neutrality of Belgium was violated.

Germany, he declared, was not ruled by a military clique, nor was the kaiser pushed into this war by this clique.

The speaker said he felt convinced that no such toast as has been credited to officers in the German army and navy, concerning Paris, was ever made. The regulations of the German navy were very strict and permitted only one toast, to wit, "To His Majesty the Kaiser."

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Investigation by Grand Jury of Alleged Murder of Mildred Sullivan Begun Today

HOULTON, Me., Nov. 18.—With 22 witnesses to be questioned the investigation which was begun today by the grand jury of the alleged murder of Miss Mildred Sullivan of Houlton was expected to require several days.

Among the witnesses who were to be examined as to the charges against Dr. Lionel E. Dudley of Presque Isle, who is being held on the charge of murder, and Miss Alice Pelletier and Perley Pelletier of the same town, who were bound over as accessories before the fact, was Miss Kate Michaud, the Wallagras nurse, whose alleged confession brought about the finding of the girl's body in the Presque Isle woods and the three arrests.

Others included Miss Ruth Deveny of Cambridge, Mass., and Detective Sergeant Irwin of the Boston police, who arrived today, and the physicians who are said to have found a quantity of poison in the girl's stomach at the autopsy.

METCALF TRIAL

Reassigned for Monday in the Federal District Court

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 18.—The trial of Edward P. Metcalf, former president of the Atlantic National bank, and Henry E. De Kay, a New York promoter, on one of several indictments found a year ago following the failure of the bank against them and other financiers, was reassigned for Monday in the federal district court today.

John W. De Kay, although he is one of the defendants named in the indictment set for trial at this time, was not in court. He never has been arrested.

His brother, Henry E. De Kay, whose bail was declared forfeited because he failed to respond when his case was called last spring for assignment, appeared personally and asked to have the default against his bail removed. The court said his request would be granted if he should be present Monday.

WILL REOPEN DEC. 7

Stock Exchange in Los Angeles, Cal., Will Resume Unrestricted Business on That Date

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 18.—The Los Angeles Stock Exchange will reopen for unrestricted business on Dec. 7. This was decided at a special meeting of the board of directors yesterday after a review of general conditions and of the effect upon business of the opening of the Federal Reserve banks. The quotations posted at the opening will be the same as they were at the closing of the exchange on July 30.

PROGRESSIVES LOSE STANDING

ST. PAUL, Nov. 18.—The progressive, socialist and independent labor parties failed to get sufficient votes in Minnesota at the recent general election to entitle them to legal standing as political organizations. The progressive gubernatorial candidate polled only 3466 votes, as against 33,445 cast for the party in 1912.

Y. M. C. I. LADIES' NIGHT

ENJOYABLE AFFAIR CONDUCTED AT THE INSTITUTE QUARTERS IN STACKPOLE STREET LAST NIGHT

The first of a series of ladies' nights to be conducted by the Y. M. C. I., during the winter months, was held last evening at the club headquarters in Stackpole street, and proved to be a highly enjoyable affair. General dancing was started at 8 o'clock to the pleasing strains of Curtin's Novelty orchestra and continued until midnight. At intermission which came about 10 o'clock, the ladies were taken around by the members, and the beautiful rooms given a thorough inspection. Billiards, pool and bowling were enjoyed, and some of the young women proved to be remarkably adept in each. It was announced that another night will be given over to the ladies one week from next Tuesday night. The following committee is responsible for the success of last night's affair: Paul R. Clark, chairman; James Cooney, George Clark, John King, William King, Joseph McCartin, Thomas Higgins, Jeremiah Connors, Joseph Stowell, John Welsh, Martin Welsh, Michael Boyle, John McMann, John Tansey, Anthony Doyle, Andrew Doyle, John Clark, Francis Haggerty, James Gilligan, John Cole, Thos. Clark, Jas. McCarron, Gerald F. Beane, John Rogers, Fred Leonard, Edward Leonard, Lee Tansey, Frank Sullivan, Frank Roane, John Shields, Paul O'Neil and Matthew Shaughnessy.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to extend our sincere thanks to our relatives, neighbors and friends, who by tender words of sympathy, beautiful floral offerings and other kindly acts, helped to lighten the burden of sorrow in our recent bereavement, caused by the death of our beloved wife and mother, Abbie Bligh. We are deeply grateful to all and will always remember their kindness.

(Signed)
Mr. Michael Bligh,
Emmeline Bligh,
Abbie Bligh,
Mrs. Theresa Livingston,
Daniel Ryan and Family.

LOWELL ART ASSOCIATION

December 1 will mark the opening of the Lowell Art association season, the event to consist of an illustrated talk at the Whistler house on the domestic life of the modern Egyptians by Mrs. Joseph Lindon Smith of Boston.

The affair will be free to all members in good standing and the talk will be followed by a reception to the speaker.

BIG DROP IN TEMPERATURE

THE COLD WEATHER MORE FELT BECAUSE OF SUDDEN CHANGE

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—The cold weather of yesterday, which the local weather bureau officials declare is "seasonable," was more felt than it naturally would be because it came so swiftly, with a drop of about 30 degrees in the morning from Monday morning's temperature.

Local bureau officials declare that Boston has been enjoying unusually warm weather the last two weeks for this time of year, and that a drop in temperature was to be expected.

Their official prediction late last night was "fair Wednesday and Thursday. Not much change in temperature. Moderate westerly winds."

With the exception of the lake region, where a few snow flurries were reported yesterday, practically the entire country is enjoying fair weather, and some parts of it experienced much colder weather yesterday than fell to the lot of Boston.

At 8 o'clock last night Denver reported a temperature of 42, St. Louis 36, Buffalo 24, Chicago 28, St. Paul 16, Bismarck 22, Northfield, Vt., 24, Portland, Me., 30, and Eastport, Me., 32. The coldest place on the continent last night was Cochrane, Ont., where the glass went down to 14 below zero. White River, Ont., reported 12 below zero.

Other readings last night were Kansas City 38, Washington 34, New York 34, Philadelphia 36, New Orleans 48, San Francisco 66. The hottest place was Miami, Fla., where the glass registered 74 above. During the day, however, a maximum of 76 was reported from Phoenix, Ariz.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning there was a drop of 28 degrees from the temperature at the same hour Monday morning and 25 degrees from the noon temperature Monday.

The highest temperature yesterday was at 1 p. m., when 41 was reached. From that hour on there was a steady but gradual drop of the mercury. The weather bureau officials, however, do not expect the temperature to drop much below 30, and during the daylight hours today and tomorrow the temperature will probably fluctuate between 30 and 40.

BLIZZARD RAGING

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 18.—The Adirondacks are being swept by a severe blizzard and considerable property damage has been done. There is nearly a foot of snow in the woods now and it is still falling. Roofs were blown from several buildings at Tupper Lake and other Adirondack stations.

DALTON EXTENDS THANKS

The undersigned desires to extend his sincere thanks to the friends who did him the honor of their votes in yesterday's primaries and to assure them that he is deeply appreciative of their expressed confidence and regard.

LARGE PARTY AT DEPOT

The railroad station in Middlesex street was the scene of a large gathering late yesterday afternoon, when some 50 Greeks of this city left for their fatherland. In the group of those leaving were five women and as many children. The party left on the 5.30 o'clock train for Fall River, whence they will board a steamship for New York, from where they are expected to sail for Greece today. Some of the party are going to Sparta, while others will go directly to Macedonia, where all expect to remain indefinitely. The men and women were escorted to the railroad station by several hundred of their fellow countrymen and women and the departing scene was a most touching one.

POLICE COURT CASES

ONLY THREE OFFENDERS BROUGHT BEFORE JUDGE ENRIGHT TODAY

Only a trio of petty offenders were brought before Judge Enright in police court today. A man of about 60 years of age pleaded guilty to drunkenness on his 42nd arraignment in the local court but he asked for another chance to turn over a new leaf and His Honor imposed a suspended sentence of three months in jail.

Henry F. Fahey was complained of by his boarding mistress, Mary Gookin, for committing a disturbance about 12 o'clock last night. Fahey admitted that he was intoxicated and made considerable noise but claimed that he had been listening to the election returns and was on sort of a celebration. He promised the court that he would keep away from the boarding-house hereafter and a two months' sentence to the Lowell jail was suspended for six months.

Omer H. Bolgvert pleaded guilty to non-support of his wife but the case was continued until tomorrow for trial.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

"The Christian," which is breaking all records at the Opera House this week is without exception the greatest dramatic motion photo-play ever shown upon the screen. Produced by the Vitagraph-Liebler company with their all star cast, amid the natural surroundings of the story, this photo-masterpiece will be as popular with theatregoing public twenty years from now as is the stage version. Miss Edith Storey, the adorable, fascinating little star, attains a great personal triumph as "Glory Quayle." Earle Williams, in portraying John Storm,—a type of man who is almost a religious fanatic, accomplishes equally as brilliant work as Miss Storey, while the supporting cast is the best ever seen in one picture.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Teddy Alice, the wonderful skating bear at the B. F. Keith theatre this week is trained as is no other member of the bear family. Her skating is perfection itself, and her wrestling is full of vigor. She is a very remarkable specimen of a trained animal. Everybody will want to see her. An act with the real rustic flavor is "The Belle of Bingville," in which Whitefield and Ireland, assisted by Lew Murdock, appears. The act is one prolonged scream of laughter. Miss Ireland and Mr. Murdock do some exceptional grotesque dancing. All in all it is one of the most likeable of rural comedies. The Six Musical Spillers give ragtime music as it should be played. On saxaphones, morimbaphones, trombones and cornets they play some of the mellowest of melodies. Doc O'Neil, whose laugh prescriptions are everywhere hailed with delight, offers his newest budget. Other acts on the bill are Bernard & Scarth, "A Tonic for Temper." Delmore & Oneida and the Hearst-Selig News Pictorial. 'Phone 28.

THE ROYAL THEATRE

One of the most stupendous and up-to-date war dramas ever conceived for a film will be shown at the Royal today and tomorrow, "The War of Wars," is the title of this brand-new feature which was only recently released. It is a six-reel production of pitched battles, but among the smoke and fire, a charming love story is cleverly woven. Stuart Holmes, a renowned American actor is seen in the leading part as "Babe," a German officer, whose willful ways win the heart of a beautiful French girl. Hugo de Grandpre is the last of the race and lives with his two sisters on the border of France, near the German lines. It is one of the first chateaux to fall into the hands of the Germans, and "Babe" is one of the many officers who admire the beauty of Yvonne, the fairer of the two sisters. She escapes to an inn kept by her brother-in-law, who attempts to make love to her. "Babe," who admires her greatly, spares her from dishonor and the innkeeper is killed by the German officer, who is later court-martialed and sentenced to die. The other sister, thinking her brother-in-law had been killed in trying to defend her sister swears vengeance, and stabs "Babe." Then a scene of wonderful screen adventures is flashed before the interested spectator, who finds himself gasping from scene to scene, for its great realism, and wonderful acting. Five other photo-plays complete the program.

THE OWL THEATRE

The picture-fan who is not acquainted with John Barrymore, should not lose the last opportunity to see him in pictures. His last two performances as Fitzhew in "The Man From Mexico," will take place today at the Owl. Coming Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Edward Abeles in "Ready Money." Five other daily Mutual photo-plays besides the daily big feature. Some show, is it not?

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Only once in a season does one get the chance to see such a delightfully plain and yet at the same time interesting parade of facts as are found in Paul Armstrong's really clever drama, "The Escape," being presented by the stock company at the Merrimack Square Theatre this week. The audiences thus far have pronounced it 100 per cent. meritorious. Seats for performances are selling rapidly and those who contemplate a visit to this popular playhouse this week had best secure their tickets today.

The coming week one of those almost extinct but nevertheless welcome, old-fashioned country dramas "Uncle Dave Holcomb," will be the offering, and seats for both performances to be given on Thanksgiving day will go on sale at the box office tomorrow.

MATHEW INSTITUTE MET

SOCIAL EVENTS FOR THE SEASON DISCUSSED—DEBATE ON CITY CHARTER

A largely attended and highly interesting meeting of the Mathew Temperance Institute was held last evening at its headquarters in Central street, with President Walter T. Powers in the chair. Two new members were initiated and three applications for membership were turned over to the investigating committee, who will report on them at the next regular meeting.

The social committee reported that another ladies' night will be held at the rooms on Friday evening. The carnival committee, consisting of P. F. Nestor, Walter T. Powers and Edward Welsh, submitted progressive reports, relative to the coming carnival, and their remarks were greeted with applause.

William H Duffy of St. Mary's C. T. A. U., of Lynn, made his first official visit as deputy from the Boston C. T. A. U. His visit was unexpected, and he was much pleased with the large attendance and spirit of coperation shown by the members. Mr. Duffy was called upon for a few remarks and proved to be a very able talker.

The literary committee has arranged for another smoke talk to be held on December 1. If possible the series of smoke talks arranged by this committee will be held at the first meeting in each month. A debate was given a thorough trying out at last night's meeting and proved very successful. At the next meeting the subject of the debate will be: Resolved, "That the New Charter Gives Better Municipal Government Than the Old Charter." John Sullivan will lead the negative side, and William H. Carey has been selected to argue in the affirmative. The younger members are taking an active interest in the debates, and in the future they will be heard on the affirmative and negative sides. The subjects selected will be highly interesting and instructive, and much benefit will be derived by the member spending the evening at the institute on the nights these treats are to be held.

HELD SHORT MEETING

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL DID NOT HAVE MUCH BUSINESS ON HAND TODAY

The municipal council held a brief meeting this forenoon and at its conclusion, Mayor Murphy and Commissioners Donnelly and Morse went to Chelsea to attend the fourth annual banquet of the Massachusetts Police Baseball league. The banquet is complimentary to the Newton police baseball team, world's police champions for 1914.

The little business attended to this morning included petitions for garage and gasoline licenses submitted by M. H. Pratt, George Glatas, Mrs. Fred W. Hogg and Walter Jackson. All the petitions were referred to the commissioner of water works and fire department and the chief of the fire department.

The petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for a pole location in Dalton street, near Ennell street, was laid on the table till the next meeting. The meeting lasted five minutes.

ASKS FOR RECEIVER

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—A receiver is sought for the United States Motor company, a New Jersey corporation with authorized capital of $42,500,000 and plants at Hartford, Detroit, Dayton, Providence, Newcastle, Ind., and Tarrytown, N. Y., in a suit filed today in the state supreme court by Emmanuel Metzger of this city, a stockholder.

INDICTMENT QUASHED

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The indictment charging Daniel N. Morgan, former treasurer of the United States, and six others with using the mails to defraud stock investors in connection with the operations of Jared Flagg was quashed today, upon motion of the United States district attorney, who said that the testimony at Flagg's trial showed that Mr. Morgan and his six associates were not guilty.

MANCHESTER MARTYRS

MEMORY OF IRISH PATRIOTS TO BE CELEBRATED NEXT SUNDAY EVENING

On next Sunday evening at Associate hall will be held a grand entertainment to celebrate the memory of Allen-Larkin and O'Brien, those worthy heroes who offered up their lives for Ireland 47 years ago. They were humble men, but from their death there came into existence the movement founded by Charles S. Parnell that was destined to win for Ireland all her just demands.

The lecture will be delivered by Hon. James B. Casey and those who hear him on this occasion will be more than repaid.

All Irish societies are invited to be present that evening, including the A. O. H., the Irish National Invincibles, the Celtic Associates, the Clan-a-Gaills, Wolfe Tone guards and Meagher guards. An invitation is also extended to the Knights of Columbus. There is also prepared for your reception a grand musical program, with some of the best talent of the city taking part.

FIREMEN HAD FALSE ALARM

At 9.45 o'clock this morning the members of Hose Co. No. 3, located at the Central fire station in Palmer street, went on a wild goose chase up Moody street. It seems that while electricians were working on the alarm system three blows were sounded and this was mistaken by the members of Hose Co. No. 3, who rushed to the corner of Moody and Worthen streets, where Box 12 is located. District Chief Crowley happened to be in the vicinity and he ordered the men back to their stations after having explained how the blows were struck.

U. S. BUNTING CLUB ENTERTAINED

Mr. J. T. Whittaker of 38 West Sixth street entertained the members of the athletic committee of the U. S. Bunting Co. last night with a banquet and entertainment. The affair proved very delightful and was fully enjoyed by all who attended. At the beginning of the sporting season of the Bunting club, Mr. Whittaker promised that he would entertain if the season was successful and yesterday being his birthday, he picked out last evening as an appropriate time to act as host to his fellow members of the committee.

Seated, GILMORE

Indications are that peace will soon be declared in the baseball world. Just what form the negotiations will take is uncertain, but it seems probable that Charles Weeghman, principal owner of the Chicago Federal league club, will buy the Cubs from Taft and Murphy and that the Wards, owners of the Brooklyn Federal league team, will buy the New York American league club or one of the clubs in the National league. There will be a consolidation of the St. Louis Federal league club and the Cardinals and a readjustment by which the American association and the remnants of the Federal league will be consolidated. President Gilmore, Weeghman and the other men who have been handling the affairs of the Federal league insist that there will be no peace that does not protect all the men identified with the "outlaw" organization, either as backers or players.

A FUTURE CLEAR AND BRIGHT, SAYS PRESIDENT

"We are All in the Same Boat", He Writes, "And Shall Advance Together"—Praises McAdoo

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—"A future clear and bright, with promise of the best things," was the way President Wilson summed up his view of the business prospect last night in a letter to Sec. McAdoo of the treasury department, congratulating him upon the opening of the new federal reserve bank system.

"Fundamental wrongs once righted as they may now easily and quickly be," wrote the president, "all differences will clear away. We are all in the same boat, though apparently we had forgotten it. We now know the port for which we are bound.

"We have, and shall have more and more as our new understandings ripen, a common discipline of patriotic purpose. We shall advance, and advance together, with a new spirit, a new enthusiasm, a new cordiality of spirited cooperation. It is an inspiring prospect."

Mr. Wilson referred to the new tariff law, the new currency law, the new trade commission law and the labor provisions of the new antitrust law as the means through which "the soil has everywhere been laid bare out of which monopoly is slowly to be eradicated."

He added that "undoubtedly the means by which credit has been set free is at the heart of all these things; is the keypiece of the whole structure."

Referring to the "opportuneness" of the new currency law the president said: "The war which has involved the whole of the heart of Europe has made it necessary that the United States shoul mobilize its resources in the most effective way possible."

He spoke of the difficulty of marketing the cotton crop of the country, and added that no doubt, in the light of the new day, with its new understandings, the problems of the railroads also will be met and dealt with in a spirit of candor and justice.

BERLIN CLAIMS GERMAN ADVANCE

Official War Bulletin From Berlin Says Operations on the Eastern Front are Progressing Favorably—Details of Capture of Warsaw

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—An official war bulletin given out in Berlin today sets forth that the operations on the eastern front are progressing favorably. The Germans apparently are using their victory at Wloclakawek to the greatest advantage. The Russian armies defeated near Lipno are today probably in the vicinity of Plock, and the forces defeated near Wloclakawek are now near Kutno and Leschytizo.

For the continuation of operations, the bulletin goes on to say, it will be of the greatest importance for the German troops from the region of Soldau to make further progress against the right wing of the main Russian army. If the Russians intend to retire behind the Vistula such a retreat, considering the bad condition of the roads, would be most difficult, consequently the Russians probably will prefer to make a definite stand when the German and Austrian forces attack.

The papers of Berlin declare again today that the fall of Belgrade, Servia, is imminent.

GERMAN CASUALTY LISTS, JUST ISSUED, RECORD DEATH OF TWO GENERALS

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—German casualty lists just issued record the deaths of two generals and the wounding of another. Gen. Alfred Von Vrieyen was killed on Nov. 12 and Gen. Von Lopel was in command of the reserve infantry division. General Stenger, commander of the 53rd German infantry brigade, is listed as having been severely wounded.

The Tageblatt's Poland correspondent relates the details of the capture of Governor Von Korf of Warsaw on Monday morning. It appears from this account that the governor with his adjutant approached Kutno in an automobile, not knowing that the city had already been taken by the Germans after bloody street fighting. Suddenly the governor found himself before the vanguard of German cavalry. He tried to escape but was overtaken by the Metz dragoons and surrendered without resistance. He was brought to Gnesen, province of Posen, Monday night, and confined in the best hotel there.

The American Red Cross division at Gleiwitz in Prussian Silesia near the Russian border expects shortly to be moved to a more northerly spot.

The capital of the Krupp company is to be increased from 70,000,000 to 250,000,000 marks, according to the proposals of the directors which were submitted to a general meeting of the company at Essen on Nov. 12. The increase is justified, it was said, by the demands of war and by earlier enlargements of the works, purchases of coal fields, etc., which locked up considerable capital.

M'ADOO GETS COTTON FUND OF $135,000,000

Secretary of the Treasury Raps New England Banks—Refers to "Selfish Interests"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—In announcing the success of the cotton loan fund of $135,000,000 and the completion of subscriptions for the entire $100,000,000 of Class A certificates, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo's statement, issued last night, contains an intimation that New England and Boston did not respond with the celerity or enthusiasm which characterized some of the other cities in non-cotton states.

"The success of this plan has at no time been in doubt," said Secretary McAdoo in his statement, "but its completion has been delayed by the selfish opposition of certain textile manufacturers and local interests who have tried to defeat it."

The secretary further emphasizes the lack of interest in the plan shown by Boston financiers by calling attention to the "only" banks, five in number, in Boston which subscribed to the fund.

Secretary McAdoo was not available last night, and it could not be ascertained, therefore, whether he wished to add anything to the general statement issued by him. From sources close to the federal reserve board, however, it was intimated that the secretary had in mind certain New England gentlemen when he referred to the "selfish opposition" of certain textile interests which attempted the defeat of the project.

Moreover it was stated that Boston financial institutions failed to meet the allotment made by the treasury department as to what was considered at Washington a fair share of their subscriptions to the fund, and the last $3,000,000 which they were expected to take were subscribed yesterday by New York bankers.

Earlier in the day Mr. McAdoo issued a denial that the fund was about to fail and stated that it still lacked only a few million dollars to insure success. Following this, Mr. McAdoo, Paul M. Warburg and W. P. G. Harding, members of the federal reserve board in active charge of the pool plan, took active steps to gather in the remaining millions.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York, of which firm Mr. Warburg was a partner before he came to the board, agreed to subscribe $2,000,000. At a luncheon given by John Skelton Williams, Bernard M. Baruch of New York said that he might invest in the fund up to $1,500,000. His offer was taken to the extent of $1,000,000 and the fund completed.

A few hours after Mr. Baruch's offer word was received from several banks that they were willing to subscribe to an amount of about $2,500,000, but their assistance was not needed. As it stands, the fund is oversubscribed about $300,000.

The list of cities and the amounts subscribed to the fund as given out by Secretary McAdoo follows:

New York city	$ 50,000,000
Baltimore	2,500,000
Boston	2,085,000
Chicago	13,000,000
Detroit	1,082,000
Cincinnati	2,000,000
Cleveland	2,000,000
Kansas City	2,000,000
Louisville	1,000,000
Minneapolis	1,000,000
Philadelphia	4,640,000
Pittsburgh	3,000,000
Richmond	1,125,000
St. Louis	11,500,000
San Francisco	360,000
Washington	1,000,000
Total	$ 97,292,000
Kuhn, Loeb & Co.	2,000,000
B. M. Baruch, New York	1,000,000
Total	$100,292,000

Members of the Boot & Shoe Workers union are requested to be on hand at the open meeting to be held in Harrington hall tomorrow night.

The Painters union will meet tomorrow night in the union headquarters; business of much importance will come up for transaction.

James Beecher and Frank Carroll, two prominent young men of this city are planning for a trip to Detroit, Mich.

Fred Muldoon, formerly employed at the Lowell Bleachery, is now connected with the Merrimack Manufacturing company.

The Carpenters' union, local 1610 will hold its regular weekly meeting tonight in the union headquarters in the Runels building.

Miss Ethel Duggan of the Middlesex mills will entertain a gathering of girl friends from Cambridge at her home on Sunday afternoon and evening.

James Huston of the A. G. Pollard Co. thinks well of the territory in the vicinity of Westford street, also of the inhabitants.

Christopher Conaton of the Bay State mills is awaiting with expectation the coming character party and dance to be held in Collinsville next week.

Mr. Otto Anderson, overseer of duck weaving at the Boott mills has severed his connection with that concern. It is said that he will accept employment in the south.

William C. Hall, overseer of finishing at the Merrimack Woolen company, has resigned his position, and will be succeeded by Arthur Torrey of Clinton, Mass.

James Skibbs of the Hartford-Bigelow Carpet company, will endeavor to promote a basketball team composed of employes of the plant this coming winter. Jim is an old timer, but still has plenty of speed left in him.

William Sumner of the gents' furnishing department at the J. L. Chalifoux store, will captain the bowling team representing that department in the bowling tournament to be held on Friday evening.

Mr. William Battye has accepted the position of assistant superintendent and designer at the Merrimack Woolen company. He was formerly employed as a designer at the Linn Woolen company, Hartland, Me.

Martin Roach of the Saco-Lowell shops, well known around these parts as a fisherman, will keep up his practice of netting throughout the winter months. Marty says that Crystal lake in the winter is better fishing grounds than in the summer time.

Hugh Finnerty of the trunk department at the A. G. Pollard store, delighted his many friends at the party held Friday afternoon with his rendition of "Jerry," one of the latest song hits. For an encore he responded with "Good-night, Love," in pleasing voice.

Edward Harris, Henry Stewart, William Frazer, Patrick McGarrell, James King, Patrick Mahoney, Walter Ryan, Royal Thurber, Philip Maguire, George Bowden and others, employes at the Saco-Lowell shop, are said to have plans already formulated for starting a federal bowling league at the plant.

In Canada, with a large percentage of her wool hosiery mills working to supply the wants of the armies now in the field in Europe, the question of supplying her local trade is going to be more acute. It is highly conceivable that America may have Canada as another customer on wool hosiery.

The old timers will have a chance to display their wares at the Dracut Grange hall Friday evening when the "Gliders," a club of young men prominent in the social life of this city, will hold forth in their second annual dancing party. Straight glide dancing will be featured, and exponents of the hesitation, maxixe and one-step, which have had their run, will have an opportunity of attending this long-looked-for treat. Ask anybody on the street corner where they are going Friday evening and you'll get the answer, Dracut Grange.

Maj M. Armitage, in charge of the No. 1 weaving department at the Clinton plant of the Hartford-Bigelow Carpet company, has resigned his position with that company. He is succeeded by Mr. James H. Strang who was second hand at the mill. Mr. A. E. Wilman, assistant superintendent of weaving at the plant has also resigned his position. Mr. John E. Davidson, superintendent of the Thompsonville plant of the company has been transferred to the Clinton plant as superintendent of the same department.

Legality of Cotton Loan

The question of whether the $135,000,000 cotton loan fund to be managed by the federal reserve board is a violation of the Sherman and other anti-trust laws is still an open one, despite the fact that United States Attorney General Gregory is on record with an opinion that the fund is legal and constitutional. He is controverted by such eminent authorities as John C. Johnson, the Philadelphia corporation lawyer, and that illustrious man of law, Albert E. Pillsbury, formerly attorney-general of Massachusetts.

Saco-Lowell Shops to Get Order

Plans and specifications for the new spinning mill of the Naumkeag Steam Cotton Co., Salem, Mass., have been completed by Lockwood, Greene & Co., of Boston. The spinning mill will be 722 by 122 feet and four stories high, reinforced concrete construction being used. A cotton storehouse of similar construction, with a capacity of 25,000 bales of cotton is a part of the contract. The equipment of the plant will consist of 100,000 spindles, 3000 looms and other machinery. It is understood that the electric drive will be used throughout the mill. The Saco-Lowell shops will furnish the spinning frames and the Draper Co., has been awarded the contract for looms and warpers.

Carpenters Union Held Meeting

The Carpenters union held a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting last evening in the union rooms in the Runels building and quite a grist of business was transacted. President Benjamin Golden occupied the chair and called to order promptly at 8 o'clock. Four new members were admitted. Several applications were also received and laid on the table for one week. Several members spoke on the good of the union and their remarks proved of much interest. Business Agent Michael A. Lee submitted a progressive report which showed the attitude of the contractors to be very fair towards union labor, and the majority of those steadily employed. This time of the year is unusually slack in the building trades, and the number of union carpenters at work shows the value of holding membership in a strong organization. The secretary's report showed that the union is progressing and that the treasury is in an

Easy Way to Keep Baby's Skin Healthy

How to Heal Skin Eruptions and Prevent Their Return.

Very few babies grow to childhood without having some sort of skin trouble. It may be only chafing, scalding or tooth rash. On the other hand it may be the worst kind of itching eczema or ringworm.

When I find a little one suffering like that, I always advise the mother to do this: Bathe the sick skin with warm water and Resinol Soap, pat dry with a soft towel, and put on very gently a thin coating of Resinol Ointment. She can dust a little good talcum power over the ointment if she likes. This almost never fails to give INSTANT relief and a few such treatments generally heal the trouble.

Bathing daily with Resinol Soap is the best way I know to keep baby's skin free from such irritations and eruptions. It is very pure, soothing and healing. All druggists sell Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. For free samples, write to Dept. 36-R. Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

OLD AND NEW WAY

The Hyomei Remedy for Catarrh, Colds and Croup a Most Valuable Discovery

The discovery of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) has made a wonderful change in the treatment of catarrh, head colds, and similar ailments affecting the nose and throat—you simply breathe a medicated air.

Until a few years ago the remedies generally used for these diseases were nauseating drugs, which, when poured into the stomach, usually upset the digestion.

Hyomei is a combination of antiseptic oils that mix with the air you breathe so that the health-giving medication must go directly to the sore, raw, inflamed lining of the nose, throat, and bronchial tubes. It almost immediately stops the disagreeable nasal discharges, quickly relieves difficult breathing—heals and strengthens the delicate tissues.

You breathe Hyomei using a small inhaler that comes with each complete outfit. It is not expensive, and can be had from any drug store.

The strongest evidence of its curative value for catarrh, head colds, asthma, etc., is that Booth's Hyomei Co. of Buffalo authorize every druggist to sells every package under a guarantee to return your money if you are not satisfied. Do not delay treatment another day for Hyomei is not only harmless, but pleasant to use, and nothing to pay if not cured.

WILSON TO ATTEND MASS

PRESIDENT WILL ATTEND PAN-AMERICAN SERVICE ON THANKSGIVING DAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—It was announced yesterday by Mgr. Russell, pastor of St. Patrick's church, that President Wilson has agreed to attend the annual Pan-American mass there Thanksgiving morning. The president, however, has declined to be present at the luncheon arranged to follow the church services.

This mass is an annual affair, at which the diplomatic representatives of the South and Central American countries are guests of honor. Since the time of President Roosevelt all presidents while in Washington have attended.

Last year, when it was announced that the president had agreed to attend the mass and luncheon, widespread protests were received from Protestant churches throughout the country. A score of resolutions adopted by ministerial organizations protesting against the president attending, and thus making the church services at least semi-official, were sent directly to the president.

KIRK STREET CHURCH

The Women's association of Kirk St. church held a well attended monthly meeting yesterday. Miss Jean McTaggart had charge, and a pretty little play on a missionary theme was presented. It was entitled "Peach Blossom's Fortune," and was written by Bessie G. Ewing. It is in three scenes, each laid in China, and the Chinese costumes of the little people were very dainty. The characters were as follows:

Excellent Virtue ..... Helen Carley
Precious Gem .... Eleanor MacBrayne
Early Spring.
Ethelyn Leinhas (in first act; Ruth Leinhas in second act)
Miss Mason ..... Charlotte Green
Mrs. Wang ..... Harriet Black
Little Silver ..... Gladys Foster
Literary Brightness ..... Ruth Cooke
Seven Pupils.
Marie Pratt, Eloise Leinhas, Ethelyn Leinhas, Albertine Curtis, Alice Whiteside, Winifred Worship, Betty Lincoln.

Tea was served at the close of the meeting, and the hostesses were Mrs. Julia Fox and Mrs. W. H. Spalding.

LICENSE BOARD MET

At last evening's meeting of the license board, the following minor licenses were granted.

Sunday permits—Annie Hart, 353 Lakeview avenue; Irving Barlow, 15 Chelmsford street. Public amusement for dancing—Middlesex Women's club, by Annie E. Robertson, treasurer, Colonial and Middlesex halls, Pollard building, Palmer street; Frederick N. Wier, Merrimack hall, 212 Merrimack street. Express—Taylor & Scott, by Frederick H. Taylor, 110 Humphrey street.

The common victualler license of William Shires, 746 Gorham street, was cancelled.

BILL FOR SHORT BALLOT

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Treasurer-elect Charles L. Burrill filed a bill yesterday providing for the short ballot on the state ticket or the appointment in 1918 of secretary of state, attorney-general, treasurer and auditor by the governor. By the terms of this bill the people would elect only the governor and lieutenant-governor.

Mayor Curley filed the first bill of the session, providing that the two-weeks vacation allowed to laborers and accepted under the act of 1914 be extended to skilled laborers, mechanics and craftsmen.

THE DEER SEASON

75 Killed in the State During First 24 Hours of Open Season

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—The fish and game commission, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, had received reports of 75 deer killed in the state during the first 24 hours of the open season.

The returns by counties were: Barnstable, 1; Berkshire, 5; Bristol, 4; Essex, 3; Hampden, 10; Hampshire, 11; Middlesex, 3; Plymouth, 5; Worcester, 20; Franklin, 13.

A large number of hunters were successful yesterday, particularly in the western part of the state.

Only one accident was reported during the second day of the open season, Clayton Peters receiving two charges of shot in his back while at work in Wareham. It is believed he was mistaken for a deer. He was seriously wounded.

The hunting fever took possession of 60 boys who attend the Athol high school, and they presented a petition to Principal W. J. MacDougald for a day off so that they could go after deer. The request was turned down.

Probably the largest animal killed yesterday was a buck shot near Wendell by Gregory J. Burns. It weighed 350 pounds.

Miss Mary Manning of Fitchburg killed a small doe near South Royalston.

A 100-pound doe that was partly white was shot in Royalston by Walter Martin of Orange.

NOT GUILTY OF PROFANITY

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Following a trial hours long before Judge Wentworth in the central municipal court yesterday, Herbert O'Brien, an Elevated brakeman, was discharged from a complaint of using profanity to Officer Richard F. Barry at the Dover street station on Oct. 30.

The court room was crowded. Aside from the principals there were four witnesses for the government and 10 for the defendant. The case interested many because of the bitter allegations on both sides.

GARDNER BROOKS IN TITLE BOUT

Lowell Bantam Will Meet Young Labore at Manchester

Contest to Settle Claim of New England Bantam Weight Champ

Both are Aggressive Boxers and Exciting Bout is Expected

YOUNG LABORE

Gardner Brooks of this city, the bantam weight champion of New England, will defend his title tonight at Manchester, N. H., when he meets Young Labore, who is an aspirant for the title. Labore has met and defeated most of the 115 pounders of New England. His most notable bouts were with Kid Thomas of Lawrence, whom he has fought seven times. Labore copped two decisions, while Thomas had to be content with one as the remainder resulted in draws. He also defeated Joe Morgan, the Manchester featherweight, Frankie Dubois, Tommy Flanagan, Kid Larrabee, Young Walsh, the ex-115-lb. champion of Lowell, and Tony Lorenzo, whom he stopped in two rounds a few weeks ago. This string of victories stamps him as one of the best battlers of his weight in the country.

Young Labore is a slashing, tear-in sort of a boxer, and wins most of his decisions by aggressive work. He is tireless while working in the ring and keeps his opponent on the go throughout. In meeting Brooks, however, he stacks up against one of the cleverest youngsters ever developed in this part of the country, who has had only one decision given against him. Brooks' best battles have also been with Kid Thomas, with whom he fought twice, winning the decision in the first bout and stopping him in nine rounds in the second contest.

The local phantom has also bested Barney Synder, the ex-105-pound National champion, on two different occasions. He also defeated Young Sandow and Jabez White, the Albany, N. Y., bantam, who was considered a championship possibility before he ran up against Brooks. White had defeated Young Solzberg, Frankie Burns of Jersey City, and had knocked out Philly McGovern and was looked upon in that section as unbeatable, but after "our boy" got through with him he appeared to be an ordinary preliminary boy as he did not land a solid punch on Gardner during the whole 10 rounds and the critics in Albany said that within a few years Brooks would be champion of the world.

Sheppard to Meet McFarland

Charlie Sheppard of this city is in the pink of condition for his bout at Lawrence tomorrow night with Tommy McFarland of Boston and the local boy is confident of being returned the winner. He has been training daily, under the direction of Frank Murphy and the latter avers that the former New Yorker is boxing better now than ever before. Murphy asserts that after this bout Sheppard will be ready to meet any boxer in this vicinity as his weight. He added, however, that he would put Sheppard against Phinney Boyle of this city at catch weights.

Lowell fans are particularly anxious to see Sheppard and Boyle at it and as the former appears willing to sign articles, it now appears to be up to Phinney and some club to come across with the final arrangements.

MANUFACTURERS LEAGUE

TREMONT AND SUFFOLK QUINTET HOLDS FIRST PLACE—LEAGUE NOTES

The fourth week of the Manufacturers league proved the fastest yet. The Tremont & Suffolk aggregation continues to mow down its opponents in first class style and if a stop is not put to the men before long they will be beyond reach. The Bunting team is in the runner up position and with Lann hitting them in old time form will be a source of trouble to the leaders from now on. The Massachusetts team rolled two games last week and secured four of the six points, climbing into third place. Williams' total of 327 was the highest three-string total of the week and he won the cigars donated by R. G. Sullivan. Lane was second with 325 and McNeil third with 323. High scores were numerous, the Merrimack quintet putting up 511 for a team single while the Buntings totaled 1410 in their game with the Hamilton. The Massachusetts aggregation rolled 1404 against the B. & M. team, while the T. & S. boys showed 1402 in their game with the Plush company. F. O'Brien displaced McDermott in the high average with Buckley second and Chandler third.

A special prize of $1 worth of cigars will be given to the bowler getting the highest three-string total this week.

Games this week:

Wednesday: Merrimacks vs. J. P. S. postponed.

Thursday: U. S. Cartridge vs. U. S. Buntings.

Friday: Fields Lumbert vs. Tremont & Suffolk.

League Notes

Whalen's comeback is a good omen to the T. & S. quintet.

Mitchell, of the Plush mill team has a good "knuckle ball.

Joe Stowell, the port sider of the Hamilton team, is about due.

Chandler, of the car shops, got up speed last week and came tearing through with a single of 129.

Ganley, of the Massachusetts team, scattered a 126 for a single while his team mate, Williams, piled up 327. Mulligan's high was 228.

Gleason, of the Cartridge company was on the bench last week. O. U. Bill Buckley of the Buntings is a member of the City league.

Campbell, of the Merrimacks, rolled a string of 57, the lowest yet.

Marquis of the Fields Lumbert is a consistent roller.

The All Stars are still waiting for a game with a City league team.

NEW YORK MAN BURIED IN WHEAT IS RESCUED AFTER ONE AND ONE-HALF HOUR'S WORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Falling sixty feet into the bin of a grain elevator at the foot of West Sixtieth street, yesterday afternoon, William McManus, 22, of 102 West Sixty-second street, a grain inspector's assistant, narrowly escaped death under heaps of grain.

He was rescued after an hour and a half's work by men directed by George Windram, a grain inspector, of 153 Fifteenth street, Brooklyn.

McManus and Windram had climbed to the top of the towering elevator on their tour of inspection and had started to descend the steep ladder inside the bin. McManus had gone down a few rungs, when he screamed and fell from the ladder. Windram saw his assistant strike the soft mass below and hurried down, to find McManus buried.

Digging with his hands he managed to free McManus' head from the grain. Finding the young man unconscious he hurried to the top of the shaft to call assistance.

Several workmen with shovels dug McManus out, strapped him to a plank and hoisted him to the roof with a block and tackle. Then it was found impossible to get the plank with its unconscious form through the opening at the top and part of the roof had to be hacked away.

Dr. Colgan of the Polyclinic hospital had to climb up to the roof to administer to McManus, who was found to be seriously hurt internally. With difficulty he was lowered to the ground and taken to the hospital.

EVERY DAY ETIQUETTE

"Mother dear," sighed Ruth, who was about to give a large birthday party, "should I wait until my guests arrive, tomorrow, to thank them, for the gifts I have received, or should I write at once?"

"You should send each giver a personal note of thanks," her mother replied.

"I am going to give a luncheon to some of my old college chums," remarked Hazel, "and I don't know whether I should arrange an entertainment or not."

"It should be hardly necessary, as the guests will probably arrive shortly before the luncheon time, and will remain only half hour, or hour at the most after it," replied her aunt.

"Horace is going to bring his sister to call on me," Genevieve said, "and I wonder if I should shake hands with her, or merely nod."

"Of course you should shake hands. A woman in her own house always extends her hand when anyone is presented to her, thereby conveying a sign of cordial welcome to the acquaintance," replied her older sister.

"What ever shall I do? I have just received a card announcing the birth of a little girl to an old school friend. Should I write to her," asked Mrs. Brown, not versed in social ways.

"If she lives near here, you could call and inquire after the health of mother and child, and leave your card. If the mother lives at a distance, you should post your card to her and above your name write: "Hearty Congratulations," replied Mrs. Williams, a surburban clubwoman.

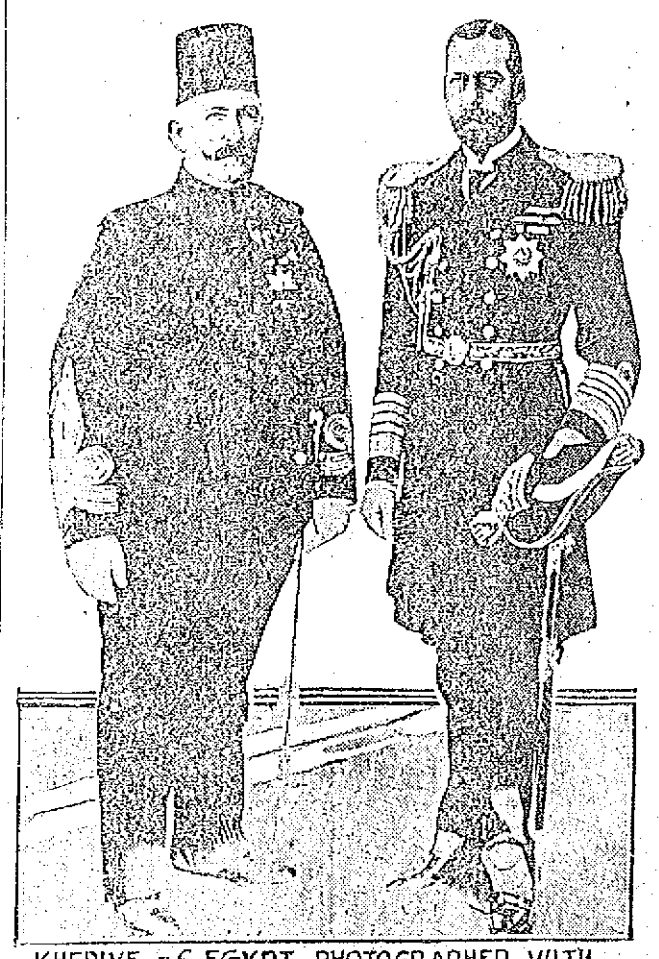

"I do not know much about city ways, so will you please tell me what to do with my wraps when I visit the restaurants," asked perplexed Aunt Sarah, who was contemplating a trip to the city.

"You may leave them in the check room, or if it is a very small wrap you may prefer to keep it around your shoulders while at the table," replied her sister Angela, who had been a more frequent visitor to the city than Sarah.

"When stopping in a large hotel, should I wear my hat down to dinner or not?" asked the prospective bride.

"You may enter the dining room in your hat and gown, or in an evening gown without your hat, or you can wear a pretty suit and hat with a lace blouse, if you intend to go out after the meals," replied her mother.

KHEDIVE OF EGYPT LEADS TURKS UPON HIS OWN PEOPLE

KHEDIVE of EGYPT PHOTOGRAPHED WITH KING GEORGE of ENGLAND PHOTO © 1914 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Abbas Hilmi, khedive of Egypt, who is reported as leading the Turkish troops against his own country, is forty years old and came under Teutonic influence early in life. When his father, Tewfik Pasha, died in 1892 and he succeeded as seventh viceroy and third khedive of Egypt, he had been for five years a student at the Theresianum academy in Vienna. He had always been inclined to give trouble to the British, though a show of firmness on their part almost invariably resulted in an apologetic backdown by him. From the British point of view, Lord Cromer knew how to handle him perfectly, but when Cromer was succeeded by the late Sir Eldon Gorst as British agent in Egypt, trouble began, and it is said that the attitude of the khedive as well as the increasing gravity of the Egyptian Nationalist propaganda resulted in the appointment of Earl Kitchener to the post that Cromer and Gorst had filled. Lord Kitchener, according to all accounts, was very little inclined to brook any interference on the part of the khedive, under his rule—which was what it amounted to—proved quite as amenable as under that of Lord Cromer. Telegrams from Constantinople a month ago asserted that Great Britain had forbidden the khedive, who was then in the Turkish capital, to return to Egypt. No explanation of this order was forthcoming, but it was suspected that he had been found to be intriguing against the British.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

BY VIRGINIA VALE

FOR THE LITTLE READERS OF THE SUN

MRS. HEN'S INCUBATOR CHICKS

Once upon a time Mrs. Hen laid an egg, then another and another, until she had a nest full of big white eggs. She hopped up into the nest and sat on the eggs to keep them warm for she had decided that she wanted some little fluffy chickens all of her own.

The next morning she got down and went to her breakfast and when she got back to the nest she was just in time to see a man carrying off her precious eggs. She walked along behind him and saw him put the eggs in something that looked like a wooden box with glass in front.

They lay in rows in plain sight and Mrs. Hen sat down to watch them. There she sat all of that day, and for many days after that watching to see that her eggs were not taken away from her again. She did not dare to stay very long when she went to get her breakfast and so grew very thin and one day she heard a man say: "What is the matter with this old hen? She hangs around this incubator all the time."

Mrs. Hen had never heard of an incubator but she knew that they were talking about the wooden box that held her eggs, and she watched closer than ever. One morning as she sat watching she heard a little noise that sounded very much like a faint "peep, peep," and she looked up at the window and, sure enough, there was a little chicken looking at her and saying: "peep, peep."

As she looked another and another hopped out of its shell and soon twelve chickens were looking out at her from the window. She flew at the glass and tried to get to them and perhaps she would have if just then a man had not come and stopped her.

Mrs. Hen heard the man say: "I declare, I believe the old hen knew her own chickens, I think I will give them to her and let her care for them." So Mrs. Hen got her chicks and she took so much care of them that they grew to be the largest chickens on the farm, and she was very proud of her incubator children.

TO DEPORT STRIKE LEADERS

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 18.—Word has been received at the headquarters of the United Mine Workers in this city that if the federal troops are withdrawn before George Carlson becomes governor January 1, and before a settlement is made in the coal strike, that every strike leader who has been active in the coal miners struggle will be deported. This information comes from apparently reliable sources and bears out the original program of the C. F. & I. announced soon after the primaries.

Turkish Forts Open Fire on U. S. Cruiser Tennessee at Smyrna

U. S. WARSHIP ORDERED FROM TURKISH WATERS

Turkish Officials Request for Departure of Tennessee Quickly Granted—Cruiser Now at Chios

CHIOS, Aegean Sea, Nov. 18.—The American armored cruiser Tennessee arrived in this port today. It is stated that yesterday while the captain of the Tennessee was in the ship's launch which was flying the American flag on his way to pay the customary visits on the Turkish officials at Smyrna three solid shots were fired on the boat by the forts.

The American ambassador, Henry Morgenthau without investigating the incident, it is said, immediately ordered the Tennessee from Turkish waters at the request of the Turkish officials.

Chios, at which port the cruiser Tennessee has arrived is the capital of the island of the same name located about four miles off the coast of Asia Minor and near the gulf of Smyrna. The island formerly belonged to Turkey but as a result of the Balkan war was turned over to Greece. A great portion of the population of 60,000 are Greeks.

Despatches from Athens yesterday reported that the Tennessee had arrived at the port of Vurla within the gulf of Smyrna and that her appearance had put a stop to the ill treatment of British, Russian and French residents. The authorities of Smyrna, the despatch added, fearing a bombardment, had left for the interior.

Captain Benton Clark Decker, is in command of the Tennessee which left New York on Aug. 6 with nearly $6000 in gold on board for the relief of American tourists stranded in Europe. The warship first went to England and then to France and finally entered the Mediterranean, where she visited several ports in pursuance of her relief work.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

Federal and State Governments Have Spent $750,000 in the Campaign Against Epidemic

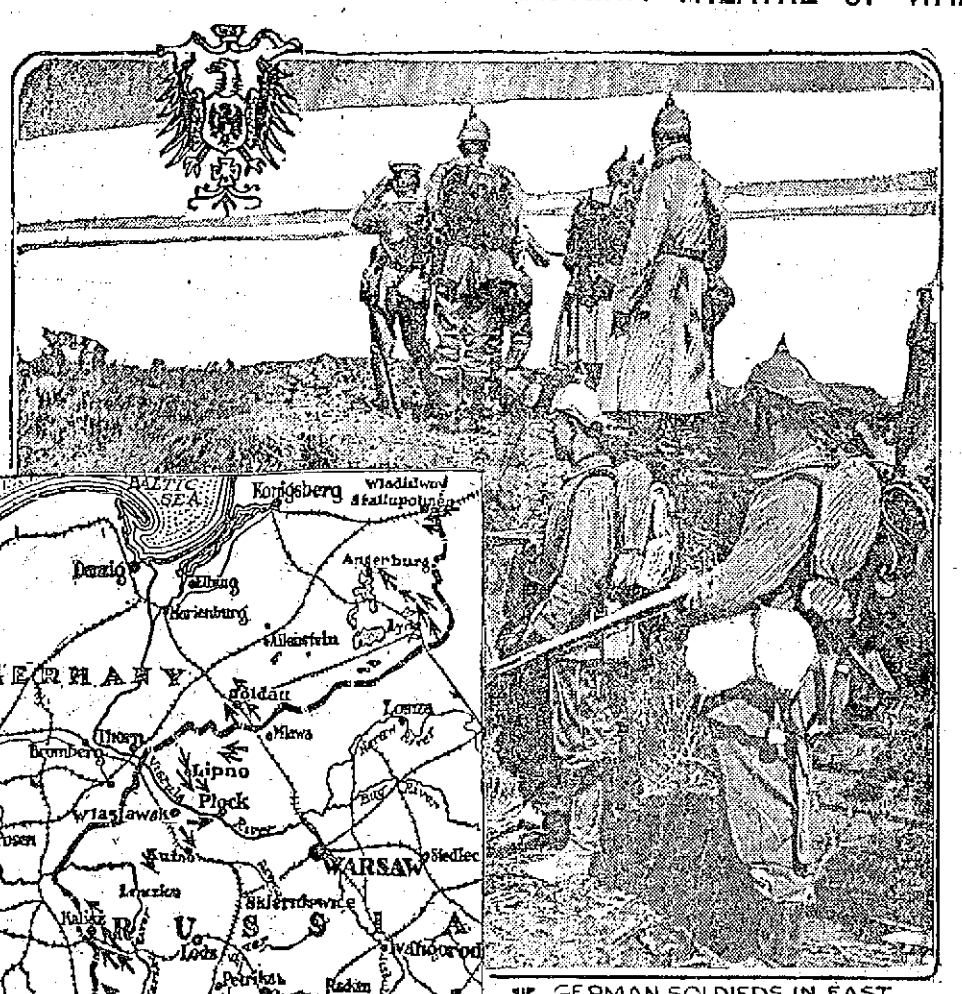

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The federal and state governments have spent approximately $750,000 in the campaign against the foot and mouth epidemic. Of this, about $400,000 has been borne by the federal government, almost exhausting the appropriated funds of the department of agriculture. An emergency appropriation of probably $2,500,000 will be asked of congress, when it meets, to complete the work of stamping out the disease.

Experts of the department estimate that about $700,000 has been spent for slaughtering condemned cattle, one-half of which is borne by the federal and the other half by the state governments. The last outbreak of the disease, that of 1908, cost the federal government $300,000. The infected states then were Pennsylvania, New York, Michigan and Maryland.

On reports from field inspectors that outbreaks of the disease occurred in the state of Washington and in the District of Columbia, department officials prepared today to place the affected areas under quarantine.

Later reports from Washington said that the outbreak there was confined to one case in one yard and officials said it might not be necessary to quarantine the state.

GERMANY STRIKES BACK AT RUSSIA AS BEAR PUSHES ONWARD IN EASTERN THEATRE OF WAR

GERMAN SOLDIERS IN EAST PRUSSIA Photo ©1914 American Press Association

MAP SHOWING HOW GERMANY IS STRIKING BACK AT RUSSIA

How Germany is once more striking back at Russia is shown in the above map. A wedge has been driven between the northern and southern armies of the czar, and Warsaw once more appears as an objective of the kaiser's forces. It is again the German strategic railways that are figuring in a rapid movement. Dispatches have indicated that a large portion of the forces that retreated from Warsaw and Ivangorod and other forces that abandoned the East Prussian frontier, were concentrated on the Posen frontier by means of these lines. They have now moved rapidly forward, and Berlin dispatches tell of Russian defeats at Lipno, Wloclawek and Kutno. An advance of thirty miles from the latter place would cut one of the chief lines of railroad supplying the Russian forces which have crossed the Warthe river in the direction of Kalisz. Meantime the Russian wings are pushing in, while the center is fighting to stop the German wedge. In East Prussia the head of the Mazur lakes has been reached at Angerburg, and attacks are being pressed from the south past Johannisburg and Soldau. To the west of the Warthe the czar's armies are seeking to penetrate the German intrenched line from Kalisz to Czenstochowa, and farther south they are at the outer defenses of Cracow, having forced a large part of the Austrian army to retreat across the Carpathians.

CALLS VILLA GREATER ENEMY THAN HUERTA

Gen. Alvarado Says Villa Has Forced Unnecessary Civil War on Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 18.—General Alvaro Obregon, who yesterday assumed supreme command of the capital and of the federal district, last night received a telegram from General Pablo Gonzales in which the latter declared that General Villa by advancing his troops southward had repeatedly broken the truce agreement entered into on Nov. 12, between General Gonzales and Provisional President Gutierrez. General Gonzales concluded his message: "For my part, I believe I have complied with my duties as a soldier and a citizen. I have tried to avoid the shedding of blood which the enemy appears thirsty for, and the war which we are obliged to prosecute with all vigor forthwith is justified by the unworthy conduct of our opponents.

A large body of troops belonging to General Obregon's division arrived here last night from Irapuata, 29 miles southwest of Guanajuato.

General Alvarado, post commander, has issued a statement in which he declares that General Villa is a greater enemy to the cause of Mexican democracy than was General Huerta and has forced an unnecessary civil war on Mexico.

It is reported here that General Carranza will move his capital to Vera Cruz immediately upon the evacuation of that city by the Americans.

CARRANZA DENIES REPORT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—General Carranza has repudiated the telegram sent for him by General Pablo Gonzales to General Gutierrez in which the first chief was represented as saying he would retire. This was announced in an official despatch from American Consul Silliman.

A. F. OF L. CONVENTION

Efforts to Adjust Differences Between Carpenters and Sheet Metal Workers Fail

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—The effort to adjust the jurisdictional differences between the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers International Alliance has failed so far as the present session of the American Federation of Labor is concerned.

The special committee to which the dispute was referred reported today that after hearing all parties interested the committee was unable to adjust the differences and recommended that the president of the Carpenters' union, president of the Sheet and Metal Workers, president of the Federation and president of the building trades department of the Federation be named as a committee to investigate the work over which the two unions are deadlocked and to continue conferences with the disputants with a view to bringing about a final agreement.

The work over which the two unions are at odds is the erection of metal trimmings for buildings; each claiming it has exclusive right to do such work. The dispute resulted last February in the carpenters withdrawing from the building trades department of the federation but not from the federation itself.

The convention endorsed the following as the attitude of organized labor on child labor:

"We declare that any who profit by the toil of children at all or by the labor of other minors required to toil more than eight hours a day are unfair and unworthy of the patronage of true patriots and those who desire human welfare."

GORHAM ST. P. M. CHURCH

OPENED FIVE DAY BAZAAR—LIST OF TABLES AND ATTENDANTS IN CHARGE—FINE PROGRAM

The opening of the five-day fair and bazaar at the Gorham Street Primitive Methodist church took place last night and the attendance was very large. The fair is being conducted to raise money for meeting the cost of the painting and improvements made on the church property during the past few months, and the balance, for it is expected more money will be realized than is needed, will go toward the extinguishing of the church debt.

The fair is being conducted in the vestry of the church which has been elaborately decorated for the occasion and the various booths and tables did a thriving business throughout the evening. In the social hall of the church tables had been laid and a very appetizing supper was served. A delightful entertainment program was carried out under the direction of Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, D. D., the numbers being as follows:

Quartet, "Song of the Vikings;" "Mary of Argyle," Fred Booth; selections, "A Spring Song" and "Sing a Song of Sixpence;" solo, "Bottom of the Deep Sea;" duet, "Love in May;" quartet, "Bridal Chorus."

The bazaar was under the auspices of the following very efficient executive committee:

Chairman, Rev. N. W. Matthews; secretary, Richard Campbell; treasurer, Samuel C. Rowe; Mrs. N. W. Matthews, Mrs. Joseph Sutcliffe, Mrs. William Ingham, Mrs. Annie Rhodes, Miss Elizabeth Ogley, Mr. Seth Fawthrop, Mr. Samuel Willis, Mr. Herbert Potter, Mr. Sam Asquith, Mr. Jesse Tucke, Mr. David Ingham, Mr. J. Feindel, Mr. Thomas Gardiner.

Those having charge of the various tables and booths were as follows:

Refreshments, ice cream, domestic and fancy goods in charge of the Ladies' Aid, Dorcas and Semper Fidelis classes, Mrs. Jacob Norris, president; Mrs. John Craib, vice president; Mrs. George Chapman, secretary; Mrs. Walter Killerby, assistant secretary; Mrs. N. W. Matthews, secretary treasurer; Mesdames Cochrane, Bramhall, Baron, Medley, Heading, W. Thompson, J. Wood, Fred Leith, Midgley, Greenwood, Scoble, W. Ingham, S. Potter, Laycock, Higginbottom, E. Brooks, Sutcliffe, Gardiner, Crumble, Feindel, Sykes, Dixon, Hartley, J. Mountford, Clogston, Haworth, Bradbury, Clegg, A. Leith, Stopherd, Manning, Carlson, Tucker, A. Fielding, J. Fielding, Bury, Prescott, Moseley, F. Ketcham, W. Ketcham, Needham and E. Fielding, and Misses Aveyard, L. Wood, Smith, L. Potter, A. Potter, N. Chapman, L. Laycock, Lily Laycock, Dobbs, Rhodes, B. Fielding, Peaker, N. Rowe, L. Davidson.

Handkerchief, ribbon and flower stand: Mrs. Rhodes, Miss Stancombe, and Miss Blades, teachers, assisted by their scholars.

Doll and souvenir table, under the direction of the infant class teachers, Mrs. McGrady and Miss Ella Heading and the classes taught by Mrs. James McQuaide and Miss Lillian Haworth. These are assisted by their 50 scholars.

Candy stall, superintended by Miss Isabel Caddell, Miss Elizabeth Ogley and Thomas Noble, with the young ladies connected with their classes.

Mystery department: Mrs. Ethel Kirke, Sam Asquith and Herbert Ashton's classes and 30 hustling boys identified with them in Sunday school life.

The male department covering groceries, tonics, amusement, coat room, tickets, advertising, entertainments, decorations, etc., is in charge of men interested in pushing this department to success.

The decorations, illumination and entertainment are in charge of Messrs. J. Wilmot, J. Fielding, Fred Leith, A. Tiffany, N. W. Matthews, Jr., Bert Neild, Herbert Potter.
